One-Stop Employment Centers seeing reduction in visitors

By Patrick McCallister
 For Hometown News

Fewer folks are darkening the doors at local One-Stop Employment Centers.

At the Volusia County Council's last regular meeting Aug. 23, Rick Fraser, president of the Center for Business Excellence of Volusia/Flagler, said an improving employment market has fewer job hunters heading to the centers. The CBE runs the One-Stop centers in Volusia and Flagler counties.

"The number of people going to the One-Stops has steadily decreased, and that's a good thing," he told the council.

The CBE gets funding from the state and federal governments, but the county oversees its budget and operations. During the meeting, the county council approved its requested 2012-2013 budget, $10,726,000.

Mr. Fraser told the council that in the first quarter of the 2011-12 fiscal year — July to September last year — about 20,320 visitors went to the three One-Stop centers in Daytona Beach, Orange City and Palm Coast. In the last quarter — April to June this year — that dropped to about 8,500 visitors.

Those visitors were using a number of services, from attending classes to sending faxes. A dogs, then gives them away

By Patrick McCallister

DELAND — Michelle Lazar is going up and down stairs at the University of Indiana these days thanks to Cricket. That might not seem like a big deal, but it is to a college student who can't climb stairs without help.

"She's a balance-and-brace dog," Ms. Lazar, 20, said. "She helps me up and down stairs and walking through campus."

Ms. Lazar has brain injuries that started at age 6. Recent surgery left her with hemiparesis, a profound weakness on her left side. My Angel With Paws, a DeLand non-profit organization that trains and gives away service and therapy dogs, united Cricket and Ms. Lazar. The service animal came with an unexpected bonus — easier socialization.

"Everybody loves her," she said. "People don't even notice the brace on my leg anymore. Now they say, 'Oh,

I love dogs,' instead of 'Oh, what happened to your leg?'"

Chris Tejcek, founder and director, said My Angel With Paws, 3098 Marsh Road, started in January 2009 and has given away 18 service and therapy dogs. Three went to veterans with service-related injuries — one with a spinal-cord injury, and two with traumatic brain injuries. The majority of the dogs are in Florida — nine have stayed in Volusia County.

"We're committed to our clients and very committed to our dogs," Ms. Tejcek said. "We want to make sure both are safe and happy."

The non-profit organization has 38 puppies that are in, or will go on to, different kinds of training. Some will be retrievers that can help paraplegics and others pick up items, turn on lights, open doors and other functions. Others will be response dogs — animals that detect when people with conditions such as post-traumatic stress disorder are getting overwhelmed, and give them assistance.

Karen Grimes, 59, recently received Chance from My Angel with Paws. Ms. Grimes is a wheelchair user due to myotonic muscular dystrophy. She lives near Lake Mary. Ms. Grimes said Chance is a service animal that helps her with daily tasks, such as taking off pants, but has turned out to be a therapy dog, too.

"I'm a little agoraphobic," she said. "Chance makes it possible for me to feel safe going outside. So, I take myself places. Before I had a service dog, I wasn't able to do that."

Ms. Tejcek said about 100 volunteers help My Angel With Paws at different levels. The organization has found some individual donors, and gets help from the Port Orange Fraternal Order of Eagles, No. 4089. In April the organization hosted the Doggie Dinner, which included an auction.

Football in '13
 already boosting
 Stetson enrollment

By Patrick McCallister
 For Hometown News

More undergraduates are heading to Stetson University than ever. It could be the new pet-friendly apartments the school has. Maybe it's the expanded honors program that allows many students to craft specialty degrees. Maybe it's the two new women's sports.

Or maybe, just maybe, it's football. Oh, yeah, football.

Starting in 2013, the Hatters will be hitting the gridiron after a 57-year football fast.

The school has its sights set on having 3,000 undergraduate students by 2016, and it seems to be closing in on that goal with about 2,400 this fall. Bob Stewart, director of admissions, said about 950 undergrads are starting their first year at Stetson this month, 850 freshmen and 100 transfer students. That tops last year's record-setting 850 new undergrads, about 715 freshmen and around 135 transfers.

"We're doing a really great job of telling our story, and we're telling it everywhere," he said.

That whole football thing is the big part of the story Stetson is telling these days.

"I think it's great for the school," James Dreggors said. "I heard enrollment is up, and I think football has a lot to do with that."

Mr. Dreggors was a guard on Stetson's last football team, 1956. The 79-year-old aims to be at Stetson's inaugural game in the Pioneer Football League. He said Spec Martin Stadium, 260 E. Euclid Ave., will probably become his second home during college football season.

Fans take in Eric Fitzgerald's catch and run during the team's first scrimmage last Wednesday. Stetson University will start its Pioneer Football League team in 2013. The school will use the city's Spec Martin Stadium, 260 E. Euclid Ave., to host home games. On Wednesday, Aug. 15, the school invited the public to take in a practice and scrimmage game.

said 120 students are signed up for the non-scholarship football program.

"Football is not the only sport we added either," he said. "We're adding women's lacrosse and last year we added women's sand volleyball."

The 2013 sand volleyball roster has 17 names, up from 15 for the 2012 spring season. Mr. Hazel said women's lacrosse, which will start in 2013, has attracted 30 students. He said all the new sports add vibrancy to the campus that attracts students

Originally, the playground and surrounding areas were to be closed for about three weeks beginning Sept. 10, said Mike Bowen, the general coordinator for the non-profit group R.O.M.P., or Renovate

Collapsed roof leads to new company, best3bids.com

By Patrick McCallister
 For Hometown News

Mike Bowen was visiting a friend when his next business idea struck him.

"A friend's roof was leaking, and it collapsed — right on my head," he said.

However bad Mr. Bowen's headache was, his friend's was worse. He had to find three roofers to give him repair estimates.

"An insurance company will tell you they need three bids," he said.

Mr. Bowen figured there had to be a website that made it easier to get those three bids, one at which folks and property managers needing work done could post jobs for contractors and service providers to bid on. He couldn't find one. In July last year, he started working to be the first.

B3B, best3bids.com, is one of 11 businesses enrolled at the University of Central Florida Business Incubator, 601 Innovation Way, at the Daytona Beach International Airport. Mr. Bowen was accepted into the program last December. He was no stranger to making businesses work. In addition to being in the construction business for about three decades he owns a bait and tackle store. Like other entrepreneurs seeking the incubator's help, he had to make several presentations to show he had the right stuff to make a go of the new business.

"I was called a serial entrepreneur at my last meeting, which I thought was funny," he said.

The 47-year-old "serial entrepreneur" said he sought the incubator's help despite frequent business successes because he was trying something very different and potentially much bigger than before.

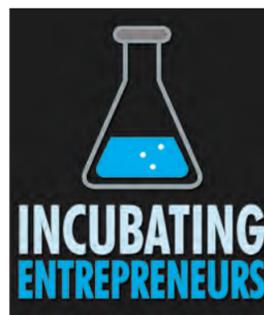

"You can't do something out of the house and go nationwide in four years," he said. "I realized best3bids.com is bigger than me . . . that's why I came to the incubator."

The UCF Business Incubator opened in July last year, and was the ninth the university started since 1999. Another has opened since then.

"The business incubator is a place to start a company," Doris "Connie" Bernal, site manager, said in a previous interview. "The entrants have a lot of resources to work with here. They have professionals who help them with a number of resources they'll need to see them through until the ideas start generating sufficient income.

Importantly, too, the applicants have to show they're dedicated to their ideas, but not hung up on how to turn them into reality.

"If an entrepreneur is not coachable, we cannot help them," Ms. Bernal said.

Mr. Bowen said that was the toughest part for him, but he's been learning the value of humility.

"I'm not the type of person who likes listening to what others have to say," he said.

B3B is opening an office at 100 E. Granada Blvd., in Ormond Beach, and hiring four employees. He believes that'll grow to more than 25 employees in coming months. While the site is free to customers registering to post jobs, contractors and service providers pay $50 a month to register to make bids. Mr. Bowen said about 200 have joined the site. They offer everything from cleaning and hanging blinds to building home additions.

Mr. Bowen is married. His wife, Dagmar, and he have three sons, two minors and one adult. The adult son was B3B's first employee.

What it was, was Andy Griffith

EDITOR'S note: Colloquialisms were retained to emulate Mr. Griffith.

Football season in Florida weirdly begins in mid-summer or at least that's how it feels. I always have a great sympathy for the high school kids who must begin practice in 90-degree heat and 90-percent humidity.

That's not weather conducive to the sport, but somehow the Sunshine State always turns out better players than you might expect. Our colleges win far more than they should be expected to and they send an inordinate number of players to the NFL.

As a kid, I played in Southern Louisiana and that was no picnic either.

This year, I am saddened that this will be my first football season ever without the great Andy Griffith.

As you all know, Andy passed away a few weeks ago. He was one of our most beloved actors and has left us with hundreds of reruns of his old TV shows that were set in the not-too-fictional town of Mayberry N.C. Best of all old Andy left us with his famous pigskin soliloquy "What it was, was football."

Andy was the consummate south-erner and in 1953 he produced his version of a country bumpkin describing his very first football game.

It is an enduring classic that has always been a part of football season. Here, I will give you just a taste of it, but writing about it just does not do it justice. You have to hear it in that wonderful accent that was pure Andy. He begins by talking of stopping to buy a big orange drink. The people begin to push and shove until he is inside the stadium. Andy says that in the middle of a big field there are three or four convicts with striped shirts and them and a couple fellows in funny-looking outfits go right to the middle of the field and pull out a quarter and begin odd-manning. After that two groups of men begin to fight over a funny-looking pumpkin. Andy says it couldn't have been worth eating cause they kicked it all over the place, and it never bust.

Finally, one feller grabs it and runs the length of the cow pasture zigging and zagging all the while so as not to step in nothing. (Please see it on YouTube.)

You had to know that Andy's way with the English language was most unique. On his TV show he would impart wisdom each week as only he could. In one episode pretty Barbara Eden ("I Dream Of Jeannie") guest starred as a new manicurist in town. Once she talks Floyd the barber into letting her work out of his shop, every man in town was lined up to get their nails done. Things are fine until the ladies of the town catch on to what their men folk are up to and put a stop to it.

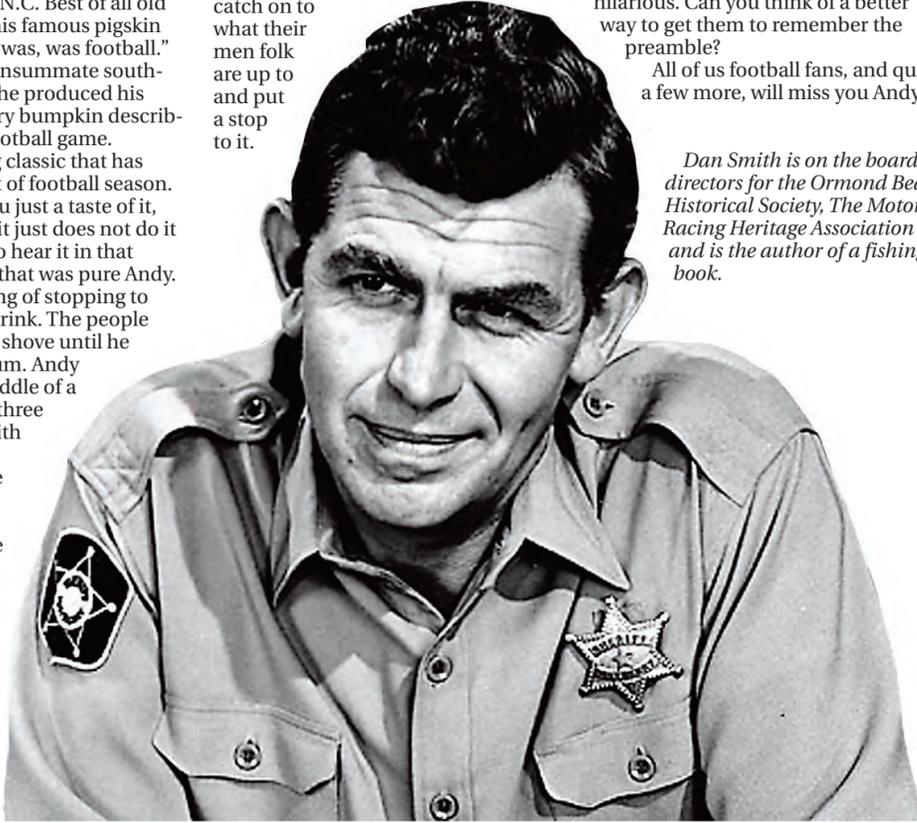

When Barbara complains to Andy that she does not know why she now has no business his response is classic. "Well see," he begins "Mother Nature has been real good to you. Reeveeeal good. In fact, I can't remember when Mother Nature spent so much time in one place." No one could top Andy for country logic.

Young Sarah Carden is a middle school teacher over in Polk County.

Each year in her history class she plays them the episode where Andy's pal Barney Fife (Don Knotts) tries to recite the preamble to the Constitution from memory. Barney assures Andy that he remembers it from high school and Andy wants to hear it. Barney then needs Andy's prompting for the first word and every word after that. All the while he is pulling his hair and making all sorts of faces. When Andy finally gets to the end, Barney straightens up and says, "See once I learn it I never forget." The children in Miss Carden's class don't know Andy or Barney but each year they find it hilarious. Can you think of a better way to get them to remember the preamble?

All of us football fans, and quite a few more, will miss you Andy.

Dan Smith is on the board of directors for the Ormond Beach Historical Society, The Motor Racing Heritage Association and is the author of a fishing book.

65 Million

65,000,000... That's the number of people in the US who suffer from low back or neck pain. Many of these people suffer needlessly.

Bill Labonte's Office in Ormond Beach, FL receives inquiries about his new non surgical treatment for herniated, bulging and degenerated discs from all over the nation. As a result, he has one non surgical disc machine for lower back pain and second one to treat neck, arm and hand pain from disc problems in the neck.

If you are suffering with SERIOUS neck pain or hand or arm pain caused by a bulging, herniated or degenerated disc, pay attention. This may be the most important article read this year!

Do You Have A Disc Problem?

If you experience any of the following, chances are your pain is due to a disc bulge, herniation or degeneration:

- Tight muscles in your neck
- Turning your Head causes neck pain
- Shooting pain in arms or hands
- Migraine Headaches
- Numbness in your arms, hands or fingers
- Fire down your arms
- Prickling in your hands
- Weak hand or wrist muscles

Finally Some Good News!

We can help if you have been suffering with neck pain, arm or hand pain caused by a bulging disc, disc herniation or squashed or compressed discs.

Until recently, the only advice for many of you suffering in pain was to try what you've been told:

- Try exercising or physical therapy
- Try physical therapy
- Try pain medication
- Try pain shots
- Try back surgery
- Just live with it

Caution! Decompression is DIFFERENT than old time traction or hanging upside down or inversion machines which can make your muscles squeeze the discs even harder!

If you like most, none of these have worked for you. Exercise hurts, pain medications and muscle relaxers cover up the problem and cause side effects.

Pain shots cause more pain, don't work or last very long and don't FIX the problem. Or maybe back surgery didn't work, worked but didn't last or even made it worse.

Whatever your situation, you owe it to yourself to check into this Breakthrough

Computerized Non-Surgical Treatment for back pain and sciatic or leg pain caused by a bulging, herniated or squashed disc or discs. It has helped hundreds of people who were suffering just like you.

How Do Discs Go Bad?

Over time the discs in your back tend to get squashed or compressed, especially if you've played certain sports when younger or have a job that requires lots of sitting or standing in one place for long periods of time. Car accidents, or heavy or repeated lifting.

It's kinda like a cookie with cream filling, and the cream filling will start to ooze out from between the sides of the cookie if pressure is applied on top of the cookie (like gravity on our spine). Eventually this happens to a lot of us. Statistics show over 80% of Americans will suffer with back pain sometime in their life.

How Does This Machine Work?

The computerized decompression machine gently pulls you apart, stretches the disc to a certain point that causes a drop in pressure inside the disc (like a little vacuum pulling the disc back into proper placement).

In my clinic, I've treated hundreds of patients with non surgical spinal decompression with great results so there should be no reason your back pain should be any different.

Most serious Back Pain Sufferers Are Very Skeptical Of This New Procedure, As Skeptical As I Was When I Purchased My First Decompression Machine, So If You Are Skeptical ...See What Some Of Our Patients Have Had to Say About Our Program:

When I came in to see you I had been to several doctors. They were not helping and I was taking lots of pain pills and muscle relaxers. Before the treatment I would get out of bed and fall to the ground. I was in very severe pain. I was slow to react to the DRX9000 treatment, but I stayed with it. Today I feel great. No more pain or pain pills. I want to thank all of the staff at Dr. Labonte's. They are awesome.

Lisa F, Ormond Beach

I have gone from waking up 4 times in the night with pain radiating down my right arm and numbness, to sleeping through the night and waking with no pain or numbness in my right arm. The whole staff has treated me so wonderful, They have all been there to listen and do anything possible to help me get well and on the road to recovery from cervical disc bulging. I am so pleased that I have found this treatment center and am very happy with the wonderful service and medical help from the whole staff. You couldn't find a better group of people that provide excellent care and are some of the nicest people I have met. I would definitely recommend them to anyone who has neck pain or disc pain.

Candy B, Ormond Beach

Within less than halfway through the treatments, my major neck discomfort ceased. The experience from the front desk, the technicians, and the doctor were extremely friendly, caring and professional. I highly recommend Dr. Labonte's Team.

Robert T, Ormond Beach

My experience at Dr. Labonte's office has greatly improved my quality of life. The DXR9000 protocol for a herniated disc worked for me. After 6 weeks of treatments my back was better than before I injured it.

Dan N, Ormond Beach

Dr. Labonte and his staff exude an upbeat and caring concern for each patient. I was treated as a person and not just a number. Thanks to Dr. Labonte, his staff and the DXR9000 my quality of life been restored to what it was 11 years ago. I am looking forward to resuming the active lifestyle I used to enjoy. I can not emphasize how fantastic I feel. I heartily recommend the decompression treatment. All I can say to Dr. Labonte and his staff is thank you for the concern and extraordinary patient care you gave me during the treatments

Let's move on

I love the Rants & Raves, but this response to 'Bring back the Bible' is too much. Let's move on. I am sick and tired of reading about it.

Don't gripe about schools unless you participate

We can gripe all we want to about our schools, but until we the people make the time to attend and participate in local school board meetings, we the people have no right to complain.

Campaign ads won't change my mind

I can't for the life of me understand why we have to put up with all these campaign ads.

I spend enough money to have my cable, so why are we bombarded with ads?

Looking at "Wheel of Fortune" last night, there were four of them all about the Republicans.

I know who I am voting for. Do you think for one minute I'm looking at those ads and deciding who I want to vote for?

It's only August. This has been going on for months, and there are three more months to go.

By the time November comes, I won't even feel like voting. It's unbelievable.

Not only that, but what about all the commercials we have to put up with?

It's just so sad that all good stories aren't put on TV like they used to have.

But we continue to have more commercials and more campaign ads.

Thank you.

Flood insurance vs. appraisal

There is a TV advertisement advising homeowners of the need for flood insurance, regardless of the area that you live in.

Upon investigation and inspection by an insurance inspector, we received a statement from our insurer that, although we go through them to write our insurance policies, the insurer will be another insurance company.

Now, here's the question: Our house is insured for $60,000. That seems right, but the company, in its statement, insists on insuring it for no less than $125,000, just for flood.

I've had flood insurance on other houses in other states, and it never exceeded the appraised value of the property.

Question: who is getting the difference? Who is getting the extra inflated fee?

Do any of our elected officials want to investigate and answer that?

Geekspeak : $4K TV or Quad HD coming

Remember when you shopped for your first HDTV and how you struggled to understand those confusing new terms like 720p, 1080i, 1080p and Full HD?

Well, get ready to get confused again.

Now that most of us have finally made the transition to HD, the companies that make the TVs are about to unleash yet another new variation that promises to be better and, you guessed it, more expensive.

Say hello to 4K, or Quad HD, or 4X 1080p -- or maybe another name altogether. That hasn't been fully sorted out yet. What seems certain, however, is the HDTVs of the future will have at least four times the resolution of the one you watch today.

I know what you are thinking. Why do I need more resolution when current generation 1080p sets -- currently the highest resolution TVs available in the US -- already are razor-sharp? It's a valid question and may not have a good answer in the short term, unless you are big into 3D.

That process reduces the effective resolution on some of today's 3D sets because two sets of images must be produced at virtually the same time (for each eye) and each uses part of the set's resolution. Since the new TVs have four times the resolution, they can, in theory at least, deliver full HD in to each eye.

Some manufacturers, including Toshiba, also are using the new ultra-resolution HDTVs (my term, not theirs) to deliver 3D content without any glasses at all, which sounds good, if it actually works. Early reviews from Europe, where the one Toshiba quad HD set is already available, are not exactly glowing. Those who have seen the sets in person complain of fuzzy backgrounds in 3D mode and problems keeping the picture in focus if the viewer moves more than a few inches. Not what you expect from a $10,000 TV. One would hope they would improve over time.

If you believe the hype, 4K and/or quad HD sets will go sale in the U.S. before Christmas, but take that with a grain of salt. We have heard similar promises for several years now and so far, none have materialized.

The good news for consumers is there won't be a pressing need to buy one of these super-expensive sets in the near future -- except having bragging rights. There is no native 4K content yet except in the movie theaters, many of which already use 4K projectors. So you will gain little by buying a 4K set.

It's a little like the early days of 1080p HD sets, also known generically as "full HD." Standard HDTV broadcasts fall short of that mark -- then and now, all programming is either 720p or 1080i. So the only native 1080p content was coming from the very early Blu-ray and (now obsolete) HD-DVD players, which almost no one had. Higher resolution HDTVs will upconvert content that was produced at a lower resolution, but it's done through some electronic trickery so the resulting image is not as sharp as native 1080p content.

Even when 4K content does become widely available and affordable, there may not be much reason to upgrade because the improvement in resolution will likely be unnoticeable on all but largest HDTVs. Again, think of the difference between today's 720p and 1080p sets. It's often hard to tell the difference on screens smaller than 50 inches.

Of course, I am writing this in an era when few homes have sets bigger than 60 inches. You may have noticed ever-larger sets making their way into your friendly neighborhood electronics store, at ever-lower prices. Sets with diagonal measurements of 70 and 80 inches are commonplace now in the big box stores. Some even have the mammoth new 90-inch sets that Sharp began selling in June. (Only $11,000!) A 100-inch model can't be far behind. (Larger ones have already been produced, but not for the broad home market.)

When lots more folks have one of these giant screen TVs in their homes, perhaps 4K will make more sense. That may seem crazy given the stratospheric prices, but recall the first 50-inch plasma HDTVs once cost somewhere around $10,000 and now sell for as little as $500.

Be aware that moving this new 4K format will eventually involve replacing more than your TV. You will probably need a new 4K or Quad HD-capable Blu-ray player too (as it was with the introduction of 3D) and probably a new audio receiver if you use one in your home theater setup.

As for regular broadcast and cable TV, don't expect any native 4K content anytime soon. Changing TV standards can take decades, given the bureaucracy and costs involved. And since 4K won't bring that much to the party in terms of improved picture quality, there won't likely be much of a demand for it in the near future.

We need to get our priorities right

As school gets back in session for the year and we have an election coming up, I'd like to express my opinion about an issue that seems to go unresolved. There's always plenty of talk about obesity in the United States, and particularly with children. Yet, our schools receive less and less funding, teachers and other support staff are laid off and programs are cut. The first programs cut always seem to be the "extras," including physical education and extracurricular activities.

Movement and music is very important for children and we always hear how they need 30 to 60 minutes of physical activity daily. Children have all the modern distractions of television, video games and computers that require little to no physical activity. Parents need to add physical activities to the family lifestyle. Go to the beach or swimming pool, playground or community center. Turn on the music and dance. Get out for a walk and go exploring. Children will enjoy the attention and the entire family may find this to be fun.

An important part to every child's education is involvement in music and movement. Early childhood programs such as Head Start recognize this and integrate it into every child's day. As children move to the public schools there is less and less of these activities every year. Where are our priorities? Attention to this problem is good, but there always seems to be a lot of talk and nothing else. With all the money spent by our politicians shouldn't we be demanding adequate funding for our schools and the programs that have always been an integral part of every child's education?

We need to get our priorities right. Our children need us to shape their opportunities and provide them with the well-rounded education that will promote healthy, well-educated leaders for the future.

Old salt is good for our community

Dan Smith is quite a modest man referring to himself as an old salt, but his years of thoughtful reflection about our natural beauty give him up as a community treasure.

His whimsical, but important observations about people and places serve to remind us all of how important reflection is in appreciating where we live. So many times, we are reminded of our good fortune by his columns in Hometown News. Where we live and our quality of life is unique here and Dan reminds us all to appreciate the things that make our community one of the greatest places to live in our country.

Dan himself is one reason I feel blessed to live in this community. His dedication to our important history is legendary. With support from his many friends, he took us back in time to celebrate our 100th anniversary of world land speed records on the beaches of Ormond. He knows, and imparts on us lucky enough to call him a friend, that history is precious and needs to be taught so we all stay connected to this treasure we call home.

Dan Smith may be an old salt, but he's one this community is proud to call a local. You sir, are a good man.

Please say thank you

Owners and managers of retail outlets, especially restaurants, should teach their employees to say you're welcome instead of no problem in response to a "thank you" from a customer.

You're welcome means you are under no obligation for the favor given. I don't know what "no problem" means. Am I creating a problem by saying "thank you?"

Seeing is believing for consumers

In the psychology of the economy, consumer confidence reigns supreme.

But it's not just what's in your wallet that affects your confidence; it's also what you see. When you see a lot of vacant stores and other buildings, you can't help but wonder about the security of your financial situation. So empty buildings getting used again is like a salve to your sore eyes.

It's difficult to get a full handle on the number of empty buildings going back into use compared to newly empty buildings, but it appears there has been some improvement, especially at some heavily traveled intersections.

A good example is the vacant convenience store/gas station at Madeline Avenue and Nova Road in Port Orange. Southeast Petro of Cocoa bought the property for $700,000 and a spokesman said it will reopen as a BP in a few weeks. Just 12 years old, when a property that new sits empty for awhile, it really makes you wonder about the state of the economy.

But even better, although it hasn't sat vacant long, the old Walmart at New Smyrna Beach Regional Shopping Center is getting redeveloped. GC Development of Mount Dora has bought the property for $3.875 million and plans to redevelop it into a four-unit center. There are already plans for

VOLUSIA BUSINESS
CECIL G. BRUMLEY

Big Lots and Bealls stores there. Haven't quite gotten it cleared up yet whether Bealls plans to move its department store there from Third Avenue, move its Bealls Outlet store there from elsewhere in the shopping center or it's a new store. I should be able to update that by next week.

There also are small improvements, such as Charming Charlie going into International Speedway Square in the spot left vacant when Old Navy downsized two years ago.

Already putting together a new plan for its property across West International Speedway Boulevard from Daytona International Speedway, International Speedway Corp. is now seeking rezoning for the area around the Speedway. ISC wants a mixed-used zoning so it could develop the land for hotels, restaurants or other businesses. It's probably safe to say that ISC would love to have the option of building a casino next to the track like the one it now has in Kansas City, Kan. Of course, it would require state government approval for any expansion of gambling.

It still doesn't seem like there are enough new jobs getting created to put a big dent in unemployment, but it was good to see AO Precision and Playtex Manufacturing (Hawaiian Tropic) posting a large number of manufacturing job openings. For prospective moonlighters, Macy's has already begun hiring for the holidays.

The dollar stores continue to hit the news with Dollar General planning to add a store to north Deltona. It already had started the permitting process for one in west Deltona. Also, the Dollar General property in DeLeon Springs recently sold for $1.24 million. Not to be forgotten, Family Dollar Stores is planning a location in DeBary.

Next up for The Pavilion at Port Orange probably will be a Firestone auto care center directly on Williamson Boulevard. It's between the entrance that goes to Marshalls and the other stores in the big strip, and the entrance to US Foodservice. Another car care place, Boulevard Tire at Bellevue Avenue and Nova Road in Daytona Beach, is expanding.

On the restaurant beat, Maria Bonita's in Ormond Beach has finally opened. It took awhile, but with so much anticipation, it will be packed with patrons for awhile. Just across the railroad tracks from there, construction is starting on a Jimmy John's Gourmet Sandwiches. The center where Red Lobster is located in Daytona Beach Shores has been redeveloped, and now the Denny's has reopened and the center has a Dairy Queen.

New Church Family, a Christian congregation, has bought the headquarters of the Volusia Building Industry Association for $287,500. The church is moving there from a storefront at 815 Beville Road, South Daytona, and will have its first service there Sunday, Sept. 2. Chris Butera of NAI Realvest represented the seller and Sue Turnbull of Swann and Associates represented the church in the transaction.

An Apopka investor has bought several commercial and multi-family properties at Browning Avenue and Boynton Boulevard in Daytona Beach Shores for $1.95 million.

A Winter Park manufactured homes seller has bought a big chunk of land at West State Road 44 and Glencoe Road in New Smyrna Beach, paying $1.5 million.

 Meals on Wheels volunteer Carmen Ramos, left, prepares a meal as Cindy Cory of Council on Aging heat-wraps the food trays at the Port Orange Adult Center recently.

Meals on Wheels needs more drivers

By Michael Salerno
 For Hometown News

VOLUSIA COUNTY — Every morning at the Port Orange Adult Center, volunteer delivery drivers with the Council on Aging of Volusia County's Meals on Wheels program wait anxiously to deliver a fresh batch of hot lunches for elderly people who need them.

As he watched a volunteer seal up the meals in plastic wrap and place them in red meal carriers containing a routing number, John Humiston said he became a Meals on Wheels driver because he felt it was necessary for him to donate his time to help seniors in need.

"You've got so many people who are shut in," he said. "They're using a cane or a walker and are too old to drive. If it weren't for us, they wouldn't be able to eat nutritionally and maintain good health."

Meals on Wheels staff said their existing volunteer base is not enough to meet the needs of the large number of seniors throughout the county who depend on the delivery drivers for their food.

"We always need drivers on all of our sites," said Charly Poniapowski, Meals on Wheels nutrition program manager. "We need them desperately in a few of our locations."

Both the east and west sides of the county are in need, but Daytona Beach and Holly Hill are seeing the greatest shortage of delivery drivers, Ms. Poniapowski said. She attributed the need in these areas to the size of both communities; Daytona Beach "covers a lot of ground" due to its large size, while the small size of Holly Hill makes it difficult to find volunteers because most drivers choose to serve the communities they live in.

Another reason new drivers are needed, Ms. Poniapowski said, is because many existing drivers are also aging. She said the median age of Meals on Wheels drivers in the county is between 60 and 70.

The task of transporting the meals from place to place is vital to providing seniors with an essential source of nutrition, she said.

"These are seniors who can't get out, the frailest of the frail, who don't have family members to help them and desperately need our services," Ms. Poniapowski said.

Through its Meals on Wheels program, volunteers deliver 700 meals every day to seniors living in private residences and apartment buildings throughout the county on about 80 to 90 individual routes. Ms. Poniapowski said Meals on Wheels has more than 600 volunteers, with eight to 10 driving each route.

It usually takes about 20 minutes to prepare 60 to 70 meals at the Port Orange site, she said.

The council operates the program out of eight different senior centers throughout the county, where they also serve lunches on site for seniors who are able to leave the house. Besides the Port Orange Adult Center, Meals on Wheels also operates out of the Windsor Apartments in Daytona Beach, the Brannon Center in New Smyrna Beach, the Lexington Club at Hunter's Creek in Deland, and the Sunshine Senior Center in Deltona.

Meals on Wheels, Ms. Poniapowski said, is more than just providing seniors with meals. The visits also serve to benefit as "a well-being check" where volunteers check how the person living at the residence is doing. The delivery drivers are often the only people seniors will speak to on a given day, she said.

Cindy Cory, Meals on Wheels' dining site manager for Port Orange, agreed the social interaction between drivers and seniors is just as important as the meal.

"We're a lifeline to a lot of them," she said. "Our drivers are our eyes and ears."

Seniors also understand the benefits of what the Council on Aging offers.

As she watched the Meals on Wheels volunteers pack up meals, Charlotte Pierson, a retired nurse who lives alone, described Meals on Wheels and the on-site congregate dining as part of "a circle" that provides social contact to aging people living on their own.

She comes to the Adult Center three days a week, and the friendships she made are why she enjoys being there.

"Everybody here is really friendly," she said.

Ms. Pierson added the meals have helped improve her nutrition as well.

"I have never eaten so many vegetables in my entire life until now," she said.

Ms. Cory, who's worked with the Council on Aging for seven years, said the difference she's made in seniors' lives is why she enjoys the work she does.

"I love it," she said. "It's a very rewarding job."

Park

Ormond's Magic Forest Playground, which is behind the renovation effort.

"We're going to put it off until the second week of January," Mr. Bowen said.

The improvements will include increasing the size of the playground by about a third; adding a tree-house "fort," a "retro rocket" with multiple slides and a pirate ship with netting that kids can climb on; replacing the plastic slides and swings and giving them new chains; and upgrading the park to have "all inclusive" accessibility.

"We're basically taking out some of the old components and putting in new ones," Mr. Bowen said. "We're updating things. It just takes a lot of money."

The committee agreed two years ago to raise funds to match a $40,000 contribution from the city of Ormond Beach. But as potential users looked at the plans, the wish list grew to a cost of $105,000, with the committee's share increasing to $65,000, Mr. Bowen said.

The committee needs to raise another $40,000 before the new equipment can be bought so the renovations can begin, he said.

"We're really having trouble raising the funds," he said. "We just need the money. We're kind of embarrassed we haven't been able to raise this money."

The community group approached the city two years ago about renovating the playground after the company that built the park looked at it and pronounced it generally in very good shape. But some of the components were beyond their life spans, and the company made some recommendations for renovations and upgrades.

"R.O.M.P. Inc. came to the city and asked for help, and that's how they got $40,000 from the city," said Robert Carolin, Ormond Beach's director of leisure services. "They didn't realize how much work it was to become a 501(c)3 organization so they could solicit larger donations from corporations wanting a tax break."

Despite the fundraising shortfall, Mr. Carolin said there's not much chance the city would kick in any more funding.

"Everyone is aware of the financial condition of every city," he said. "It's also supposed to be a community-led project."

Mr. Bowen of R.O.M.P. said there are a lot of ways people and corporations can donate and get their names on different components in the playground. Donors of larger amounts will be listed on a separate plaque.

When the work begins in January, community volunteers will be needed to help with some of the renovation work, Mr. Bowen said.

"We'll need about 80 a day and a lot more on that on the last weekend," he said.

To donate to the project, call the Leisure Services Dept., (386) 676-3277.

One-Stop

report, which covered July 2010 to June 2011, about 31,300 unemployed people sought services at the local One-Stop Employment centers. However, slightly more than 45,600 unemployed people sought job-hunting help the previous fiscal year.

In an interview, Lou Paris, communications manager, said at the beginning of the 2011-2012 fiscal year, Volusia's unemployment rate was 11 percent. By the end of the fiscal year, it dropped to 9.1 percent. Mr. Paris said while dropping unemployment rates have meant fewer folks needed services at One-Stop centers, there are other reasons.

One reason, he said, is greater use of Internet technology that lets people use One-Stop services without having to go to them. For example, some of the One-Stop classes have become webinars, too. This lets some class attendees stay at home, so they're not counted as visiting the center.

"There is a course we offer called Next Step to Success," Mr. Paris said. "Think of it as a gateway to all we offer. We created the online version, and that has 1,800 unique visitors, 1,812 actually."

He said there's also anecdotal evidence that job hunters are again finding other means to seek employment rather than visiting the One-Stop centers.

"You don't come through our doors unless you have no other options," he said. "Your initial reaction (to unemployment) is to handle the situation on your own."

The CBE is joining the Business Advocacy and Self-Employment Consortium's Startup Quest. FloridaWorks, the workforce investment board in Alacua and Bradford counties, started the regional program with a $12 million grant from the U.S. Department of Labor. Startup Quest provides entrepreneurial training, technical assistance and business mentoring to unemployed degreed professionals who've opted to start businesses.

John Wanamaker, board chair of the CBE, said many details of the new program are being developed, but the aim is straightforward.

"They're helping people who would like to start their own businesses," Mr. Wanamaker said. "They've got the talent, but have always worked for someone else."

The CBE is one of 24 workforce investment boards that operate under the new Florida Department of Economic Opportunity, which replaced the Agency for Workforce Innovation last year.

Football

and others.

"The primary thing about Stetson bringing back football is to reconnect with their alumni and reconnect with the community," Mr. Hazel said. "Football is a real community builder. There's nothing else like college football. There's nothing in the world that feels like college football."

Stetson isn't the only Volusia County university attracting more students than ever. Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University's Daytona Campus is getting more crowded, too. From 2002 to 2011, the school went from about 4,500 students to nearly 5,000. The undergrad count went from about 1,150 to around 1,310 in those 10 years.

The school started its Women Ambassador Program last year. It's trying to increase its female student count to 25 percent. From 2011 to 2012, the number of new female students at the Daytona campus climbed from 169 to 203.

Most of the school's 2012 enrollment numbers weren't completed by press time.

According to Mr. Steward, Stetson's growth spurt goes against a recent trend among small, liberal arts colleges and universities. Most, he said, are seeing enrollment stagnation, or declines.

"Our number of students who've shown an interest in Stetson has actually decreased," he said. "We're doing a better job of talking to the students who are showing an interest."

Enrollment numbers for Volusia County's other four-year college, Bethune-Cookman University, also were not available.

"The dogs will take the items to the person who bid, and take the payment to the cashier," Ms. Tejcek said.

About 30 people are waiting for service and therapy animals from My Angel With Paws. Ms. Lazar and Ms. Grimes said they contacted other service-animal organizations and found some charged as much as $15,000 for service animals.

Benefit: A benefit performance of The Black Sheep Ceili Band will be held from 7-11 p.m. Friday, Aug. 31, at Mck's Tavern, 218 S. Beach St., Daytona Beach. There is no cover for this performance, and all tips will be donated to "Trad for Trocaire" an international charity located in County Kildare, Ireland focused on "bringing about positive and lasting change in some of the world's poorest places." The Black Sheep Ceili Band is composed of members from two central Florida traditional Irish bands – Banished Misfortune and Just Twistin' Hay – as well as a few dedicated local musicians who participate in the traditional session held at Mck's on the fourth Saturday of every month. The musicians band together to celebrate the music and perform at no charge for this event. Donations will be accepted by the Black Sheep Ceili Band on Aug. 31 and all tips received at the performance on the 31st, as well as tips from performances by both bands during the month September, will be sent to Trad for Trocaire. Donations of $20 or more on Aug. 31 will receive a free "Black Sheep Ceili Band" t-shirt (while supplies last). Banished Misfortune performs the second and fourth Friday of each month, and Just Twistin' Hay performs the first and third Friday of each month, both at Mck's Tavern. For more information regarding Trad for Trocaire, visit their website at www.trocaire.org/trad. For information regarding the Black Shepp Ceili Band performance, contact Marty Groody at irishrover47@bell-south.net.

The Food Truck Bazaar will line the beachside's Flagler Avenue from 5-8:30 p.m. Mobile cafes will serve an array of gourmet food including barbecue, ethnic delicacies, sandwiches, seafood and desserts. The free LOOP park and ride shuttle will run during the event along Flagler Avenue. The shuttle will tote LOOP-goers from 5-9 p.m. between Flagler Avenue and the parking lot at 160 North Causeway (adjacent to the North Causeway boat ramp). Shuttles will run in 15-minute increments. Signs along the North and South Causeways will direct drivers to the park and ride lot.

Local art house cinema celebrates 20th anniversary with open house

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

Cinematique of Daytona, Volusia County's only dedicated art house cinema is celebrating 20 years.

Beginning in 1991, the film society has been dedicated to screening independent, foreign and art house films that otherwise would not be shown locally. Cinematique has had several re-locations and growing pains throughout the years.

Thanks to the support of the community and Film Society members, in November 2010, a permanent home, the Cinematique Theater, was open at 242 S. Beach St. in Downtown Daytona Beach.

To celebrate the occasion, an open house is planned for 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 31. The Daytona Beach Regional Chamber will make the milestone official with a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Immediately following, the theater doors will be open to show some of the upgrades that were made possible through the donations of many local businesses and individuals during a recent fundraiser.

Admission is free and will include samples of the new café menu and a video presentation of coming attractions. Door prizes and information about the 10th annual Daytona Beach Film Festival will also be available. A beer and wine cash bar will be open featuring new additions to the bar menu.

Reservations are not required; seating is limited.

La Italiana serves authentic favorites, making them fresh-from-scratch daily

By Michael Salerno
For Hometown News

SOUTH DAYTONA — If authentic, made-from-scratch Italian food is what you're craving — and you don't want to spend a fortune on it — look no further than La Italiana. Although the family-owned restaurant has only been in business for a year, it's become a must-visit for those looking for a true taste of Italy.

Located in the Nova Fountain Business Park on Nova Road, La Italiana is recognizable for its sign on the front door that reads "Home Sweet Home." The atmosphere inside the restaurant made me feel like I was at home — and the food tasted as good as Mom's, too.

Upon entering the restaurant, I was warmly greeted and seated. The tables are far enough apart to offer an intimate dining experience.

The menu at La Italiana offers a wide selection of Italian specialties, everything from classic Italian dinners, including chicken Florentine and chicken marsala, to seafood dinners, such as Italian style clams and mussels, sautéed in a white wine sauce. The restaurant also serves pizzas, calzones, stromboli and sandwiches, as well as Italian pin-wheels, an appetizer where pizza fillings are rolled up in bread dough.

La Italiana's staff prepares their food in small batches so everything is made fresh. As my guest and I sampled some of the highlights of the menu, we could easily tell they lived up to their promise.

We started with two appetizers, a half-dozen order of garlic knots ($2.25) and an order of bruschetta ($8.75), which was piled high with fresh tomatoes, basil and garlic. While garlic knots are a great snack before a pizza, my guest and I both preferred the bruschetta, which we believed was outstanding. The homemade bread was lightly toasted with a crunch to it, and the tomatoes and basil tasted like they had just been picked from the garden. Highly recommended!

For the main course, we split a 14-inch margherita pizza ($14.75) and a plate of spaghetti and meatballs ($10.99). The pizza, topped with fresh basil and tomaatoes, had the taste of true New York style brick oven pizza, which to me made it stand above other pizzerias in the area. My guest loved the spaghetti, as well as the sauce it was topped with; she felt it had the right texture and consistency, something she doesn't usually find when she orders spaghetti at a restaurant. We agreed the meatballs were very flavorful and tasted the closest to the meatballs my mother makes at home.

To wrap up our culinary tour of Italy, my guest and I split a cannoli ($2.25) and a tiramisu ($3.99) for dessert. Both desserts, sprinkled with a pinch of powdered sugar to add to the presentation, had the right amount of sweetness to them. We both felt the cannoli was the best we ever tasted!

Next time you're craving homemade authentic Italian food and can't make it to the Mediterranean, give La Italiana a try. Your taste buds will thank you.

La Italiana is located at 2841 South Nova Road, Suite 12, South Daytona. Hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday to Thursday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Sunday; the restaurant is closed Mondays. Phone: (386) 256-4952. Website: www.laitalianallc.com.

Art Notes

Artist's talk scheduled

The Southeast Museum of Photography will hold an artist talk with faculty member Steven Benson at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1200 W. International Speedway Blvd., Daytona Beach.

Faculty Focus exhibitions present photographic works from faculty of the photography studies programs at Daytona State College.

For more information, call (386) 506-4475 or visit smponline.org.

DSC to hold auditions for resident modern dance company

Daytona State College's resident modern dance company, Dance Theatre, under the artistic direction of Kevin Veiga, will hold auditions for the coming year at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5.

Auditions will take place in the Daytona Beach Campus Theater Center (Building 220) Dance Studio (Room 120).

Interested students should come prepared in proper dance attire or comfortable movement-oriented clothing, dance shoes (ballet and jazz) and/or bare feet.

The audition will consist of ballet barre and center, modern movement across the floor and learning excerpts from recent repertoire.

The Dance Theatre is primarily a modern dance company, but members should be able to perform ballet, jazz and other dance forms as may be called for by the choreography. An informal performance in the fall and a main stage performance in the spring will highlight the year, along with other campus and community performances scheduled as requested or needed.

Auditions are open to the community and members need not be students. Dance Theater members receive college credit if enrolled in DAA2640. Tuition assistance may be available. Rehearsals are from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday, starting Sept. 10. Additional rehearsals also may be scheduled as needed. In addition, each member is encouraged to register for a technique class through the dance course offerings.

For additional information, email veigak@DaytonaState.edu or call (386) 506-3183.

Poets to meet

As the general elections near, poets, writers and those interested in the arts locally and in Florida are meeting from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 6, at the Daytona Beach Regional Library on City Island in Daytona Beach.

Those attending will be briefed on an urgent situation surrounding the Florida State Poet Laureate, and asked for suggestions how to further the writing arts and cultural programs.

Currently, the State Poet Laureate, Dr. Edmund Skellings, is serving in a lifetime post, but at 80, he wants to retire. The Sept. 6 meeting will revolve around Dr. Skellings' wish to have legislation approved that would make the next laureate a two- to four-year post and establish a committee that would select a proper replacement. Last year's attempt to pass new enabling legislation was tabled.

For more information, email axelrodthepoet@yahoo.com or call (386) 337-4567.

Theater group to hold auditions

The Ormond Beach Senior Theater Workshop will conduct open auditions for "Anything Goes," a musical with music and lyrics by Cole Porter, at 9 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 7, in the conference room at the Performing Arts Center in Ormond Beach, 399 North U.S. 1.

Rehearsals will be 9 to noon Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Productions dates for the play are Friday, Jan. 11, Saturday, Jan. 12 and Sunday, Jan. 13.

Participants must be at least 50 years of age. Everyone is cast.

For more information, call (386) 676-3375.

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Foods to enjoy, easy to make, especially when camping

Hello smart shoppers. Gone camping yet? With the economy the way it is, you lucky people who have campers are just about the only ones who can take a vacation.

I've come up with a few recipes that are a cinch to make while camping. You can get pretty tired of the usual fare: burgers, hot dogs, chicken and steak. Kids love to be able to eat their dinner with a spoon.

What's for dessert? How about whoopie pies? Years ago, when we lived in Connecticut, we had them while visiting friends.

Whoopie pies are the best tasting cake/cookie on the planet. I got the recipe and it became a family favorite. I've seen different recipes in magazines, but none compare with the original. This is a great dessert; just make the cookies and filling at home, then assemble them at the camp site.

MEXICAN FIESTA (NIB)
serves 4

This recipe is an original; and great for camping. Serve it as is, or topped with grated cheddar cheese, chopped tomatoes and lettuce and sour cream, if you choose. Roll it in a burrito or tuck it in taco shells.

- 1 pound ground beef (preferably fresh ground fat-free), or ground turkey
- 1 tablespoon extra virgin olive oil
- 1 medium onion, diced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/4-teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (14-1/2 to 16-ounce) tomatoes, smashed
- 1 can (14-1/2 to 16-ounce) corn with liquid
- 1 can (14-1/2 to 16-ounce) can black beans, drained and rinsed, optional
- 1-1/2 cups beef or chicken stock or bouillon
- 1 small green pepper, seeded, cut in thin strips
- 1/2-cup uncooked rice

Brown meat in oil in skillet, leaving in coarse chunks. Add onion, cook until translucent. Add seasonings, tomatoes, corn, beans and stock; bring to a boil. Cook 15 minutes. Add rice; cook 10 minutes more. Add green pepper and cook 10 minutes or until rice is tender, adding more stock or water if necessary.

HOBO STEW (NIB)
serves 6-8

- 1 pound virtually fat-free fresh ground beef or ground turkey
- 1/2-pound hot dogs* (sliced)
- 1 envelope (1-ounce) onion gravy mix
- 1 can (8-ounce) tomato sauce

- 1 can (14-1/2 to 16-ounce) mixed vegetables or peas and carrots, drained, or 1 10-ounce package frozen mixed vegetables
- 1 cup broth, either beef or chicken
- Salt and pepper to taste

- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 tablespoon catsup
- 1/2-teaspoon salt
- 1/2-teaspoon black pepper
- Few shakes of cayenne pepper or crushed red pepper, optional.

*Note: Use low-fat beef or turkey hotdogs.

If using frozen vegetables, cook until tender in part of the water; then add water to skillet. If using canned peas and carrots or frozen vegetables, add one 14-1/2 to 16-ounce can of potatoes, rinsed, drained and cubed. (NOTE: canned mixed vegetables contain potatoes.)

In a large skillet, brown meat while breaking up; brown hotdog slices. Stir in remaining ingredients; heat until hot and bubbly.

Serve in bowls with biscuits or bread and a butter substitute.

Sauté onions in oil, adding a little water if necessary, until transparent. Add remaining ingredients, cover and cook over low heat until onions are tender.

WHOOPIE PIES

- 2-1/2 cups flour
- 1/2-cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1-1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4-teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4-teaspoon salt
- 1-1/2 cups sugar
- 2/3-cups shortening
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoon vanilla

Place all ingredients in a large mixing bowl and beat until well blended, about 2 to 3 minutes. Drop heaping teaspoons onto cookie sheet, spoon into circles. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool. Sandwich two cookies together stuffed with filling.

- FILLING
- 3 heaping tablespoons flour
 - 1/2-cup milk
 - 3/4-cup sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3/4-cup solid shortening (such as Crisco)

Combine all ingredients and beat well with an electric mixer at medium speed. Fill cookies.

To order my cookbook, visit my Web site www.romancingthestove.net or e-mail arlene@romancingthestove.net. NIB: Means not in my cookbook.

GIRL SCOUT'S CAMPFIRE STEW (NIB)

When my daughter was in Girl Scouts, this dinner in a bowl was everyone's favorite.

Brown 1 pound ground beef or ground turkey, stir in 1 can condensed vegetable alphabet soup, undiluted. You can also add canned potatoes, rinsed, drained and cubed.

Simmer for about 10 minutes.

HOT ONIONS (NIB)

Enough for a crowd and freezes great. Top your hot dogs or hamburgers with New York-style hot onions.

- 3 pounds onions, peeled, quartered and sliced thin
- 2 tablespoons Canola oil

'Soul Journeys' exhibit to open at Rose Room Gallery

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

Four artists come together for the Soul Journeys exhibition at Peabody Auditorium. Through non-objective, soft impressions and bold strokes the viewer is invited on the artists' journeys giving the audience a glimpse of their feelings.

The exhibition opens to the public on Sept. 5 with works by Jon Miller, Carson Kapp, Nancy Hagood and Shirley Pittman.

Mr. Miller, widely known for his Florida landscapes and exquisite portraits, said "the current phase of my artistic development is an inner journey that communicates both the boundaries and expansiveness of my own personal world. These new abstract works are able to peel away the outer layers of conciseness, and expose the viewer to raw emotion, as well as the inner most reflection of the subject."

Ms. Pittman is new to Peabody with her abstract works. Coming from a background of computers, she defies the strictly organized world of code writing to befuddle the viewers and take them on a journey of exploration. Ms. Hagood, an award-winning artist in galleries throughout Central Florida, has often shown at Peabody through the different art organizations to which she belongs. Her pastel impressionist works are like misty dreams vaguely remembered. Sometimes the images are clearly visible but other times they float off in the background beckoning the viewer to come closer, peer in and discover the journey. The exhibit runs Sept. 5 to Sept. 29, at 600 Auditorium an $8,000 matching grant over two years from the Florida Humanities Council to continue the popular lecture series that has become one of the hallmarks of the Society's programming.

Each fun, funky and heartfelt piece speaks to viewers on a very personal and poignant level.

"This is the seventh year we have received this grant," said Bonda Garrison, Chair of the Society's Education Committee and coordinator for the Discover Our History Lecture Series. "The Historical Society would not be able to offer the caliber of presenters we have scheduled if we did not have this grant. Scholars from around the state will offer topics relating to Florida history once a month, free of charge from September through May."

Several of the Historical Society's programs will highlight the Viva Florida 500 initiative spearheaded by the Florida Department of State. This will celebrate the discovery of Florida by the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon in 1513.

The Ormond Beach lecture series begins its seventh season on Saturday, Sept. 29 with "Unusual Tales of the Everglades" with James Zacharias. On Oct. 27, Dr. Michael Francis will speak about "Murder and Martyrdom in Spanish Florida."

The lecture series is presented at the Anderson-Price Memorial Building, 42 N. Beach St., Ormond Beach. Free refreshments are offered at 9:30 a.m. and the program runs from 10 to 11 a.m. Admission and parking are free.

A complete list of the programs are included below and can be found on the website www.OrmondHistory.org.

Let Dr. Costello create "Your Winning Smile"

People choose cosmetic dental procedures for various reasons - to repair a defect such as a malformed bite or crooked teeth, treat an injury, or just improve their overall appearance. For these and many other reasons, cosmetic dentistry has become a vital and important part of the dental profession and one of the fastest growing areas of dentistry. For example, tooth-whitening procedures have tripled over the past five years. Common cosmetic dental procedures can be performed to correct misshaped, discolored, chipped or missing teeth. It also can be used to change the overall shape of teeth - from teeth that are too long or short, have gaps, or simply need to be reshaped.

Back to school is a perfect time to get back on golf course to improve game

Alright, play time is over! It's time to put away the toys. No more staying up late and sleeping in. Summer break is over, and you need to get back to studying and getting that homework done. It's back to school for you Mr. ... or Mrs. or Ms. as the case may be.

Now that you've had the entire summer to play, you most likely have a good idea where your golf game most needs improvement. You should know by now whether it's your driving, putting, bunker play or the six inches between your ears that is keeping you from graduating to a higher level on the links.

When summer ends, most of us breathe a sigh of relief. The kids are headed back to school and we no longer have to find things to keep them busy 25 hours each day. Since the kids are off to study and improve themselves, what's to keep us from joining them on the road to betterment?

We are fortunate enough to live in a place where learning the game of golf is front and center. From your favorite local club professional, to the PGA Learning Center there is a school or lesson series available for every golfer, whether you are just a beginner, a single-digit handicapper or an advanced player on a mini tour.

With all the courses and practice facilities around, it shouldn't be difficult to find one close to home. Unlike the kids, we don't have to be bussed half-way across the world to attend our classes.

The PGA of America has one of the best campuses on the planet for golfers to learn the game. I'm speaking of the PGA Learning Center at the PGA Village (www.pgavillage.com) or (772) 468-7686 in Port St. Lucie. In the coming months, the Learning Center will offer several golf schools, one of which will fit the study plan you need to fix those faults that hampered you all summer long.

The beginners school is a great refresher course. You will learn how the most basic fundamentals could quickly improve my game. If you've played for years without proper instruction, chances are you have developed numerous bad habits. Here, you will quickly find out what those are and how to correct them very simply. It's a great start to re-familiarize yourself with the game.

The Academy of Golf at Duran Golf Club (www.durangolf.com) or (321) 504-7776 in Viera has a tremendous instructional and coaching program. The academy offers every kind of lessons from one-on-one, to group, to clinics, to multi-day schools. If you stop by the website, you can sign-up for their newsletter and find out just when a clinic that best suits you comes up.

In the Daytona Beach area, Summit Golf Academy (www.summitgolfacademy.com) or (888) 563-5132 offers affordable golf schools and instruction. In addition to schooling, students may also include accommodations on the ocean, continental breakfast and lunch, golf with your instructor, and more.

Classes are kept small, with no more than seven students per class. Students work on every aspect of the game with PGA and LPGA instructors and even bring home their own video analysis.

If you prefer a road trip or a weekend away from the family, the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress Resort (www.grandcypress.com) (800) 790-7377 in Orlando offers a variety of schools ranging from one to three days of play and instruction. There is also a weekend Florida resident's school. Most packages include lodging, meals, a round of golf each day on one of the state's best courses, and, of course, award-winning expert instruction. There is nothing like getting away from it all, relaxing and working on your golf game.

Some of us need more help with our mental game than our swings. For us, there is the Pro Mental Coach (www.promentalcoach.com) (877) 996-3682. This one-of-a-kind program is designed for golfers of all skill levels. The program helps you tune your mind to eliminate those moments when you simply "choke" on a shot.

Pro Mental Coach takes just three 20-minute sessions a week to work. Since you use the program on your own on your computer, you decide when is best to use the program.

Every club or practice facility in the area offers instruction of some sort. Contact your favorite professional or practice facility and inquire about a series of lessons. Tell him or her just what it is that you want to work on and how much time you have to dedicate to your studies.

Now, hit the stores for those needed "back-to-golf-school" items such as balls, tees, new gloves and so on. Then hit the links and hit those books. There will be a pop quiz!

James Stammer has been an avid golfer and golf enthusiast for nearly 40 years. He hosts the Thursday Night Golf Show on WSTU 1450-AM. Contact him at stammeregolf@yahoo.com.

The School of Emergency Services at Daytona State College has moved its Emergency Medical Services programs from its Daytona Beach Campus location to the Advanced Technology College off Williamson

An open house has been scheduled for Sept. 18, from 5 to 7 p.m., to highlight all Daytona State programs offered at the ATC, including automotive services, computer science, engineering technology, HVAC, machining, robotics and simulation.

For more information about EMS programs offered by Daytona State, call (386) 506-4122.

Having big fun in the mangroves

I slid the kayak onto the roof of my old Ford Explorer before dawn and headed south. On this trip I was heading down to the Spruce Creek area, and it was going to be all about fun.

FISHING WITH DAN
DAN SMITH

My freezer was well stocked with flounder filets and shrimp from a recent run in the Halifax, and now it was time to get my line stretched. I dropped the Green Peanut in at Sleepy Hollow Park just north of the New Smyrna Beach Airport and a little south of the Three Bridges area of Port Orange. Right away, I could see the tide was very low, but charging in with a force as it does when you are near the inlet.

Once at my destination, I found the water smooth, and I could see fish moving all over the place. Plainly, there were lots of large mullet in the area, but I also knew they were not all mullet. I began catching 16-inch reds one after the other. The small reds were so thick; I began to throw lures that I ordinarily ignore. They were ready to play with most anything I threw. Now that's fun!

With the fast tide, I didn't need to paddle much to get back into the red fish hole. On the way, I cast my red and white Mirro Lure a few times and attracted the attention of a small trout. As I twitched the plug on the surface, the game little trout hit it once, twice and then a hook-up. It was a fun start, and I was happy to release it.

After awhile that action slowed and I moved deeper into the mangroves in search of big game. Now, I was in very shallow water, but bull reds were pushing water about like submarines. It was a tight little cove, but was holding three or four of the big boys.

I made a lot of casts, but could never get the big ones to hit. I suppose they were too spooked in the tight confines. One that was not spooked was a red of around 20 inches. I saw it swimming toward my boat with its back out of the water. I sat very still and tried to drag my lure in front of it, but it was having none of it, so I just watched. The fish was totally oblivious to my presence and was slowly moving along stopping, now and then, to nose the bottom when it found something of interest. It was fun to see the object of my affection going about its daily business.

Overhead a large pink flamingo soared low over the swamp. In this area, our pink flamingos are actually roseate spoonbills, but this one was the real deal. I wondered if it had come all the way from South Florida or had escaped one of the theme parks. It was fun getting such a good look at it.

Once the sun was bright, I admired all of the big mangrove bushes surrounding me. Back in the '80s, those mangroves were frozen down to their roots, but are very healthy now. All were dripping with the seedpods that will float to places unknown to make more mangroves.

If you pay attention, you know they are a plant of a deep green color, but look closer and you will notice there are always a few leaves of yellow on each bush. Although the mangrove is salt tolerant, when it takes on more salt than it can handle, it sends it to selected leaves. They turn yellow, die and fall off. Just how the mangrove selects those certain leaves to sacrifice is unknown. The next time, you are out having fun ponder that mystery. My day ended with one 18-inch flounder on the stringer, and when I went to the truck, I presented it to a shore-bound angler. It was fun to see the big smile on his face.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for more than 40 years. Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net. His book, "I Swear the Snook Drowned," is available for $10.95 at (386) 441-7793.
