City commission supports off-road vehicles in Tiger Bay

By Andreas Butler
For Hometown News

The Daytona Beach City Commission voted unanimously to support opening the land at Tiger Bay State Forest to off-road vehicle use.

About 10 percent of the land will now be set aside for the use of ATVs, dirt bikes, motorcycles and four-wheel vehicles similar to the Croom Motorcycle Area in the Withlacoochee State Forest in Brooksville, Fla.

Also, street vehicles, such as jeeps, SUV's and trucks, are allowed to travel on forest fire roads and two track interior roads for recreational purposes.

Off-road enthusiasts are pleased and say that this could bring benefits to the area.

"It is a good use of the land that is hardly being used. Over the years so much land for off road vehicles has been lost. With 10 percent, it's not much but it helps. That makes about 1 percent of public land in the county for recreation vehicle use. Its also gives back an opportunity to residents who have paid for public land but haven't had access to it," Greg Gimbert said.

Mr. Gimbert represents a group of off-road supporters that pushed for the resolution.

In contrast, there are environmental groups that have concerns.

"We are concerned with the impact on wildlife, habitats and sensitive ecosystems. 50 percent of that land is swamp and wetlands. The rest is sensitive scrub. There are concerns

Candidates' Daytona visit energizes their supporters

By Michael Salerno
For Hometown News

DAYTONA BEACH — The loud engines roaring from motorcycles cruising down A1A at Biketoberfest had to compete with the raucous crowd that greeted Republican presidential hopeful Mitt Romney to Volusia County for the second time this year.

The former Massachusetts governor and his running mate, Wisconsin Rep. Paul Ryan, stopped by the Bandshell for a recent rally where thousands of supporters, locals and visitors, showed their support for the ticket challenging President Barack Obama. Some wore shirts reading "Romney-Ryan" or "Goodbye Obama," others waved large American flags.

It was Gov. Romney's second time in the area this election, following a January appearance at Allstar Building Materials Ltd. in Ormond Beach when he was campaigning for the Republican nomination for president.

Water fluoridation debate returns

By Richard Mundy
For Hometown News

Ormond Beach is known as "The Birthplace of Speed" and the pace with which the City Commissioners handled the agenda at the latest meeting would have made Smokey Yunich proud. That is until they got to the last item on the agenda, the continuing debate about the fluoridation of the drinking water supply.

Of course, the first item was easy — proclamation read by Mayor Ed Kelley proclaiming Oct. 24 as City of Ormond Beach Employee Appreciation Day.

A resolution passed naming the T-Ball fields at the Ormond Beach Sports Complex the "Doug Wigley T-Ball Fields."

Commissioner Rick Boehm praised the untiring and unselfish devotion to the the sports field and acknowledgement that Mr. Wigley had "dedicated his life to the children of Ormond Beach."

Mayor Ed Kelley added he had known Mr. Wigley for 37 years and "he took an organization that was without funding and was able to get contributions of $40,000 for the T-Ball field. I can't think of anyone better for this honor than Doug Wigley for what he's done for this community."

Lastly, the commissioners debated whether to send a letter to the Harcros Chemical Co. and create a Water Additive Accountability Ordinance. The letter would ask the chemical supplier if it would take responsibility if anything bad happened from use of the fluoridated water.

The majority of the commissioners decided to drop plans to solicit a "hold harmless" statement from the chemical company as an unrealistic expectation and decided to take steps to have a citizen's referendum to allow the public to vote on whether to continue fluoridation of the drinking supply or not. The second part of the discussion was also dropped.

Volusia County Sheriff

Hometown News is publishing Q&As with each local candidate leading up to the Nov. 6 election.

Ben Johnson, 62
Glenwood
Volusia County Sheriff
Incumbent

Q. What do you see as the biggest issue for the office you are seeking?

A: The sale and use of illegal narcotics and the spin-off crimes that have drugs as their root cause.

Q. What are your qualifications for the office you are seeking?

A: Extensive law enforcement experience — 12 years as sheriff, 26 years as deputy, supervisory experience as sergeant and lieutenant, assignments of high responsibility (District Commander, Watch Commander, SWAT Entry Leader), community involvement, president of the Florida Sheriffs Association, a record of proven leadership and prudent fiscal and personnel management.

Q. If you win, what's the first issue you will tackle?

A: I'm very proud of the reduction in crime (51.5 percent in the violent crime category and 12.6 percent overall) that has occurred since I took office. If re-elected, my top priority will continue to be sustaining the crime reductions through effective and aggressive enforcement and wise use of personnel, resources and technology.

Q. If you lose, will you continue in politics?

A: I have always found ways to serve the community through various civic endeavors, long before I was elected sheriff. I will continue to do so after I leave office. However, I have no plans to seek another elective position after I am no longer sheriff

Mr. Bradford

Mr. Johnson

Wendell Bradford, 47
Deltona
Seminole County sheriff's deputy Challenger

Q. What do you see as the biggest issue for the office you are seeking?

A. There are a few issues that need to be addressed immediately within the Volusia County Sheriff's Office — budget, morale and "good ole' boy" way of doing business.

Q. What are your qualifications for the office you are seeking?

A. I have been proudly wearing a law enforcement uniform for 27 years. I served six years with the Army Reserves Field Military Police and I have more than 21 years with the Seminole County Sheriff Office.

I received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Columbia College, Mo., and my master's degree in strategic leadership from Mountain State University, W.V. Over the last 21 years I have specialized in neighborhood policing, school resource programs, domestic violence investigations, and juvenile boot camp instruction, just to mention a few.

Q. If you win, what's the first issue you will tackle?

A. There are not enough personnel and this is causing enormous amounts of overtime to be worked throughout many of the departments. The excessive overtime is costing millions of taxpayer dollars and effects personnel both physically and mentally. I will be looking at the positions that are working the most overtime and hire adequate personnel to cover the positions.

Q. If you lose, will you continue in politics?

A. I will continue my career with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office while working with the community of Volusia County.

Holly Hill firefighters get new tool

By Patrick McCallister
For Hometown News

HOLLY HILL — The city commission gave Chief Ron Spencer permission to get a new ride for the firefighter/EMTs. In coming weeks, the Holly Hill Fire Department will add a fast-attack vehicle to its emergency tool chest.

"It's going to be designated Attack 96," he said.

The department spent $46,700 to get a 2012 Ford F-550 Super Duty with a flatbed. It'll add about $13,000 of modifications to make it ready to fight fires and carry medical supplies. The chief explained plans for the fast-attack vehicle at the Holly Hill City Commission's last regular meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 9.

"It's capable of handling small fires and EMT calls," he told commissioners.

Commissioner Donnie Moore works as a firefighter/EMT in Daytona Beach. He was on the Holly Hill department from 1995 to 2002.

"We're getting a lot of bang for our buck," Mr. Moore told fellow commissioners. He later told the chief, "Your fire department is pretty busy."

In an interview after the meeting, Chief Spencer said the department responded to 2,409 calls in fiscal year 2011-2012, which ended Sept. 30. Some of those calls were outside the city limits. Holly Hill has mutual-aid agreements with Volusia County, Daytona Beach and Ormond Beach.

Other departments responded to 704 calls in Holly Hill.

Holly Hill has two fire engines — one it regularly uses and another in reserve. In addition to a 2001 Pierce Saber the department regularly uses, it has a 1993 engine.

"(The reserve engine is) way, way past its effectiveness," the chief said. "We only use it as a backup only if the other engine has to go in for any maintenance or repair."

The repairs are getting more frequent.

"It's almost 12 years old," Chief Spencer said. "We've had a need for a vehicle like this for several years."

The fire department has 15 members; 13 operational personnel, an administrator and a part-time fire inspector. Chief Spencer said instead of four firefighter/EMTs on one truck, crews will be split between the current engine and the new fast-attack vehicle. He said about 90 percent of calls are for medical services that don't need the large engine. The new vehicle should be in use by December.

with noise, soil, dry areas, rutting and plant damage," said Cathy Lowenstein, Florida Forrest Services.

Off-road enthusiasts argue allowing off-roading puts the land to good use, doesn't harm the environment and can bring an economic impact.

"They are saying that the land is environmental sensitive and this is not an activity for it. The land being allocated has been nothing but a tree farm for decades. DuPont and other companies have used it for years. There are companies logging the area which impacts the land more than us," Mr. Gimbert said.

Opponents argue off-road vehicle use can harm the environment with pollution, destruction of land and effecting wildlife.

"The problem is finding land for them to use that is not sensitive and not already being used by the hunters, bird watchers and fishermen. Even with 10 percent of 2,700 acres, we just don't have that land," Ms. Lowenstein said.

Mr. Gimbert counters that animals find ways despite people being there.

"As for wildlife, we have one of the richest and most fertile areas at our county landfill. There are many eagles, hawks, vultures and other birds there. At our beach we have seagulls, pelicans and other birds. They are doing fine with many people there impacting their habitat," he said.

Proponents also argue the economic benefits of off-roading.

"We can attract upper- and middle-income users and change the dynamics of vacations for the area. People use to come here for a week and make a daytrip to Disney in Orlando but now it's the other way around. You can also charge a fee for a sticker for use of the vehicles in the area similar to the one at the Croom Area in Brooksville. They disclose that they make $800,000 to $1 million in a good year. They are on the other side of the state in a remote area. We have a more attractive area. We can bring money and people to our hotels, restaurants, beaches and etc.," Mr. Gimbert said.

A few more landmarks lost to time

LAND LINES

DAN SMITH

Some time back I wrote a column mentioning quite a few local landmarks that have gone the way of the fedora.

As it turned out that type of nostalgia struck a cord with a lot of my readers. Several wrote to tell me how much they enjoyed it and more wrote to let me know about places I had left out. I will now try and turn back the clock once more.

Does anyone remember Lester's Diner? It was the home of the big coffee cup and sat just west of Buck's Gun Rack on Volusia Avenue (International Speedway Boulevard). Right down the street was a great hot dog drive-in, but I have forgotten the name.

Back in the 1970s, State Road A1A in Ormond Beach did not go straight through. When driving from the north, you had to make a right on Granada Boulevard and then a quick left to go around the big Coquina Hotel that extended a full block west from the dunes. Back then A1A was only two lanes.

Down near Seabreeze Boulevard and A1A was the Club Mocambo where the old folks danced the night away. There, crusty codgers in their 30s and 40s enjoyed the sounds of Little Eva and the Espionage.

Further south in Daytona Beach Shores you could boogey to the sounds of the Better Way at Traders Lounge in the Aku Tiki Inn. The lounge is still there, but the Better Way has moved on.

On Main Street, the anchor was Big Daddy Rat's T-shirt shop. That was run by Karl Smith, who also did the great chopper show each Bike Week.

Not all of the landmarks were buildings. One was Tiny Fischetto, who was almost as large as a building. Tiny was a fixture on Main Street and the chopper show. He passed away in 2002.

In Port Orange there was another Big Daddy, but that was a liquor store just east of the bridge.

Pantry Pride grocery stores were all over the area. I remember buying 10 cans of corn for a buck at the one in Granada Plaza in Ormond Beach. It didn't take much to feed yourself in those days. There was an IGA grocer on Bay Street in downtown Daytona Beach.

Out west of New Smyrna Beach on State Road 44 was a solitary little gas station that sat between Samsula and Deland. Once I stopped there for a cold drink and saw a station wagon pull in. While the lone attendant was filling the car with gas, the kids were inside filling their pockets with candy that they never paid for.

South of Oak Hill at the turn off to the Space Center was a Stuckey's kind of restaurant, but I have forgotten the name.

On the corner of U.S. 1 and Canal Street in New Smyrna Beach there was a big lumberyard. There was also Dunn's Lumber in Daytona Beach at Segrave Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Pic & Save was a cut-rate pharmacy and department store that was all around the area. Holly Hill had one at Sixth Street and Ridgewood Avenue, Daytona Beach had one at Beville and Nova roads, and Daytona Beach Shores had one on A1A. In Daytona Beach, there was a Holiday House restaurant on Broadway (International Speedway) just before B & B Fisheries and A1A.

Deland had a great drive-in movie on South Woodland Boulevard and on North Woodland Boulevard was a big orange processing plant. Scotty's Building Supply was all over the place and Deland's was on Spring Garden Road. Port Orange had one about a half mile north of Dunlawton on U.S. 1.

New Smyrna Beach had footballer Larry Csonka's Sports Bar on U.S. 1 and, in Deland, NFL hall of famer Dick Butkus had a nice restaurant on North Woodland. He also had a fern farm there.

The Pump House was fine dining in Daytona Beach on the corner of Magnolia and U.S. 1. South Daytona had a fine drive-in movie theater on the highway. I believe it sat where city hall now stands. Heck, that's enough of that. All this remembering has given me a headache.

For a little more nostalgia, try Rockefeler Revisited at The Casements in Ormond Beach. From 6 to 9 p.m. on Oct. 27 re-enactors will portray historical characters in their annual Halloween pageant. For more information, call (386) 676-3216.

port for the Republican presidential candidate because they believed in his jobs plan — a five-part plan that Gov. Romney says involves taking advantage of the country's energy resources, opening new markets for trade and ending China's unfair trade practices, improving public schools and access to higher education, balancing the budget, and championing small business.

Don Kane, 73, a Daytona Beach resident and activist, said he wants to see the manufacturing jobs outsourced to China back in the U.S. so the country can become a "producer nation" once again, and not a "consumer nation."

Toni Wright, 60, who owns a local business that manufactures sun visors, said her business is dependent on tourism, which has declined in recent years due to increasing gas prices. She said she doesn't know how long her business could last if tourism continues to decline, and blames the downturn on the current administration's policies.

"I care about my business surviving," Ms. Wright said. "We can't stay open another four years if Obama gets re-elected."

After a five-song set from country musician John Rich, Gov. Romney and Rep. Ryan took the stage and spoke from a podium with the slogan "We need a real recovery." Their speeches aimed to persuade the crowd why a vote for them would lead to a "real recovery," and they didn't need long to get their points across — collectively, they spoke for about 20 minutes.

Rep. Ryan said of all the words to describe Gov. Romney, what stands out to him are "businessman" and "leader," qualities he believes are needed in the next president.

"This is a man who started successful businesses and turned around struggling businesses – and by the way, being successful in business, that's a good thing," Rep. Ryan said. "At a time when America has a jobs crisis, wouldn't it be great to have a job creator in the White House?"

Gov. Romney began his speech by criticizing the Obama campaign for having "no agenda for the future." He also responded to criticism from President Obama over his shifts in positions from more conservative to more moderate, which the president called "Romnesia."

The Republican candidate said the president's re-election campaign has been "reduced to petty attacks and silly word games."

"The Obama campaign has become the incredible shrinking campaign," he said. "This is a big country with big opportunities and great challenges, and they keep on talking about smaller and smaller things. We have big ideas, bold ideas, (and) a strong agenda. We're going to get America working again."

In a response to: 'Stop soliciting'

At the end of the message, the person asked for help to stop being bothered. The following has worked very well for me. On a decorative tile, I painted what I once saw and posted it by the doorbell:

Don't sell me anything, give me anything, leave me anything or offer me anything.

If you don't know my family or me, don't knock on our door and bother us.

Have a nice day. (I added this last line.)

If someone has the audacity to ring my doorbell, I just holler through the window telling them to read the sign. I must now have achieved special status with the church group. As they now walk right past my house. Ahhh….peace at last.

In response to: 'Stop soliciting'

I applaud the individual who wrote the rant stop soliciting.

Apparently she didn't realize it wasn't perfume but Ben Gay.

What happened to good old fashion manners?

Have you ever noticed that folks for some reason are in such a rush that they left their manners at home. At a grocery store for instance, they will push their food carts right up to you and stand there waiting for you to get out of their way. Instead of saying "excuse me." They also push their carts right in front of you and never say "I'm sorry." Then they will stare at you waiting for you to say something. Maybe this is a Northerner thing. I still follow the line in one of Hank Williams Jr.'s songs, "We say grace and ma'am and if you aren't into that we don't give a damn."

Keep tax money here

Who gave elected official Ann McFall permission to outsource local ballot preparation, which turned out be done with errors. Taxpayers' money should not have left our area.

Bike path needs to be taken care

There is a bike path from Woodland Boulevard along International Speedway Boulevard to Kepler Road. A lot of money apparently was spent on this road. It is plenty wide. After a couple of months, it was not maintained. I have called the Department of Transportation several times and never received a reply.

When someone does mow it, they do not edge or blow. It is never edged. The width has been greatly diminished because of all the grass and weeds that extend onto the road by not being edged. There are mounds of muck from mowing that they leave on the road. There are places where you can hardly pass because it has gotten so narrow.

I, along with others, have fallen because of all the piled up grass/mud along the path. It is a shame for so much money to be used to build this bike road and not maintain it. It looks so trashy and makes me be ashamed to know that DeLand is just a quaint little community and that care is not taken for the road. Why even build it? At one point, they had prisoners mowing it, but not edging or blowing.

Good going B&B

I'm writing in support of the new bed and breakfast nearing completion on Riverside Drive in New Smyrna Beach.

Congratulations to the owners, the Smith family, for persevering over closed minded citizens and those who are stagnant in welcoming change to our town. I can understand the fear of having a new venture spring up in a quaint neighborhood, but when the structure is a beautiful, appropriately designed mansion, designed to bring more commerce and enjoyment to our great area, I'm excited to welcome their business and vision.

I could understand residents' concerns if the business was like most of the hideous, dated structures that populate our town. Big chain box stores, churches in vacant old storefronts, thrift stores and other places that characterize New Smyrna Beach as just another truck stop, low-income town off of the interstate. The Smiths have experience running just this sort of lodging, and I believe they have efficiently addressed their neighbor's concerns. Folks may not like change, but when New Smyrna Beach is on the cusp of becoming an even better tourist destination, without the old, apathetic guard of the past, their bed and breakfast should be welcomed with open arms. We need something hip and trendy like this, not another gas station, drug store, or yawn ... another bank!

I know the Smith family has an interesting vision of providing an upscale lodging experience for both visitors and locals alike. What better place than New Smyrna Beach waterfront, can you enjoy a nice glass of wine, listen to some chill music, converse and take in the beautiful scenery our area has to offer? They've decided to invest their capital and hard work in bringing just such a place to our city, and I for one, can't wait to be one of the first to experience it.

More attention to education

With all of the election ads constantly on TV, the Internet and in just about everyone's yards, I have one question to ask. Why is it that the only time anyone who is running for office for anything suddenly shows great concern for our education system is election season?

Then once the election is over, their first job is how can we cut more from the education system.

So many people unfortunately don't vote by research, but vote by ads and that is probably the biggest problem we have in this country.

Of course, that could be because every time we elect someone who claims to want to fix the education system, cuts more so our children have less and less to learn. So I guess the answer is simple, our so-called elected officials are forcing our children to be at a great disadvantage to a better education. Think of that while you're voting.

In response to" 'Stop soliciting'

The definition of solicitation is to approach with a request or appeal. This time of year, we get more requests to do surveys for the elections. We probably get three or four calls a day. Another, is one of the major drug store chains has "a would you like to donate" when you pay with your credit cards. This can be confusing to older people. I just don't like the whole thing.

To the citizens of South Daytona

We, the people of the city came together percentage wise and restored our rights as citizens by voting "yes" in the primary election.The amendment on the ballot for the "general election" on Nov. 6, is just as important, if not more important.

Think about the American dream of owning your own home, being independent and even owning your own business. That's what it's all about. Well, we as citizens of South Daytona will have that opportunity on Nov. 6 by voting "yes"… so, regardless of what you have heard or what you might hear, this is our once in a lifetime opportunity.

A vote of "yes" will enhance our way of life in South Daytona.

Guide to 12 proposed state amendments

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

Twelve proposed amendments to the Florida Constitution will appear on the Nov. 6 general election ballot.

They cover a broad range of issues, including allowing religious organizations to receive public funds, increasing homestead exemptions for new homebuyers, providing a tax break for disabled veterans and requiring Senate confirmation of the governor's nominees for the Florida Supreme Court.

Here's a voters' guide based on information from The Collins Center for Public Policy, a think-tank that examines statewide issues, and analysis from The James Madison Institute, a non-partisan policy center based in Tallahassee. For additional analysis and the full text of the proposed amendments, visit FLAmendments.org.

Hometown News does not endorse any amendment, but instead, provides information about each proposal for voters to make educated decisions.

AMENDMENT 1

Title: Health Care Services

In brief: Prohibits laws or rules compelling anyone to buy health insurance. It would add an amendment to the state constitution that attempts to prohibit the government from requiring individuals to purchase health insurance.

If you vote yes: It means you want the Florida Constitution to include a provision that prohibits the government from requiring you to purchase health insurance.

If you vote no: It means you do not want the Florida Constitution to include a provision that prohibits the government from requiring you to purchase health insurance.

Arguments for: Supporters say the federal government cannot force people to purchase health insurance, and this amendment is an attempt to protect Floridians from that requirement in the federal health care act passed in 2010. They say it would show that Congress overstepped its authority.

Arguments against: Opponents say despite its stated intention, this proposed amendment will not allow Floridians to opt out of the requirement that all Americans purchase health insurance. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled on June 28 the federal requirement to purchase insurance is constitutional.

AMENDMENT 2

Title: Veterans disabled due to combat injury; homestead property tax discount

What it would do: This amendment would allow certain disabled veterans, who were not Florida residents prior to entering military service, to qualify for a discount on their property taxes. According to The James Madison Institute, about 74,000 veterans disabled in combat would qualify for a property tax break, prorated based on their level of disability.

If you vote yes: It means you want the state to give a property tax discount to disabled veterans who moved to Florida after entering the military.

If you vote no: It means you do not want to extend the tax discount to disabled veterans who moved to Florida after entering the military.

Arguments for: Supporters say this amendment will benefit older veterans who were injured in combat, but did not live in Florida at the time they entered the military. They say the property tax discount can help with medical bills, may allow veterans to stay in their homes longer as they age and stimulate the housing market.

Arguments against: Opponents say state and local governments face mounting budget shortfalls in part, because of diminished property tax returns brought about by the collapse of the housing market. Schools and local governments need to maintain the tax base or consider cuts to public services.

AMENDMENT 3

Title: State government revenue limitation

What it would do: Would set a state revenue limit each year based on a formula that considers population growth and inflation, instead of using the current method of calculating the revenue limit based on personal income.

If you vote yes: It means you want the state to change the way it calculates its revenue limit.

If you vote no: It means you do not want the state to change the way it calculates its revenue limit.

Arguments for: Supporters say this amendment would ensure the state budget never grows beyond a family's

Workers starting to get some traction

VOLUSIA BUSINESS
CECIL G. BRUMLEY

We're not out of the woods, yet, but Volusia County is finally gaining some traction on the employment treadmill.

Unemployment was at 8.8 percent in September, still rather high, but it dropped from 9.1 percent in August and 10.8 percent in September 2011, according to the latest report from the state labor department. Unlike earlier in the year when the rate was falling because workers were dropping out of the labor force, it is now falling because of more people telling surveyors they have a job. The Volusia labor force was still down about 2,000 workers from last year, but the number of employed workers was up 3,416, the report shows.

Now for the nagging problem: Many of those workers were probably getting jobs outside the county. The non-agricultural labor survey shows Volusia is still down 1,400 jobs from last year, with nearly all the decline in the business services sector. Meanwhile, in the three big markets surrounding Volusia, the survey shows jobs were up from last year. The Orlando area (Lake, Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties) was up 18,800 jobs. Jacksonville (Clay, Duval, Nassau and St. Johns counties) was up 6,300 jobs. Even Brevard County was up 1,300 jobs.

But here's where it gets strange. While manufacturing jobs are supposed to be disappearing across the nation, they are increasing in Volusia, up 100 from last year. While healthcare is still the sector that probably will continue to lead the county out of the employment doldrums, judging by the postings on the state jobs board, manufacturers are hiring, and that could be the boost this area really needs.

Brown & Brown continued its phenomenal growth, reporting third quarter revenue of $303 million, up 16.7 percent from last year, and net income of $49.5 million, up 12.1 percent. While much of the increase was because of the Daytona Beach-based company acquiring other insurance agencies, it also noted 13 percent growth in its operation in existence at the end of the third quarter in 2011.

Despite the airlines cutting back on flights, Daytona Beach International Airport still reported an increase in passenger traffic in September. With 42,865 travelers passing through the airport for the month, traffic was up 8 percent from 39,547 in September 2011.

On the restaurant beat, Outback Steakhouse has now opened its relocated place on West International Speedway Boulevard in Daytona Beach. A new Chipotle Mexican Grill opened in front of Lowe's on Dunlawton Avenue in Port Orange and, right around the corner on Taylor Branch Road, Golden Corral opened Monday.

Apparently a Pompano Beach company is moving forward with an apartment project at Dunn Avenue and Jimmy Ann Drive in Daytona Beach. It will be interesting to see whether that one or one near the South Daytona-Port Orange border will get built first.

There were several commercial real estate deals of note recently. The most expensive was the apartments on Nova Road, just south of Bellevue Avenue in Daytona Beach, going for $2.55 million. Dollar store developer Millennium Venture Group sold the new Dollar General on Spring Garden Avenue in DeLand for $1.644 million. Interest in Main Street in Daytona Beach could be picking up. A Winter Park family bought a store building in the 600 block for $620,000. Surety Bank unloaded one of its foreclosed commercial properties, selling a convenience store at Deltona Boulevard and Enterprise Road in Deltona for $425,000.

On a final note, the first big project for Daytona International Speedway, as owner International Speedway Corp. redevelops it and the area around it, is replacing the front-stretch seating. It's a little mind-boggling, but that means that huge stretch of seats will be torn down and new seating put in place. It's about time DIS did something since much of it looks like a high school football stadium.

Sciatica and Herniated Discs May Be to Blame for Pain and Numbness in Legs

Patients Flood the Office of The Labonte Disc Institute to Find Lasting Relief

"Did you know that over 30 million Americans suffer from back pain every day? Sciatica and herniated discs are often misunderstood. They can result in pain and numbness in the back, legs, and feet. This pain affects everything that you do, from work to play, and ultimately your quality of life. We are here to tell you that there is hope. We have the technology and experience to help you find relief from disc problems and sciatica. At The Labonte Disc Institute, we have helped thousands of pain sufferers just like you. We offer only the most advanced non-surgical treatments. We are confident that we can help eliminate your back pain and have opened our schedule to acccept the first 20 callers to receive a free consultation. There is no obligation and the only thing you have to lose is your pain."

— Dr. William Labonte, D.C.

What is Sciatica?

'Sciatica' is diagnosed when there is compression of the sciatic nerve. The most common cause of sciatica is a herniated spinal disc. The protruding disc presses into the nerve tissue and applies pressure on the sciatic nerve giving people the sensation of pain, weakness and numbness in the legs.

Sciatica can affect patients of any age. It can appear as a sudden onset due to over-exertion or a back injury. Sciatica and disc herniation have been very misunderstood because they can affect the legs and feet. Most treatments do not focus on the root problem area and many people have been frustrated when trying to find a solution.

Are Pain Pills Effective, Long-Term Solutions for Pain Relief? ABSOLUTELY NOT!

Until now, people have masked their pain by frequently taking prescription pain pills. This type of pain relief is temporary. Often these treatments lead to even more health problems or worse yet – addiction. So many people innocently fall into abusing prescription pain pills while initially using them to alleviate real, constant pain.

Is Surgery the Answer?

CONSIDER THESE FACTS BEFORE SURGERY:

- Back surgery can cost over $50,000
- Recovery is very painful and can take months or years
- Surgery may or may not relieve your pain
- Dependence on prescription drugs may occur after surgery
- Missed work can amount to $1000s in lost wages
- Outcomes may be uncertain, surgery is not reversible

It is true that surgery may be the answer for certain types of back injuries. When considering your options, ask yourself this question… If there is a solution to back pain that doesn't require surgery, is it worth exploring?

Spinal Epidural Injections

Some people find temporary relief with spinal injections. However, the pain eventually returns as injections are generally not a treatment that aids in the healing process. Patients can become dependent on such injections and can have a difficult time functioning without them. Why spend a lifetime masking pain with spinal injections when there is a more permanent, non-surgical healing alternative?

Will My Pain Go Away Over Time?

Many people try to wait back pain out only to find that it keeps getting worse. They buy new mattresses, try different stretching exercises, learn new techniques for sitting and standing, etc., only to find that their condition doesn't improve.

Why suffer longer than you need to? If you are considering extreme measures, visit The Labonte Disc Institute first! If you are experiencing any type of back or neck pain, take action now! Don't let any degree of back or neck pains persist. You can stop it before it takes over your life!

What are patients saying?

"I have been suffering with lower back pain for over 30 years. I have gone through numerous treatments from physical therapy, injections, etc. Since completing the DRX 9000 procedure I no longer take any pain medication and have returned to an active lifestyle. And my wife says that I am no longer crabby. Thank you Dr. Labonte from me and my wife."

— Henry L., Palm Coast

"For years I have had back pain 24-7 nonstop, sometimes more severe than others, but it was always there. I experienced relief since the very beginning of the treatment. I can finally tie my own shoes without the pain. The doctors and crew are just as wonderful as the treatment."

— Gloristeen W., Daytona Beach

The Solution: Dr.Labonte's Unique Program Including Spinal Decompression

During the spinal decompression therapy, a negative pressure is created within the disc, called the nucleus pulposus. Because of that negative pressure, disc material that has protruded or herniated or slipped can be pulled back within the normal confines of the disc, and permit healing to occur. Spinal decompression therapy at The Labonte Disc Institute can help you get your life back and reduce your back pain.

Not All Spinal Decompression Programs are Created Equal

There are many types of decompression tables available today. At Labonte Disc Institute, you will find the latest medical technology including FDA Cleared DRX-9000 Non-surgical Spinal Decompression, targeted physical therapy rehabilitation, and multiple programs that can be set to correct several different conditions. We offer treatments and procedures that improve your health with the utmost safety and precision. The technology is highly effective for the non-surgical treatment of low back pain caused by degenerative discs (herniations), sciatica, facet syndrome and other common conditions of the low back.

Spinal Decompression Allows Back and Neck Pain to Heal... NATURALLY

The spinal decompression technology is the essential component. It controls a reverse logarithmic traction pull allowing the muscle's reflex to relax and not interfere with the decompression of the vertebral discs. Dr. Labonte will show you how the decompression system can help you with your back pain and sciatica.

If you have back pain or neck pain and it has been caused in whole or in part by a degenerated or damaged disc, you may be helped by Dr. Labonte and the spinal decompression therapy at Labonte Disc Institute. We will treat the following conditions: herniated disc, protruding or bulging discs, spinal foraminal stenosis, sciatica or radiculopathy (pinched nerves).

Why The Labonte Disc Institute?

Our doctors and staff have the technology and experience to help you feel better. We have over 12 years of experience in helping thousands of patients find lasting relief. Why Us? It's not always "what we provide" that makes us different, as it is "how we provide it" that I believe sets us apart from the rest. From the moment you walk in, you will notice the comfortable setting along with the warm greeting from our staff at the front desk. We can already assume that you don't feel well and going to a new office for help can sometimes be uncomfortable and we realize that. So, our goal is to make you feel as comfortable and welcome as possible.

We have:

- 12 years experience serving the Ormond/Daytona Beach area.
- Extensive knowledge of auto & work injuries.
- Five star service from beginning to end. We believe in never letting the patient linger. You will always be attended to during your stay and never feel out of the communication loop. Your comfort is our top priority.

Who is a Candidate for Spinal Decompression

With 7 out of 10 people experiencing low back pain at some point in their lives and low back pain being one of the most common reasons for patient visits to primary care physicians as well as hospitalization, there is no doubt that low back pain exists in epidemic proportions today. Spinal decompression therapy can be used to treat disc bulges and herniations, disc degeneration, sciatica, spinal stenosis, arthritis, facet syndrome, and chronic pain in the low back or neck.

Our spinal decompression system is FDA cleared, and has been statistically proven to relieve the pain associated with disc degeneration, herniated discs, facet syndrome, and sciatica. Spinal decompression is a great option because back surgery is so risky.

If you have back pain, you may be a candidate for one of our programs. At our office we will give you an honest and fair assessment of your condition and whether or not we can help you.

No Risk, Free Visit

"I am so confident that you will find healing and relief at our office that I am offering you One Free Consultation. I will personally evaluate your condition and determine if we can help you. It's that simple! There are no strings attached and you have no obligation. You have nothing to lose but your pain. Due to demand, I am extending this offer to the first 20 callers only. Engineering firm growing at incubator

By Patrick McCallister
For Hometown News

INCUBATING ENTREPRENEURS

New and expanding companies need engineering departments, but it's a pricey proposition that's out of reach for many. Dr. Magdy Attia figured smaller companies would like to have engineers they could use on demand.

"You can use us for two weeks or several years," he said. "When you don't need us anymore, you put us back on the shelf."

Mr. Attia owns AbM Engineering, one of about a dozen upstarts at the University of Central Florida's Business Incubator at the Daytona Beach International Airport, 601 Innovation Way.

"We are a full-service engineering firm," he said. "Our mission really is to become the engineering division of small- and medium-size businesses."

In addition to him, the company has three engineers and numerous freelance consultants at the ready. It all started about eight years ago when Mr. Attia tired of a job he was at.

"When I resigned in 2003, I started the company," he said. "It was a one-man show for a few years, then I wanted to grow it."

That put him on a course heading toward the business incubator, which celebrated its first anniversary in July. In 2010 the Volusia County Council approved $1.4 million to renovated a 10,000-square-foot facility to house it. Additionally, the county gave the university $750,000 to run it for three years.

"The business incubator is a place to start a company," Doris "Connie" Bernal, site manager said. "The entrants have a lot of resources to work with here. They have professionals who help them with a number of areas."

For example, Mr. Attia said while he knew a lot about making things fit together and work in perfect harmony, there was more to learn.

"I'm very skilled at my job, but what I didn't know was how to run a business," he said. "It's not enough to have an idea. You need to have marketing and legal. You need a lot of stuff they don't teach you at engineering school."

Mr. Attia said his company has reached from DeLand to China, thanks in large part to the Internet.

"They have an idea and funding and vision," he said. "They just need engineers to take it from an idea to a product. We take you from the idea phase to the manufacturing phase."

His business also adds value to Volusia's bottom line.

"My vision, maybe 10 years, about 20 to 25 (employees)," he said. "Super engineers, a one-man army, and keep them pretty busy."

Also, he said he's working with area schools, such as Daytona State College, to give interns real-world experience. AbM Engineering also will eventually need support staff.

"I see us maybe doing $10 to $12 million gross revenue a year," Mr. Attia said.

AbM Engineering will celebrate its first year at the business incubator in November.

ability to pay the taxes and fees needed to fund that growth. They say it would make government more efficient.

Arguments against: Critics say during tough economic times, when tax revenues drop and there is a greater need for government services, this amendment would make it impossible for agencies to meet demand, even when there is available revenue. They say it threatens funding for critical government services like health care and education.

AMENDMENT 4

Title: Property tax limitations; property value decline; reduction for non-homestead assessment increases; delay of scheduled repeal

What it would do: Reduce the maximum annual increase in taxable value of non-homestead properties from 10 percent to 5 percent; provide an extra homestead exemption for first-time home buyers; allow lawmakers to prohibit assessment increases for properties with decreasing market values.

If you vote yes: It means you favor the enhanced tax breaks being proposed.

If you vote no: It means you are against the enhanced tax breaks being proposed.

Arguments for: Supporters say this amendment would make Florida property taxation more equitable, stimulate the housing and commercial real estate markets and attract investors to the state.

Arguments against: Opponents say it would create tax disparities and strip an estimated $1 billion from the tax base over the next three years at a time when local governments are struggling to provide basic services.

AMENDMENT 5

Title: State courts

In brief: Amendment 5's main features include Senate confirmation of the governor's nominees for the Florida Supreme Court and more legislative oversight over judicial rules.

If you vote yes: It means you want the Senate to have confirmation power over Supreme Court appointees, and some authority over changes to the rules that govern the state's courts. You also want to grant the house access to the judicial qualifications commission's investigative files on judges.

If you vote no: It means you do not want these proposed changes made to the state's judiciary.

Arguments for: Supporters say the measure would make the appellate court system run more efficiently and add a layer of accountability before Supreme Court justices are appointed.

Arguments against: Opponents say the measure is a dangerous attempt to exert political influence over the judicial branch by giving legislators more authority.

AMENDMENT 6

Title: Prohibition on public funding of abortions; construction of abortion rights

What it would do: This amendment would make the existing federal ban on public funding for most abortions part of the state constitution. It would narrow the scope of a state privacy law that is sometimes used in Florida to challenge abortion laws.

If you vote yes: It means you support putting the existing federal ban on the use of public funds for abortions into the state constitution. It also means you support eliminating the state's privacy right with respect to a woman's right to choose.

If you vote no: It means you are against placing the existing federal ban on using public funds for abortions into the state constitution. It also means you are against eliminating the state's privacy right with respect to a woman's right to choose.

Arguments for: Supporters say this makes it clear Florida prohibits public funding for abortions and gives the public a voice in deciding state abortion law.

Arguments against: Opponents say this amendment discriminates against women, strips away a woman's fundamental right to choose and erodes established law, including right of privacy.

AMENDMENT 7

Note: Amendment 7 was removed from the ballot by the Florida Supreme Court, which ruled that some of the language was misleading. A legal challenge by opponents led to the rewriting of some of the ballot language and its reinstatement on the ballot as Amendment 8.

AMENDMENT 8

Title: Religious freedom

What it would do: Would remove the prohibition in Florida's Constitution that prevents religious institutions from receiving taxpayer funding. According to the James Madison Institute, Amendment 8 would repeal the so-called "Blaine Amendment," which prohibits the appropriation of public funds, directly or indirectly, in aid of religion. Repeal would allow faith-based entities to receive public funds for providing public services.

If you vote yes: It means you want to remove from the Florida Constitution a prohibition against the state funding religious institutions.

If you vote no: It means you want to retain the provision in the Florida Constitution that prohibits the state from funding religious institutions.

Arguments for: Supporters say the amendment would allow the state to fund programs that provide a valuable public service but are denied that funding because they are affiliated with religious organizations. They say the current law from 1885 is rooted in anti-Catholic bias.

Arguments against: Opponents say the amendment would eliminate a long-established component of the separation of church and state that prevents the government from funding groups that espouse religious beliefs. They also deny an anti-Catholic bias.

Double Dipping Diane
Taxpayers can't afford Diane Matousek's Double-Dipping retirement income

Since March 1, 2009, the clerk has made over $414,500 in Double-Dipping retirement income, in addition to an annual pension of $110,000 for the rest of her life. Replacing her in this election will instantly save taxpayers $164,527 that will no longer have to be paid into her golden parachute.

The incumbent clerk signed documents indicating she would retire on February 28, 2014, a mere 14 months into her term if re-elected, and the taxpayers would have to pay for a special election.

We can do better in the Clerk of Court's office! For 20 years the incumbent has failed to deliver savings to the taxpayers while the level of service is on the decline. As your fiscal conservative, Christine Sanders will bring responsible spending and better management to the Clerk's office.

It's Energy Awareness Month

Florida Power & Light is marking Energy Awareness Month by helping 1,000 small- and medium-sized businesses in Florida shape-up and BEE-healthy.

FPL's Business Energy Evaluation is a first step for a business to get "Energy Fit." FPL energy efficiency experts will meet with business customers and develop customized BEEs showing them ways to save even more — in most cases five percent or more on lighting and cooling costs.

The personalized, cost-saving recommendations are tailored to each business and will answer businesses energy use questions, including:

•Where do energy dollars go?

•How can energy bills be reduced?

The BEE is especially recommended when a business is planning improvements, expansions, or building new facilities. Businesses that want to be part of the buzz can schedule their own BEE at www.FPL.com/BEE.

Fresh food, great barbecue are found at Dustin's

By Suzy Kridner
skridner@hometownnewsol.com

Baby back ribs, slow roasted and fall-off-the-bone tender, may be the most popular dish at Dustin's Bar-B-Q, but they taste even better when prepared by the restaurant's namesake, Dustin Withey.

The plate of ribs with all the fixin's that Dustin brought out from the kitchen recently was as delicious as it looked.

In addition to the tender baby back ribs, there were homemade baked beans, crinkle cut French fries and garlic bread.

Dustin, 23, a cook at the restaurant's Edgewater location, was only 2 when the first restaurant, started by his grandparents Marian and Winston Tomlinson, was named after him, their only grandchild at the time.

Now the family-owned chain consists of five restaurants in Volusia and Brevard counties. They all have the same menu which keeps the quality consistent, said Dustin's mother, Toni Withey, a manager who goes between the Edgewater location, at 1208 S. Ridgewood Ave., and the DeLand restaurant, at 1375 S. Woodland Blvd.

Her daughter, Christina, 20, works at the Port Orange restaurant.

It's a true family operation with Toni and her husband, Shawn, and her brothers, Roy and Chris Tomlinson, all involved in the restaurants along with her parents.

There's always someone from the family in each location, Ms. Withey said.

One reason for their success, she said, "is we try to keep the product consistent."

"It's hard with five locations but we do it," she said.

The meat is purchased fresh and they cut it for steaks and ribs and for the sliced and pulled pork. Sauces and dressings are homemade as are most of the all-you-can-eat salad bar items.

"We buy what we can locally," Ms. Withey said. "Vegetables are fresher when they don't have to

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Cancer, many ideas are floating through your head, but nothing will come to fruition unless you write something down and start some action.

come so far."

The carrot salad with raisins was one of the best I've had. Other salads such as potato salad, macaroni and cole slaw were equally delicious.

"We did a lot of sampling and experimenting before we opened," Ms. Withey said. "My parents put the barbecue sauce together."

Each location makes its own sauce and also bottles it for sale, she said.

In addition to the baby back ribs and St. Louis-style ribs, they have wings in sweet, mild or hot, or Cajun dry rub.

For the beef lovers, New York strip, top sirloin and hamburger steak are on the menu.

Seafood lovers can find fried or Cajun garlic shrimp, or fried catfish, or combos or various menu items.

For dessert, the salad bar has homemade bread pudding and others, such as chocolate and tapioca. The salad bar by itself is $6.99, a real bargain for its many choices.

Now, Dustin's is testing grand finales, small desserts of key lime pie, cheesecake and chocolate peanut butter pie. In addition to the family presence, Ms. Withey said the staff and customers are family.

"Some of our managers have been with us for many years," she said, pointing out that in Edgewater, "Valerie Dunford has been a dining room manager since we opened."

Server Melissa Crabtree said she was in high school when she started as a cashier and has been at Dustin's in Edgewater nearly 20 years.

The wait staff takes time to sing a "Happy Birthday" song during lunch, a gesture much appreciated by the customer.

Locations are 1375 S. Woodland Blvd., DeLand; 1208 S. Ridgewood Ave., Edgewater; 1320 W. Granada Blvd., Ormond Beach; 4908 S. Clyde Morris Blvd., Port Orange; 4908 S. Clyde Morris Blvd.; and 411 N. Wickham Road, Melbourne. Dustin's also caters.

'House of Wonders' opens Friday, Oct. 26, at Daytona Playhouse. Front: Joey and Allison Maxwell. Back: Madeleine Borth and Larrie Tiffany.

Alaskan supernatural tale awaits area theatergoers

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

"House of Wonders" will open Halloween weekend at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct 26, at Daytona Playhouse, 100 Jessamine Blvd. off Halifax Ave., Daytona Beach.

Kate Aspengren's unique peek into the realm of the supernatural offers a Sweetarts treat for Daytona Playhouse audiences.

Ever wonder where writers get their inspiration? Holly (Carrie Mae Holliman), McGlandrey Award winner for Adolescent Fiction and author of a popular mystery series, decides to step away from her comfort zone with a new book based on the life of her deceased great aunt Myrta (Madeleine Borth).

But the dreaded writer's block has settled in.

Not even her lifelong friends Chris (Joey Maxwell), a journalist whose topics focus on strange birthmarks and spotting of long dead celebrities at the local Dairy Queen, and Rachel (Allison Maxwell), who'll "cook an entire meal out of pine cones and moss if the price is right," can get her creative juices flowing again, until Rachel suggests using a Ouija board.

In an unexpected way, Myrta and some carefully selected friends from the other side take Holly on a spirited journey to uncover the "true" story. Ex-husband Eugene (Larrie Tiffany), a couple of Myrta's employees, Cree (Carrie Van Toll) and Garthlene (Nichole Linssens), and Sitka, Alaska, sheriff Jim (Jack Rose) weave a colorful tale of the glamorous madame of Myrta Jane's House of Wonders and the amazing roles they played in her life.

Will the manuscript be resurrected in time to meet the publisher's deadline? Some seriously funny business is being channeled here.

Jacks are wild in the Volusia County inshore waters

FISHING WITH DAN
DAN SMITH

Hey, if you have wet a line lately you probably had an encounter with those brackish bad boys- jack crevalle. Right now marauding schools of jacks are ruling the rivers and their estuaries.

Fishing on a quiet stretch of water recently I had my contemplation dashed by a nearby explosion. A school of jacks crashed into a shoal of finger mullet with a fury that defies description. The terrorized bait fish scattered for their lives. Some made it; some didn't. It was all over in seconds. Quiet once more prevailed and it was hard to believe what had just happened. The only give away was the birds that began to dive on the pieces of fish that were left behind.

This scene is being repeated the length and breadth of the inshore waterways. If you want to hook up with jacks (and you should) fish the Indian River boat docks south of the Edgewater boat ramps. On a fast-moving tide the west side of the river will hold fun all the way south to Lopez Fish Camp in Oak Hill.

Rose Bay east of U.S. 1 also will have jack fun. There all you need do is sit and wait until they show themselves. Spruce Creek just west of the Halifax boat channel will always hold big jacks at this time of year.

Catch them on shrimp, bait fish or any artificial. A word to the wise, dig deep into your box for any lure you bought on the discount table. Jacks are not picky eaters and you are bound to lose some bait. Jacks are just so darn strong that it usually does not take a very large one to overpower my light tackle.

Miller's Creek will have a load of small jacks at the east end near the channel markers. In that spot blue fish will be mixed in to add to the fun. Just south of Pelican Island, near the Dunlawton boat ramps, is a prime spot to get your line stretched by those bruisers.

The Orange Avenue bridge is one of my all time favorite spots for jacks. There all you need do is wait and watch for the feeding explosion. If you can get to the spot while it is still happening, all you need do is drop any buck fifty lure into the mix and hang on. Be prepared for these are big fish and will immediately take you under the bridge where they can rub your line on the pilings.

Down through the years I have lost most of those battles on Orange Avenue but it sure is fun. A few years ago I was there for the jacks and waiting as the bridge went up to stop traffic. Lots of people in their parked cars watched me take off in a mad dash down the sidewalk trying to get to a jack explosion in time to drop in a lure. I'm sure the onlookers wondered what would get an old guy moving that fast. Jacks were the answer.

Under the east end of Seabreeze bridge jacks will also be waiting to play. These are larger and will require some stout tackle.

A few days ago I was on the boards under the Granada bridge in Ormond Beach when the jacks began to eat. Each time the feeding frenzy began I would sprint off to get in on it — lots of room to run there. Not too many things will get me moving like that.

Up at Flagler the jacks will be along the sea wall on the west side of the river north of the big bridge. Jacks love a seawall and you should fish all of them.

Downtown New Smyrna Beach has a great seawall for jacks. I suppose it is clear that right now jacks are almost anyplace you go. You might be looking for other fish, but, if you find them, play the hand that is dealt to you. You won't be sorry.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for more than 40 years. Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net. His book, "I Swear the Snook Drowned," is available for $10.95 at (386) 441-7793.

Wayne Taggart Jr. of Daytona Beach shows one of the six jacks he caught earlier this month in the flats near Aunt Catfish's in Port Orange. Hometown News hopes this helps prove that Dan Smith is not lying about his fishing adventures, at least in this issue.
