Ormond Beach Moose Lodge supporters rally for flea market

ByRichard Mundy
For Hometown News

Members of Moose Lodge No. 1263 showed up in force at the latest Ormond Beach Commissioner's meeting, demanding their one-day-a-week flea market remain open.

City officials have ordered it closed for not complying with city code.

Several members spoke, often to audience applause, detailing the good works the lodge does and looking for a solution to the problem.

Kelli Marx, manager of the market said, "It's come to my attention that the B9 zoning is not acceptable for a farmer's market. We were told that to amend it, it is going to cost us $3,000 — that's a lot of money to us."

City Manager Joyce Shanahan explained the $3,100 fee is the estimated advertising fee charged by a local newspaper for the legal notice requirement.

James Felty, Moose Lodge Governor, citing Moose International documents, declared, "The Moose Lodge is a charitable, non-profit organization."

He had the city's violation notice, including the rules. Mr. Felty continued, "… rule 10 says 'car washes, bake sales … and other such sales and fund raising events conducted by a non-profit organization … shall be exempt from the requirements of this section.'"

Plans were made for lodge members to meet with the City Manager and City Attorney to work on a solution.

Another large group of citizens, all residents of the Tomoka Oaks condos, a 90-unit complex on North Nova Road, spoke to the commissioners regarding the application of a regulation that stated if any building is destroyed, it cannot be rebuilt. As a consequence, the federal government has advised that none of the condos are able to obtain federally guaranteed loans. They complained this is

Special Olympics fundraiser slated

The Daytona Beach Police Department will partner with Chick-fil-A to raise money and awareness for Special Olympics Florida from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, March 28, at Chick-fil-A at West International Speedway and Williamson boulevards.

Chick-fil-A customers may interact with Police Chief Mike Chitwood and members of the department, and tour the Mobile Command Post.

Chick-fil-A will donate 10 percent of all of the proceeds during the event to Special Olympics Florida.

This year, the OneBlood bus also will be present and Chick-fil-A will give a Chicken Sandwich to everyone who donates blood.

Breastfeeding Support Group

Florida Hospital Memorial Medical Center offers a free breastfeeding support group at 11 a.m. Friday, March 28, in the Café Annex at 301 Memorial Medical Parkway in Daytona Beach.

Lactation specialists from the hospital's BirthCare Center provide a warm and comforting environment, where mothers can openly discuss any issues they may be having, ask questions, share stories and encourage one another.

There is no cost to attend, but registration is required. To learn more or to register, call (386) 231-3152 or visit FloridaHospitalBabies.com.

Program for homeless attracts countywide support

By Erika Webb
ewebb@hometownnewsol.com

Local governments and agencies are mobilizing to address homelessness in Volusia County.

City leaders and stakeholders are uniting and looking to the developer of a Pinellas County program to come up with a strategic action plan in Volusia.

Their hope is to create a Volusia County Safe Harbor Transitional Shelter as a cost-effective means to keep the homeless out of the criminal justice system.

Daytona Beach City Manager James V. Chisholm sent a letter to neighboring cities and organizations throughout the county at the end of February, requesting support for a study on homelessness that will be conducted by Pinellas County's Safe Harbor architect, Dr. Robert Marbut of Marbut Consulting.

"Dr. Marbut's proposal is to develop a plan specifically for Volusia County based on direct personal observation and research as well as considerable input from key stakeholders," Mr. Chisholm wrote.

The City of Daytona Beach will fund the entire amount contracted if needed, he explained, calling the study "a critical first step" but stated contributions are welcome.

"Homelessness in Volusia County is not one city's problem and we look forward to partnering with other communities to find solutions," Mr. Chisholm wrote.

The Orange City City Council voted March 11 to adopt a resolution to support the proposed transitional shelter. It joined the Volusia Council of Governments, the Volusia League of Cities, the Volusia/Flagler Homeless Coalition, Halifax Urban Ministries, Haven Recovery Center, Daytona State College, the cities of Ormond Beach and New Smyrna Beach in supporting the project.

Pinellas Safe Harbor is a homeless shelter designed to be a safe haven for the homeless who require services to get back on their feet, according to safeharborpinellas.org.

"'The Harbor' came into being as a result of a series of partnerships involving the Pinellas County Sheriff's Office, the City of St. Petersburg, Pinellas County Government and numerous homeless service providers in Pinellas County," the website states. "This group saw the need to better serve the chronically homeless, keep them out of the county jail and the criminal justice system, and give them the necessary tools to redirect their lives."

Daytona Beach Deputy City Manager Paul McKitrick said Judge Belle Schumann was the project's early champion.

"Through perseverance she spread the word about what was happening in Pinellas County and what should be done here," Mr. McKitrick said.

Mr. Chisholm solicited the approval of Daytona

Volusia basks in afterglow of big Bike Week

By Erika Webb
ewebb@hometownnewsol.com

Bike Week 2014 — it was a big one.

Whether frigid temperatures and relentless snow in the northern states or a less dismal economic forecast than in recent years prompted them — bikers suited up and showed up in droves, coming from all over the U.S. and as far away as Japan and Australia.

In the early evening hours of March 14, a motorcycle procession on U.S. 92 seemed to be a mile long, and traveled east toward the event's hub.

But they do fan out.

Ed Poplin of Edgewater has been in and around Daytona Beach Bike Week happenings since the early '80s.

The U.S. Navy veteran often would schedule his leave or liberty to visit family in the area around the annual event.

"Once I got out in 89, (Edgewater's) been my home, so Bike Week and Biketoberfest have become a way of life," Mr. Poplin said.

Over the years he's observed expansion in some areas, such as Ormond Beach, and the event's decline in others, such as his home city, Edgewater, despite it being home of the No Name Saloon.

"But in the most recent years, the Edgewater, New Smyrna Beach, Samsula and Osteen areas are starting to get back on the travel routes of the folks that come to Bike Week," he said.

Mary Ann Curry and Ed Poplin of Edgewater took full advantage of all that was provided for bikers near and far during Bike Week 2014. It was the largest turnout in 23 years by Mr. Poplin's estimate.

Animal rescuer keeps busy

By Pat Young
Hometown News

Cherie Stockholm keeps very busy finding homes for people and animals.

Ms. Stockholm is up every day between 5 and 6 a.m. to work with assorted dogs, cats, horses, cows, rabbits and roosters on her 10 acres in West Volusia County.

She is president of Angels Have Whiskers, a non-profit animal rescue organization she started in 2004. Some of the animals at her home are her pets. Others are just a few of the animals her organization fosters while they are waiting for permanent homes.

As for this, the event's 73rd year, he said, "Honestly, I don't think I have seen this many people, bikes and venues opened up for us since the 50th anniversary event; it was great to run into people I haven't seen come down in years, Mr. Poplin said. "The weather cooperated which is always a plus."

Unable to speculate on the actual numbers of visitors, he came away convinced it was a "big year for the area."

"I was really happy to see some of the local iconic places, like the Pub 44, and the No Name Saloon, start catering back to the visitors," he said. "Also, great bands and food and, of course, who can leave out the Cabbage Patch? Always a great time out there."

A favorite ride for Mr. Poplin is "the Loop," which runs through Daytona Beach and out around Tomoka and Flagler.

"I'm not sure whose idea it was, but now we have a southern 'loop' as well, which is also a great ride," Mr. Poplin said.

It includes Edgewater, Mims, Osteen, New Smyrna Beach and the Samsula areas, he said, "great roads good sites and many places to stop and feel the life."

No Name Saloon owners, father and daughter Jim and Susan Kelly "had something to do with" creating the loop.

"My dad, Jim, and Ronnie (Luznar) at the Cabbage Patch have been working together to get people to this area, setting up things like poker runs," Ms. Kelly said.

"We also have dart leagues, pool leagues, barbeque, and every Friday night we have steak night and karaoke, which brings a lot of people," she said. "We try to have something going on every weekend and every day during the week."

Patrons are kept updated through the saloon's Facebook page and website.

"We definitely did good this year," Ms. Kelly said. "There were a lot more people than we expected. I think it was the weather, people just wanted to get away from the cold."

Bike Week is hosted and organized by the Daytona Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Chief Operating Officer Janet Kersey said she talked to many chamber members during the wind-down week following the festivities.

"Most businesses tell us it takes a while for all of those invoices and bills to shake out but (comparing) raw numbers to raw numbers this year went very well," Ms. Kersey said. "We didn't have anyone say it was terrible, or anything like that. Most said weekends were busier and mid-week a little softer but overall it went well."

"Hoteliers said they did well," she added. "And chamber members have reported great success this year. They said it was well managed. We actually had a lot of people say they have great confidence in our staff, which is always good to hear."

Organizers are starting to "fan out activities," to appeal to various demographics Ms. Kersey said.

"Baby Boomers are still riding and they're not quittin' anytime soon," she said laughing.

Millennials are forming a new audience and, therefore, new attention grabbers must be developed.

"Their parents and grandparents rode and they want to ride, too, but they do things differently," Ms. Kersey said. "At the welcome tent we had a selfie section where people could do selfies with the official Bike Week logo as the backdrop."

They may not ride the same bikes as their older family members and their interests may be different but they want to be part of Bike Week in their own way, and they are welcome.

Ms. Kersey said it is very important to recognize the national and international sponsors that come in and organize events, market and promote the area.

Harley-Davidson, Amsoil and Ram Trucks are a few of the corporate sponsors that spread the word about Bike Week through their websites, publications and mailers.

The Chamber and area businesses are very grateful.

"We hosted a sponsor party for them at the Shores Resort and Spa," she said. "They all really seemed to enjoy that."

Mainstreet DeLand Association's annual bike rally during the first weekend of the event brought music and bikers aplenty.

Longtime downtown bar and restaurant owner Frank Jennings, co-owner of Bill and Frank's Brick House Grill, has decades of, some sunny and others rainy, Bike Weeks under his belt.

"We had a good Bike Week," Mr. Jennings said. "It was comparable to the past, the weather cooperated and people seemed to enjoy themselves."

The scenic ride, beautiful view, lengthy menu, huge outside deck with live music always attract the motorcycle crowd to Down The Hatch in Ponce Inlet but General Manager Deland Kolewe said this year was even busier than most.

"The weather was nicer, which was great," Mr. Kolewe said. "Talking with other businesses and watching the news, I think people are spending a little more, and they know along with the great ride and great view, we have great food and drinks!"

Beaver Bar in Ormond Beach has a five-star rating on Trip Advisor, but General Manager Jessica Cooley said the $2 beers, free bike parking and free bull-riding did the trick during Bike Week.

"It was busy, the numbers were bigger than last year," Ms. Cooley said. "But it didn't seem as busy because the first part of the first week it was cold and rainy. Both weekends were very good, though."

The leisurely, picturesque ride out to Swamp House Grill on the St. Johns River in DeBary has caught the attention of bikers.

"Oh yeah, definitely," General Manager Courtney Storey answered when asked if this year brought more business.

"Last year we didn't get much of it," Ms. Storey said. "Now they're starting to expand during the daytime through the week, so we had big lunch crowds. At night and on the weekends they go back to Daytona for the events, but Monday through Thursday we were really busy."

The Daytona Flea and Farmers Market typically is open Friday through Sunday but Promotions Manager Shannon Woodrum said three weeks of the year the market stays open all seven days — Christmas week, the week of the Daytona 500 and Bike Week.

"We had a good amount of foot traffic. It was very steady all week long," Mr. Woodrum said. "It really started picking up on Wednesday when, I think, the bulk of the bikers seemed to arrive. We saw a lot Wednesday through Sunday."

Mary Ann Curry's excitement was palpable via pictures and updates posted on Facebook throughout her adventurous week.

"The Kid Rock show at No Name Saloon and Molly Hatchet at Pub 44 were favorites, especially since we love to support our locals," Ms. Curry said.

But overall: "I just love the feeling of the wind in my face and the sun shining down on us," Ms. Curry said. "I'm a born and bred Floridian and know why everyone loves to come here—it makes you feel so free and happy!"

The Boot Hill Saloon on Main Street in Daytona Beach was a focal point of Bike Week as usual. Biker Ed Poplin estimated it was the largest turnout in 23 years.

Living with the zoo in my back yard

LAND LINES

DAN SMITH

Here we are on the brink of another extraordinarily long Florida growing season.

Actually in Central Florida there is no defined growing season. If you are diligent, most things may be replanted as soon as they are harvested. Our hot and moist climate is often referred to as sub-tropical, but to those of us who live here year-round, there is nothing "sub" about it. Summer lasts roughly from February till New Year's. The air is so heavy with moisture that eventually it has to rain and our daytime temperature hovers around 92 degrees.

The local TV weathermen have the easiest job in the world. Beginning in June they can post up the daily forecast of a high in the low 90s with humidity the same and an afternoon chance of rain. Once that is done the weather person can go on vacation not having to change their prediction unless a tropical storm shows up. If you look closely, you may notice our weather reporters wear the same clothes all year. Is it possible they repeat the same clip over and over?

At my house and yours, all that heat and water causes things to grow — and grow. Last summer, my wife asked me to repair a vacuum cleaner that was on the fritz. Since we had a spare, I didn't rush into it and leaned it up against a utility shed where I didn't have to look at it daily. I figured storing it in the proximity of tools might be enough to do the trick, but after a few months the whole thing had turned green.

A thick fur of mold and fungus had enveloped the entire machine and when I pried it off the wall of the shed, the vacuum came alive with fat red ants. Plump ants by the hundreds began to swarm and that summoned the lizards. Out of nowhere a gaggle of geckos appeared to lap up the unexpected treat. I watched in amazement. There it was — nature happening right in my own back yard. Of course I knew as the lizards fattened up, they would feed the black snakes. In our yard, the snakes grow quickly with so much to snack on, but they can't seem to put a dent in the lizard population. The geckos have completely taken over our screened patio and turned it into a social club.

In people terms, our screen room would be called a "meat market." These things are constantly fornicating right in broad daylight. The big males are always profiling about and showing off the red bubble under their throats. I believe this is to attract the smaller females, but for the most part the girls only seem bored. Still, if the red bubble is the thing bringing them together, it is doing a wonderful job. When I walk down my backyard sidewalk, they part like an ocean wave.

Because we live on the barrier island we get lots of crabs and the occasional scorpion. We know better than to leave the garage door up in the evening because the crabs will come in and make themselves at home. They do quite well in the garage mostly eating the big cockroaches that we prefer to call palmetto bugs. I once had one of our resident crabs pinch my flip-flop; with a claw that would have brought 10 bucks at the seafood market.

Some years back, I was at the waterfront in Tampa and decided to buy a big stalk of bananas right off the boat. I drove the bananas home wrapped in a large plastic bag and when I opened it, a platoon of tiny scorpions broke and ran. They scattered to all parts of the yard and these days the Smith estate has a nice collection of full-grown scorpions roaming about.

Some time back, I was taking a shower when I heard a clicking noise. That turned out to be a scorpion the size of a Maine lobster that was in the far end of the tub. The clicking sound was it voicing displeasure at the water splashing about. I captured it and used the scorpion for fish bait. Waste not want not I say.

Lately big hawks have arrived to eat the snakes and that worries me. Without some sort of control, the lizards will eventually take over. To make matters worse, my wife, Lana, who may be the original "Mother Earth," feeds all creatures great and small. Each day she cooks scrambled eggs for the geckos and they have even come to expect it, lining up for the handout. I hate the growing season.

Animal

When she is done taking care of the animals, she showers and dresses for work as a Realtor with RE/MAX Property Centre of Ormond Beach. She is frequently up late into the night at her computer doing real estate related work. She works hard at both jobs.

"I'm a home finder," said the petite, energetic lady who describes herself as a "type A" person.

"This is my heart work," she added as she cuddles two puppies, part of a litter left on the curb "like unwanted trash." These are the last two of the litter; she found homes for the rest.

"People need to spay and neuter their pets so there aren't so many unwanted puppies and kittens," Ms. Stockholm continued. She pointed out there are low-cost clinics for spaying and neutering pets, such as at the Halifax Humane Society (386) 274-4703 or the Pet Vet Cruiser bus in Volusia County.

Ms. Stockholm hails from upstate New York, where her love for animals was nurtured on her grandfather's farm.

"Everyone has a calling. I love animals," she said. "People call me Ms. Dr. Doolittle."

She started out randomly picking up animals that needed help. Then she founded Animals Have Whiskers. She found homes for more than 80 animals last year.

She encourages people to adopt, donate money or supplies, or volunteer time. "It doesn't matter which organization you help, as long as you help animals," she said.

She puts the puppies down as she talks and picks up a baby rabbit — one of a litter someone left at the Goodwill store. She calls on other rescue organizations to help with animals other than cats and dogs, and she is involved with other rescue organizations as well. She takes a minute to talk to other pet owners at a pet park, gently encouraging them to spay and neuter their pets.

She also encourages people to foster animals. "Imagine a family in spring. What a wonderful training experience it would be to foster an animal until they can be adopted," she said. "It teaches kids to be proactive, have compassion and kindness; it might even find the pet a home."

Ms. Stockholm continued talking passionately about her organization, saying, "I'll never retire. I love to work. I have to accomplish things every day or I'm not happy."

When she does find a home for an animal, the person or persons adopting the pet pay a modest fee and are interviewed to make sure the animal will have a good home. Spaying and neutering is mandatory. Ms. Stockholm had 17 animals spayed or neutered in January.

If people can't keep an animal, she suggests they take a great photo of the animal (a black cat, for instance, could be photographed on a hot pink blanket) and make a flyer, posting it at stores and veterinarian offices, and posting it on Facebook and Craigslist. But she says be sure to add, "seeking good home — references required — home checks will be done" to assure a good home.

When Cherie Stockholm isn't selling real estate, she's rescuing animals, including these two puppies, Dakota and Demi.

Ms. Stockholm never married and said, "The animals are my family."

She added, "Some people are born with a certain calling. It's hard to explain."

putting a hardship on the owners of the condos that basically impede them from selling since financing cannot be obtained. They came to the commission for help them with the situation.

After a number of them had spoken, Mayor Kelley said, "I think you have our ears up here, and we understand your plight."

Mayor Kelley advised representatives of the condo association to meet with the City Manager and City Planning Director to see if they could arrive at some conclusion to help them with the situation.

The Commission also approved two new grants for building improvements to the Highland Corp. for 48 W. Granada Blvd. and to the Heaster Family Partnership for 42 E. Granada Blvd.

Highland plans to do exterior renovation and landscaping at 48 W. Granada, which is the old Ormond Garage that was built in 1919.

The Heaster family plans to remodel the building at 42 E. Granada so it resembles a structure in an earlier time and in keeping with the remodeling of Granada. The name of the building is The Gaslamp Shoppes and the Heaster Family intends to have a bakery or coffee shop as well as a wine and cheese store.

The fate of the former Ormond Memorial Hospital site at 875 Sterthaus Drive was decided. The building was imploded on July 22, 2012. The site is about 27.6 acres. Commissioners changed 13.73 acres from "Public Institution" to "Office Professional," which allows residential. Preliminary plans for the entire property include 286 multi-family condo units in Ormond Renaissance Village, a 4,000-square-foot clubhouse and a house of worship.

Commissioners voted 3 to 2 to seek a new waste management service for the city.

Waste Management Inc. demanded cost of living index increases (not to exceed 3 percent) in years 3, 4 and 5 in any new contract and a payment of a 1.47 percent increase retroactive to October 2013. The commissioners had previously denied that increase, citing WMI's profits.

A representative of WMI informed the commissioners the terms were not negotiable. The commissioners voted 3-2, with Mayor Kelley and Commissioner Troy Kent voting no, not to renew WMI's contract and to seek new proposals.

In response to: 'Give them something'

In last week's paper there was a rant titled "Give them something" talking about cities, counties and states giving to the homeless. Some people do not want to be helped. They choose to be were they are. I wish everyone could be helped.

There are some you can help, but some you can't.

In response to: 'A president for all the people'

The writer claims that President Barrack Obama is not a president for all the people.

How wrong can a person be?

Our president has consistently supported citizens of all colors, religions and ethnic backgrounds. He has been a constant foe of those who try to trample on the civil rights of women, Latinos, blacks, gays, the elderly and students. He is working hard to get a minimum wage of $10 an hour through a Congress that will not embrace a bill that will get many hard working families off food stamps.

He has maintained a calm demeanor through many world crises and kept us out of more wars. His handling of national disasters has been exemplary. What more can a president do to prove he is "for all the people?"

In response to: 'Red light cameras punishing poor too much'

So what the person is saying is they don't like the fact they get caught running a red light or going through the light to late. So, even though the ranter is breaking the law, they are offended they get a ticket. I don't think it really matters if you're poor or not if you don't break the laws. You do remember that driving test? You won't get a red light ticket. If you don't want to pay a large ticket fee then like the old saying "If you can't do the time, don't do the crime" Just reword it with if you can't pay the fine don't run the light.

Fertilizer law doesn't go far enough

How typical ... pass a fairly useless law on fertilizer that exempts the biggest offenders ... golf courses and farms.

The amount the individual homeowner uses compared to these is minuscule, and the Volusia County Council is fooling itself, but not everyone else, if they claim this is going to make a difference in our waterways. But the homeowner will bear the brunt of the regulations.

Golf courses and farms use huge amounts of fertilizers and pesticides. Until all fertilizer users have to comply, there will still be major pollution runoff to our Intracoastal Waterway. This attempt to save our Intracoastal is a bad joke.

County's ordinance move smells

The Volusia County Council accepts fertilizer rules. Don't they have anything better to do than spend money on ordinances and pick on fertilizer. If they want to do something, why don't they ban St. Augustine grass and let us put in something else.

They should be concentrating on bringing jobs here for the young people and building more schools. They are building more houses. There is a lot they can do. There are a lot of talented people here. Let them do something constructive. Stop worrying about the tourists and worry about the people who pay your salaries.

In response to: 'Trash truck driver please slow down'

As a temporary employee for a local trash company in Volusia County, it became very apparent to me that they drive that fast because if their route is done, they go home early. They are pushed to complete it early. I agree with the writer.

Thanks, police

I would like to thank the Port Orange Police, especially Detective Ted Kurtz. A few weeks back my home got broken into while I was work. The low-life stole my big TV and broke my side door. The police came out fast in spite of the rain. They questioned about 10 of my neighbors. About two weeks, later the detective showed up with my TV. You guys are doing a great job and I appreciate everything you did.

Spreading joy

Has anybody noticed the Silver Hyundai with the blonde driver on Nova Road in Port Orange, Daytona Beach and Ormond Beach. She has a yellow and white sign on her car. She is always singing. She makes my day. I hope she sees this and knows she is spreading her joy.

No to school tax

Here we go again. The Volusia County School Board wants to continue the half-cent sales tax. When this tax was originally passed in 2001 by voters, it was to be for 15 years. Well, that time is ending but like any government, once a tax is in place they do not want to lose it, and hold up their end of the deal and let it expire, as intended.

It will not be used to educate our children, rather it will be used for "capital needs."

Times are still tough for many. If we can relieve ourselves of a tax, that is a good thing.

I will be voting no against continuing another 15 years of this tax extension that never ends.

Port Orange speeders and no enforcement

I reside in the wonderful and productive community of Port Orange where a great deal of development and employment opportunities abound.

However as a cyclist and an aide to a power chaired senior parent, I am puzzled. The ADA specifies sidewalks and required codes to follow as they pertain to public sidewalks and crosswalks, etc. The sidewalk conditions along Orange Avenue, Spruce Creek Road, Commonwealth Boulevard and Jackson Street make them impassable by powered chairs and very hazardous due to incomplete or undersized walkways causing multiple crossings back and forth over heavily traveled streets.

Three times I recently tried to cross at the crosswalk at Commonwealth into Buschman Park and all motorists refused to slow down despite pavement markings and new signage at the recently installed crosswalk. The signs and town policy are wonderful, but without enforcement the laws are simply laws. I never see a speed trap in my travels. Upgrade to meet ADA standards and the town would be much easier to travel through.

Health Insurance needs changes

Health insurance is great as long as you don't have to pay for it. However if you have to pay for it, it is not so great.

Take me, for example. I pay about $104 a month for my federal health insurance as a federal retiree, and the federal government kicks in $313 a month towards the insurance premium for myself only.

Last year I filed an appeal because my insurance company said a particular doctor at a local preferred practice listed on the website was not in the network so not eligible for preferred status even though one of their employees stated he was. Well after the appeal, they sent the money to the preferred practice, which exceeded the outstanding balance by $136. I am sure I won't be able to get my overpayment returned to me since the insurance company says it is my responsibility to collect from the preferred provider and it is well over two months since they received payment.

With the yearly deductible and copays, I would estimate the insurance companies, over 40 years, gave me about half of my paid premium back in healthcare costs, while retaining the entire government contribution.

With the Affordable Care Act in force, the insurance industry and Congress now control the entire healthcare industry.

Wouldn't it be better if you could deduct your entire health and dental care costs from your federal adjusted gross income with any exceeding expense carried over to future years? Even better, have the federal government mandate the states provide free medical care to all residents since they license the doctors in the first place.

Employment improving with start of 2014

VOLUSIA BUSINESS
CECIL G. BRUMLEY

So far, so good for employment in Volusia County in 2014.

In the first report of the year from the state, Volusia's unemployment rate was 6.4 percent in January. It was up from 6 percent in December with the usual seasonal changes, but down from 8.7 percent in January 2013. That was a big drop and it didn't come from people dropping out of the workforce. In fact, the labor force was at nearly 250,000 in Volusia, up from about 247,600 a year ago, according to the household survey report. There were about 234,000 workers employed in January compared to about 226,000 a year ago. Yes, you read that correctly. In the past 12 months, 8,000 people in Volusia have gotten jobs.

The good news continues in the survey of employers, called the Current Employment Statistics report which showed growth of 3,900 jobs over the past year. Construction and manufacturing jobs within the county are up 1,000 jobs from last year. The professional and business services sector, where you'll also find some well-paying employment, was up a staggering 1,600 jobs. Leisure and hospitality was up 1,200 jobs and retail trade was up 600 jobs. The only area of concern was in the health and education sector, which was down 100 jobs. Of course, the other concern is that of the 8,000 workers getting jobs, many of them had to go outside the county. You can't just say half, though, because the household survey also gets a lot of people who are self-employed.

Another recently released report possibly shows the best news, though. The third quarter Census of Employment and Wages showed wages were up slightly to $33,788 on an annualized basis, compared to $33,508 in the third quarter of 2012, which was down from $33,768 in 2012.

It's starting to look more and more like 2012 was the year the Volusia economy bottomed out from the Great Recession and started rising. If the employment trend that started in January holds true, workers in Volusia can look forward to enjoying some wage growth and employment stability this year.

The reinvestment in Volusia County be its largest property owners continues with CBL & Associates planning on spending a few million dollars on upgrading Volusia Mall.

According to the CBL's news release, "Construction is scheduled to begin this month and will include a redesign of the mall entrances and exterior signage, new tile floors and carpet throughout the mall, a remodeled Food Court with new seating areas, a remodeled Center Court with enhanced lighting and trellises in the skylights, upgraded lighting elements throughout, new paint, new soft seating areas, upgraded restrooms with new amenities, a new Children's Play Area, and updated outdoor landscaping."

There might be a new store or two to go along with the renovation, which is expected to be completed by November. But don't count on too many new stores unless CBL plans on kicking out some existing tenants. The mall enjoys more than 90 percent occupancy.

Not a lot else to report this week. West Volusia is getting some more medical development with a new doctor's office in DeBary and Florida Hospital DeLand seeking approval to add a two-story addition for a catherization lab. Giant Recreation World has submitted plans for a new facility on the west side of Destination Daytona. A retail building has been proposed for the vacant space next to the Dollar General store in Ormond-by-the-Sea.

Halifax OBGYN to celebrate anniversary with open house

Halifax OBGYN will celebrate 25 years of treating patients in the Volusia County area and beyond.

Founded by Drs. Tom Stavoy and Carl Schwenker in 1988, Halifax OBGYN started as a general OBGYN practice located adjacent to Halifax Health. Growing in size and scope over the next two decades, they built the showcase Twin Lakes Medical Center in Daytona Beach.

To help care for this growing number of women in the community, Halifax OBGYN has added an additional doctor to its staff, Dr. Marjorie Bhogal.

The office will host a 25-year celebration at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, to welcome Dr. Bhogal and visit with now-retired Dr. Schwenker, one of the original founders of Halifax OBGYN.

The entire team will be there and the event is open to the public. All past, present and future Halifax OBGYN patients are invited to attend.

The practice consists of Dr. Thomas Stavoy, Dr. Pamela Carbiener, Dr. Stephen Cortez, Dr. Cynthia Baldwin, Laurie Bell, CNM, DNP, and Patricia Kruse, CNM, DNP.

The practice is at 1890 LPGA Blvd, Suite 160, in Daytona Beach. For information, call (386) 252-4701 or visit halifaxobgyn.com.

Publix exec shares communication strategies

The Volusia-Flagler Chapter of the Florida Public Relations Association will present Dwaine Stevens, a Publix media and community relations manager, at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 8 at LPGA International.

Mr. Stevens will share how he handles communications for one of Florida's most recognized and beloved brands.

Non-members are welcome to attend the luncheon at 1000 Champions Drive, Daytona Beach. The registration fee, which includes lunch, is $18 for students, $20 for members and $25 for non-members.

Bling for a buck: Beach Girl Dollar invites its friends to shop

J.M. Copeland
For Hometown News

For Kathy Tyree, her customers are her friends at Beach Girl Dollar in Ormond Beach.

Bracelets and earrings and rings oh my!

Beach Girl Dollar at 99 S. Yonge St. in Ormond Beach has them and more. There are no price tags — everything is a dollar.

Kathy Tyree greets each customer as a friend as they walk through the door and into the airy pastel dollar boutique. Visit a couple of times and she is likely to call you by name.

"That's the teacher in me," said Ms. Tyree, who was a high school teacher in Tallahassee for 16 years.

The shop, a boutique with dollar store prices, was designed and refurbished by Ms. Tyree who painted the sky blue walls and admits that most of the décor came from her own house.

"T&M Floors did put in the wood flooring for me," she said. "I believe in shopping local."

The idea for the store developed from similar stores in the panhandle region of Florida.

"It hit me in 2011 'maybe I can do that.'"

She operated her business at the Daytona Beach Flea Market from August 2011 to January 2012 to build her customer base. On Feb. 2, 2012, she opened the boutique on South Yonge.

Customers linger at the cash register. No one seems rushed. From March to May the store hosts "Wine Down Wednesdays" every other week, enhancing the party mood with complimentary glasses of wine, cheese and fruit.

"I have a love for fun jewelry and the gift of gab," she said. "After you buy an outfit you shouldn't have to spend the same amount for jewelry to go with it."

The store is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. On Sundays and Mondays Ms. Tyree pours over online catalogs searching for the next week's inventory. She selects each item that will be sold in her store, looking for costume jewelry, scarves and hair accessories that she likes and she things her customers would like.

"Everything changes, everything is new on Tuesdays," said Cindy Germano, who describes herself as "a friend who got hooked."

"She's got quite a following now and I'm the biggest groupie," Ms. Germano laughed.

The shop is full of laughter and chatter, and can only be described as a happy place to meet friends.

"I want you to come here and hang out, like it's my house and you've come to have fun," Ms. Tyree said.

She said her shoppers range in age from 5 to 85.

"It doesn't matter what age group it is — all the girls love their jewelry," she said.

Beach Girl Dollar has become a birthday stop for young girl's birthday parties and a place for assisted living recreational directors to buy bingo prizes for their residents.

"We get eight- to 10-year-olds to make us one of their stops. They get a mani-pedi and stop here on their way to the roller rink. Each girl gets a bucket and $5 to shop and they pick out their goodie bag," she said.

Brides have also discovered the shop as a place to pick out the bridal party jewelry.

"One man bought his wife a $50 gift card. He told me, "she doesn't want the real stuff she wants yours,'" Ms. Tyree said.

Shoppers don't have to come to the store or even live in Florida. Ms. Tyree ships to 14 states in the U.S. Shoppers are able to check out inventory on her Facebook page.

Even her bathroom has a style of it's own.

"People are always saying, 'you have to see the bathroom,'" Ms. Tyree said as she opened the door revealing hot pink walls and what can only be described as a bling bathroom with one phrase in large letters on the wall — "You Look Gorgeous."

Quilt shop celebrates 11-year anniversary

Byrd's Nest Quilt Shop is celebrating 11 years in business and the recent completion of its remodeling.

"We are excited about this milestone anniversary," said owner Kathy Byrd. "We love working with people, the fabrics and colors, and enjoy helping customers put together their quilts, and choose their fabrics, patterns, and colors."

The shop recently remodeled, painting, adding new lighting, new counter tops, a new sewing center and new carpet.

March is also National Quilting Month.

Byrd's Nest was originally in Washington state for five years before relocating to Florida in 2003. Ms. Byrd recently sold her Palm Coast location to focus on Ormond Beach and to care for her mother.

The shop has been making and donating quilts for the past year and a half to Florida Hospital Hospice. Last year, it donated 12 quilts to the organization. It takes eight volunteers about six to eight hours per quilt with a cost of about $300 per quilt.

Byrd's Nest Quilt Shop is at 156 E. Granada Blvd, in Ormond Beach. For more information, call (386) 615-8789.

Libraries plan finance programs

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

Volusia County libraries will host special financial programs in recognition of Money Smart Week, April 5-12. The free programs will address a variety of topics including investing, retirement, credit, debt and savings.

Money Smart Week, sponsored by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago and the American Library Association, is a national public awareness campaign designed to help consumers better manage their personal finances.

Daytona Beach Regional Library, 105 E. Magnolia Ave., will present:

•"Blank Check": 2 p.m. Sunday, April 6. Find out what happens when a child is given a blank check during this family movie. Bring your own snacks. Parental supervision is required. Rated PG, 93 minutes.

•Women and investing: 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 8. Financial adviser Steve Hood will provide a brief overview of investment vehicles and discuss women's investing needs during each stage of their life.

•Where does my paycheck go? 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 9. Librarian Deborah Shafer will take homeschooled teens through exercises that illustrate the difference between gross and net income, the importance of paying yourself first, and the effect of short-term financial decisions on long-term credit standings.

•Children's movie and craft: 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 9. "Money Rock," a Schoolhouse Rock movie, teaches children about allowances, savings, stocks and bonds through catchy songs. The movie will be followed by a piggy-bank craft. Seating is limited for the craft. Rated G, 30 minutes.

•First-time home buying: 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 9. Fair Housing Coordinator Luxmy Panzardi will conduct this workshop on first-time home buying, fair housing and fair lending. HUD-approved counselors and fair housing advocates will provide information about credit, mortgage financing, scams and the home purchasing process.

Ormond Beach Public Library, 30 S. Beach St., will present:

•Meals in a bowl: 1 p.m. Tuesday, April 8. Former Pinellas County extension specialist Karen Saley will describe the economic versatility of soup. Chili, chilled, chowder, stews and purees are a few of the varieties of tasty, affordable soups that can be readily prepared. Free samples will be offered while supplies last.

•Gifts on a budget — Money Origami: 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, April

9. Bring clean, crisp bills of any denomination and a ruler and learn how to turn money into works of art! Limited seating is available. Registration is required by calling 386-676-4191, ext. 21084.

•Be bullish with your savings: 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 9. Children are invited to keep their savings safe and sound by making their own bull bank craft in the children's room.

•Teen budgeting workshop with craft: 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, April

9. Library staff will talk with teens about budgeting and the four money choices they can make: saving, spending, donating and investing. Teens will receive a budgeting worksheet to track their choices and will make duct tape money envelopes.

•Women and money: 1 p.m. Friday, April 11. University of Florida/ Volusia County Extension Agent Kathleen Bryant will explore basic money management, including credit and debt management, saving and investing, retirement, insurance, and end-of-life financial needs.

Regularly scheduled library programs, such as story times and crafts, also will feature financial themes this week.

Reservations are not required unless otherwise specified. Programs are co-sponsored by the Friends of the Library. For program information or contact numbers, visit volusialibrary.org.

Lombardo Chiropractic
Now Offering Computerized Spinal Decompression
At Affordable Rates!

Are you experiencing back and neck pain or sciatica caused by bulging, herniated or squashed discs? Our breakthrough technology may be the answer to your prayers.

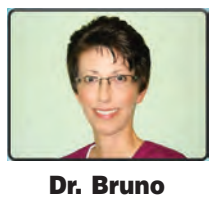
You've heard and read about the dramatic results patients report after receiving spinal decompression. You may be considering it for yourself or a loved one. Perhaps you've been in for an initial consultation and if so, you may have walked out with a sense of "sticker shock". We know times are tough and we'd like to "ease the pain" of spinal decompression. Call now for a free qualification assessment.

At Lombardo Chiropractic we've treated thousands of patients over our 29 years in Ormond Beach. Our three doctors have dedicated themselves to providing pain relief through the traditional and time tested use of chiropractic adjustments, physical therapy and massage therapy. We have now added the revolutionary technology of computerized spinal decompression for patients with disc abnormalities.

How Does our Disc Machine Work?
The technology is simple. Our machine gently pulls the area we are treating, causing a pressure drop within the disc. By decreasing the pressure, affected discs have the opportunity to regain some of their natural inner fluids. Repeating this process through a series of treatments allows damaged discs to regenerate, commonly restoring normal function and elasticity.
Treatments are typically painless and patients may actually fall asleep during a treatment. The results can be amazing.

Dr. Lombardo

Dr. Nuzum



Dr. Bruno

"I just wanted to say 'THANK YOU' to you and your excellent staff. I am in my 4th week of the spinal decompression treatments and I am now pain free in my lower back; something that medications were unable to do. Like most people, I didn't know what to expect from the treatments. They are very relaxing; Lie down; relax; And it gets fixed."
From patient Richard Marsh 3-17-2014

Are you suffering with a Disc Problem?
A disc problem in the back or neck can manifest itself in a number of ways.
A bulging, degenerated or herniated disc may create symptoms such as:
• Back or neck pain.
• Numbness in fingers or toes.
• Pain or numbness in the arms or legs.
• A prickling sensation in the arms or legs.
If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, you may be a candidate for our non-surgical, computerized decompression treatment. When you call, we will schedule you for a free evaluation. Explain the results of our assessment and recommend a treatment plan if you qualify. Our goal is to get you feeling better at truly affordable rates!

*Dr. Bruno describes the healing process to the patients in very simple terms. "The disc is like a jelly doughnut. When the disc is damaged the "jelly" portion goes into the "doughnut" part of the disc. This in itself can cause pain. This buldging or herniation can cause pressure on the nerve that is exiting from the spinal cord, and also cause pain, numbness or tingling. The negative pressure created while having decompression treatment could help the "jelly" retract back towards the center."

Call today for a free assessment. If we feel decompression is right for you, we'll recommend a treatment plan and get you started right away. Our doctors are dedicated to providing quality care to everyone. Now we can offer Spinal Decompression at truly affordable rates!

Holly Hill FACT Fair panned to support families

The final regional Families and Community Together Fair of the school year to support the needs of Title I families will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 8, in the gymnasium at Holly Hill School, 1500 Center Ave., Holly Hill.

The fair is designed for families with students in Title I schools; however, families from all schools in the area may attend.

Volusia County Schools and community organizations are working together to provide parents with information about free resources available to families, including support for legal issues, health concerns, housing, post-secondary education, substance abuse treatment, voluntary pre-kindergarten, health insurance and Head Start.

Students will be offered the opportunity to enjoy student entertainment groups and hands-on science through the Marine Discovery Center, Marine Science Center and the Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Free clothing will be available through Clothes to You.

The first 60 families to sign-in at the fair will receive a free bag of groceries or a backpack filled with school supplies.

Free children's books and hot pizza will be available.

ERAU offers courses on aviation safety and unmanned aircraft

Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University will host a variety of aviation-focused short courses beginning in April at its campus in Daytona Beach.

The five-day courses can be completed individually or combined to earn the ERAU Certificate of Management in Aviation Safety.

Also, two three-day workshops at the Daytona Beach campus will cover aviation safety management systems and unmanned aircraft systems.

All of the courses are taught in a face-to-face traditional classroom setting by subject-matter experts from the aviation industry and are tailored for industry professionals involved in the operations, management and supervision of aviation organizations.

•Certificate of Management in Aviation Safety Series, OSHA/Aviation Ground Safety, will be April 14-18.

•Aviation Safety Program Management will be April 21-25, 2014.

•Aircraft Accident Investigation and Management will be April 28 to May 2.

Daytona Beach Campus Workshops include:

•Unmanned Aircraft Systems will be April 1-3.

•Aviation Safety Management Systems will be May 20-22.

ERAU honors Dr. Tim Brady

Dr. Tim Brady, Dean of the College of Aviation at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, was presented the university's Pinnacle Award during the National Training Aircraft Symposium at an awards banquet in Daytona on March 17.

The award was presented by ERAU President John P. Johnson in recognition of Dr. Brady's distinguished aviation career, his contributions to the College of Aviation, his service to university aviation education and his initiative and leadership in addressing first officer qualification challenges faced by the entire aviation industry.

Dr. Brady earned a Ph.D. in education from St. Louis University, a master's degree in management from Abilene Christian University and a bachelor's degree in social science from Troy State University. He has more than 30 years of experience in higher education, administration and teaching.

Palmetto Club scholarships

The Palmetto Club of Daytona Beach will award three $1,000 scholarships to deserving female 2014 graduates at the following high schools: Seabreeze (The Sara Dalton Scholarship for majoring in nursing, medicine or science), Atlantic (The Vera Green McDonnell Scholarship) and at Mainland.

Sheriff's office searching for missing Daytona Beach teen

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

The Volusia County Sheriff's Office is seeking the public's help in locating a teenager who has been missing since December.

Deputies have been searching for her ever since her disappearance, including using social media to alert the public, but investigators have run out of leads.

Brandii Tolbert, 15, was reported missing by her Department of Children and Families caseworker Dec. 20. Brandii was being transported to the Florida United Methodist Children's Home that day when she became upset and jumped out of the car at the intersection of LPGA Boulevard and Derbyshire Road and ran away. The driver said she drove around the area, but was unable to find Brandii.

Brandii is 5 feet, 6 inches tall and about 120 pounds. She sometimes would stay at a home on Oleander Avenue in Holly Hill. She told friends on Facebook that she is staying with friends near the Walmart in Daytona Beach and indicated she was close to Nova Road. If anyone knows of Brandii's whereabouts, call Investigator Lance Lamee at (386) 323-0151.

Homeless

Beach City Commissioners and Mayor Derrick Henry, who were particularly interested in the Safe Harbor principals, he added.

Lynne Stevens lives in a small apartment in Daytona Beach.

From her window she can see people filing into the Coalition for The Homeless. At all hours of the day and night, she sees the have-nots walking past her building, toting their lives in backpacks.

She understands how much more they really carry, how heavy it is.

Ms. Stevens, a former Registered Nurse who has worked in hospitals, psychiatric wards and prisons, was among the homeless on and off for 10 years.

Circumstances, illness and wrong turns led her to the streets. Once there, the obstacles piled up and true shelter became a mirage she would reach for only to find there was nothing there.

She considers herself fortunate because she, at least, had a car for most of the time she was without a home.

Moving her tiny car from place to place to avoid trouble with the law was exhausting and sometimes, without money for gas, impossible. Fear was a way of life.

"You just wish you could disappear … if you just didn't have a body, they wouldn't be able to see you and you wouldn't have to fear going to jail," Ms. Stevens said.

Her heart goes out to those who have only their two legs to get them from meal to meal or illegal bench to illegal bench.

Being homeless is, for all intents and purposes, against the law.

Ms. Stevens never will forget the kindness of others along the way — First United Methodist Church in DeLand where the interfaith kitchen is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and some Saturdays from 5:45 to 6:45 p.m.; St. Barnabas Episcopal church which often provided a meal on Wednesdays; Goodwill; the public libraries, where she could borrow reading material and use the computers; the transitional housing program at the Salvation Army in Daytona Beach and the YMCA where she could shower for $3.

Though, she said, some of the finest people she's ever met were among the homeless and also existed in a vicious circle — simply "run aground" — there were dangerous people out there, too.

"They know you can't call the police," Ms. Stevens said. "If you have no identification, there is no protection."

Without an address, there was no way for her to obtain the official picture identification to prove her identity.

"It's scary out there and homeless women are victimized horribly," Ms. Stevens said.

Today she's eligible for Social Security and government-subsidized housing for seniors. She is amazed she survived.

"There are a lot of seniors out there," she said. "I see people that look a lot older than me out there."

For Ms. Stevens, the bridge from the streets to permanent shelter was Haven Recovery on High Street in Daytona Beach, followed by a stay at a halfway house.

But space is so limited, she said, adding that repeatedly finding doors closed and locked can lead to loss of hope and end lives.

"When you lose hope, you're done for," she said.

Will a facility like Safe Harbor make a difference?

"Oh my gosh, yes!" Ms. Stevens said.

The proposed location in Volusia County is near the Stewart Marchman facility (west of Daytona Beach off U.S. 92), according to a report compiled by VCOG Executive Director Mary Swiderski.

Mr. McKitrick said a site has not been identified, but said it will be somewhere on Indian Lake Road.

"The cost to detain prisoners during the two-day minimum stay is now $140 ($70 per day)," Mrs. Swiderski reported. "The cost to house homeless in a Safe Harbor type shelter would be reduced to $13 per day. This would result in a $57 per day, per person savings. For one person this would equate to $20,805 annually."

A facility built near the County Jail would have to be placed on land owned by the county. Since the county does not have a vacant facility that could be used to house the homeless who have committed petty crimes, a new building would have to be constructed, her report stated.

"Who would incur the capital cost of the building has not yet been determined; if it would be a government or nonprofit agency," Mrs. Swiderski noted.

The lead organization could subsidize the cost of the facility by applying for grants through both state and federal governments, she advised, adding, "regardless of who contributes capital investments for the land and structure, the shelter does need to be operated under one organization or government."

The City of New Smyrna Beach is considering funding the study based on a per-resident contribution totaling $2,300, according to the city.

The entire cost of the study is not to exceed $50,000, Mr. McKitrick said.

Follies go to the movies at Ormond

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

The multiple award winning Follies Dancers troupe will join the large Follies cast at the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center March 28-30 when "Follies Goes to the Movies."

Singing, dancing, and comedy will combine to bring applause and laughter from the audience during the popular Follies show. Musical numbers from classic movies include songs from "Meet Me in St Louis," "Singin' in the Rain," "Fiddler on the Roof" and "South Pacific." Hilarious comedy sketches will explain "What really happened" during the original filming of the movies including "Gone with the Wind," "Rocky," "King Kong" and "Jaws."

The Follies Dancers are an 18-member dance troupe and the recipients of numerous International Dance Competition awards. They perform under choreographers from "Dancing with the Stars" and off-Broadway shows. A highlighted dancer is former Dallas Cowboys cheerleader Kelly Lynch.

The Follies director is Chuck Coleman who is a former New York theatre critic. He has an extensive background directing theatre musicals and operas.

The performances are 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Reserved tickets for the show are $15 and are available online at ormondbeach.org and at the Performing Arts Center Box Office, 399 N. U.S. 1.

The Box Office is open Tuesday through Friday from noon until 5 p.m., and two hours prior to every show. Tickets can also be ordered over the telephone by calling (386) 676-3375. Visa and Mastercard are accepted.

Week of 3-28-2014

ARIES - March 21/April 20

Aries, you may need to come up with some new ways to show your affection, as your old ways are starting to fall short. Look to Leo for inspiration.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Taurus, a few kinks still need to be worked out, but your master plan will soon be in place. Start putting the wheels in motion and your work won't go unrecognized.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Gemini, you are great at creating a good time out of nothing at all. Get together with a few friends and let the good times roll. Others may envy this talent.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

You have a rare opportunity to show off your skills this week, Cancer. When your talents are on display, don't worry about hogging that spotlight. Enjoy your time in the limelight.

LEO - July 23/Aug. 23

Take some time for quiet inspiration, Leo. It is just what you need after a busy week in which your stamina was put to the test. Rest and recharge for a few days.

VIRGO - Aug. 24/Sept. 22

Tasks at work have certainly tried your patience, Virgo. Just when you are settled in, you get pulled in another direction very quickly. Save up those vacation days.

LIBRA - Sept. 23/Oct. 23

It's time to lighten up, Libra. Throw a party, take a trip or hang out with friends. Just be sure to focus on fun and let other concerns fall by the wayside for a little while.

SCORPIO - Oct. 24/Nov. 22

Scorpio, do your best to get all of your ducks in a row this week. Keep distractions at bay and don't allow social engagements to take precedence over more pressing matters.

Dave Bennett Sextet swings into Daytona

Dave Bennett and his swing sextet salute jazz music's greatest clarinetists on April 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the News-Journal Center.

Dave Bennett and his amazing swing sextet salute jazz music's greatest clarinetists at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, at News-Journal Center, 221 N. Beach St., Daytona Beach.

Return to the magical days of the 1930s and '40s with the music of legendary artists Artie Shaw, Pete Fountain, Jimmy Dorsey and Woody Herman as well as the King of Swing, Benny Goodman.

The "Clarinet Swing Kings" performance features such classics as: "Begin the Beguine," "Stranger on the Shore," "Tangerine," — Taking a Chance on Love," "I Got Rhythm," and "Sing Sing Sing."

Bennett's witty stage presence, and his fondness for wire-rim glasses, spats and classic suits, transport listeners back to Benny Goodman's "Swing Era."

Mr. Bennett started as a "road warrior" early in life — he was 14 when he began traveling throughout the United States. When he was 17, he was selected as one of two high school students from a group of 600 to perform as a special guest soloist with The Count Basie Orchestra.

He began touring his "Tribute to Benny Goodman" combo in 2005 and has now performed in more than 35 states and Canada, and has appeared with 30 orchestras for "pops" shows. He made his Carnegie Hall debut in November as the featured artist with The New York Pops.

Get "In the Mood" for the show when Caleb Young and dancers from Absolutely Ballroom, and Marta Pascale and dancers from Greater Daytona Chapter USA Dance No. 6026 entertain the crowd with the foxtrot, swing, jitterbug, rumba and other popular dances of the time. The dancing begins at 6:45 p.m. in the lobby.

Tickets are $25, $38 and $45 and can be purchased at BennettByTheBeach.com or call (800) 595-4849.

Rock Stars of the ’50s and ’60s as seen on PBS

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

If you remember a time when James Dean was on the silver screen and poodle skirts were all the rage, head to the Peabody Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 28, for “Pop, Rock & Doo Wop Live!”

The show features the artists who made many of the biggest hits of the ’50s and ’60s and promises to be jam-packed with all the lush harmonies, precision choreography and passionate lyrics of the time.

Headlining the concert will be one of the most recognizable voices of the era, Shirley Alston Reeves, the original lead singer of the Shirelles.

Originally based in Passaic, N.J., the group scored big with songs like “Will You Love Me Tomorrow,” “Soldier Boy,” “Mama Said” and “Baby It’s You.” and about a dozen others. In addition to being a major influence on every girl group to follow, the Shirelles also had a strong influence on the Beatles, who covered two of their songs.

Ms. Alston Reeves and her namesake group have been experiencing a resurgence in popularity over the last 15 years after being inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame and delivering several spine-tingling performances of their hits on PBS television specials.

In keeping with the theme of original lead singers, four other legendary vocal groups will round out the concert’s program. Among them, The Skyliners with original lead singer Jimmy Beaumont, who had smash hits with love ballads like “Since I Don’t Have You” and “This I Swear.”

The seven-piece live band accompanying the vocalists will faithfully re-create the arrangements the Skyliners waxed in 1958 when they became the first rock and roll group to feature strings on their recordings. Rock & Roll Hall of Fame inductees the Flamingos also will appear. Best known for their iconic rendering of “I Only Have Eyes for You,” the group features lead singer Terry Johnson.

The Happenings, with original lead singer Bob Miranda, will sing their hits “I Got Rhythm,” “Go Away Little Girl” and “See You in September.”

The Classics will bring their unique pop and doo-wop styling to the stage. Original lead singer Emil Stucchio still fronts the group today as he did when they recorded “Till Then” in 1963. The Classics also feature a very famous face (and voice) from another Brooklyn doo-wop group, Al Contrera, the original bass of The Mystics, known for “Hushabye.”

Tickets are priced at $38, $48 and $58. A limited number of VIP tickets, priced at $75, include premium seating and a meet-and-greet with the stars after the show. Tickets can be purchased at PopRockDooWopp.com or by calling (386) 338-0868.

Air shows will dazzle at Balloon & Sky Fest

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

One of the biggest attractions at the 2014 New Smyrna Beach Balloon & Sky Fest March 28-30 at the Municipal Airport will be the air shows scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

This year's lineup is the best ever, and will include:

•Aeroshell Aerobatic Team, a four-plane precision flying team.

•Patty Wagstaff, the queen of the air show skies.

•Gene Soucy & Teresa Stokes: For the first time at Balloon & Sky Fest, a wingwalker will dazzle the air show crowds as Teresa Stokes climbs out on the wings of Gene Soucy's huge Showcat biplane.

•Jet School Bus: The fantastic jet-powered 300 mph jet school bus with Paul Stender at the wheel.

•Paul Schulten in a small biplane.

•Mark Henley in the P-51 "Lady B."

•Jimmy Fordham in a restored AT-6 warbird trainer.

•Skybolts parachute team will perform the American Flag jump during The Star-Spangled Banner and then jump as a team later on.

•Jeff Michael will fly his P-51 "Obsession" past Air Show Center as two buglers play Taps to end the afternoon Veterans Recognition Ceremonies.

With the hot-air balloons, the following is scheduled:

•Balloon Glows: On Friday and Saturday evenings as the sun goes down, the balloons light up.

•Balloon Flights: Just after dawn on Saturday and Sunday mornings, the balloons are laid out on the grass and the inflation process begins. The balloons slowly fill until they are fully inflated, ready for flight. Passengers who have purchased balloon flights climb aboard and the sky is filled with dozens of colorful, majestic hot-air balloons.

•Special shapes: Special-shaped ballons include Pepe Le Pew, the world's largest skunk; the world's largest pig , Ham-Let; and Sugar Bear, the sweetest, and perhaps also the largest, bear in the world.

•Tethered Rides: Many visitors to Balloon & Sky Fest just want to experience the thrill of leaving the ground in a hot-air balloon, and they can do so Friday and Saturday evenings during the Balloon Glows and early Saturday and Sunday mornings as the balloons are being launched.

•The Balloon Experience- If you've ever wondered how hot air balloons work or about the history of ballooning, visit the balloon experience tent.

Admission is $10 for adults per day. Children 12 and younger get in free, and so do all veterans with ID. Parking is free.

For the first time at Balloon & Sky Fest, a wingwalker will dazzle the air show crowds as Teresa Stokes climbs out on the wings of Gene Soucy's huge Showcat biplane. Plus, Mr. Soucy will fly solo performances, including a dazzling night act with sparks flying. For more information visit BalloonandSkyFest.com.

eliminate three more poets, so the fourth and final round will include four performers. Call (386) 252-3118 to register. The official rules are at cinematique.org. Admission is $5.

•Waste Pro Pull: The first ever Waste Pro Pull will be from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the New Smyrna Beach Balloon & Sky Fest at New Smyrna Beach Municipal Airport. Ten-person teams will pull nearly 40,000 pounds for best time and distance. The event will benefit Special Olympics. Advanced registration is required. For more information, call (386) 402-8758 or email dobryan66@gmail.com.

•Concert: Stetson University's Guitar Program, under the direction of Stephen Robinson, professor of music, will present internationally renowned guitarist/composer Benjamin Verdery in concert at 7:30 p.m. at Lee Chapel in Elizabeth Hall, 421 N. Woodland Blvd., DeLand. Mr. Verdery will also present a master class from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, March 30, in Lee Chapel. Funded by the Stetson Artists and Lecturers Committee, both events are open to the public, free.

For more information, call (386) 822-8947 or the School of Music at (386) 822-8950.

•Wildflower & Garden Festival: MainStreet DeLand's Florida Wildflower & Garden Festival takes over West Indiana Avenue from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. This year's event includes speakers, demonstrations and a street full of vendors. There will be children's activities, including a coloring contest, Central Florida Zoo animals and hands-on art projects provided by the Museum of Art-DeLand.

Gardening and wildflower-related topics will be featured from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Athens Theater, 124 N. Florida Ave., adjoining the festival site.

There also will be hands-on gardening workshops at Chess Park, which adjoins West Indiana Avenue.

A free shuttle will run throughout the day between the Wildflower & Garden Festival and the DeLand Outdoor Art Festival at nearby Earl Brown Park. F*or more information, visit* floridawildflowerfestival.com.

•DeLand Outdoor Art Festival: For the fifth year, the festival at Earl Brown Park will partner with the Florida Wildflower and Garden Festival. Admission to both events is free.

The Art Festival will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. DeLand's city government is extensively remodeling the park. Because of the construction at its usual site in the southern end of the park, the art festival will be at the northern end.

The Art Festival continues on Sunday, March 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Entertainers will be on stage between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Festivalgoers also may enter hourly drawings from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day. Winners receive certificates for $100 of goods to be bought at the festival.

For more information, visit the festival's website at delandoutdoorartfest.com.

Sunday, March 30

•Spring Rock Fest: Main Street Station will host a Spring Rock Fest to benefit Second Harvest Food Bank from 3-8 p.m. at 316 Main St., Daytona Beach. There will be live music from Scorpions tribute band Big City Nights, AC/DC tribute band Shoot to Thrill and ESR. Admission is a nonperishable food item.

•Ballet on Film: "Afternoon Of A Faun: Tanaquil Le Clercq" will be shown at 2 p.m. at the Cinematique Theater, 242 S. Beach St., Daytona Beach. Of the great ballerinas, Tanaquil Le Clercq may have been the most transcendent. She mesmerized viewers and choreographers alike until it suddenly all stopped. At age 27, Tanny was struck down by polio and paralyzed. She never danced again. Tickets are $5-$7. For information, call (386) 252-3118.

Monday, March 31

•Piano Concert: Linda Mark, collaborative pianist, will appear at Stetson University on Monday and Tuesday, March 31 and April 1, in a two-day residency sponsored by Stetson University's Artists & Lecturers Committee in collaboration with the School of Music.

"Making it as a Musician in New York City" is the title of the discussion. Ms. Mark will conduct with students and faculty from 9-9:50 p.m. on Tuesday, April 1, in Room 132, Presser Hall, 419 N. Woodland Blvd. This event is open to the public, free of charge.

8TH ANNUAL DEFENDING FREEDOM WARRIOR WEEKEND
Help Honor Our Nation's Greatest Citizens
ABOUT THE DEFENDING FREEDOM WARRIOR WEEKEND
The fine men and women defending our country's right to freedom need our support now. We need your help to make the 8th Annual Defending Freedom Warrior Weekend the best possible experience we can to provide for those soldiers who sacrifice so much to ensure our countries freedom. All proceeds collected go directly to local and regional wounded veterans organizations. Our goal is to continue to raise enough money each year to help provide our injured troops with the necessities they need to successfully transition back into civilian life. Over the past seven years, our event has raised approximately $250,000 in direct monetary support for our wounded soldiers. We ask that you reach inside yourself and help America's defenders by choosing a sponsorship level or donating your resources to our event.
We invite you to review the sponsorship packages and choose one that works for you or your organization. In exchange for your support, we strive to help our partners maximize their exposure over the course of three days of events and activities in DeLand and Daytona Beach. Company sponsorship includes signage prominently displayed at all four weekend events, recognition in tournament program, and a business link to our website.
Your support is greatly appreciated as our event weekend cannot be possible without the continued participation of our community partners. Thank you for partnering with Complete Parachute Solutions and supporting our nations greatest heroes.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov. 23/Dec. 21

Sagittarius, you will have to remain two steps ahead of everyone else to get a project done this week. Things are moving quite quickly now, so make every minute count.

CAPRICORN - Dec. 22/Jan. 20

A challenge is on the horizon, Capricorn. But remain calm and you will handle every challenge that comes your way. Aries provides some extra help.

AQUARIUS - Jan. 21/Feb. 18

Aquarius, some may call you stubborn, but "dedicated" might be a more appropriate term. Once your mind is set, it is hard to pull you off course, and this week is no different.

PISCES - Feb. 19/March 20

You have plenty of energy to carry you through to the weekend, Pisces. A big surprise is in store in the coming days.

Secrets of Friendship Considered at Lifetree Café

The secrets of lasting friendships will be explored at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, March 30, and 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, at Lifetree Café, 142 Fairview Ave., Daytona Beach.

The program, "Friends for Life: 10 buddies. 38 years. 1 week a year," features the filmed story of a group of guys who have remained friends 20 years after graduation from middle school.

"Our lives have gone lots of directions," said Rodney Stewart, one of the original group of middle-school buddies. "Marriages, divorces, addictions, the death of family members, successes and failures — we've walked through them together. We have what many people wish they had: longstanding friendships."

Participants in the Lifetree program will have the opportunity to discuss the factors involved in making and keeping friends as well as the benefits of longtime friendships.

Admission to the 60-minute event is free. Snacks and beverages are available.

Lifetree Café is a place where people gather for conversation on life and faith in a casual coffeehouse-type setting.

For more information, call Sylvia Meincke at (386) 451-5223 or email fmeincke@cfl.rr.com.

Going to school with the big boys armed only with a rod

FISHING WITH DAN

DAN SMITH

As often happens, my eyes came open well before dawn. Lying there in bed I could hear the low rumble of a big diesel engine somewhere off in the distance. With my bedroom just a few hundred yards from the beach, I can often hear the shrimp trawlers when they get in close to shore. Now I began to wonder if that meant there could soon be a shrimp run in the inshore? That would be nice.

Next my mind wandered to the school of big red drum that had taken up residence behind the spoil islands in the Halifax River. For most of the winter they had not taken a bait but in the last two trips I had caught one and missed two others. As I thought about that, my mind's eye pictured the water movement as the big fish pushed about the flats. Once I have a thought like that, it is nearly impossible to shake, so I eased out of bed so as not to wake my still sleeping wife, Lana.

Once turned on, the Darth Vader helmet of a coffee maker began to chug. The odor of a rich Columbian brew filled the little house. "Going fishing?" Lana asked. I told her that I was and apologized for waking her. She knows I can't help myself. Sometimes I just have to fish. As quietly as possible, I slid my little kayak atop the Ford and drove down to the dock only a couple blocks away.

As I climbed into the Green Peanut, the first rays of morning peaked over the peninsula. It was only a short paddle across the channel and to where the school had been holding in a tight pattern. There were other wakes and movement on the water, but I did not waste time casting. Single minded, I aimed for the place I had last found them. My bait was a pinkish, soft shrimp tail the folks at Grandslam Baits call "Hot Apple Cider."

The first couple casts yielded nothing and the surface was still. As I drew back to let fly once more, a quartet of big redfish began pushing water directly in front of my kayak. The fish were swimming away from me, but did not seem to be aware of my presence. I hoped they were only foraging for a morning snack. Quickly they were leaving me behind and I knew I had to cast. My position was bad for it was very possible my line would land on the fish and spook them. My longest toss went right over their heads and splashed down lightly six feet in front of the moving fish.

Too close, I thought, but almost immediately a big red rolled up on my lure. No hook up, but the bronze colored bruiser had caught the morning sun causing my heart to race. Now it turned in a tight circle and was coming back for a second look. At just the right time, I gave the jig a very small tug that signaled the red to hit. Bam! Swirl! A hard run and I was on. My willowy seven foot graphite rod arched in a semi circle and the little #25 Okuma reel growled in protest. The 10 pound mono line was instantly strained to the limit. The big bull red rolled once more and then streaked north pulling the Peanut along at a good clip. In that area there are few obstacles and I knew that all I need do was hang on. The drag and the weight of the boat would do the trick, but I also knew that this bull ride would have no 8-second buzzer.

Now the fish raced back toward me and circled the kayak. At one point it raised its massive head and tried to shake the bait with no luck. The battle lasted a good 15 minutes before it laid up alongside the boat totally spent. I pulled it to the measured marks I have on the kayak and saw it was 30 inches long. My grippers told me it was over 12 pounds in weight, but perhaps the smaller of the four. As I released it, I hoped the others were not too disturbed by the action. I would be back for them soon.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for more than 40 years. Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net. His book, "I Swear the Snook Drowned," is available for $10.95 at (386) 441-7793.

Sports Briefs

Offshore challenge April 12

Halifax Sport Fishing Club will conduct the 14th Offshore Challenge on April 12.

There will be fishing for Wahoo, Dolphin and King Mackerel with a guaranteed $5,000 payout for the overall winner. This is based upon the most weight on the final board. Heaviest fish per species will payout for first, second and third and is based upon the number of entries.

Entry fee is $225 for non-members and $200 for HSFC members.

There will be a captain's meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, April 10, at the HSFC clubhouse, 3431 S. Ridgewood Ave., Port Orange.

Fishing day with weigh-in will be at "Down the Hatch" in Ponce Inlet. Award Ceremony will be at 4 p.m. April 13 at Down the Hatch.

The club will make a donation to the Veterans Support Fund with proceeds from the tournament.

For more information call Tournament Director Tom Farnham, at (386) 788-1234. For more information about the club, call (386) 788-7415 or visit HSFC.com.
