City turns over management of stadium to private firm

By Diane M. Carey
 dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

Athletic events will continue at Daytona Beach's Municipal Stadium but for the next 30 years DME Sports will manage the facility at 3917 LPGA Blvd.

The Daytona Beach City Commission Feb. 21 unanimously approved turning over management of the stadium to DME.

The lease includes the stadium site, covering about 50 acres, and adjacent city-owned parcels of about 14 acres. The lease requires DME to manage the stadium on a full-time basis at its own cost.

The initial lease term is 30 years, ending Sept. 30, 2047. Both the city and DME have the option to renew for two additional terms of 10 years each.

The lease requires DME to pay a base rent and a percentage rent. The base rent will initially be $150,000 and will be adjusted annually according to changes in the consumer price index. The percentage rent will be based on DME's gross revenue from operating the leased premises. The lease also requires DME to make local contributions, with a $50,000 value, to the city and the community for youth sports programs, and make specific capital improvements to the stadium, valued at $2 million.

The lease would assign revenue from existing stadium users to DME, and authorize DME to establish and collect additional fees associated with stadium operations including license, ticket and parking fees. The lease also makes DME responsible for providing insurance and a performance bond.

Humane society continues its dream campus

By Diane M. Carey

Halifax Humane Society is continuing its efforts to create an oasis for animals, beginning a complete makeover of its main building.

The society conducted a groundbreaking ceremony Feb. 22, the third phase of "Reimagining the Future for Our Community's Animals" capital campaign renovation and expansion.

"Thank you all for being here today and for the incredible dream come true that is ahead of us," Society CEO Miguel Abi-hassan told a crowd gathered for the ceremony. "Our goal here is to create a center that our community can visit when they want to, not just when they have to."

At the LPGA Boulevard and Interstate 95 interchange, the society wants to serve travelers as well as locals.

"We want to be a part of locals and traveler's plans at this busy intersection," Mr. Abi-hassan said. "A place to take the family to enjoy our great weather and promote our mission. We can enhance all of our programs that matter most to our pets and our friends through this build."

The first phase of the campaign was the creation of a three-acre community dog park. The second phase was the building of the Lee C. & Patricia Culler Boarding, Grooming and Travel Center. Phase three includes renovation of the 60-year-old main building, which will be named the Lohman Adoption and Pet Center (for its primary donors). Completion is expected in 10 months.

The society has raised $3.6 million for the campaign, according to Barry KuKes, HHS Community Outreach

Forever friends to compete against each other

By Diane M. Carey
 dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

They have literally known each other since birth.

Olivia Roa was only eight months old when she visited Victoria Bowrosen in the hospital the day she was born.

The two Port Orange residents have remained best friends, some would say soulmates, ever since.

So, the competition should be friendly Thursday, March 8, when Olivia, 20, a sophomore at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, and Victoria, 19, a freshman at Flagler College, compete against each other for the first time as college athletes.

The match, at 6:50 p.m., will be part of a round-robin, off-season scrimmage between Bethune-Cookman, ERAU, Flagler and Daytona State College at the ICI Fieldhouse at ERAU.

Both Ms. Roa and Ms. Bowrosen are business administration majors and both have played volleyball their entire life.

"We are only an hour away but we try to catch up at least once a week," Ms. Roa said. "We will always be best friends. I don't picture my life without being her best friend. I know we will probably never be apart. We disagree about some things but nothing major to get in the way of our friendship. We click so well. We know each other inside and out and know what each other likes and how to encourage each other. What to say, what not to say, at the right time."

Ms. Roa coaches volleyball for 13-year-olds. Her long-term goals are to get advanced degrees and experience in the workforce. She volunteers for Special Olympics as well.

Regarding the upcoming game, she said "It will be a really fun game to watch and very competitive between both teams. But of course, Embry-Riddle will win." Ms. Bowrosen started playing volleyball in fourth grade.

"We were on the same team and I just fell in love with volleyball, it was so much fun," she said. "Olivia will be my best friend forever, 'til the day I die or she

County wants in on drone systems

By Gina McKee

The Volusia County Council unanimously approved a $98,000 contract for federal lobbying services with Seward Square Group in an effort to keep the county on Washington lawmakers' minds and move toward the future in unmanned aerial systems, or drones.

"It's like we've gone from the Flintstones to the Jetsons overnight," said Council Vice Chair Deb Denys, who again traveled to Washington, D.C., this year for the Commercial Aerospace Conference. "There's a lot happening, and it's happening now -- we're in it."

James Pericola, who represents Volusia County as a managing partner in Seward Square Group LLC, is working toward the UAS program, said

She is a genuine and amazing person and I am super lucky she is my best friend. Olivia's family has been my second family and my family has been her second family. Our families all love each other."

goals include either teaching math or working in marketing.

As far as the upcoming match, she said "Absolutely 100 percent Flagler is going to win. I love her, but she is going down."

Rick Bowrosen, Victoria's father, couldn't be prouder of both girls. He described how they attended the same preschool, elementary school and middle school, and were teammates and co-captains on the varsity volleyball team at Spruce Creek High School. He said they also competed together in many beach volleyball events as "Team Bow-Roa" and found much success. They played together on the same club volleyball team (Florida Elite) for five years before moving on to the Top Select Volleyball Academy in Orlando where they both were recruited to play volleyball at the collegiate level.

Mr. Bowrosen is a teacher at Atlantic High School. He has seen the drama and turmoil that often ruins friendships among youth.

But, he said, "I can't think of one time they have ever argued, and that is unbelievable. Nothing stresses them out. They are two of the most chilled out girls I have ever met. Their personalities seem to mesh perfectly. I can see those two being friends when they are 95 and 96 years old."

"They have been each other's rocks," Mr. Bowrosen said. "They always can lean on each other, they have always been supportive of each other. These girls have been such wonderful role models on each other and good influences on each other and their siblings. The younger kids have seen them grow up and make such good decisions. Both are fantastic students and athletes. They are in different schools now and have a different landscape of friends at each place, but no matter what happens those two are inseparable. They truly get a lot of enjoyment watching each other's success and they are genuinely happy for one another."

He added they are both extremely generous, kind, selfless and you could pick any number of superlatives (to describe them). "As a parent I could not have drawn up a better friendship for my daughter than Olivia," he said. Victoria's paternal grandmother Kathleen "Nonna" lic Use Permit which must be approved by the City Commission to use the leased premises for certain private uses when not in conflict with operation of the stadium as a public venue. The Public Use Permit is in process and is expected to be brought to the City Commission for approval March 7.

In other commission action, 35 acres in the northeast quadrant of LPGA Boulevard and Interstate 95 was rezoned to a planned development for the Buc-ee's convenience store.

Commissioner Ruth Trager, who like fellow commissioners favored the change, said, "In Texas everything is bigger and I guess we are going to find out here."

There will be a public hearing on the rezoning March 7.

Commissioners also approved a construction contract with P&S Paving Inc. of Daytona Beach for the Sweetheart Trail-Donnelly Place Project. The Florida Department of Transportation SUN-

Trail Grant project includes building a 12-foot-wide concrete trail along Donnelly Place between Shady Place and Bellevue Avenue. Although not the lowest bidder, city staff and commissioners felt the company was the most responsible bidder.

Commissioner Kelly White explained this was the first bid on the trail, no one started the project and was pulled off it.

Much of the evening's discussion centered around whether to support the Volusia County Council placing a one-half cent infrastructure sales tax referendum on the November ballot. Several citizens spoke out against the measure.

Commissioners unanimously approved the item being placed on the ballot so Volusia County citizens can decide whether they want the tax or not.

"Cities have by and large approved this as something citizens should vote on," Mayor Derrick Henry said.

Commissioner Danette Henry hopes funds will come back to the cities that will be taxed the most.

A sign that decency still exists

You may recall that back in November, I wrote a column pleading with a thief to return the interpretive sign that had been stolen from the World War II Watchtower that sits on the dunes in Ormond-by-the-Sea.

I promised there would be no consequences for the one who took it, and I would even give that dastardly villain a copy of my book "The World's Greatest Beach." I am sorry to report that did not happen. Whoever took it did not step up to do the right thing but chose to deprive locals and tourists alike of the written history contained on the sign.

There are many who see the tower who have no idea what it is and the story of its importance to the war effort. Apparently, the thief could care less that hard-working volunteers from the Ormond Beach Historical Society would have to work to raise a substantial amount of money to replace the sign. Now, what you may not know is I purposely timed that column to run on Veteran's Day. A shameless ploy to try and tap into someone's patriotism.

The fact I had several phone calls as soon as that edition of the Hometown News hit the street is a tribute to the popularity of our paper. On Thursday of that week, I had a call from Paul Wolf of New Smyrna Beach, offering to pay for the sign. That's right, despite the fact he had never seen the tower, Mr. Wolf said he would foot the bill for the new sign and its installation.

As it turns out, Paul happens to be a veteran, but I don't think that had much to do with it. He told me he believed people should know about the history of the tower that I had talked about in my column. No, instead I believe this is a story of right versus wrong, good versus evil. I am certain the Paul Wolfs of this world outnumber the thieves by about 100,000 to one. At least I hope so, for that is the world I want to live in.

LAND LINES

It took some time to have a new sign made, and I was able to save Mr. Wolf some money by volunteering to do the installation myself. I did my best to secure it, but as we all know, a thief in its lowest form cannot be stopped. I am proud to report that on Feb. 20, members of the Ormond Beach Historical Society were on hand for the unveiling, and to thank Mr. Wolf. I am afraid we may have embarrassed him by making so much over him.

A nice framed certificate of appreciation was presented to him by Historical Society President Joan Skirde. Mr. Wolf was made a member of the society courtesy of past President Diana Simmons, and I gave Paul a signed copy of my book (which contains a nice photo of the tower.)

I can't say it enough, it just does my heart good to share space with a man like Mr. Wolf. Thank you Paul, the entire community is in your debt.

A Sound Choice with Florida State Hearing Aids

Touch. Taste. Sight. Smell. Sound. All important. The last one, sound, is what Florida State Hearing Aids specializes in.

Owner Julie Pruitt opened Florida State Hearing Aids Inc. in 2004 "in order to bring a more affordable and wider variety of hearing aids to my clientele," she said.

Ms Pruitt is assisted by Patient Care Coordinator Samantha Carpenter whose job is to schedule patients' appointments, pre-authorizations, billing, and assist with the cleaning and maintenance of hearing aids. She has been with Florida State Hearing Aids for six years, working an additional eight years with Ms Pruitt before that.

When asked what makes her business unique, Ms. Pruitt said, "My business gives individual one on one service to every client. You won't walk in two weeks after you purchase your hearing aids and get a random person that doesn't really care about you at all, they don't know you, they didn't test or fit you, and you feel left out in the cold.

"There is a lot of competition in the newspapers advertising low, low prices on hearing aids," she said. "The problem is in the small print. I don't do bait and switch ads. It is insulting to today's consumer."

Rick Carl, county aviation director.

“One thing (Mr. Pericola) is currently working on is that the federal government and Secretary of Transportation has announced with President (Trump) they are pursuing a UAS, an unmanned aerial systems pilot program, and various communities across the country are competing for this,” Mr. Carl said. “It’s to integrate those unmanned systems with the national aerospace program.”

Volusia County has long been positioned to be a leader in new aerospace-related industries, and with Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University leading the academic charge, getting in on the pilot program is a natural fit if the county leads the development side, Mr. Carl said.

“Embry-Riddle is one of the leading academic institutions in this,” he said. “The emphasis on our effort is going to be with emergency management. We’re going to be bringing all of the different agencies involved in emergency management together.”

In January, council members sent a letter to state and federal government leaders, which stated the council members are looking to bring more aerospace industry to the county via the pilot program to begin building and testing unmanned aerial systems, within Volusia County.

“We are working very closely with Space Florida and all of the players involved,” Mr. Carl said.

Getting in on the ground floor of new programs is critical to the county’s future growth, said County Chair Ed Kelley.

“Embry-Riddle is the key and aerospace is where we need to be. It is paramount and it is what we are going to need to hang our hat on and be a part of going forward,” Mr. Kelley said. “They want to partner directly with the county on the whole aerospace industry. We take the lead with them when it comes to expansion and looking to things in the future.”

With Volusia County’s position near the space coast, along with Embry-Riddle, the I-4 corridor and other factors, special requirements set forth in the program are either already met, or easily accommodated, Mr. Carl added.

“They’re going to have special requirements and so forth. We have met with developers in this field and we believe we have a really unique opportunity to develop unmanned aerial systems as an industry cluster as part of the aviation aerospace,” he said. “There’s a lot of players and it’s very exciting, long term.”

Progress toward that goal and others already is moving forward, Mr. Pericola said.

“I’m excited with our progress. We came here a few years ago saying we were going to change things, change the approach, and we certainly have,” Mr. Pericola said. “On commercial space, we’ve identified a number of areas, a number of opportunities ... and we will be working toward those.”

The Seward Square Group has represented companies, such as Siemens and Verizon in the past. It is a professional political lobbying firm based in Washington, D.C.

Director. “The aspiration for HHS is to provide services for the general public that are far more than a traditional shelter.”

Board President Mel Stack acknowledged board members and everyone who contributed to the campaign.

“This is more than just a shelter, we were a shelter,” Mr.

Stack said. “This capital campaign is going to result in us truly being the Halifax Humane Society, a society for the betterment of animals.”

Mr. Abi-hassan also announced that HHS received a $150,000 grant from PetSmart Charities. The grant will help with the main building renovation.

The renovated building will provide more user-friendly facilities, enhanced adoption areas and get-acquainted rooms.

As part of the capital campaign, naming opportunities are still available for bricks, pavers, benches and trees, according to Pam Clayton, chief financial development officer,

Nancy Lohman, capital campaign chair, said, “As our campaign reaches its $3.6 million goal, I’d like to say that it seems like just yesterday, but no, it seems like 3 years ago, that we had our first soiree reception at Sherry and Roy Gailey’s home to kick off this campaign. And Gale Lemerand announced his $100,000 donation and match challenge. We took off from there. We held 10 soiree receptions and made countless one-on-one presentations. It was all done by an amazing leadership team.”

Key donors were recognized including Ms. Lohman and her husband, Lowell Lohman, who contributed $1 million. Donors took turns taking a sledge hammer to the current facility, which will be razed to create the new facility.

Protect yourself

It amazes me how many people go shopping with their purses wide open.

It is so easy to reach in and take a wallet or other important things, such as a phone. Each time we go shopping I remind my spouse to “zip up.” Be alert.

They are amongst you and me, so be aware of your surroundings.

Golf cart traffic hazard

As sure as the sun comes up in the East, an accident involving a golf cart and a vehicle will occur on Saxon Avenue between Third Avenue (CVS Store) and South Atlantic Avenue in New Smyrna Beach, which will result in a death or serious injury or both.

The speed limit is 35 mph and golf carts traveling on Saxon typically travel at 20 mph or less, which impedes traffic and causes a major inconvenience to commuters that use Saxon on a daily basis. I have seen as many as 11 cars held up behind a golf cart traveling 20 mph. In addition, it is not unusual to see children hanging out of these carts with no seat belts and operating in an unsafe manner.

When the traffic increases this summer, because of the significant number of people using Atlantic to go to the beach, Saxon becomes a major thoroughfare to avoid the backup of cars attempting to enter the beach. And, with the increased golf-cart traffic on Saxon, an accident is going to happen. It is time to get golf carts off the busy-overcrowded streets and back to the golf course.

Let the firefighters be

This is in regards to the rant about the firefighters, I tend to agree that enough is enough of continuously harassing them.

I live close to the fire station on U.S.1 in Edgewater. Several weeks ago, I could count 10 to 15 times each day the sirens going off, so clearly that means they are working and when you are working, even with the regular job, you are entitled to a lunch break and that means you have to buy food. These firefighters are working more than most people on the rants and raves. You need to leave them alone and let them be the good public servants they are. They respond more than people think or know.

Pension may not be lost

To the lady who lost her pension to the Teamsters, I might add, in 1974, the government put in The Employees Retirement Income Security Act, which cut vesting down from 15 years to 10 years to 5 years.

They cannot tell her she is not entitled to a pension over the telephone. She is entitled to the entire pension contract. She can apply and if they turn her down, she has a right to an appeal. There is something crazy going on there. I feel sorry for you. I hope she pursues this.

Just do your job

I live in the city of Port Orange, and I pay the city to pick up my garbage twice a week (Monday and Thursday).

I would like to know why it's so hard to pick up my garbage on Thursday. It's the same place you picked it up on Monday. More times than not, I have to call the city on Friday morning and tell them I'm calling about my garbage not being picked up Thursday, and they have to send a pick-up truck out to pick up my bag of garbage. You would think by now, they would do something to fix the problem.

Daytona Derby & Fashion Show

I called them this past Friday to complain again and someone in a pick-up truck came out to pick up my bag of garbage. This time the guy came to the door and we had a little chat about how this was becoming a problem. Well yeah, DUH, I'm getting tired of calling you people. He acted almost like it was my fault they bypass my house. From now on, I will be taking a picture of my garbage with the time and date on it. Oh my gosh, do your job and I wouldn't have to call.

Grateful in Glenwood

I would like to thank Volusia County for the absolute wonderful job they did on Grand Avenue in Glenwood.

They saved the trees. They put in a beautiful sidewalk that meanders around the trees, resurfaced the road, striped it. It is absolutely beautiful. Thank you Volusia County. I am so proud of you and I am glad I live in Glenwood.

Surprise from Dan

I am sitting down, because I could fall over. Finally, Dan Smith has said something I can agree with. Nature is better than fishing.

Eliminate eyesores

What's going on with the two terrible eyesores in Port Orange? The first is the building that's been abandoned for many years on the corner of Madeleine Avenue and Williamson Boulevard.

Then there's the closed-up gas station next to the Waffle House on Taylor Road.

Surprised the Port Orange government allows these to exist.

Would prefer tax increase for public servant salaries

I would like to know why there is a half-cent sale tax needed for 20 years.

Infrastructure? What happened to the gas tax? There are more cars on the road now than ever before. Who is accountable for all this money? I will pay a one-cent sale tax for our policemen, firefighters or teachers.

Our police and firefighters salary should at least have a starting wage of $60,000 a year to start, and more. They put their life on the line every time they leave their house for all of us. They're not sitting in a big office with air conditioning and getting big salary's and pension.

Teachers are now getting the same treatment — no security for our schools and our precious children. Wake up, county council officials.

A tax too far

Volusia County wants the public to pay a half-cent sales tax increase for roads and infrastructure.

Never mind that the Volusia County Council just voted not to increase the impact fee so those reaping the financial benefits (the developers) would pay for the impact their developments (and growth) are causing.

Has everyone seen the new massive home building near Interstate 95 in New Smyrna Beach? Or know about the other projects (Marina on the New Smyrna Beach North Causeway, new hotel on Flagler Avenue and more on State Road 44)?

Just imagine the impact to existing traffic and parking once these projects are complete. Why should the poor everyday individual taxpayer suffer from and be expected to pay for this? Never mind that Volusia already has the second highest property tax rate in the state. Never mind that Volusia last year doubled the daily cost to drive onto the beach. Or eliminated the ability to drive for free on the beach during winter months. Or gave away public beach parking/driving land so a hotel could have a “car free” beachfront.

Never mind that Volusia County gives away millions of taxpayer funds in corporate welfare ($40 million for One Daytona, $5.4 million for Brown & Brown). These are just some of the insults. What more will it take for the voters of Volusia County to say “enough is enough?”

Thank 'em, don't dis 'em

It seems this has been addressed many times, yet it still comes up over and over.

The firefighters are on duty for 24 hours a day for the days they work. The truck is their equipment to help you save your home and body if there is a fire. It takes the whole team to fight the fire, so the truck goes where they go.

If they come because you think you may have a fire, they are happy to assist. They answer many types of accidents, not just fires.

I am sure they would love a visit from some of the citizens at times. If you visit, take a cake or pie with you. If you see a firetruck and fire personnel, say thank you, not ask why are you taking up space. You may be the next one that's in need.

ORMOND BEACH

Rockin' good news for Daytona Beach

The Hard Rock Hotel opening in Daytona Beach should be celebrated as a key moment in the Volusia County beachfront becoming a more upscale destination.

And it will be by many, but some will complain about losing more of their precious beach-driving area. It will be the usual chorus of people who seem to think Daytona Beach should remain a seedy place where people drive on the beach, leaving it looking more like a roadway than a pristine beach that can be enjoyed by everyone.

The county is just extending the no-drive area by 410 feet. That's only about one and a third football fields. But it will help the Hard Rock get a top rating from AAA and others that review hotels. I can't help but think The Shores Resort & Spa would get a higher rating if there weren't cars driving across the beach behind it.

The Shores Resort will be the beneficiary of something else the Hard Rock will bring — higher room rates. Maintaining a high-end resort requires a lot of money, but The Shores has always struggled because the average room rate in the Daytona Beach area is well under $100 a night. To compete, The Shores must keep its rates lower. The Hard Rock alone won't be enough to raise average rates a lot, but it moves it in the right direction.

VOLUSIA BUSINESS

The Hard Rock also won't mean less beach access, either. As part of its deal with the county, the developer created a parking area with direct access to the beach. An off-beach parking area the county is getting for free.

A story we've been following here at Hometown News is the battle between the county and City of Daytona Beach Shores over building more off-beach parking areas. It's crucial that the county be able to build as many off-beach parking areas as possible to give it more leeway with taking more cars off the beach without losing the parking the beach provides.

Right now, all of that off-beach parking is free, not something you get in many of the popular beaches in Florida. The county cannot afford to provide that free parking forever, though, so enjoy it while you can. However, there is a great source of funds for building and maintaining the off-beach parking without having to charge for it. But that would mean trying to loosen the iron grip the hospitality industry has on bed-tax revenue. That's an argument for another day, though.

***

The area housing industry suffered what is probably a momentary blip in January. Sales of existing houses by Realtors in the Volusia/Flagler area were at 683 in January, down 4.7 percent from January 2017. The median price, where half sold for more and half for less, was at $187,000, up 4.2 percent. I say momentary because Realtors continue to struggle with a low inventory, which is causing the fast-rising prices. As more inventory comes on the market, sales will go back up.

Sales of existing condos by Realtors in January in the Volusia/Flagler area were at 191, up 4.9 percent from January 2017. The median price was at $205,000, up 38.5 percent from last year. Yes, that is quite a jump in price and probably won't continue in February, but it does get the price of condos up to where more developers will take a hard look at building more.

Only one big commercial real estate deal to report this week. Titan Developers of Miami has bought the retail/office building at 222 S. Beach

St. in Daytona Beach for $1.295 million. With the Brown & Brown headquarters and a new county courthouse coming to Beach Street, you can count on a lot more interest in downtown Daytona Beach.

***

A couple of building starts to report as the chains continue finding places to expand in Volusia. Construction should be starting on a Popeye's Chicken in front of the Walmart Supercenter in New Smyrna Beach and on a Dunkin' Donuts at 499 Howland Blvd. in Deltona.

***

On a final note, the City of Ormond Beach will celebrate the start of construction of the Security First Insurance headquarters as the first project in Ormond Crossings with a groundbreaking ceremony at 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 7.

Beachside Pet Grooming & Spa is a cut above

By Diane M. Carey
dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

It is the perfect combination when you have a great location, a national award-winning groomer, reasonably priced services and staff that clearly love animals.

Beachside Pet Grooming & Spa has all that and even boasts a Do It Yourself Dog Wash.

The business is at 136A Beachcomber St. in Daytona Beach Shores. Co-owners Janet Mason and Trisha Porter have been at the location one year.

"I have been grooming for 20 years plus," Ms. Mason said. "I won a national award for my grooming skills. The cleanliness sets us apart and I stay up on all current events as far as grooming. We want to keep it affordable for everybody.

"I do talk to (the pets) and play with them a lot," she said. "What I love is when they are happy coming in the door to see me and just as happy leaving, too."

Ms. Porter, who also owns A Hair Affair next door, met Ms. Mason years ago when she groomed her dog, Trojan. Recognizing her skill, Ms. Porter and her husband convinced Ms. Mason to move from Eustis to Daytona Beach Shores and become a partner, and Beachside Pet Groomers & Spa was born.

Ms. Porter stated Ms. Mason, "Has a true love of animals and people recognize it when she comes in. She sits down on the floor with dogs and clips their nails and they just let her do it. Animals sense that she really truly loves them. She doesn't muzzle them. I even hear her singing to them. It shows in the way she treats them and the way she grooms them. They are happy when they leave. It is a peaceful experience. They strut when they go out of here. We want them to go out of here smelling good, not like a dog."

"I would rather send them home then put a muzzle on them," Ms. Mason said.

Ms. Porter noted the location is ideal as there are a lot of people on the beachside whose pets could benefit from the services offered.

Ms. Mason recommends pets should be groomed at least every six weeks with a shampoo, ear cleaning, nail trimming, teeth brushing, conditioner, haircut, a treat and cologne.

The Do It Yourself Dog Wash is $10 and all the appropriate supplies are made available, with no time limit.

Both owners recommend pet parents should have their pet's fleas under control and vaccinations up to date.

The shampoos used are 100 percent natural. There are different spa packages you can pick from as well as a la carte services. Once groomed, dogs (although cats are done, too) have their own condo to relax in. Ms. Mason said she has even trimmed a turtle's nails and a rabbit's.

Besides teeth brushing, teeth cleaning is also offered as a specialized service by Julia Shinew for plaque removal. No sedation is involved. Another specialty service is blueberry facials, which highlight the hair on the face and brings out the staining. Medicated shampoo can be used as appropriate. A sea salt and mud bath are another unique offering.

The shop is immaculate with beautiful artwork on the walls. Future plans include a pet pick-up service that would involve transporting pets to and from the shop especially for elderly and disabled pet parents.

Beachside Pet is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Appointments are recommended. For more information, call (386) 872-3195 or visit beachsidepetgrooming.com.

Reader question on insurance and continuing care

You may remember a few weeks ago we talked about Continuing Care Retirement Communities. Since then, I've received some positive feedback about the information shared, and this great question:

"I enjoyed your article about CCRCs in Hometown News this week. A question that immediately came to mind was how Long-term Care insurance works with CCRCs. . . whether LTC insurance can be applied if you need to move to the assisted living or skilled nursing parts of the CCRC?" - M.D.

For this question, I defer to the website of my friend, Brad Breeding, who has appeared on my PlanStrongerTV show a couple of times. Brad is an expert on CCRCs and you can find good information on his site: mylifesite.net (tip: click on the tab "Resources" for helpful videos).

A contract, an "entry fee" and a monthly fee are generally required when moving into a CCRC. It's important you read, and thoroughly understand, the contract. There are three different kinds: Type A, B and C.

1. Type C contract: When a resident moves from independent living to assisted living, or to the skilled nursing residence, his/her monthly fee will increase to reflect the current market rate.

2. Type A contract: The resident will pay a higher monthly fee for independent living from the start, but additional costs for assisted living or health care do not get added to the monthly fee when, and if, those services are required.

3. Modified Type B contract (sort of a hybrid of A and C): When long-term care assistance is needed, the costs are usually added to the monthly fee, but at a reduced rate. Alternatively, the resident may get an allotted number of days in the nursing center before having to pay extra fees.

LTC insurance can be quite compatible with a Type C contract, and might also be compatible with Type B. So, if a CCRC resident needs extra help, long-term care insurance can be there to offset the cost increase. But, and I stress this, talk to your insurance agent to see exactly what is required to qualify for a claim.

Also, speak to someone in the finance department of the CCRC and ask how its residents have utilized long-term care insurance. Ask: "Is there a limit on the amount the community will submit to the insurance company to offset additional monthly costs?"

If you sign a Type A contract, you might want to call your insurance company to see about scaling back your coverage so you're not double-paying for the same service.

Holding on to long-term care insurance may be a good idea for a couple other reasons. If you choose to hire a caregiver while you are living independently, that expense may be paid partially, or totally, by LTC insurance under "home care" coverage. Also, though entering into a CCRC is supposed to be a final move, if you were to leave the CCRC, you'd want to continue to have your long-term care policy in place for care outside of the community.

County Council takes action on beach access

By Gina McKee
gmckee@hometownnewsol.com

While the Volusia County Council approved more than $250,000 in funding for improvement of two beach approaches, they also voted to give up an old, unused beach approach in favor of pedestrian walkways to be provided by La Playa Resort and Suites.

"This is a request for the abandonment of a beach approach, and as we do on all our requests for abandonment, we notify adjacent property owners," said Gerry Brinton, county engineer. "The two adjacent property owners are, to the north, the Hilton Garden Inn, and to the south, the La Playa Resort and Suites."

As part of hurricane-damage renovations, La Playa needs dedicated, ample parking to get the permits, he explained.

"La Playa would, within three years, build a walkway from the sidewalk down to the sand. They'd have three years to do that with their nickel, about $100,000, and would provide for the first time ever (in that location) a public pedestrian access to the beach," Mr. Brinton said. "They would also, within three years, pay the county $300,000 toward providing parking at some future designation location to replace the parking. This has never been open to the public, and parking spots have never been open to the public."

The beach approach was platted in 1959 when the City of Daytona Beach controlled the beach approaches and, in 1985, the City of Daytona Beach leased the property to the then-owners of the La Playa property, so the petitioners have, in effect, asked the county to vacate what they already are leasing, Mr. Brinton said.

In addition, due to elevation and other issues, creating a drivable beach approach isn't feasible. And, with the agreement, which the County Council ultimately approved, the county would not vacate the land until all promises are fulfilled, he said.

"The vacation does not take effect until the walkover is completed and inspected and approved by the county, and the money for parking is paid," Mr. Brinton said. "The beach approach will remain in county control until then, following the same format the county has used in similar situations with other resorts."

Angling seminar at DIS

The Salt Water Sportsman National Seminar Series will bring its 2018 tour to Daytona International Speedway Saturday, March 3.

The series is the nation's longest-running course on recreational fishing tactics and techniques. The tour is presented by Bass Pro Shops and hosted by George Poveromo's World of Saltwater Fishing.

The Daytona Beach event will focus on beachfront and river fishing for tarpon and snook; no-nonsense monster trout tactics; light-tackle fishing for Spanish and king mackerel; little-known tricks that take more cobia; and sub-surface offshore trolling.

Seminar participants also will receive admission to an after party at the Bass Pro Shops from 5-9 p.m. Food, refreshments and live music will be provided, and attendees can bring one guest.

The cost is $55 and covers five hours of instruction, a course textbook, a one-year subscription to Salt Water Sportsman magazine, and a selection of gifts and gear.

Attendees also can win thousands of dollars in door prizes: the day's grand prize is a Florida Keys fishing trip, and the series' grand prize is a new Mako Pro Skiff.

Big drum, big fun with Wham Bam Charters!

Last week I told you about the great black drum fishing trip I had with Capt. Brad Kayholm of Wham Bam Charters.

That was such a special day, I ran out of column space. As soon as we launched the boat at Haulover Canal, I knew it would be a different outing.

A pair of adult manatees greeted us immediately. Since the area around the Haulover Bridge is a famous manatee viewing area, that would not have been significant were it not February. We were in the middle of a pretty cold winter and finding the sea cows then was totally unexpected. I hope the pair are OK.

On the flats, we found the water to be exceptionally clear. Some of that could undoubtedly be attributed to the aforementioned cold winter, for lower temperatures always kills some of the algae.

Once we were well out onto the flats, we could see hundreds of very large drum swimming about. Some were tailing and others had their backs out of the water. Every now and then we would also spook up a bull red. All of these fish were in water that was between two and two-and-a-half feet deep. It's easy to spot big fish in water that shallow.

As I would later tell Capt. Brad, just the sight of all those cruising monsters had made my trip. The catching was just a nice sidelight. These days it's not often you get to see so many large fish and I must admit it did an old salt's heart good to know we still have those kinds of numbers in our battered inshore.

Brad and his dad Rick are well aware of my loyalty to their Grandslam Baits chartreuse shrimp tails, but I knew going for black drum would be different. For the most part, you are better off fishing with natural bait for drum and, to that end, I arrived with two rods tipped with 4/0 hooks.

Speaking of my favorite jigs, there is something I need to clear up. Grandslam Baits of Edgewater makes the soft baits, but not the hooked jig heads. I buy those at local tackle shops and my preference is white in 1/8- or 1/4-oz. sizes. The tails are sold on the net or by tackle shops as "Dan Smith Special Edition Shrimp."

As I said earlier, it turned out to be a very unique day. Our method was to approach quietly and cast a live shrimp ahead of the cruising drum allowing them to swim into it. That worked perfectly until the fog rolled in. Man, oh man, what a fog! For all intents and purposes that fog ended our fishing. You can't sight fish what you can't see.

Now I am not sure if you have been keeping score of my adventures with Wham Bam Charters, but my last four trips with Capt. Brad have been remarkable.

A while back he put me on the largest redfish I have ever caught, then we got into so many gator trout we were throwing them back. Next we went off shore to catch amberjacks in the 20-pound range until my arms were tired and now black drum as large as any I have ever caught. Four trips, four different species and all trophies. Quite a success story for any guide.

If all this makes you jealous (and it should), give Brad a call at (386) 314-8553 and get in on the fun. I can't wait to see what happens next.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for more than 40 years. Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net. His book, "I Swear the Snook Drowned," is available for purchase for $10.95 at (386) 441-7793.

Cuban symphony plays at Peabody Sunday, March 4

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

The Daytona Beach Symphony Society presents the National Symphony Orchestra of Cuba, during a limited tour of just 20 U.S. cities, at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 4, at The Peabody, 600 Auditorium Blvd., Daytona Beach.

Since 1960, the National Symphony Orchestra of Cuba has entranced audiences with its masterful symphonic range, while also developing and introducing Cuban and Latin American music to the international classical music community. The only other time the orchestra performed in Daytona Beach was a Symphony Society presented concert in 2012, which delighted the audience and is still talked about to this day.

The featured soloist will be Pavel Nersessian, piano, who is one of the most remarkable Russian pianists of his generation and will enrapture the audience with the Grieg Piano Concerto in A minor.

Conducting this extraordinary concert will be internationally-renowned Music Director Enrique Pérez Mesa, who will lead the orchestra through the following program:

• Tchaikovsky: 1812 Overture

• Grieg: Piano Concerto in A minor, Op. 16

• De Falla: The Three-Cornered Hat, Suite No. 2

• Brahms: Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Op. 73

A free pre-performance talk will be given by Dr. Dallas Weekley at 2 p.m. in the Rose Room.

The concert is the season finale for the Symphony Society.

Single tickets starting at $39 can be purchased in person at the Peabody Auditorium Box Office, online at dbss.org or by calling (800) 745-3000. For more information, call (386) 253-2901.

Rock it with the bagpipers at the beach

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

The most famous bagpipe band on the planet is playing at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 8, at the Daytona Beach Bandshell.

Red Hot Chilli Pipers are bagpipers with attitude, drums with a Scottish accent and a show so hot it carries its own health warning.

Formed in 2002, The Red Hot Chilli Pipers are a nine-piece ensemble consisting of pipers, guitarists, keyboardists and drummers who have played to sold out shows from New York to Beijing and everywhere in between. Their trademark sound is a unique fusion of traditional pipe tunes, such as "The Flowers of Scotland," "The Hills of Argyll" and "Amazing Grace," with contemporary anthems and fantastic rock medleys like Queen's "We Will Rock You," "Clocks," by Coldplay, "Chasing Cars," by Snow Patrol, "Wake Me Up," by Avicii, Deep Purple's "Smoke on the Water" and AC/DC's "Thunderstruck."

Since the band dominated the British talent show, "When Will I Be Famous?" in 2007, the Red Hot Chilli Pipers haven't stopped for a breath, other than to inflate their bagpipes. They became a global phenomenon with their infectious style of feel-good music that appeals to all ages. The band is comprised of some of the best musicians from Scotland and around the world. They are two-time winners of "Scottish Live Act of the Year." Their most recent album, Octane, was released in October 2016.

The band has four music degrees from the Royal Scottish Academy of Music and Drama, and all the pipers and drummers have played at the top level in bagpiping.

Advance tickets are on sale at TicketMaster.com, 800-745-

Studying gentle giants

Randy Barber/staff photographer

John Eccles of Daytona Beach makes a comment about the jawbone of a manatee as his wife, Catherine, and Sherr Colbeth, right, look on during the "Gentle Giants of Florida" program at the Ormond Beach Environmental Discovery Center at Central Park on Friday, Feb. 2.

Even milk has gotten complicated these days

When I was growing up, all we used was whole milk for everything.

Maybe I am just getting old and don't realize it, but let me tell you this, I don't like it! I want cooking to be simple, pleasant and enjoyable. Why do I have to choose from whole milk, 2 percent milk, 1 percent milk, skim milk, soymilk, almond milk, cashew milk or goat milk?

Then there is rice milk, flax milk and let us not forget organic milk. Raw milk, homogenized milk, grass feed milk and lactose-free milk. Had enough? There's more. Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey cow milk.

Life was so simple before I met my wife and had children and raised a family. Milk was milk that came from a cow, and the containers read Borden, Gustafson, TG Lee, Land O' Lakes and Foremost. Do you remember? We would buy whatever was on sale.

Not today. In my house I have a separate refrigerator just for milk! My wife wants almond or coconut milk, my mother-in-law wants skim milk, my boys want whole milk, and half and half cream, and Jimmy cracked corn and I don't care what kind I use as long as it looks like milk.

In today's world, people's lifestyle and health is directing food choices and milk is a major decision for almost everyone.

So let's talk about it for a minute. Milk from nuts are lactose-free and lower in calories, but have less protein than whole milk. Because whole milk protein levels are higher, it keeps you feeling full and satisfied for an extended period.

CHEF COSTA'S COOKING CORNER

Homogenization is a process that just breaks up the fat in milk so non-homogenized means there will be layers of fat in your milk.

Pasteurized versus raw milk is a completely different ball game. Pasteurized milk involves heating raw milk to either 147 degrees F for at least half an hour or to 162 degrees F for at least 16 seconds in order to destroy pathogenic bacteria that may be present in raw milk. Raw milk is more expensive and not sold in many states. If available, you will have to decide which you prefer.

Lactose-free milk simply contains lactase, a natural enzyme that helps break down lactose. Since many people are lactose intolerant, the presence of lactase enables them to enjoy dairy products with ease.

Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey cow milk have different levels of fats and flavor that people search out when available. One of my favorite milks to cook with is coconut milk. It is a little higher in fat, but makes the best seafood soup. Why not try it yourself?

Seafood Bisque

Ingredients
½ cup onion, diced small ½ cup celery, diced small ½ cup carrot, diced small
8 ounces shrimp, peeled and deveined

2-8 ounces white fish (tilapia, cod, or farm-raised catfish)

1 pint half and half
1 quart whole milk
1 13 ounce can coconut milk

Salt and pepper to taste
4 ounce stick of butter
1 tablespoon oil

Directions

In a saucepan add the butter, oil, onions, celery and carrots. Cook over medium heat until vegetables are tender. Add the flour and cook for 2-3 minutes mixing well. Mix the cream, coconut milk, and whole milk slowly using a whisk. Mix well until blended and smooth.

Cook the fish and shrimp in the oven until tender. Add the seafood and the juice from cooking to the creamed soup then salt and pepper to taste.

Servings: 10 (6 ounces)

Photos depict modern civil rights struggle

The Southeast Museum of Photography will present a special exhibit of the photographs of Sheila Pree Bright from her #1960Now series.

It will be on display through March 3 at the Mori Hosseini

Center on the campus of Daytona State College.

The series is Ms. Bright's documenting of the responses to police shootings in Atlanta, Ferguson, Mo., Baltimore, Washington, D.C. and Baton Rouge.

The museum is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and until 6 p.m. on Wednesdays at 1200 W. International Blvd. Admission is free and open to the public. For more information, call (386) 506-3350 or visit smponline.org.

Rose Room exhibits 'Still Lives'

Artist's way course offered

Julia Cameron's program the Artist's Way will be offered in Daytona Beach beginning Saturday, March 10.

The course, presented by the arts nonprofit Positively Florida, will meet at Central Baptist Church, 142 Fairview Ave. The program will be from 10 a.m. to noon 10 consecutive Saturdays.

The Artist's Way has been used by millions worldwide to energize and transform their lives. Subtitled "A Spiritual Path to Higher Creativity," it promises to help participants "discover and recover their creative self."

The program will be led by experienced Artist's Way facilitator Gary Broughman.

Class size is limited. Registration fee is $75. To register, call (386)690-9295, or email positivelyflorida@gmail.com.

DSC to host retrospective by acclaimed local artist

For more than three decades, contemporary impressionist painter Elizabeth "Sissie" Barr has supported aspiring art students at Daytona State College with a scholarship fund she established through the DSC Foundation.

Now, at 91, the acclaimed artist and Central Florida native's own work will be on exhibit Feb. 26 to March 23 in the fine art gallery at DSC's performing arts center at 221 N. Beach St. in Daytona Beach.

An opening reception is slated for 5:30 p.m. Thursday, March 8, at the performing arts center. Both the exhibition and reception are free and open to the public.

Book lecture at photo center

Jayanti Seiler, a Southeast Center for Photographic Studies faculty member, will host a community lecture on her new book "Of One and the Other" from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 8, at the Southeast Museum of Photography in the Hosseini Center at 1200 W. International Speedway Blvd., Daytona Beach.

Following the presentation the museum will host a book signing; copies of the book will be available to buy.

For more information, call (386) 506-4475 or visit smp-online.org.

P.E.T.A. awards police for saving freezing dog

For Hometown News newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

A Compassionate Police Department Award is on its way from the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals to the Daytona Beach Police Department.

Officers sprang into action on the frigid morning of Jan. 18 after receiving a call from a concerned citizen who had spotted a puppy shivering under the Seabreeze Bridge.

Two officers reported to the scene and found the soaking-wet puppy, now named River, just in time. They believe she had been dumped there and was close to freezing to death.

The officers wrapped River in towels to warm her up before taking her to a local humane society to recover.

Just a couple of weeks later, the pup was adopted by Daytona Beach Police Officer Kera Cantrell.

"These kindhearted officers saved this freezing puppy from a terrifying situation, got her the help she needed, and then gave her a safe and loving home," said PETA Vice President Colleen O'Brien. "P.E.T.A. hopes this story will inspire others to come to the aid of animals in distress, especially during the dangerous winter months."

P.E.T.A., whose motto reads, in part, that "animals are not ours to abuse in any way," is sending the Daytona Beach Police Department a framed certificate, a box of delicious vegan cookies and a letter of congratulations.

For more information, visit PETA.org.

The Daytona Beach Area Alumnae Panhellenic Association is now accepting applications for the Martha Halling Panhellenic Scholarship.

Applicants must be from Volusia or Flagler county, a member of a National Panhellenic Council-affiliated sorority, and a full-time student at an accredited college or university. The deadline is March 31. Scholarships will be awarded at the association's spring luncheon in May.

For an application, email barbarahoupt@gmail.com or call (386) 671-7413 for more information.

Wilson Rotunda Project at B-CU gets $10,000

Beverly and Gordon Patrick donated $10,000 Saturday, Feb. 10, to the Wilson Rotunda Project at Bethune-Cookman University.

Funds from the Wilson Rotunda Project support student scholarships.

In 2018, 46 percent of B-CU's student body are first-generation college students.

To learn more about Bethune-Cookman University, visit cookman.edu.

B-CU announces gift to hospitality management

The Bob Billingslea School of Hospitality Management recently welcomed American entrepreneur Henry "Hank" Thomas, who donated $22,500 to the Bob Billingslea School of Hospitality Management.

Mr. Thomas is president of Victoria Hospitality Properties Inc., which develops and operates Marriott-branded hotels, and is vice president of the Hayon, Inc. Group, which owns and operates McDonald's franchises in metro Atlanta.

Mr. Thomas inspired students with the narrative of how he went from earning $1.20 an hour as an employee to becoming an entrepreneur and charting his own destiny.

Born in Jacksonville and educated at Howard University, Mr. Thomas was active in the African American struggle for Civil Rights. The Bob Billingslea School of Hospitality Management is the only school of hospitality at a Historically Black College and University in Florida that offers an undergraduate degree in Hospitality Management.

ERAU conference focuses on aviation communication

Aviation and aerospace industry members, linguistic researchers and aviation English educators from throughout the world will gather at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University to discuss ways to improve aviation communications to enhance safety and reduce accidents.

The international conference, "Building on the International Civil Aviation Organization's Language Proficiency Requirements — Communications as a Human Factor" will be May 9-11. For information, visit icaea.aero.

Twenty-four presenters and speakers are coming from throughout the U.S. and other countries, such as Austria, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Ethiopia, Germany, Kenya, Slovenia and West Africa.

Participating organizations include airlines, manufacturers, civil aviation authorities, air navigation service providers, and academic institutions, such as ERAU, Georgia State University and others.

The keynote speaker will be Capt. Daniel Maurino, a well-known and long-serving International Civil Aviation Organization's human factors and safety specialist.
