Daytona Beach adopts new panhandling rules

By Diane M. Carey
 dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

To a loud round of applause, Daytona Beach City Commissioners unanimously agreed to legally limit where panhandling can occur throughout the city.

The unanimous 7-0 vote came Feb. 6 at the commission's regular meeting.

The packed audience included several members of the business community whose customers have been regularly harassed by panhandlers.

Dino Paspalakis, a Boardwalk business owner, simply walked to the microphone and said, "Thank you."

A regular theme of the meeting was the difference between homelessness and panhandling. While the public and commissioners alike felt compassion and help is needed for the truly homeless, homeless advocates and the homeless themselves are in favor of the new rules.

Michael Khan, an attorney the city hired to formulate the ordinance, said "The first amendment is at the heart of why we are all here today. Panhandlers have first amendment rights, too. The ordinances regulating them preserve their first amendment rights by time, rights and regulation."

Randy Dye, chairman of the Daytona Beach Regional Chamber of Commerce, spoke in support of the ordinance.

The community has lost 'an incredibly caring person'

By Diane M. Carey
 dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

The sudden loss of Dennis Burns, president and CEO of the United Way of Volusia-Flagler Counties, leaves some big shoes to fill at the agency.

The beloved Ormond Beach resident died unexpectedly Feb. 3 from heart-related issues.

"It was always the aspiration of Dennis to lead a local United Way," a news release from the local agency states. "He was very grateful to the Volusia-Flagler community for their expression of confidence in him. He was an amazing leader, advocate for this community and supporter of the United Way mission."

The release added he recently reiterated his vision and legacy for the community and the local United Way, citing his confidence in the organization's ability to create lasting change.

Mr. Burns, 65, had been the UW's local leader since November 2015. He led the implementation of a Community Impact model locally. He was involved on many local boards and committees, including: Flagler Cares, Commission on Homelessness for Volusia & Flagler Counties, One Voice for Volusia and VMA Education Committee. He was a member of the Daytona Beach Rotary and a graduate of Leadership Daytona.

Courtney Edgcomb, vice president of UWVCF, described her boss as so much more than a boss.

"Dennis was an incredibly caring person. He worked hard to mentor people," Ms. Edgcomb said. "He had a heart for wanting to see this community become better. He had a lot of projects on

Spread those butterfly wings to gardens

By Pat Young
 For Hometown News

Butterflies are not just beautiful insects with delicate, colorful wings, they are important pollinators of fruit trees and vegetable gardens.

Unfortunately butterflies are being depleted at an alarming rate (nearly a billion over the last 25 years, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service) due to loss of habitat, and herbicide and pesticide use.

But there is hope, in the form of Monarch City USA, for the monarch butterflies in the DeLand and New Smyrna Beach areas, and expanding to more areas as garden enthusiasts plant more butterfly-friendly plants.

'Firefighter for Kids' supplies schools

By Diane M. Carey
 dcarey@hometownnewsol.com

Ricky Francois is the 2018 Port Orange Firefighter of the Year, largely thanks to his contributions to school children and teachers throughout Volusia County.

"The reason he was nominated was for a number of things," Port Orange Fire Chief Ken Fuston said. "He is a firefighter, he has taken several classes seeking certification as a fire inspector, he stepped up into the position of acting driver/engineer while we were going through the promotional process for those seeking permanent driver/engineer positions. He also is enrolled in the Daytona State College paramedic program."

Another big reason is his nonprofit organization, Firefighter for Kids, which is entering its third year. The organization helps young and underprivileged children throughout Volusia County to obtain school supplies.

"Since Ricky started Firefighter for Kids, he has assisted over 2,000 children in Volusia County with backpacks and basic school supplies," Chief Fuston said.

Originally from Newark, N.J., Mr. Francois remembers the school he attended where many students came from low-income families and he also needed assistance from relatives to provide him and his two siblings with basic school supplies.

"I started this at the end of 2016," he said. "I started it because I came from it. I've gone to low-income schools. Unfortunately there were many children there unprepared. Kids see that and you get teased. I had great parents, aunts and uncles, they would get together (and) put money together to make sure we went to school with supplies. Once I had nephews and nieces, I did that for them. I said I wanted to do that for other children on a bigger scale."

His non-profit doesn't just get money, he said. "Some people bring bookbags, bags full of notebooks, crayons and markers, things that the students and teachers can use."

But besides the basic supplies, he tries to bring schools some specific items they need, he said. "Some schools need mouse clickers for their computers. Some schools need headphones."

So far, he has donated to seven schools within Volusia County as well as Easter Seals, each contribution totaling between $500 and $1,000.

So far the schools are in Port

Orange, South Daytona and Daytona Beach with his sights set this year on a school in Ormond Beach. Port Orange Elementary was the first school he donated to. He plans on helping schools in West Volusia as well.

"He came to school one day (last fall) and told us about the program he has, firefighters supporting the students and just wanted to make a donation to the school," said Michele Duguay, Port Orange Elementary administrative teacher. "We started working with him on that, he brought a lot of supplies to us. We were able to send some things home with students."

"He is just a good guy who said that somebody helped him when he was younger and he wanted to pass that forward and help students in need in our community," Ms. Duguay said. "We were fortunate to benefit from that."

Mr. Francois, 36, lives in Daytona Beach with his wife, Jenny. He has been a Port Orange firefighter (also emergency medical technician) for nearly five years. Becoming Firefighter of the Year was totally unexpected, but appreciated as he is just "doing what he loves to do," he said.

For more information or to donate, email Mr. Francois at firefighterforkids@gmail.com, visit firefighterforkids.org or call (386) 248-7537.

who are preying on the compassion of others under the guise of needing help."

Resident Sean Andersen spoke about being willing to give panhandlers $100 as long as they take a drug test, but said "no one has taken me up on my offer."

He added panhandling and homelessness were two separate issues and would be a deciding factor in whether he invests in the community or not. "I am for the panhandling ordinance, I am not against the homeless," he said.

Alfo Mack, another community member, said, "We are all one heartbeat away from being homeless ourselves. Be careful how you address these issues."

Numerous others spoke in favor of the ordinance. But being able to enforce the ordinance was a concern. Arrests have already been made.

In essence, prohibited areas for panhandling are within 20 feet, in any direction, from any entrance or exit of commercially zoned property; of any bus or trolley stop or any public transportation facility; of an automated teller machine or any electronic information processing device, which accepts or dispenses cash in connection with a credit, deposit or convenience account with a financial institution; within 20 feet, in any direction, of any parking lot, parking garage, parking meter or parking pay station owned or operated by the city; and within 20 feet, in any direction, of any public restroom owned and operated by a governmental agency.

Also, panhandling is now prohibited within 100 feet, in any direction, of any daycare or school, including pre-kindergarten through grade 12; and within 150 feet of any signalized intersection of arterial and collector roads, as defined by the Florida Department of Transportation; or on the Boardwalk.

Additional regulations were defined in terms of aggressive panhandling. Panhandlers may no longer approach an operator or other occupant of a motor vehicle for the purpose of panhandling, soliciting or begging, or offer to perform a service in connection with such vehicle, or otherwise solicit the sale of goods or services, if such panhandling, soliciting or begging is done in an aggressive manner.

Panhandlers may not solicit or beg at any lawfully permitted outdoor dining area amphitheater, amphitheater seating area, playground or lawfully permitted outdoor merchandise area, provided such areas are in active use at the time; or at any transit stop or taxi stand or in a public transit vehicle.

Panhandlers may not solicit or beg while the person or persons being solicited is standing in line waiting to be admitted to a commercial establishment; nor may they touch people without their consent or use abusive language.

Violations can include fines, arrest or both.

Racing's greatest natural track

We all know our beach was the world's first automotive test track and the site of numerous land speed records, but why, exactly?

What made the beaches of Volusia County the desired destination for the early inventors and daredevils?

Sure, the easy answer is that our beach has 26 miles of gently sloping, hard packed sand, but it is much more than that. After all, when the speed trials and racing began at Ormond's beach in 1903, it was a monumental task to get a race car here from points north where they were being made. Back then we were a remote outpost fraught with soft, uneven sand roads, biting insects and snakes, and populated by many assorted outlaws and ner-do-wells.

What then would prompt inventors like Henry Ford, Ransom Olds (both from Michigan) and Alexander Winton (Ohio) to make the long and dangerous trek to our shores? Surely they could find a mile track closer to home.

First off, you must know one of the main enemies of the early automobile was dust.

LAND LINES
DAN SMITH

Inventors would build an internal combustion engine that ran just fine in their shop, but once mounted onto a buggy to run the dirt roads they would soon become choked with dust and stop. In the beginning, the methods of air filtration on those engines were either poor or non-existent. The rudimentary carburetors would quickly plug up, leaving the cars to be thought of as unreliable. But, there was no dust on the beach.

Until this day, when some sports writers hear the City of Ormond Beach claims to be the birthplace of speed, they go to work trying to dispute that fact. The mistake most make is to substitute the word "racing" for speed. Ormond Beach was not the site of the first auto race they correctly claim. As Henry Ford famously said, "The first race probably happened about five minutes after the second car was built."

For eight years in a row, Ormond Beach hosted the world's first sustained tournaments to attempt the world's land speed record. Before 1903 there had been many organized racing events around the country and the world, but those were mostly singular events on short city streets or quarter mile and half mile dirt horse tracks.

Our beach was unsurpassed. With the world's top speed prize being the flying mile, no other place was better suited to try for it. It was extremely difficult to run a car flat out on the small oval tracks due to all the turning. Here a driver could run his car two or three miles before the traps in order to get up to full speed. Our beach provided a place to run 10-mile tests or even 20 miles without turning. From 1903 to 1935, 59 world records were set here from one kilo to 100 miles.

Another reason for the success of our beaches was safety. Early auto races were mostly road races on city streets where the crowd stood right along the roadway to watch. Spectator deaths at events like Vanderbilt's Long Island cup races would result in an outcry to halt all racing.

During the 33 years of land speed record attempts here, no spectator was ever killed. A safety record unmatched by any other racing venue in the world. The dunes served as a natural grandstand where onlookers could sit high up for a safe and unobstructed view. Errant race cars would be safely slowed by the soft sand at the dunes base.

So, is it any wonder that almost every auto manufacturer and most professional drivers came here? Little dust, long straightaways and a safe track would demand that those with a need for speed make the pilgrimage to the world's greatest beach.

Dan Smith is on the board of directors for the Ormond Beach Historical Society and The Motor Racing Heritage Association and is the author of two books, "The World's Greatest Beach" and "I Swear the Snook Drowned." Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net or call (386) 441-7793.

He was proud he won his fantasy football league this year and how much he loved the beach and his family, especially his grandkids, she said.
“Dennis did a good job of getting all of us to work independently. He said my job is to hire the right people and then get out of their way. He did that,” Ms. Edgcomb said. “We are still here and operating. We are in the middle right now of our next community impact grant process. We are more focused in the way we distribute funds and that is a vision Dennis had.”

Mr. Burns also was the consummate family man. He is survived by his wife of 41 years, Mary Burns, and their three children, Cameron Robert Burns, Carlyn Linker and Charisse Bitner; sisters, Margaret Burns and Roberta Riggsbee; and four grandchildren.
“He was one of those people that was so kind and immediately put people at ease,” Cameron Burns said. “My friends would come over when I was still young and hang out with him. He was a Little League coach and made a big impact on a lot of my friends and made a big impact on a lot of people for a lot of reasons. He loved the beach and was an avid sports fan and loved to golf as much as he could.”

He wants his dad remembered as a kind, selfless person, Mr. Burns said. “Even before he worked in nonprofit he was ‘that guy.’ He was the guy that would give you the shirt off his back, he was the guy who would pick you up if you needed help. It wasn’t just his job. He was the kind of person who wanted to help people.”
Working for United Way was the job that allowed him to be himself, his son said. “It’s almost like the job found him. Something we would do on a Saturday is the same way he would go to work on a Monday. He was like everyone’s dad. He didn’t care what you were, he cared who you were.”

He added his family is appreciative of the outpouring of support and testimonials they have received. He also laughingly said his parents were “annoyingly in love. They spent all their time together. My dad adored my mom, they were perfect for each other in an opposites attract kind of way.”
Dennis Burns grew up in Hornell, N.Y., and earned a bachelor’s degree in communications from the University of Central Florida. He worked for the Orlando Sentinel before completing a stint as a Loaned Executive for the Heart of Florida United Way in Orlando. He then joined the Heart of Florida United Way full time in resource development and began his 20-plus year career there.

A celebration of life memorial service for Mr. Burns was Tuesday, Feb. 12, at Tomoka Christian Church in Ormond Beach. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the United Way of Volusia/Flagler (app.mobile-cause.com/public/campaigns-keywords/32180/donations/new).

AdventHealth Daytona Beach celebrated the grand opening of a new 32-bed Inpatient Rehabilitation Center, its only one in Volusia, Flagler and Lake counties on Jan. 31.
The unit specializes in stroke and neuro patients as well as those with hip fractures, brain and spinal cord injuries, amputations and medical management issues.
It has a unique ceiling track lift system, one of the longest in the nation. With more than a half mile of a connected ceiling track throughout the rooms, hallway and into the dining area, the new lift system allows nursing and therapy staff to safely assist patients out of bed and help them begin walking.

On the 12th floor of AdventHealth Daytona Beach, at 301 Memorial Medical Parkway, the new unit represents a $13.8 million investment in the community’s healthcare services.
All of the rooms are private and have windows with views of either the Atlantic Ocean or Daytona International Speedway. Also, the new location has four bariatric rooms with larger entryways and bathrooms for obese patients. It was formerly on South Atlantic Avenue in Ormond Beach, but that facility was damaged beyond repair by a hurricane.

There is also a hydraulic car that adjusts to the exact height of the patient’s personal car so patients can practice the movement necessary to get in and out of their vehicle safely.
With the opening, AdventHealth Daytona Beach is now a 359-bed facility.

While New Smyrna Beach is already certified as a Monarch City USA, the New Smyrna Beach men’s and women’s garden clubs are working on certifying more neighborhood and residential gardens of all sizes as monarch friendly.
“It’s a win-win for gardeners, for the endangered butterflies and for our initiative,” said Skip Bednarczyk, a Men’s Garden Club member.
“We need to do more for the butterflies,” added Jim West, another member.
Mr. West comes from a long line of gardeners. His uncle, Walter West, was a gardener for President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and his wife, Marjorie Cooley, had a vegetable garden, he said. His grandmother owned a flower shop. Mr. West has had a long-time interest in butterflies, as a Deland high school teacher in special education. His students, ADD and ADHD (attention deficit hyperactive disorder), need something extra to do.

“Let’s go out and dig in the dirt,” he told them. That started a butterfly garden, and raising monarch butterflies in the classroom.
After seven years, he moved to Tallahassee and taught horticulture and Lepidoptera (that’s scaly wings, such as butterflies and moths) in high school. Now retired, he teaches seminars for garden clubs and designs butterfly gardens. He also travels a lot, “chasing butterflies,” he said.
He has been a volunteer for more than 25 years, tagging butterflies. (Tags are available from monarchwatch.org)
Monarch City USA came into being to promote education and development of public and private gardens. Faith Miller, public works director for New Smyrna Beach, is working with local clubs to get people to build gardens.
The Men’s Garden Club will be at the New Smyrna Beach Springfest from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 6, at Canal and Live Oak streets with information on residential monarch certification.
To become a certified monarch butterfly sanctuary, participants must have a minimum of 20 nectar food plants, three of which are host/larval plants, which includes five milkweed plants, as they are the primary host plants for the monarchs. Nectar food plants include pentstemon, portulaca, plumbago, buddleia, beach sunflower, lantana, bottlebrush and firebush. Larval food plants include milkweed, passion vine, cassia, parsley, dill and fennel. The brighter the color in the garden, the more butterflies will visit, according to the garden club.

Applications to become a certified monarch butterfly sanctuary will be reviewed and the New Smyrna Beach men’s and women’s garden clubs will be in touch with participants. (Deadline for submission is April 30. Participants will have the option of buying a Certified Monarch Butterfly Sanctuary sign for $25.) More information on certification or the garden clubs is available by calling Mr. West at (850) 320-2935 or Sookie Smith, president of the NSB Women’s Garden Club at (386) 847-4374.
The men’s garden club of NSB also will have their annual plant sale fundraiser from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, April 13, on Live Oak Street by the museum. Many monarch-certified plants will be offered for sale.

Thanks for caring

As I walked my dog along Atlantic Avenue near St. Brendan Catholic Church in Ormond Beach Feb. 8, she decided to challenge my balance by walking between my legs which sent me head over heels and slammed me to the ground.

Many thanks to the drivers and passengers of several cars who pulled over or stopped in their traffic lane to see if I was OK or needed help. Thanks so much for caring. Please beep to say hello next time ya see us.

In response to: 'Use better road courtesy'

I have never been at a light that there was that much of a gap between cars.

I agree people are talking, texting or looking at the phones too much and do not notice when the light turns green. I personally don't like to pull up too close to the car in front of me. I do leave a gap (maybe a car length?) If someone decides to hit me from behind, hopefully that gap will help me from getting pushed into the car in front of me.

It helped my daughter last year, someone hit her from behind and because she wasn't super close to the one in front of her, she didn't get pushed into the other car.

In regards to: 'Police can help'

The rant says if you take your notes and documentation to the police department, they will help.

That is false. I have been stalked for three years. I kept documentation. I went to the police station Monday, Feb. 4, and they would not help me. I have complained before and I can still not get help.

Likes new center

I would like to rave about the new Live Oak Cultural Center in New Smyrna Beach.

That is going to be a treat to the city. It is absolutely gorgeous, especially at night,

Back up on the bread

I am one of many residents who enjoy walking at Port Orange City Center.

For a long time, some people have fed the birds. Most give them small pieces of bread, but for many months now there are people bringing multiple large loaves of bread and rolls and, often throwing around large or even whole slices all over the walkways.

This is extremely unhealthy for our beautiful birds. The mess is making our beautiful walking areas miserable for us. The excrement is all over and cannot be avoided. People and dogs are being forced to walk through all this fresh liquid waste. Some children have slipped and had it all over them.

Please be more considerate to our wildlife and citizens. This is horrible behavior that can make people and animals ill and injured.

In response to: 'Not a coyote fan'

To the person who is not a fan of coyotes, there is a very simple solution to your problem. Vote.

The elections for city officials are coming up. Vote out the old members who continue to allow more building of houses that encroach on the homes of the coyotes. These officials are more concerned about money in their pockets instead of what is best for the city. These officials keep doing the same old tired thing of building more houses, nothing that will actually help the city.

Vote them out. Get people in that care not only about the environment, but the city, also. Make sure they really care and listen to what the public wants and I have read many many times that there are plenty of empty houses in Edgewater, why build more?

Thanks for the info, Chef

Cooking is not something at the top of my list of things I love to do, therefore I am not an aficionado of cooking columns, but occasionally make an exception for Chef Costa's Cooking Corner, at least giving it a quick scan as his ad-libbing is usually good for a chuckle and heaven knows we have few of those these days.

The Feb. 1 column (Where do you grocery shop?) was enlightening for consumers/ shoppers. I for one, miss that kind of information, which was something found in the daily or weekly newspapers of yore. Consumers need all the help they can get and 'informed' consumers would be a start for fixing consumer satisfaction and laws.

Not enough warning

On Friday, I was on Victoria Gardens Drive.

I made a left turn on to Clyde Morris, next thing I knew blue lights were in my rear window. It seems I made an improper left turn because of the time of day. Seems there are no left turns when school is letting out.

The ticketing officer stated signs were posted, but you can't be expected to read every sign on the side of the road. There were two motorcycle officers lying in wait for unsuspecting drivers. He wrote me a ticket for $165.

If they don't want you to turn left, there should be flashing lights warning you. This smells like a trap for unsuspecting drivers. Making a left turn coming out of Walmart is far more dangerous, but they let you turn there. I'm sure police time could be better spent.

Watch out drivers. Read all the signs or you may also be ticketed. See you in court.

ORMOND BEACH

Stop the insanity, I want to get off

As regular readers of this column know, I'm fairly pro-development, but also expect sensible infrastructure to go with it.

So, it pains me to point out we really need to say, "slow down on the development."

While not quite having everything in place for the development along LPGA Boulevard in Daytona Beach is bad enough, at least it has an interstate interchange to help with the movement of traffic. The same can be said for all the development along Orange Camp Road at DeLand and Lake Helen, and State Road 472 (Howland Boulevard in Deltona).

All three of those areas, especially LPGA Boulevard with its massive amount of residential development, will have to look at continually upgrading for roads, water, sewer, schools and recreation.

But where we almost need to look at a moratorium on development is Pioneer Trail and Williamson Boulevard along the New Smyrna Beach/Port Orange border. You already have the Cypresshead and Water's Edge developments in Port Orange and Venetian Bay in New Smyrna Beach putting a strain on the area. Two more planned developments, both closer to I-95, include ICI Homes' Woodhaven, which would have 1,300 single-family houses, 400 townhouses and a retail village with a supermarket, pharmacy and retail shops. Right on the other side of Pioneer Trail, Rural King Supply of Mattoon, Ill., has proposed Shell Pointe Colony, which would have 745 houses and 30 acres of commercial development in two retail villages.

VOLUSIA BUSINESS

ICI is instrumental in extending Williamson Boulevard to Pioneer Trail, so you have some outlet for traffic, but that's as far as Williamson goes. Also, an interchange at I-95 and Pioneer Trail is years away from reality, especially with many people still opposed to the interchange.

ICI is already too far along and you can't stop it from its first phase of Woodhaven, which will have 178 single-family houses and 93 townhouses on about 116 acres, but that's near the intersection with Airport Road and doesn't impact Pioneer Trail quite so much, yet.

But let's face it; putting that much development along a tiny, narrow country lane with no access to the interstate is a recipe for disaster. So, please cities of Port Orange and New Smyrna Beach, stop the madness and get the infrastructure in place.

May not be anything yet, but B. Braun is getting all of its land on Mason Avenue in Daytona Beach under one zoning designation, and it's general industrial zoning. Documents filed with the city just state it's for expansion, but it could mean the second medical products plant is coming, which would be a big economic boost for the area.

Still not a lot of big commercial real estate deals happening, but one big one was Silver State Realty & Investments of Las Vegas buying the News-Journal property at 901 Sixth St. in Daytona Beach (adjacent) for $10.458 million. International Speedway Corp. bought the Space Coast Credit Union property at 200 Bill France Blvd. in Daytona Beach for $3.6 million. Safe Lock Storage of Windermere bought an industrial storage property at 333 Marion Ave.

in Edgewater for $2.73 million. A Canadian investor bought the townhouse apartments at 2322 S. Palmetto Ave. in South Daytona for $1.025M.

On a final note, some interesting developments include SunTrust and BB&T merging. The new entity will be based in Charlotte, N.C. With so few BB&T offices in Volusia County, it may not mean any office closings, so little impact unless you happen to have a relative who was working in the SunTrust headquarters in Atlanta. Demolition is starting on the first of the First Baptist Church properties in downtown Daytona Beach; an office building at 115 N. Ridgewood Ave. An Urban Planet store is replacing the VF Outlet at Tanger Factory Outlet Center in Daytona Beach. The mobile home park on Natures Woods Boulevard, south of East New Hampshire Avenue in DeLand is adding 45 lots.

Managing Editor Cecil G. Brumley has been tracking business and the economy in Volusia County for more than 22 years. Contact him at cbrumley@hometownnewsol.com (no hyphens) or follow him on Twitter @cecilbrumley.

Racing Roundup

NASCAR gets tough on cheaters

NASCAR announced updates for the 2019 season recently with the biggest change a warning to anyone who doesn't follow the rules will be immediately disqualified.

Previously NASCAR performed full post-race inspections at its Research & Development Center in Concord, N.C., and any results were announced days after a race. But now the inspections will occur immediately after each race in NASCAR top three series. If a vehicle fails post-race inspection, it will be disqualified, resulting in a last-place finish and the loss of all benefits from the win/finish, as well as any stage points. All other vehicles would move up in the finishing order. NASCAR will inspect the first- and second-place vehicles, as well as a random vehicle, after each event.

"Our industry understands the need to focus on what happens on the race track," said Steve O'Donnell, NASCAR executive vice president of competition and racing development. "We cannot allow inspection and penalties to continue to be a prolonged storyline. Race vehicles are expected to adhere to the rule book from the opening of the garage to the checkered flag."

The Daytona Beach-based race sanctioning body is in the midst of the season-starting Speed Weeks, which culminate at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17, with the 61st running of the Daytona 500 at Daytona International Speedway. It will be televised on FOX, MRN and SiriusXM NASCAR Radio.

J.J. Watt named Grand Marshal

Houston Texans defensive end J.J. Watt will become the first NFL player to give the command to start engines at the Daytona 500 when he serves as Grand Marshal for the 61st running of "The Great American Race" Sunday at Daytona International Speedway.

The 82nd Airborne Division's "All-American" Chorus, based out of Fort Bragg, N.C., will sing the National Anthem prior to the start of the Daytona 500.

Jimmie Johnson wins Clash

Jimmie Johnson, the two-time Daytona 500 champion and seven-time Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series champion, won the Advance Auto Parks Clash Sunday at Daytona International Speedway.

In the morning, Johnson won his age division (Men's 40-44) in the Daytona Beach Half Marathon. In the afternoon, after triggering a multi-car incident, Johnson was declared the winner of the 41st annual Clash.

The 75-lap race (with scheduled segments of 25 and 50 laps) is a non-points/all-star event.

NASCAR halted the event after 59 laps to give Johnson his first victory since June 2017. Former Daytona 500 champion Kurt Busch finished second followed by Brad Keselowski.

Son of NASCAR wins ARCA race

Harrison Burton, the 18-year-old son of retired NASCAR great Jeff Burton, won the Lucas Oil 200 Driven By General Tire Saturday at Daytona International Speedway, in the opening event of this year's Daytona Speedweeks.

Mr. Burton, driving the No. 20 DEX Imaging Toyota for car owner Billy Venturini, decisively pulled away from runner-up Todd Gilliland (No. 4 Frontline Enterprises Toyota) on the 86th and final lap.

Menards now series sponsor

ARCA and Menards announced today a multi-year extension that elevates the home improvement chain from presenting sponsor to the series sponsor. Effective immediately, the series is titled the ARCA Menards Series.

ARCA race will remain under Lucas Oil banner

Lucas Oil, which has served as the race sponsor for the season opener to the ARCA Racing Series presented by Menards at Daytona International Speedway since 2009, announced a multi-year extension with the "World Center of Racing" to continue to serve as the title sponsor.

NASCAR fans do love to fish

Catch of the Week

FISHING WITH DAN DAN SMITH

That is pretty much a fact just as it is a fact the 24 hours crowd do not.

OK you might think I am dealing in stereotypes, and I am. Stock car racing fans also are famously the shot-and-a-beer bunch while sports car fans tend toward wine and cheese. Oh, I suppose the crowd at the 24-hour endurance race occasionally toasts with a cold beer, but Heineken and Amstel Light do not count. We're talking Busch and Bud here.

I am also pretty sure the fans of the open wheelers might wet a line once in a while. Good enough, but I know the fans of NASCAR are also fans of Bill Dance and Roland Martin - Son! I believe the only thing that keeps these folks from fishing is racing. Right now our little corner of the world has increased in population by about 150,000 and it's time to get our visitors fishing.

If fresh water angling is their thing, point them toward West Volusia County where the mighty St. Johns River and its tributaries will blow their minds. There, crappie (speckled perch) of more than two pounds and wall-hanger largemouth bass are common. I have said many times that I am sure I have eaten specks that would be a crappie state record up north.

While right now is prime time for speckled perch fishing you could also send them a bit south to Osteen to try for shad. That is great fun and it only happens for a short time each winter.

You might direct them down to the famous Mosquito Lagoon at New Smyrna Beach, Oak Hill and Edgewa-

Larry "Cappy" Ruzsas of Ormond Beach and Brighton, Mich., landed this 25 1/2 inch red drum south of Lagerheads on fish bites. If you'd like to show off your Catch of the Week, send a "jpeg" format photo with your name, hometown and where you caught the fish to newsdy@hometownnewsol.com.

ter. Our cooler months mean large spotted sea trout and there is no better place in the state to try for gator trout than The Lagoon. Over the years I have seen several at more than 12 pounds caught there and I know the world's record of 18 pounds lurks there someplace. In the meantime, the schoolers will keep your guests pretty busy.

As good as the trout fishing is in Mosquito Lagoon, it is more famous for red drum. NASCAR folks from points north all want to do battle with our powerful redfish. At times I have encountered schools of lagoon reds numbering in the hundreds. They are Eastern Volusia County's most popular line stretchers.

To get the really big ones, send the race fans to Ponce Inlet where the bull reds may easily top 20 pounds. Also the inlet has some of the largest sheepshead you will find anyplace. Just inside Ponce and south on the Indian River your guests can fish for black drum weighing more than 50 pounds. Both the heads and the drum are at their peak in the winter.

In the Northern Halifax, you can direct your company to some of the best flounder fishing around. Around Tomoka State Park, the description "doormat" is no exaggeration. Going west from there, tell them to fish the Tomoka River for the Sportsmen's favorites, tarpon and snook. Those acrobatic tackle busters are a foe any serious fisherman would love to tangle with.

Down at Oak Hill, shrimp-ing is the way to go. Each night in the winter, scores of lighted boats work the outgoing tide in the Indian River for limits of succulent shrimp. This is so popular, I have met people there from as far away as Fort Pierce dipping their nets. Some winter visitors are able to pay for their entire trip with the money gained from selling their shrimp catch.

So, with all that great cool weather action let's encourage the race fans to stay awhile and get in some fishing. Help them contact our talented cadre of local guides either to the east or on the St. Johns and the lakes. We all know they came down here with a pocket full of money to spend. With a little nudge, the NASCAR fans could be tempted to leave some of it behind at one of the world's greatest fishing destinations.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for more than 40 years. Email questions and comments to fishwdan@att.net. His book, "I Swear the Snook Drowned," is available for purchase for $10.95 at (386) 441-7793.

"Lost In Yonkers" opens Thursday, Feb. 21 at the Shoestring Theatre in Lake Helen. Here, Grandma Kurnitz (Sally Daykin) and her son Louie (Scotty Leavitt) argue over money and morality.

Shoestring Theater of Lake Helen is busily rehearsing and perfecting New York and German accents for its upcoming production of Neil Simon's Tony Award winning play, "Lost In Yonkers." Directed by Jenny Sejansky, this show boasts a cast of some of our area's finest actors -- new and veteran -- on stage together for this profound and touching piece of Theatre.

This Neil Simon play portrays a family in crisis with all the comedic highs and heart-breaking lows. Set in 1942, "Lost In Yonkers" tells the story of two young brothers, Jay and Artie Kurnitz (played by Tyler Mattocks and Jackson Jones), who are left to contend with their tyrannical German Grandmother (Sally Daykin) while their father, Eddie (Joe Veglica), reluctantly takes a job selling scrap metal around the country, attempting to pay off crippling debts.

The relationship between the terrifying Grandma Kurnitz's and her sweet but addled daughter Bella (Avalon Merut) is a balancing act between heart break and humor. Neil Simon, so well-known for his diverse characters, completes the cast with the charmingly smarmy Uncle Louie (Scotty Leavitt) and Aunt Gert (Pam Turner) who gives the boys the laughter they need, even if the source of the laughter is pain. On this journey through Yonkers, the brothers learn how hard life can be, but, how sweet it can be, as well.

"Lost In Yonkers" is a classic Neil Simon play where all the humor is based See SHOESTRING, page B2

Orchestra offers 'Romancing the Strings'

For Hometown News
newsdy@hometownnewsol.com

The Daytona Solisti Baroque Orchestra and guest harpsichordist Boyd Jones will perform what music historians consider to be the first ever harpsichord concerto, Johann Sebastian Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D Major.

The performance will be part of the orchestra's annual "Romancing the Strings" concert, which the ensemble presents around Valentine's Day every year. This year the concert will be at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17, at Grace Episcopal Church, 4110 S. Ridgewood Ave., Port Orange.

The program also will feature the music of Corelli, Vivaldi, C.P.E Bach and Alessandro Scarlatti.

Bach completed his Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in 1721.

"While the Brandenburg Fifth is for harpsichord, violin and flute with orchestra, the harpsichord part is the only one with an extensive solo, and is arguably far more elaborate than the rest of the orchestration," said Mr. Jones, who is university organist and the John E. and Aliese Price Professor of Organ at Stetson University in DeLand.

Mr. Jones earned a doctorate from Yale University School of Music and has performed extensively throughout the United States on both organ and harpsichord.

Horoscopes

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20

Aries, there's always ample opportunity to learn from past mistakes. You can make amends for previous miscues this week when you're reunited with someone from the past.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21

Others seem to be feeding you information on a need-to-know basis. This may be frustrating, Taurus. But a little extra patience is required for the time being.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Gemini, the need to delegate will present itself throughout the week. Don't take on more than you can handle. Trust that those around you are up to the task.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

The image that you project can be much more important than the work you actually do, Cancer. Have a good public relations team in your corner.

LEO - July 23/Aug 23

The good will you demonstrate will come around in time, Leo. Continue to be generous and help others whenever possible. Karma is on your side.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

It is not easy to admit when you are wrong, Virgo. When the need to do so arises, be gracious and offer your apologies in a heartfelt way that will resonate with others.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Libra, support is a two-way street. If you boost the confidence of a friend or loved one, in return he or she may help you in big ways. Work as a team to foster communication.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Take a step back from the rush and pressure that has surrounded you lately, Scorpio. You can use the rest to clear your mind. This break will help you tackle new things.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Sagittarius, you may be eager to step into a new job right when another is finished. While this can be good for productivity, make sure you avoid burnout.

Dining & Entertainment

For Valentine's Day, who cooks?

Expect to join more than 80 million people that go out to eat on Valentine's Day, which is the second largest dining out holiday behind Mother's Day.

Well, my family won't be dining out, that's for sure. It's not that I don't respect and love my wife, but she insists I make her favorite meal, whatever it might be that day. She has a habit of changing the menu from time to time.

At first I thought she was testing me. Over the years, I have come to realize it really is a compliment to my cooking ability.

As a professional chef and having competed in many culinary contests, my wife has come in contact with many talented chefs and we have shared some outstanding dinners together. Every time I would compete in a culinary salon, my wife would take notes as the judges discussed and critiqued all the dishes that had been prepared. This helped me in future competitions, but, unfortunately, she learned a lot about food and how it should be prepared and taste, which tells you why we don't go out to eat very often unless it's a chef buddy of ours cooking the meal!

I actually enjoy cooking for her. We are always trying different foods; it makes me a better chef and, quite frankly, it's the least that I can do for all the love we have shared for more than 41 years. I think that's what Valentine's Day is all about; a reminder of sharing love between two people.

Much like Mother's Day, we use Valentine's Day to express our love and gratitude for life together. Cadbury was a very smart businessman when, in 1861, he introduced the heart-shaped box of chocolates that is still going strong today.

Many of us give flowers or special gifts. Sorry folks, that's not enough or personal enough for me. Nothing is more personal than cooking for someone, especially someone you care about. Yes, you're creating something with your own hands and in that moment, a memory is born that could last a life time.

Of course, you have to make sure it's a good memory. Don't try to make something fancy you've never made before. Because more often than not, you may not succeed. Keep it simple, but nice.

I think my favorite is a breakfast in bed treat. Get up early and prepare a special breakfast he or she likes. Surprise your sweetheart with a glass of champagne with a fresh peach slice. There are several rose champagnes as well. Then prepare a combination plate with fresh berries and fruit. Find a special small bowl and mix 1 cup of the fruit together. Set aside. Make a special French toast (recipe to follow). Poach two fresh, cage-free eggs. Place four slices bacon in a sheet pan and bake for two minutes, then sprinkle lightly with brown sugar and pancake syrup, bake until golden brown. Make sure you have a nice serving tray, line with a linen napkin, wrap all silverware in a linen napkin and serve all the plated food on the tray with a single rose.

If you have a French press coffee maker, serve your sweetie fresh coffee bedside. Preparing this breakfast to make him or her happy in this manner, now that's a personal gift from the heart. This could create a special day for both of you.

Ground cinnamon as needed

Directions

Mix well all ingredients, except cinnamon, in a large bowl. Heat large fry pan or sauté pan over medium low heat. Soak Panettone bread, one slice at a time, in mixture until soggy. Place in sprayed heated pan, sprinkle with cinnamon and cook for about one to two minutes until slightly brown and turn over continue cooking another one to two minutes, be careful not to burn. Serve with your favorite syrup or sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Serves 4-5

- Ingredients
 One Panettone round bread, sliced 1 1/2 inch thick
 Spray butter as needed
 5 large fresh eggs
 2 cups half and half (eggnog if available)
 2 cups whole milk
 2 teaspoon butternut extracts (this is the secret ingredient; don't tell anyone)
 1/2 cups granulated sugar

mously challenging work for the harpsichordist, on par with Bach's massive Goldberg Variations in terms of technical difficulty," Mr. Jones said. The solo cadenza in the Brandenburg Fifth's first movement "is quite simply much more difficult than most harpsichord music of that or any time. Some scholars assume that it was meant as a vehicle for Bach himself, or perhaps one of his sons, to 'show off.'"

Other featured soloists include Solisti founder Susan Pitard Acree, Sue Cryan and Olivia Corporon, violins; Joseph Corporon, cello; and Paige Dashner Long and Carrie Matheny, flute.

Olivia Corporon, a senior at Spruce Creek High School in Port Orange, is the daughter of Solisti principal cellist Joseph Corporon. She will be the featured soloist on the first movement, allegro, of Johann Sebastian Bach's Violin Concerto No. 2 in E Major.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, sometimes you are acutely aware of details that others readily miss. This trait comes in handy when you are asked to advise others.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

It is important to be self-aware of the way you communicate with others, Aquarius. Pushing too hard might shut some people off. Adjust your approach accordingly.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20

Psychic feelings are pronounced this week, Pisces. Try to hone in on what these sensations are attempting to tell you.
