Some criminal cases are unusual, humorous or just outright odd. And there's no shortage of them on the Treasure Coast. This column will highlight cases that often leave observers shaking their heads.

Asking to go to jail

A Virginia man who was caught speeding in Martin County probably could have gotten off with a citation. And the same was true for the driver.

But both ended up in jail.

MARTIN COUNTY — Henry Copeland, a Jensen Beach attorney and real estate sales associate, wants to be the next District 1 representative on the Martin County Commission.

Mr. Copeland faced incumbent Doug Smith in 2008, when he lost by 187 votes.

He is fiscally conservative and a member of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee.

Residents hold vigil in memory of slain teen

By Samantha Joseph

MARTIN COUNTY — The notes of Ronald McCode's soprano saxophone's "Hallelujah" climbed to the rafters at St. Paul AME Church.

The song of praise leads to another, this time, a call for peace. Delores Matheny's rendition of "Let There Be Peace on Earth," engages the entire congregation, and by the time she sings "And let it begin with me," the church has joined in.

So began an evening vigil focused on peace, unity and prayer in memory of Trayvon Martin, the Miami teen

Leader of Year credited with bringing media giant to region

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — The Economic Council of Martin County has named Stuart businessman and owner of a public relations firm, Tom McNicholas, its Leader of the Year.

And among the accolades for Mr. McNicholas was credit for helping bring Digital Domain Media Group to the Treasure Coast.

That company, which works on visual effects for Hollywood films, set up operations in Port St. Lucie on the condition it would create 500 jobs with average salaries of $65,000 in exchange for about $70 million in state and local incentives.

House of Hope moved to larger offices in Indiantown, offering a broader range of services. The move leaves the nonprofit in need of volunteers and donations for its pantry and thrift store. House of Hope expands Indiantown services

Bigger branch needs volunteers, donations

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — A new, larger office in Indiantown means House of Hope can now offer more services to its low-income clients, many of whom face financial crisis.

The nonprofit, which works to fight hunger and poverty in Martin County, opened a new branch on March 20 at 15549 S.W. Warfield Blvd., in the Indiantown Center shopping plaza.

Within days of gaining the bigger space, center officials already started to offer expanded services to the community.

The group partnered with the Visiting Nurse Association to offer an onsite mobile clinic, with a nurse practitioner providing initial screenings for upper respiratory infections, muscle strains and other conditions. The clinic was open to the public, and House of Hope clients could get free prescription medication.

The groups will repeat the venture, with the mobile clinic set to return to the branch on April 11 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"We will be able to offer both House of Hope clients and the general public some primary healthcare through that partnership," said Diane Tomasik, communications director.

House of Hope's new office is about 1,000 square feet larger than the group's previous site on Osceola Street, and means House of Hope can expand its services in Indiantown.

"One of the main reasons for the move, in addition to having greater visibility, was the ability to expand our food pantry," Ms. Tomasik said.

"Also there's space for

Students win iPads in healthy eating promotion

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — Three students took home expensive new iPad2devices, thanks to a promotion that focused on healthy eating at Martin County schools.

Students from Jensen Beach Elementary, South Fork High and Stuart Middle School each took home an iPad, valued at about $400.

Jensen Beach fourth grader Jerell Marshall, South Fork 12th grader Wilbens Louis and Stuart Middle School seventh grader Sarai Narvaez took home the prizes on March 29, after district officials made surprise visits to their schools to announce the winners.

The iPads are courtesy of General Mills through a partnership with the Dairy Council of Florida and the school district's food and nutrition services department.

Its goal is to encourage students to eat nutritious breakfasts, said Cathy Brennan, the district's spokeswoman.

Called "Start Your Day the Parfait Way," the program offered students a healthy parfait breakfast made with low-fat yogurt, fruit and cereal.

Between Feb. 6 and March 8, select parfait cups in schools' cafeterias had special stickers that made them eligible for daily entry into a drawing for the iPads.

"We wanted to have an exciting way to have kids try parfaits for breakfast. It went very well," said Vonda Moonier, Martin County's director of food and nutrition services.

"We've had a lot of children try parfaits for breakfast and like it. It was a way to get them to try it with a little incentive at the end."

District officials say last month's winners are not the only ones who'll have a chance to win the coveted iPads2, loaded with multimedia applications for games, books, movies and other content.

A second promotion, which ends on April 27, will lead to the selection of three new winners.

"In the end, six students would have won," Ms. Brennan said.

But even without the obvious prize, district officials suggest that by eating well, students will take away an important consolation.

"Not only are the breakfast parfaits delicious, they are also nutritious," said Yvonne Potsko, a registered and licensed dietician with the Martin County food and nutrition services department.

"The parfaits contain nutrients that students need to grow and learn: whole grains, protein, vitamin C, calcium and iron."

Anissa Rich looks on as Stuart resident Olivia Newton reads a poem during a vigil held in memory of Trayvon Martin, a high-school student shot and killed by George Zimmerman, a man on neighborhood watch. Ms. Rich organized the March 30 vigil at St. Paul AME Church to pray for peace and both families involved in the Orange County shooting.

whose death has drawn national attention.

Residents of the East Stuart community held the memorial, they said, because they wanted the event to bring healing to the families of the 17-year-old and also to his shooter, George Zimmerman, a neighborhood watch volunteer who followed and killed the teen.

"The only reason I wanted to put this together was to bring awareness to the community and for us to come together and pray for both families," said event organizer and lifelong Stuart resident Anissa Rich. "We want to bring peace, because everything's all in an uproar, and pray that we won't have this happen here."

Trayvon, a black teen, died Feb. 26, after Mr. Zimmerman shot him . Trayvon was unarmed and returning to his father's home in Sanford, north of Orlando, after a trip to the store, according to police reports. Mr. Zimmerman said Trayvon attacked him, and he shot the teen in self-defense.

Mr. Zimmerman has not been charged, despite national protests and calls from political and civic leaders across the country.

"Peace only comes when justice prevails," said Robert Hall Sr.

"Five weeks after the shooting, there has been no arrest. There's no reason for this. What we have to do here is what we have to do throughout the United States of America. We need to start signing petitions to correct wrongness."

Mr. Zimmerman's advocates have presented as his defense Florida's "Stand Your Ground" law, which allows people to use deadly force in self-defense when they feel threatened, with no duty to retreat.

Stuart Mayor James Christie encouraged law enforcement officials to support his bid to educate residents on the rules about carrying weapons.

And Tony Peal, a representative of Occupy Martin County, said the group had developed a statement to submit to local and state law enforcement officials to help prevent similar incidents.

He further suggested Mr. Zimmerman's supporters were misinterpreting the "Stand Your Ground" law.

NAACP president Jerry Gore was one of several speakers who attended the local service at St. Paul AME Church on March 30.

"We're all different cultures. Once we learn a little about each other, we learn there's nothing to be fearful of," he told the congregation. "Let's get busy in our county and we could prevent a lot of stuff."

In an emotional appeal, attendee and mother Sandra Newman broke into tears when she called on fellow residents to learn from this incident.

"The evil inside one man cut short (Trayvon's) time. Wake up. Get active. Be an advocate for all the Trayvon Martins," she said to a standing ovation.

"When you understand that you are responsible for your brother and you are your brother's keeper, then that is how you will get unity."

Unity is what will transcend politics and other divisive issues, said the Rev. James C. Watson Jr., pastor of St. Paul AME Church.

"The world is watching us right now, Republicans, Democrats and the Tea Party," he said. "They're watching how we'll come together and get this resolved."

Vice Mayor Eula Clarke also called for peace, and suggested the incident hit close to home, reminding her that negative stereotypes and unfounded fears still put children at risk.

"This has been burdening me, too," she told attendees. "I have two young boys and when they were growing up, I called them endangered species."

She called on parents to pay even closer attention to their children.

"Keep your eyes on them. As Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would say, 'Let us keep our eyes on the prize,'" she said.

Manage schedules in modern way

COMPUTE THIS
SEAN MCCARTHY

Modern family life can be confusing. Sure, all this new technology that we're blessed with does make us more efficient, but it also comes at a price.

As each of us get better at managing our own schedules and such, it gets harder and harder for today's family to stay coordinated.

Mom has her own schedule and list of priorities, fad has his own stuff going on and with each family member added to the list, keeping family activities and priorities coordinated gets harder all the time. Thank God our pets don't have their own agendas or things could get real confusing!

Now I'm not saying that this is something new. Families have always had to juggle the priorities and commitments of all family members. But in the past, (back in the day when everyone sat down to dinner every night and communicated face to face rather than by text or through messages posted on each other's Facebook walls) families were more likely to see each other every day and talk about what's going on. What I'm saying is today, things move so fast, the modern family can have a hard time keeping everything straight.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could use the same technology that makes us so efficient (and therefore so much busier) to manage the family's differing schedule efficiently, too?

Well, I'm happy to report that the answer is yes. Fire up your web browser and head on over to www.cozi.com and take a look around. What you'll find is a central hub that was designed to help families keep all the differing tasks and priorities of each family member in one place and yet available "everywhere" at the same time.

Cozi offers a private, shared online calendar, grocery shopping list and to-do list that the whole family can access anytime, anywhere. This way, the whole family has instant access to the family schedule and priority list and can check things off as they get done. Kind of like the good old "kitchen calendar" of days past, only with Cozi, you don't have to be in the kitchen to see it.

Cozi offers a color-coded system so everyone can see where everyone else is supposed to be and when they're supposed to be there. The color-coding is automatic and helps you see at a glance who is doing what and when they're doing it. This is great for avoiding conflicting schedules and makes managing multiple tasks simple.

Cozi will even synchronize with Outlook's calendar so you don't have to make entries twice. Add an event in your Outlook calendar and it shows up in Cozi, color-coded for you so the entire family can keep track of your appointments.

Things like shopping and to-do lists are centralized with Cozi, too. With your shopping list in one place and accessible by everyone, for instance, you can shop and check things off your list from your Android or iPhone app while you're shopping.

Don't have a new, ultra fancy smart phone that will run the free Cozi app? That's OK too. If your phone has web access, you can log on from your phone's browser and still be able to check things off in real time. You can even call a toll-free number and have your list read to you over the phone or sent to you by text.

Cozi isn't just about calendars and shopping lists either. The family journal section is an awesome way to be able to capture special moments and memories and have them uploaded to a central family bulletin board.

Again, the iPhone or Android app makes this super easy, but even without a smart phone Cozi makes accessing the family

Get your math right

The Occupy Wall Street movement must be products of government schools since their mathematic skills are so poorly developed.

They refer to the "99 percent of those paying income taxes." The record shows that nearly (49.5 percent) 50 percent pay no taxes at all. Therefore, they should refer to the "49 percent" not 99 percent.

But their math is wrong in another aspect, as well, since the 1 percent they villainize actually pay 40 percent of all income taxes collected.

Food stamp program doesn't help those who need it

I wanted to bring my comments to you on the real need for food stamp program restructuring.

I am married with three children, and lost my job back in February 2008. We had little funds available for basic living. My wife works part-time and makes just enough for gas and a few groceries.

I applied for emergency food stamps from the Department of Children and Families and was denied because our household earned more than $100 a month. I was set back by this action and could not understand why I could not receive some sort of help.

I had many conversations with that department with little to no help at all. Since the time that I applied, I have recently been employed full time, but with half the wages that I was making before, so we had to relocate to a less-than-adequate home with the bills still being more than we bring in.

I have worked my whole life and have served in the Navy for this great country of ours and have always helped the needy when we could. I think that the system should be able to help us in our time of need.

The only conclusion that I can come up with is that we would be better just to be jobless; that way we could receive all the benefits the system offers.

I know that this is not what should be, but you would think that you could get some sort of assistance just to see you through the short hard time.

We have had a little help from our church and thank God every day for the blessings in our life. I just wonder if there are any other families who have similar circumstances?

There should be someone out there who sees what is going on and should look into this problem.

About voting

To listen to the squeals of anguish, you would believe that a voter ID requirement is a major violation of the rights of every citizen. The facts are that an increasing number of states, attempting to assure that every vote is a valid one, are adopting such laws.

Can anyone truthfully claim that we want to permit illegal voting? Several years ago, the presidency was decided here in Florida by just a handful of votes.

How can we so easily forget?

Taking a driver's test

It's been a long time since I took the drivers test. I would guess that at least one of the questions now reads like this:

If you are approaching an intersection with a stop sign you should:

A. Step on the gas and go into the intersection as fast as you can.

B. Slow slightly, look to your right, but not to your left, and pull out in front of the car coming from you left.

C. Under no circumstances what-so-ever, put down your cell phone and turn on your signal light if making a turn.

D. All of the above.

How about sterilization?

If we want to stop the abuse of children, we have to start some kind of free sterilization or payment for sterilization program. This would stop the breeding of children into poverty.

Also, hunger is a powerful incentive to crime. Babies and children suffer hunger because of an inadequate income of a parent. The mobile food stands of the hurricanes four years ago went into every neighborhood and furnished free food, through the Red Cross.

If we could bring those mobile food vans back into those neighborhoods, many children would not suffer starvation and abuse because the parent is incapable of providing it.

Put security cameras everywhere

I want to comment on security cameras. The public accepts them in stores and parking lots. But they should be used in more private places where there are violations. They should be in doctor's offices, facilities for the elderly, classrooms and humane societies. It would decrease the amount of abuse people face.

Beware of phony labels on cars

ON CARS
EARL STEWART

This column originally ran five years ago. It's important that I run it again today because violation of this federal law, especially its intent, which is to inform car buyers of the official retail price suggested by the car manufacturer, is rampant by most car dealers.

The U.S. senator who drafted this law, Mike Maroney, said this about his law, "The dealer who is honest about the so-called 'list price' cannot compete with the one who 'packs' several hundred dollars extra into it so he can pretend to give you more on the trade-in."

Sen. Monroney said this in 1958 and the only thing that has changed is dishonest dealers are now charging several thousand dollars extra. As I write this, the national average price of a gallon of gas is more than $4 and climbing. Car dealers are marking up fuel-efficient cars, especially, hybrids by thousands. They add their dealer window sticker, identical in style to the Monroney label, right next to it so it's virtually indistinguishable. Then, to add insult to injury, they remove the both labels before delivery, which is illegal.

The Monroney label is the window sticker mandated by federal law to be affixed to every new vehicle sold in the United States up until the time the new owner takes delivery. Prior to the proposal of this bill, there was often a large discrepancy between the showroom price and the actual price of a new vehicle.

The fact was existing price tags did not tell the full story. Most customer-quoted prices were for "stripped-down" models and did not include additions for preparation charges, freight charges, federal, state and local taxes or optional factory-installed equipment requested by the purchaser. These hidden charges were used by some dealers to increase the selling price, while giving the new vehicle buyer an inflated idea of their trade-in allowance.

This price confusion led to a slump in auto sales during the early 1950s. Sen. Monroney's bill was designed to prevent the abuse of new vehicle list prices, but would not, however, prevent dealers and buyers from bargaining over vehicle prices.

Well, as you might expect, car dealers have figured out a way to evade this very good law. An alarmingly large number of dealers use a label that is designed to look almost identical to the official Monroney label. It has the same coloring, fonts, type size and layout. This "phony Monroney" is affixed right next to the genuine article. Unless you really look close and read all of the fine print, you will have no idea that you are looking at a counterfeit Monroney label. This phony Monroney includes extra charges to artificially inflate the manufacturer's suggested list price, MSRP.

One of the most egregious of these charges is an addition of pure markup just for profit which has a variety of names. Some of these are "market adjustment," "additional dealer markup," "adjusted market value," "ADM," "market adjustment addendum" and "market value adjustment." This is simply an amount the dealer adds to the manufacturer's suggested retail price. It is virtually always used in high-demand, low-supply cars. I have seen these labels with charges as much as $10,000 added to the MSRP. Additions of $1,500 to $3,995 are common.

Dealers also use the counterfeit labels to price dealer-installed accessories, which are OK, as long as the accessories are not marked up higher than the manufacturer marks them up.

When customers confuse the phony Monroney with the real one, this distorts their point of reference for comparing prices between different dealerships. One manufacturer's Monroney labels are consistent. A 2007 Honda Accord with the same factory accessories will have the same MSRP at every Honda dealership you visit. But if dealers fool you into thinking their label is part of the Monroney, you are not comparing apples and apples. This can adversely affect a good buying decision in a number of ways.

Some buyers focus mainly on how big a trade-in allowance they can get for their old car. If one dealer has the same car marked up $3,000 more than another dealer, he can offer you $3,000 more for your trade and still make the same profit as the other dealer. Some buyers focus on how big a discount they get from "sticker." It's easy to give a higher discount if you have artificially inflated the MSRP by thousands.

My advice to you is carefully inspect the sticker on the new car you are contemplating buying. Read it completely and especially the fine print. If there is a second label on the car, it is possible that it is fair. This would be for purposes of adding an item, installed by the dealer such as floor mats or stripes, priced the same as the manufacturer charges.

If that second label includes a markup over MSRP for no reason other than profit for the dealer, make sure you adjust for that number in your comparisons for discounts and trade-in allowances.

Some dealers also add a second markup to these labels and that is the infamous "dealer fee" also sometimes called "doc fee" and "dealer prep." Some dealers do not put this on the phony Monroney but print it on their buyer's orders and program it into their computers.

information about each candidate for voters to make an educated decision.

Name: Henry C. Copeland

Occupation: Solo attorney. Limited practice as a business attorney, on hold during pending campaign. Part-time real estate sales associate at The Keyes Company, with limited activity during campaign.

Age: 58

Spouse and children: Separated with one child in a local Martin County school.

Q: How long have you lived in Martin County?

A: I moved to this area in fall 2002 and have resided in Jensen Beach since mid-2003.

Q: Why did you decide to run?

A: I decided to run for the District 1 seat on the Martin County Commission because I believe the incumbent has been a poor steward of the public trust, who has misdirected taxpayer funds and redirected important policies to favor special- interest patrons while implementing radical changes throughout Martin County to suit a vision most residents do not share. I believe I share the interests and views of most residents and that I possess the necessary skills, experience and dedication to help get county government back on track before our quality of life is forever damaged.

Q: What are the top two issues you plan to address for the county?

A: The top two issues involve first reestablishing a respectful dialogue with residents that emphasizes open and transparent government, fiscal responsibility and accountability for performance.

Second, returning to the law and vision of Martin County's terrific comprehensive growth management plan, instead of local government pursuant to ad hoc political cronyism.

Q: What makes you the most qualified candidate?

A: I am the most qualified candidate because I best emphasize a strong, fresh commitment to residents, and my views, temperament, education, work experience and skills are best suited to meet the challenges of a Martin County commissioner, while adhering to a vision shared by most residents.

Among the challengers, I am by far the most electable based on the foregoing and my standing as a life-long Republican, fiscal conservative and member of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee.

I am also the only candidate in this race with a substantial background in John Textor, Digital Domain's CEO presented Mr. McNicholas with the award on behalf of the council at its annual dinner last week.

"The reason Digital Domain is here is because of Tom," he said.

He cited Mr. McNicholas' leadership in recruiting new members to the council and leadership in the political arena.

"(Mr.) McNicholas was recognized for his many hours of volunteer work for local nonprofit organizations and his dedication to the Economic Council's mission," executive director Tammy Simoneau said in a release.

Mr. McNicholas, a former television reporter, is founder and president of McNicholas & Associates.

He also serves as treasurer of the Economic Council, whose stated goal is to bring together business and professional leaders to solve problems affecting the local economy and quality of life.

"I was completely surprised and humbled by the award and presentation. I was even more humbled by John's comment," Mr. McNicholas said.

"And he was totally lying, by the way. I have never seen a CEO work harder on a project. John Textor deserves all the credit for Digital Domain. A lot of people worked on this, so it was a great honor to get the award and recognition. I wish we could get something like a Digital Domain in Martin County. That's my only hope for future."

The deputy, upon stopping the vehicle, noticed the passenger was not wearing a seatbelt. He asked the passenger for his driver license in order to issue a citation, but the man refused

The deputy told the passenger he would go to jail on a charge of resisting an officer without violence if he continued to refuse to show him the driver license.

"OK, take me to jail," the passenger responded.

And that's what the deputy did.

Meanwhile, the driver became upset and called 911 to report the deputy was arresting his passenger for no reason. Although the 911 dispatcher told him to hang up because 911 is only for emergencies, he refused and was yelling at the dispatcher.

Then he got out of his vehicle and started yelling at the deputy. He continued to do so, despite being told to get back in the vehicle.

As a result, the deputy arrested the man on charges of misuse of 911 and resisting an officer without violence.

Disorderly conduct

When an Indian River County deputy responded to a possible burglary, he got more than he probably expected from the situation.

He found an intoxicated man and woman who were both yelling and being belligerent. When the woman was told to put her hands on a car, she instead started hugging the man.

After deputies pulled her off the man and asked her to produce identification, she instead pulled her shirt off, exposing her breasts to the officers on the screen.

The man continued yelling and became more irate.

After the man and woman were arrested and taken to the Indian River County jail, they continued to yell and disturb everyone in the jail.

cubic yards of sand from the inlet.

The firm was scheduled to complete this part of the job during the first week of April, but instead completed it in mid-March.

Commissioners therefore approved more dredging to remove an additional 150,000 cubic yards of sand.

"The equipment was already there and the weather was favorable, so they wanted to get as much sand out as possible," said Gabriella B. Ferraro, communications and outreach coordinator for Martin County commissioners.

"Doing it this way gives us more time before we have to dredge again. It gives us another year, maybe up to three years."

Norfolk Dredging is doing the work as part of a $6.4 million contract with the county that initially involves dredging the inlet to remove shoaling, or sand build up, and restoring the natural flow of water moving from north to south.

Excessive sand accumulation would eventually block the waterway, closing it to boats and hurting the area's fishing and tourist industries, county staff said.

At a meeting of the St. Lucie Inlet advisory committee last week, Martin County engineering staff reported workers started the second phase of the project, and operations moved to the impoundment basin.

The overall project is set for completion on April 30.

The St. Lucie Inlet Advisory Committee is set to meet again on April 18.

Mr. Harris died from his injuries.

Ms. McIntyre and Mr. Harris were living together as boyfriend and girlfriend at the time of the death, the arrest report said.

Just before the stabbing, the couple had arrived home from a party and began arguing, the report said.

Ms. McIntyre made contradictory statements as to the exact events leading up to the stabbing, the report said.

She told authorities she armed herself with a knife and that Mr. Harris pushed her, but the timing varied in the statements, the report said.

She didn't realize she had stabbed Mr. Harris until she saw him bleeding, the report said.

A deputy reported that when he arrived on the scene he heard Ms. McIntyre talking on a cellphone and saying, "Momma, I stabbed him! Momma I grabbed a knife and I know where it is," the report said.

House of Hope operates food pantries, provides financial assistance and runs thrift stores giving clothing, furniture and other household items at no charge or very low cost to its clients.

With the additional space, the Indiantown branch will be able to provide all of these services.

But the bigger center also needs a larger staff.

Sole employee, branch manager Malherbe Fremont, ran the old location with the help of chief volunteer Brinda Hewitt and about 10 others.

"Now that we have a bigger store, we need both volunteers and items to fill it up," Ms. Tomasik said.

To volunteer, call (772) 286-4673. To reach the branch, dial (772) 248-2051. The branch is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday; 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday; and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.

HOBE SOUND — Hobe Sound Community Chest presented Suzy Hutcheson, executive director of Helping People Succeed, with its community service award.

Ms. Hutcheson, who has served as the CEO of HPS since 1977, received the award for her team's various programs that directly benefit both children and adults living in Hobe Sound.

"She's a wonderful example of the hard work and commitment of the professionals and volunteers who work in the 41 social service agencies that Hobe Sound Community Chest supports," said Barry Hall, chest president.

"She works so hard for Helping People Succeed, and she's helped so many people in Hobe Sound."

For the past 15 years, the community chest board has presented the award to a volunteer or social services professional who has made a difference in Hobe Sound.

The award, which was established in 1996 by the Barra Foundation, includes a $5,000 gift that may be donated to the charity of the recipient's choice.

Ruth Mead, a board member who serves as a liaison to Helping People Succeed, said she was very supportive when the executive board first considered Ms. Hutcheson for the honor.

"Suzy Hutcheson is a lovely person, and she has a wonderful staff," said Ms. Mead.

"I'm highly impressed with everything they do. They really are an efficient, wonderful agency, and we are so lucky to have them in our area."

Helping People Succeed, which has a mission that mirrors its name, provides support and resources to struggling families, including those with children who are developmentally disabled, to encourage them to become productive, healthy members of the community.

Their baby steps program, which enhances parent-child interaction and school readiness, is especially impactful in Hobe Sound.

"The Hobe Sound Community Chest is really committed to quality of life for citizens in the Hobe Sound area," said Ms. Hutcheson.

"They honored me, but the reality is the award is for the entire staff. I work with the most incredible people in the world."

STUART — Karen Gilmore of East Coast Mortgage Lenders and Bob Castellano, a Realtor at Premier Realty Group, teamed up to help the Gertrude Walden Child Care Center in Stuart, obtain supplies for the center's annual spaghetti dinner fundraiser.

The duo approached the Knights of Columbus Council 6241 in Stuart, who funded nearly the entire dinner, donating 100 pounds of pasta and 15 gallons of spaghetti sauce.

Grand Knight Ron Robinson personally delivered the supplies to Thelma Washington, executive director of the center.

Walk aims to raise money for autism

For Hometown News
newsfp@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — The fourth annual Treasure Coast Walk Now for Autism Speaks fundraising and awareness event will take place on April 21 at Riverside Park in Vero Beach.

All event proceeds will support Autism Speaks' work, both locally and nationally, to increase awareness about the growing autism health crisis, fund innovative autism research and family services, and advocate for the needs of individuals with autism and their families in Treasure Coast and beyond.

Autism spectrum disorder is now diagnosed in one in every 110 children, including one in 70 boys, making it the fastest-growing serious developmental disability in the U.S.

The Walk Now for Autism Speaks events are the signature fundraising events for Autism Speaks, raising more than $28.5 million alone in 2011 in 85 cities across the U.S. and Canada to support autism research, awareness and advocacy.

Last year's Treasure Coast Walk Now for Autism Speaks attracted more than 2,000 walkers and raised more than $70,000. Autism Speaks has made a significant impact in the Treasure Coast area.

In addition to its national efforts, the organization has provided funding for local services, including summer camps, safety and autism experience assistance, as well as outreach to underserved communities through its family services community grant program.

Walk Now for Autism Speaks is a unique fundraising event that offers a safe and fun day for families impacted by autism. The day includes a 2- to 3-mile walk and community resource fair with educational sources, therapists, schools, recreational organizations and creative, child-friendly activities a true one-stop-shop for families affected by autism.

"Thanks to tremendous community support and the work of our wonderful volunteers, our Walk Now for Autism Speaks event has grown each year, and we expect to expand the ranks of both walkers and donors in 2012," said Steve Owen II, walk chairman.

For the sixth straight year, Toys"R"Us and Babies"R"Us will serve as the North American sponsors of the walk. Additional sponsors include South Florida Ford, George E. Warren Corporation and Ace Hardware of Vero Beach.

Temple to host seder

For Hometown News
newsfp@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — Temple Beit HaYam in Stuart is hosting a community seder for the second night of the Passover holiday on April 7 at 6 p.m. at the temple, located on 951 S.E. Monterey Commons Blvd., in Stuart.

The seder, or ritual meal, is one of the favorite family rituals of Jewish tradition. On the holiday that celebrates the liberation of the Jews from slavery in Egypt, families celebrate with symbolic foods and tell the story from the Hebrew Bible.

"Our Passover seder is a time for people to come together as a community and to remember the Jewish values of freedom and identification with all oppressed people," said Rabbi Jeffrey W. Goldwasser.

The cost of the seder is $30 per person. Children from ages 6 to 12 are $15. Reservations can be made by sending payment, along with contact information, to Temple Beit HaYam. Reservations required. All are welcome.

Regatta returns after 15-year hiatus

MARTIN COUNTY — An event that has been decades in the making returns to the area this month.

The Stuart Sailfish Regatta, which dates back to the 1960s, is catching a second wind, and organizers expect it to attract between 10,000 and 15,000 attendees.

The sport returns to the city for the first time in more than 15 years, bringing with it hydroplane racers from across North America.

The racers will challenge each other on April 14-15 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. along the Stuart Causeway.

"Everyone remembers how exciting the event was, and it was a tradition for racers, families and people to gather in the community once a year," said Lindsay Nickerson, event coordinator.

"We have the perfect venue and waterways. What better way to showcase our beautiful town?"

Organizers of the Stuart Sailfish Regatta said the weekend will deliver the "adrenaline-pumping sport of powerboat racing."

They plan to make the regatta an annual event.

Spectators will enjoy boat racing, children's activities, vendors and more.

Along with enjoying the latest model race boats competing throughout the weekend, attendees can learn about the history of the sport. Representatives from the Maritime Museum will be onsite presenting vintage race boats.

A virtual timeline of classic crafts will also show changes in technology and safety.

Tickets are available for $12 until April 12 at Seacoast National Bank, locations from West Palm Beach to Vero Beach. They will cost $15 at the gate for the spectator area, located on northeast and sides of the causeway. VIP tickets cost $65. Children younger than 10 enter free of charge.

The event includes free parking at Whitham Field, 2401 Southeast Monterey Road, with free shuttles running from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

A portion of ticket proceeds will benefit the US Sailing Center, the Children's Museum and the Maritime Museum.

The regatta's return has garnered strong community support, with several businesses stepping forward to sponsor the event.

Hometown News, The Realtors Association of Martin County, Southern Eagle Distributing, Seacoast National Bank, Treasure Coast Sports Commission, Goldstein, Wade and Schmitt, DiscoverMartin.Com, Cuozzo Design Group, the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, Chick-fil-A, Coast 101.3, Pro Boats and Ace Hardware are among its sponsors.

The event also includes a tribute to its founder, legendary Jensen Beach racer Chuck "Rookie" Woodruff, who worked to bring the sport back to Stuart, but died about a month shy of that goal.

Mr. Woodruff, a national champion and Hall of Fame inductee, died in a boating accident in Central Florida on March 18.

"The regatta was Chuck's dream. He wanted to bring this race back to the Treasure Coast and share his passion for the

Aries-March 21-April 19
Your greatest virtue is your positive upbeat attitude. You give the rest of us hope. Maybe that is why you were chosen to be the leader of the zodiac pack. It's your time now, and the rest of us wish you life's greatest blessings. May the coming year bring joy, love, hope and fruitfulness beyond your greatest dreams.

Taurus-April 20-May 20
You know you are moving in the right direction when you hear and feel warm regards coming from your friends and associates. Be sure to say thank you when they come. With all this newfound joy, the heart is motivated to spread it around to others in your widening circle of life. This is a positive and abundant way to live. Keep it up.

Gemini-May 21-June 21
Much good is coming your way. You are using your many talents. Your heart is open and your spirit is strong. Your main desires are ready to give birth, bloom and become fruitful. Continue to follow your first impressions. They are the truest and best. Just surrender your will and be patient. Then read the signs and help the abundance grow. It's that simple.

Cancer-June 22-July 22
As you move into new territory, you gain new strength. You are like a spiritual pioneer. You would have thrived out west in the old days. Why? Because you refuse to let anything keep you down for long. You get back up and keep on keeping on. This tenacity is what makes you a winner and strong proponent of good family values.

Leo-July 23-Aug. 22
There is a lot of new learning at hand. A visionary like you sees the direction, plots the course and moves the energy forward. Changes occurring at this time are signs of new and better things ahead. How you handle the expansion has everything to do with how the future unfolds. It all looks bright to me.

Virgo-Aug. 23-Sept. 22
Have you learned to say no when you don't want to do certain things that sidetrack you or burn you out? Stand up for your beliefs. Feed your spirit and keep it strong. Fix you first. Get an attitude. "This is my life thank you. You can't do that to me anymore." Others may not like it, but they will respect you. Try it, you may like it.

Libra-Sept. 23-Oct. 22
Stay true to yourself, but continue to be aware of others around you with needs. Your spirit is strong. Your heart is open. Your mind is sharp. You have all the tools it takes to lead a high-quality life. It's all about the choices you make. Making wise ones is one of your greatest gifts and most important missions on earth at this time.

Scorpio-Oct. 23-Nov. 21
It's hard to say no to a heart directed Scorpio. You were given the job of passion in the zodiac. Some of the greatest leaders in history were Scorpios who had the power to raise the spirit in people in different lands and inspire them to make changes and find new, better and happier ways of life. You were born for greatness.

Sagittarius-Nov. 22-Dec. 21
Sometimes, even you may wonder where you get the energy to keep going when life tries to pile more and more on you. The answer lies in your ability to transcend the lower nature and stay strong in spirit. You have built-in radar that will continue to steer you in the right direction. But you have to continue to be listening.

Capricorn-Dec. 22-Jan. 19
There is a lot of important work ahead. Release any old doubt, fear or indecision. Be decisive. Your strong spirit will continue to guide you through any un-chartered waters of life. Your good heart and spirit will continue to see you safely through the turbulent times. Just remember that behind the clouds, the sun still shines.

Aquarius-Jan. 20-Feb.18
You love what you do, so the financial rewards will always flow back to you multiplied. Take an inventory of your life. Make a chart and keep the most important things first. When the world wants to pull you sideways it is the priority list that pulls you back. You know what you want. Now, make it happen.

Pisces-Feb. 19-March 20
The key to victory is to keep defining and refining your goals and aspirations. When a certain plan doesn't flow, it is a sign that adjustments are needed. Don't look at your work as who you are. Put your spiritual goals first, your own and family second, then the world. This is the formula of champions. You are a champion.

MARTIN COUNTY — Hollis Bulba, a graduate of South Fork High School, is well on her way to achieving her educational and career goals in environmental science, as a result of winning a scholarship from the Stuart Sailfish Club in 2008.

As one of the oldest sport fishing clubs in the U.S. and known for its numerous fishing tournaments, the Stuart Sailfish Club is a scholarship resource in the community. The Stuart Sailfish Club scholarship program awards its scholarships to help financially support young men and women whose career interests lie in the field of marine science.

Ed Rossi, principal sponsor of the program in its early years, made generous contributions to ensure its success. This program is a means for the Stuart Sailfish Club to ensure precious natural resources are protected and preserved for future generations to enjoy.

Three $1,000 scholarships are awarded each year. To be eligible for the scholarship, students must be in the upper one third of their class and must be entering a field in marine science such as marine industry or fishery management.

As a high-school student, Ms. Hollis learned of the Stuart Sailfish Club scholarship through an informational packet handed out at school. In 2008 she was awarded a scholarship, along with Kelly Knoth of Martin County High School and Mitchell White of Jensen Beach High School.

Today Ms. Hollis is a full-time student at Florida International University and is expected to graduate in fall 2012. She recently switched her major to environmental science from marine biology.

Traveling is an exciting aspect of her educational studies. Recently, Ms. Hollis went to the Bahamas with a professor and his graduate students. She helped students with their projects by doing fieldwork and collecting samples.

This summer, Ms. Hollis is traveling to the Peruvian Amazon with the FIU Honors College. Students attending the trip are required to devise their own research projects. Each project must meet a service obligation to be of help or use to the indigenous tribes in the surrounding area.

Ms. Hollis's project focuses on assessing some of the problems of overfishing that natives are currently experiencing.

To learn more about the Stuart Sailfish Club and the scholarship program, visit www.StuartSailfishClub.com or call (772) 286-9373.

Nonprofit gearing up for event

MARTIN COUNTY — The sixth annual Friendship Luncheon for Pink Tie Friends will take place Nov. 10 at the Harbour Ridge Yacht and Country Club in Palm City.

"We are showcasing our sixth annual Friendship at the Harbour Ridge Yacht and Country Club to continue growing this very popular event," said Judy Schilder, president of Pink Tie Friends.

"Harbour Ridge has elegant surroundings, a world-class menu and an atmosphere sure to please everyone who supports Pink Tie Friends and our many volunteers and donors."

Once again this year, the famed Avenue D Boys Choir will be the featured entertainment for the gala event. Macy's Department Store has taken a lead position in the event, but other sponsorships are available on a limited basis.

A special guest emcee will also be featured again this year. More information on the luncheon will be announced over the upcoming months.

"Our luncheon committee has been hard at work since last October's event planning this special event to be bigger and better than ever before. Seating will be limited so we are urging anyone who wishes to attend to make their reservation and purchase their tickets early so they won't' be left out," said Ms. Schilder.

Pink Tie Friends is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing diagnosed breast cancer patients who have no insurance or are underinsured with financial assistance for their cancer treatment.

Tickets cost $75 per person on the Pink Tie website at www.PinkTieFriends.org. Any sponsors wishing to lock in a sponsorship can call (772) 486-6707.

and Indian River State College. The tournament and luncheon will be held from 7:30 a.m.-2 p.m. at PGA Village in St. Lucie, 1916 Perfect Drive, Port St. Lucie. The event was established to commemorate the late Lt. Fletcher, who was tragically murdered in 2008 in Fort Hood, Texas, while investigating a possible theft of Army property by one of the soldiers in the battalion he served. The proceeds will be donated to grief counseling camps, weekend and summer camp retreats and other charities that offer social and emotional support to parents and teachers, and will also benefit organizations that help children through the healing process. For more information, call (772) 225-1471 or visit www.bartsbluestar.org/golf.

Golf course to host annual golf tournament

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

HOBE SOUND —

Loblolly, a private golf course located in Hobe Sound, will play host to the Hobe Sound Chamber of Commerce 29th annual golf tournament in May.

Event organizers are planning for what they hope to be the area's best- run tournament at one of the most exclusive golf clubs in the state.

This year's tournament, presented by Metz Construction Company, will take place May 19 with a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. Entry fees, which include a continental-style breakfast, cart, green fees, refreshments and a luncheon, are only $200 per player or $800 per foursome. Caddie services are available for an additional fee.

Proceeds from the tournament and the "all golf" silent auction benefit local scholarships, community events and special programs by the chamber.

Continually ranked as one of Florida's top courses by "Golf Digest," magazine Loblolly is demanding yet fun to play.

"We are thrilled and excited that Loblolly will be hosting the 2012 Hobe Sound Chamber Golf Tournament," said Gary Uber, tournament committee chairman.

"With its incredibly manicured fairways and greens, Loblolly is truly a special place offering golfers of all handicaps an incredible experience that few have the opportunity to enjoy. The club has also offered caddies with expert knowledge for those who want to enjoy the true beauty of the course by walking."

Hobe Sound Chamber Golf Tournament sponsors include: Treasure Coast Irrigation/Rood Landscape, LLC, Carpenter's Roofing and Sheet Metal, Woolems, and Oakowsky Properties.

Sponsorships that fit every budget are available.

Golf tourney to benefit community center

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

STUART —

The city of Stuart's community services advisory board has named its tournament committee for the third annual Four-Ball Championship.

The tournament benefits the 10th Street Community Center Complex and is the primary fundraiser for underwriting special activities for youth at the center.

The committee is working diligently in securing sponsors for the tournament.

Committee members are: Dana deWindt, Gerry Knebels, director of golf at Willoughby Golf Club; Robin Hicks-Connors, RHC fundraising consultants; Pat McGavock, Crystal Stiles, co-executive director of the Business Development Board; Troy McDonald, city commissioner; Mike Blankenship, first vice president/investments at Janney Montgomery Scott; and Paul Nicoletti, city manager .

"I could not be more pleased with the community members who have taken on this cause to help our kids," said Kali deWindt, community services advisory board chairwoman.

"As a teacher at J.D. Parker Elementary, I see firsthand the value of these activities to our children and I know this will be a great success."

The championship will be played May 4 at Willoughby Golf Club. Registration begins at 11:30 a.m. with a shotgun start at 1:15 p.m. Field is limited to the first 80 players.

The tournament culminates with a cocktail awards ceremony, held in Willoughby Country Club's club house.

For reservations or more information about sponsorship opportunities, call (772) 708-6904 or email settle22@msn.com.

Pirates shoot down Falcons

By Brittany Llorente

VERO BEACH — The Saint Edwards Pirates girl's lacrosse team overcame the Jensen Beach High School Falcons in a 12-5 match last Wednesday night at the Pirates home field.

The teams started the game evenly matched but the Pirates' Maddy Blakeman was the first to find the back of the net.

"We started out a little shaky but we played our hardest," said Blakeman. "They are our district rivals so it's always fun."

With the sun setting over the river, Jensen goalie Erin Tufano, had a slight disadvantage with the sun in her eyes, but with 21 saves during the game, she held her own on the field.

"I just wanted to play my game," said Tufano. "They had some amazing shots and this is getting us ready for districts."

The Pirates maintained possession of the ball predominately in the first half.

"We played very, very well tonight and I liked our defense," said Pirate's Coach Michael Perez. "We had some problems shooting, but (Tufano) is a good goalie."

Jensen scored two back-to-back goals, but the advantage of a 2-1 lead over the Pirates was decimated by Isabella Hudson and Blakeman.

The Blakeman sisters, Maddy and Olivia, dominated the field. Maddy scored 6 goals and Olivia had 4 plus an assist.

Jensen has its own duo of sisters, Hope and Savannah Cotton, who scored two goals each.

Jensen held on but the Pirates were up 5-4 after the first half.

The second half, the Falcons looked ready to rumble.

"We played very close in the first half," said Falcons head coach Lori Miller. "We have some young players and we were playing a little frantically and not as in control."

The whistle blows were frequent, slowing down momentum on both sides and disturbing rallies, runs and even goals reset on penalties.

The Falcons defense was impenetrable until Olivia Blakeman scored three goals in a row on Tufano and doubled the score to 8-4.

Morgan Falkenhagen struck next. She dodged and spun, unassisted to the goal, wailing one in.

Another Saint Ed's goal sealed the game.

The Falcons managed only one goal in the second half.

In addition to the goals by the Cotton sisters, Jenny Kilbride had one goal for the Falcons. Kelly Hagen and Angeline Nisa had one assist apiece.

For the Pirates, in addition to the Blakeman sisters, Hudson had 1 goal and goalie Hannah Hughes had 10 saves.

Golf event to benefit animal league

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — Hobe Sound Animal Protection League will host a golf outing, four-person scramble on April 21 at The Champions Golf Club in Stuart.

Proceeds will benefit the no-kill feline rescue and adoption organization, located in Palm City.

Players will enjoy 18 holes of golf, cart included, on the Tom Fazio course.

Registration begins at 11 a.m., followed by lunch at 11:30. A shotgun start will commence at 1 p.m. Prizes and heavy hors d'oeuvres will wrap up the event at 5:45 p.m.

Tickets for the event are $100 per player and include lunch, golf, beer, soda, water and wrap-up hors d'oeuvres. Golf holes may be sponsored for $60.

For more information and reservations, call (772) 220-4251.
