Some criminal cases are unusual, humorous or just outright odd. And there's no shortage of them on the Treasure Coast. This column will highlight cases that often leave observers shaking their heads.

Wrong venue

A Martin County woman, apparently intoxicated, was arrested after she caused a disturbance.

She was continuously yelling at a man in the back of a pickup truck.

The main problem, as it turned out for her, was she was doing all this in the parking lot of the Martin County jail.

When a deputy approached and asked her if she realized she was causing a scene in the parking lot of the jail, she said she really didn't care.

She had been at the jail to visit a prisoner. She ended up being a prisoner herself and was charged with battery on a law enforcement officer. The report accused her of spitting on deputies and attempting to kick a deputy.

Crime increases in St. Lucie, Martin

But drops in Indian River County

By Jay Meisel
jmeisel@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — Reported major crimes increased in St. Lucie and Martin counties, but decreased in Indian River County, according to statistics released last week by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

Officials in Martin and St. Lucie counties largely attributed the increase to a weak economy.

But in Indian River County, Sheriff Deryl Loar attributed much of the decrease to a slight improvement in the economy.

In Indian River County, the total crime index decreased by 6.1 percent based on reports from law enforcement agencies.

There also were decreases in the number of crimes reported by the Fellsmere and Sebastian police departments and the Indian River County Sheriff's Office, but a 6.7 percent increase reported by Vero Beach.

Proposed park raises questions

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — A plan to create a Hobe Sound water park, where wakeboarders or waterskiers would use cables to navigate the lake, has raised a controversial issue.

Opponents say the project will extend Martin County's urban development boundary, opening the door to sprawl and traffic gridlock in agricultural and protected areas.

But supporters say the park will be a boon for tourism, attracting visitors and creating jobs.

The park would be part of a 114-acre lakefront property on Bridge Road between Interstate-95 and Florida's Turnpike.

Postal workers help 'stamp' out hunger with food drive

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — About 1,300 letter carriers, including 300 retirees, will join forces on a project to benefit Martin, Indian River and St. Lucie county agencies that feed the poor.

On May 12, Treasure Coast postal workers will participate in Stamp Out Hunger, a national drive that has them collect food from donors on their routes to benefit the Treasure Coast Food Bank and other charities.

"We offer a vehicle to get the food to the food banks," said Rick Abbarno, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers Branch 1690, which covers Palm Beach and the Treasure Coast.

For 20 years, area letter carriers have joined the nationwide effort that has accumulated 1.1 billion pounds of food.

Women of Distinction honored

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — Before she was vice mayor of Stuart, Eula Clarke had a reputation for community service. She helped create local heritage festivals, participated in youth education programs and was an advocate for economic and social development.

Eula Clark is congratulated by Maria Wells after being announced as the Soroptimist International of Stuart's Woman of Distinction in the business category. Ceremonies were held April 26 at the Hutchinson Island Marriott.

But at a recent celebration of female leaders in the county, it was Ms. Clarke's contributions through her business, the law office of Eula Clarke, that earned her recognition.

Clerk

Age: 53

Spouse and children: Wife is Maura Barry-Sorenson. Daughters are Kristin, 20, and Shannon, 17.

Q: How long have you lived in Martin County?

A: 12 years

Q: Why did you decide to run?

A: It is much more effective to make meaningful changes to our government from the inside out.

This is a great opportunity to bring the clerk's office to the next level by focusing on the fiduciary obligations of the office and enforcing comprehensive financial standards for all taxpayer-funded government agencies and private organizations.

This will be accomplished by implementing the following initiatives immediately:

1. Audit and financial review function for any organization receiving public funding.

2. Perform efficiency reviews of government agencies.

3. Understand the fiscal impact of all proposed developments within Martin County.

4. Do cost-benefit analyses of all major appropriations.

Sorenson

Q: What are the top two issues you plan to address for the county?

A: The clerk should act on behalf of taxpayers as the protector of our tax dollars. I plan to:

1. Ensure financial integrity and accountability through comprehensive financial investigations.

2. Review county financial management from a fund accounting perspective.

3. Enhance public access to information from both court records and financial documents.

4. Prosecute malfeasance and unlawful activity.

Q: What are the other central issues of your campaign?

A: Checks and balances are a big part of our democratic process. We need them in the form of an independent check on county spending by the clerk of courts. This will be my priority as your clerk, but the real winners will be the taxpayers, with expected savings of millions per year, achieved by instituting comprehensive financial and performance audit reviews of payroll, grants, contracts, labor contracts and inventory.

Q: What makes you the most qualified candidate?

A: My educational background includes a doctorate in public finance and economics and CEO of Florida Affordable Housing.

I have also written several publications related to local government. Topics included fiscal stress indicators, government debt and investment policy.

My current vocational experience includes president of Government Solutions, financial economist and roles conducting fiscal and economic impact analysis. I also review fee and tax assessments.

I am a forensic economist, qualified to work with tax and fee application, government spending and wrongful death analysis.

Working with nonprofit housing providers in Martin and Palm Beach, my aim has been to provide safe and affordable housing stock, assist tenants with life skills and help them obtain jobs, overcome substance abuse, and find family related services.

My government work history includes a position as Martin County's economist and fiscal planner. The job included:

- Serving as head of the finance team. The clerk served as member.
- Issuing county debt and working on its debt policy.
- Devising investment policy.
- Writing the first fiscal policy document, which is still used today.
- Developing the first revenue manuals.
- Creating departmental spending models (sensitivity analysis).
- Establishing a long-term financial plan.
- Performing internal efficiency reviews.
- Re-engineering process.
- Initiating and managing referendum for Tourist Development Council.
- Developing citizens engagement model.

Palm Beach-based developer, Marcel Mullet, and his wife, Jennifer King. It is currently zoned for hotel, gas station and restaurant development, as well as agriculture.

Among the developer's plans for the land are hotels, restaurants, shops, a skate park, gas station and recreational vehicle park.

"It's very simple. This is about tourism," said Ron Rose, executive director of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

"The area that we're talking about already has these allowed uses for the property. When you look at tourism as one of the No. 1 industries for Florida, plus the tax revenue it generates, it's kind of a no brainer. And this does not break the urban services boundary."

But opponents disagree and note that if Martin County Commissioners permit it, the park would be 6 miles outside the urban development boundary.

"This is not consistent with the comprehensive plan that wisely limits what kind of development can occur where in our county," said Martin County Commissioner Sarah Heard.

"It would be a commercial and urban enclave in the middle of agricultural land," Ms. Heard said, adding that the property was inappropriate for "intense urban land use."

"I have not seen any analysis of any economic benefit," she said.

But supporters, such as Stuart accountant Steve Schramm, whose 15-year-old son, Mac, is a wakeboarder, said the park would attract business from neighboring counties.

"We basically get a park paid for by a private citizen," he wrote in an e-mail circulating in the business community days before the proposal came before the commission for a vote on May 8.

"It also would create a substantial amount of tourism dollars for our community because other families would come to Martin County to enjoy the park. They would buy gas, buy food and fill our local hotels. These are a few of the reasons the Economic Council of Martin County supports the project."

Commissioner Patrick Hayes said despite aggressive campaigns by people on both side of the issue, the proposal appears to have gained local support.

"What I know is the numbers of emails and letters (commissioners) have been getting recently have been in support of it, (whereas) in the last month and a half, they were predominantly against," he said.

TREASURE COAST — Certified nursing assistants who are looking for new opportunities and quick job training in the health-care field should consider registering for the home health aide course offered by Indian River State College.

IRSC is now accepting applications for the home health aide course. Classes are May 21-July 16, Mondays and Wednesdays from 5-10 p.m.

Most home-health aides help older adults, people who are disabled or chronically ill patients who may need assistance with everyday tasks. They provide this help in the home of the patient, instead of in a health-care facility or institution.

The course teaches topics including the home-health industry, responsibilities of home-

Women

She was one of four women honored at the Women of Distinction awards held at the Hutchinson Island Marriott on April 26.

Soroptimist International of Stuart, a group dedicated to improving the lives of women and girls, opens the annual awards to nominees in four categories: business, civic, volunteer and rising star.

The organization also selected as its "rising star" a Jensen Beach High School student who spent more than 960 hours volunteering in the community. It recognized Brooke Wojno's dedication to helping students with special needs and the teen's plans to major in special education.

Karlette Peck, administrator of the Martin County Health Department, won in the civic and professional category for her work with regional emergency preparedness, efforts against AIDS and work to improve the overall health of Martin County's residents.

The group honored Sandra Thurlow as honorary chairwoman for her lifelong devotion to documenting Martin County's history.

It also recognized Jeanette Mueller's years of volunteer service with organizations such as the Florida Arts & Dance Company.

"All these women were really outstanding and just went above and beyond their position," said Karen Vaina, spokeswoman for Soroptimist International of Stuart.

"They excel, make outstanding philanthropic contributions and just do it because they want to do it."

For the woman who took home the award for volunteerism, her fifth nomination proved to be the charm.

"I was absolutely thrilled to death," Ms. Mueller said. "The women who were nominated in that category were just stellar women. It was very emotional for me. There are just so many worthy women out there. It's an honor to be nominated."

She has been participating in local causes for 24 years, since moving to the area from Palm Beach County to raise young children.

"One moment you're a homeroom mom, and then it's the PTA, Florida Arts & Dance Company, the Arts Council or Big Heart Brigade," she said. "This community, like all communities, just has such a need for people who have the ability to give of their time and skills. I was blessed to be able to do that."

One of her projects has her participating in an effort to feed thousands around Thanksgiving, while in another she mentors high-school students.

"I love this. It's what I do. I get involved in a number of things in the community because when you have a wonderful life, you should give back to the community that gives you that," Ms. Mueller said.

Fellow winner, Ms. Clarke, has a similar philosophy.

The immigrant daughter of a Jamaican sugarcane farmer in Belle Glades distinguished herself as an urban planner, attorney and elected official with strong ties to her community.

She sits on several boards and serves as a resource for several area nonprofits, including the Gertrude Walden Daycare Center, Martin County Black Heritage Association and the Caribbean-American Cultural Group.

Each year she offers pro bono or free services to about 100 clients.

Since she entered private practice, she has also dedicated one Tuesday a month to the Father & Child Resource Center, a nonprofit aimed at helping men remain in their children's lives. For the last 12 years, Ms. Clarke has fielded questions from fathers involved in family law cases on issues, such as divorce, child care, child support and domestic violence.

"Some people still believe that the court favors the mother, so it takes a little bit of education to get fathers to realize they do have the right to have access to their children's lives," she said.

Ms. Clarke was among 35 women nominated for their service.

Other nominees for the Women of Distinction awards included Anderson Middle School teacher, Kathryn Lister, volunteers Heidi Monsour and Lisa Teetor, Clarke Advanced Learning Center student Maryna Wakeman and attorney Phyllis Gillespie.

"I see all these wonderful ladies who've done so much in the community. I'm just blown away and proud to be among them," Ms. Clarke said. "I had no idea that I would win."

Man fatally shot in Hobe Sound

Staff Report

HOBE SOUND — Martin County investigators were continuing this week to investigate the death of 28-year-old man shot in the abdomen.

Tony Parks, 28, 10710 S.E. Williams St., Hobe Sound, died on May 4 at St. Mary's Regional Medical Center in West Palm Beach, authorities said.

Deputies found Mr. Parks shot in the parking lot of an apartment complex in Hobe Sound just after midnight on May 4, said Rhonda Irons, director of media relations, in a press release.

No information was available as to whether suspects have been identified in the case, she said.

crime rate is directly associated with the economy," Sheriff Loar said.

White noting a slight improvement in the economy, the sheriff also attributed the improvement to improved crime prevention efforts and educating the public.

During 2010, the Indian River County Sheriff's Office reported 3,266 crimes. That dropped to 3,079 in 2011.

Thefts dropped from 2,030 to 1,869 and burglaries decreased from 818 to 778.

However, slight increases in violent crime were reported.

Murders were up from zero to three; rapes increased from 17 to 25; robberies were up from 55 to 62 and aggravated assaults were up from 241 to 261.

While Indian River County had the only decrease in crime of the three counties, St. Lucie County had the largest increase.

The total increase reported by all law enforcement agencies was 12 percent.

St. Lucie County Sheriff Ken Mascara said he wasn't surprised.

"The main factors for the increase were the struggling economy with people out of work or employed at less-than-expected wage," he said. "In addition, the increase in prices to precious metals made burglaries/and or thefts involving jewelry, copper other precious metals very attractive.

"This past year we even experienced thefts of catalytic converters (which contain precious metals), which, to my recollection, was the first time we experienced such thefts since I've been sheriff," he said.

Sheriff Mascara said his office will continue to work in the community to help people prevent crime.

"In this economy, please lock your valuables and possessions or risk losing them to criminals," he added.

As for crimes reported by the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Office, the total number increased from 2,000 in 2010 to 2,188 in 2011.

In numbers of major property crimes, burglaries increased from 570 to 637; thefts went up from 1,087 to 1,191 and motor vehicles thefts were up from 86 to 92.

As for violent crimes, murders decreased from six to two; rapes were down from 28 to 20; robberies were up from 42 to 50 and aggravated assaults were up from 181 to 196.

The Fort Pierce Police Department reported a 6.7 percent increase in crime.

The department reported 2,878 crimes in 2010 and 3,071 in 2011.

VIEWPOINT

Insurance reform passes

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER
JEFF ATWATER

This year the legislature took on the challenge of reforming Florida's broken personal injury protection auto insurance system, which has been infiltrated by crooks and enterprising industries driving up costs for all Floridians.

I believe this legislature, with the support of Gov. Rick Scott and many others, passed meaningful PIP reforms that will positively impact Florida's drivers by targeting fraud, reducing costs and making our roads safer for citizens and visitors.

The purpose of this reform was to reduce skyrocketing auto insurance premiums for Florida drivers. But change does not happen overnight. We will not be able to fully analyze the savings these measures will generate for Florida's consumers until late 2013.

Our first opportunity to measure the effectiveness of this legislation will come in July with the creation of a PIP Fraud Strike Force. This strike force, along with the division of insurance fraud, will look for ways to reduce fraud in the system, as well as monitor new fraud scams attempting to circumvent anti-fraud provisions.

The strike force will identify tools to assist in the investigation and prosecution of PIP fraud and seek funding and donations to fund such initiatives.

In September, the Office of Insurance Regulation, overseen by Insurance Commissioner Kevin McCarty, will contract with an independent consultant to calculate the expected savings from the new law. I have instructed Robin Wescott, Florida's insurance consumer advocate, to play an active role in selecting the consultant and review of the results to ensure all factors are properly evaluated and consumers are fairly represented in the process.

In October, automobile insurers must make a rate filing showing a reduction in rates of at least 10 percent or provide a detailed explanation as to why they were unable to provide their policyholders with such a reduction.

The bulk of the PIP reforms passed this session go into effect in January 2013. These reforms will allow consumers to get the care they need following an accident while ensuring that only legitimate claims are paid. In short, these new provisions help return PIP to its original mission: to provide emergency care following an auto accident for those who may not have other healthcare options regardless of who is at fault.

These are the reforms that I believe will get at the root of the abuses occurring in the current PIP system and will go a long way in reducing your automobile insurance rates. I am eager to start seeing Floridians auto insurance rates go down and will continue to be a watchdog for Florida's insurance consumers.

Jeff Atwater, chief financial officer, is a statewide elected official and officer of the Florida cabinet, who oversees the department of financial services.

Beaches should have signs

Beach access points could all have signs stating, "Lifeguards not on duty, swim at your own risk," and schedules where there are lifeguards.

Also, include information, phone number, the web address or a nearby business to inquire where there are lifeguards on duty.

Some businesses might want to be listed and could offset the cost of the signs.

Lifeguards are nice to have, but the cost is a big factor, and there is not a way to pay for them short of charging admission again, which is not effective.

Making beachside residents and business pay for the lifeguards is not fair to them, especially residents (businesses would only pass the cost on to the residents). Just because they live there doesn't mean they swim in the ocean.

Beach access signs could also warn of danger of swimming at times of day when sharks feed.

Stop being lazy

It really annoys me to see people take advantage of the handicapped only spaces in the front of the parking lot at big stores. I can understand if someone legitimately needs to use the space, but last time I checked, lazy wasn't a medical condition.

Driving laws are ridiculous

I can't believe what is going on with the driving laws in Florida. The state is giving out awards to cops who are pulling over drunk drivers, when speeders and reckless drivers are just as dangerous. When are laws are going to be done correctly?

Illegal aliens at school

As I sit here outside the school, waiting to pick up my daughter, I'm amazed at how many aliens there are running around. Somebody needs to close the borders. We need somebody in charge that will take care of things. This guy couldn't if he wanted to. We don't need any more anchor babies. That's why we are so far in the deficit. We are taking care of the other worlds. Shut the borders and stop letting alien kids in the schools. Wake up, people.

As summer rolls in…

As the months start to heat up, so does the want for kids to get in trouble. With summer camps too expensive and jobs scarce, the youth of today has nothing to do with its time. They will prowl the streets looking for something to occupy their minds. It might be a pick-up game of basketball, or it might be picking a fight with another bored teen. Or, it might be picking the lock to someone's car or home.

Unfortunately, there's nothing else for these kids to do. They can't go to the community pools because some people just don't have the money. They can't go to the library because half of the time they're closed. They can't go anywhere else, because there's no public transportation.

What about the kids in neighborhoods that don't have access to pools and libraries? Nobody wants to give these kids a chance.

And I'm not just talking about poor African-American neighborhoods. There are as many poor white kids and Hispanic kids. What chances do these kids have?

Disturbing websites

I use an online site to either buy or sell items. It's a great source to find the things you want. However, there are two sections that truly disgust me. One is under the personals section and the other is under services.

The one under personals is "casual encounters." This is where people can find someone else to hook up with. But it's not your basic personal/dating ads. It's for people to find others like themselves for sex. And, from what I've seen, a lot of these people are married. What are these people thinking? What are they telling society? That it's OK to cheat on your spouse? That marriage doesn't mean anything? I think these people should be ashamed of themselves. They should realize what they're doing is morally wrong and that someday they will be caught.

The other one that bothers me (and I'm sure I'm not alone) is the erotic section under services. I thought prostitution was illegal. They're prostitutes soliciting sex. Why doesn't law enforcement do something about this? Prostitution is illegal, isn't it?

And what about our kids? Do we want our children seeing things like this? What is the world coming to? Are we that insensitive and uncaring as a society that we accept things like this?

A lot of people these days have an "I don't care" attitude. As long as it doesn't affect me, so what?" This is just another thing that puts all of us deeper in the crapper. And some day, people like those who place those ads will have to answer for what they've done. And don't be fooled. We'll too have to answer for our uncaring attitude.

Some hope for the youth

We need to save our youth from illegal drugs and pornography. We need to save them from wimps and sneaks. It is better to be a square, so do what's right, not what's wrong.

We need to become more educated and help the youth against those who target them. We can never let them down. Our communities are crying for law and order.

A warning for consumers

Building materials, such as drywall, coming in from China have been identified as toxic. Children's toys, imported from China, are frequently unsafe.

Products made from Chinese milk are also dangerous and have caused illnesses.

Now, Chinese medicines have been seized because they had inaccurate labels and contained contaminants and can prove toxic.

When will American consumers learn?

In order to advance

If Americans want to advance, if we want our children and grandchildren to live better lives than we had, we'd better pay attention to the rapid growth of government in Washington. Too many big spenders in our nation's capitol buy votes and they buy them using our money. They claim to be helping the downtrodden but these programs keep people oppressed.

Our young people deserve the opportunity to take advantage of the American dream.

If we don't change policies, they face a nightmare.

MARTIN COUNTY — Doug Olesen, SunTrust first vice president, presented a check for $2,500 to Big Brothers Big Sisters of Palm Beach and Martin counties to support their proven mentoring programs.

"Big Brothers Big Sisters is fortunate to have the support of SunTrust Bank," said William Bee, BBBS president and CEO.

"Community programs rely on local support from businesses like SunTrust and representatives like Doug Olesen. This investment will have significant positive returns for local children, and we sincerely appreciate their contribution. Because of partnerships like these, we can continue to change the lives of children for the better, forever," he said.

"With their proven outcomes and evidence- based programs, we are confident our donation will result in positive change in our community," said Mr. Olesen. "We are proud to support this organization and the children and families they serve in our community."

Political forums taking place around county

For Hometown News
newsfp@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — The Martin County Council of Chambers and the Economic Council invite community members to come and meet their candidates in person as they introduce themselves and discuss issues affecting local government and the community.

This is an opportunity to become more informed before voting in the August primary.

Political forums will be held on various dates in different locations around the county with the goal of attracting not only chamber members, but any county voter.

Political forum schedule:

In Hobe Sound, Thursday June 21 and Thursday July 12 at 6 p.m. at the Hobe Sound Bible College.

The Hobe Sound political forum hosted by the Hobe Sound Chamber will be a two-night event with different local and state candidates making introductions and answering questions on each night.

A panel of five moderators, made-up of one representative from each chamber of commerce (Stuart/Martin County, Hobe Sound, Palm City, Jensen Beach and Indiantown), will conduct a question and answer period. Questions will be submitted in advance by emailing info@hobesound.org or by filling out an official question note card at the event prior to the first candidate's introduction at 6 p.m. Questions will also be submitted from each chamber's general membership. Moderators will pre-choose the questions.

For more Information call (772) 546-4724 or visit www.hobesound.org.

The Indiantown time, location and date will be announced at a later date.

The Indiantown political forum hosted by the Indiantown Chamber of Commerce will be a two-night event with different candidates from the local and State level on each night. There will be candidate introductions and public question and answer time.

For more Information, call 772-597-2184 or visit www.indiantownchamber.com.

At the Martin County Council of Chambers' political forums, residents and business owners will have an opportunity to meet the candidates, hear them express their views and better understand the platform on which they are running.

They are informational, non-partisan and issue-oriented forums. The goal is to promote awareness of candidates and issues in preparation for the primary election on Aug. 14.

For more information, please contact one of the above listed chambers of commerce.

MARTIN COUNTY — Denise Belizar, marketing manager for the Council on Aging of Martin County, was named 2012 Communicator of the Year for a nonprofit organization by the Treasure Coast Chapter of the Florida Public Relations Association.

The presentation was made at the FPRA's annual Image award banquet on April 18 at the Springhill Suites Marriott in Port St. Lucie.

Ms. Belizar was recognized for spearheading the council's communications throughout the organization's first year in its new home, the Charles and Rae Kane Center in Stuart.

The enhanced community awareness for the council and its services achieved through her public relations and marketing campaigns brought thousands of visitors to the Kane Center, resulting in more than 400 new memberships and increased volunteerism.

Ms. Belizar, who has more than three decades of experience in marketing communications, is also owner of Write Idea Communications in Jensen Beach. She is a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

TREASURE COAST — Those looking for quick job training to get started in the healthcare field should consider registering for the nursing assistant course at Indian River State College.

IRSC is accepting applications for nursing assistant classes. Most nursing assistants help with patient care activities such as bathing and feeding.

Nursing assistants work under the supervision of nursing or medical staff to provide basic care in hospitals, nursing homes, physicians' offices, clinics and in-home care. This nursing assistant course is the first step to becoming a licensed practical nurse.

The course takes about seven weeks to complete. In the program, students attend class approximately 20 hours per week. Day and night classes are available at IRSC campuses and locations in Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee and St. Lucie counties.

In addition to associates and bachelor's degrees, IRSC offers many quick job training programs that enable students to gain job skills in less than a year.

For more information, call (772) 462-7570, email info@irsc.edu or visit www.irsc.edu.

likely had a lot she wanted to forget when a Fort Pierce Police officer stopped her.

The woman claimed she couldn't remember her date of birth because of injuries she received during an accident in 2009.

She gave the officer two wrong names.

Then as if by a miracle, she remembered her real name.

It turned out she was caught driving with a suspended license for the third time, making it a felony. And inside the vehicle, the police officer discovered cocaine and prescription pills, for which she did not have a prescription.

It may have not been a good day for her in terms of being arrested, but at least she got her memory back.

The right against self-incrimination

St. Lucie County deputies were called to a domestic disturbance that began when a husband found evidence his wife was unfaithful.

He told deputies he threw their wedding pictures in the garbage can and that apparently, in response, his wife struck him.

The wife refused to write a statement and told a deputy that "I do not want to write anything incriminating."

That doesn't make her sound innocent.

in five counties last year collected 500,000 pounds along their routes.

"(On that day) letter carriers not only deliver the mail, but they also pick up and deliver bags of food to drop-off points, where trucks from the Treasure Coast Food Bank receive them," said Angie Francalancia, a public relations specialist promoting the event.

In the weeks before the drive, carriers place donation bags in mail boxes along their routes, soliciting contributions of canned food and other nonperishable items. They also distributed 300 yard signs throughout several cities.

Across the country, the national effort has resulted in collection of about 70 million pounds of food for each Stamp Out Hunger campaign.

It's a worthwhile cause, the local group says, because statistics from area nonprofits show that one out of every five children goes to bed hungry, and nationwide, 16 percent of all Americans are not sure if they'll be able to afford their next meal.

Members of the local letter carriers association rally behind the cause, with hundreds of retirees revisiting old routes and several current employees using personal time to help with pickups.

"Some retirees go out in their own cars picking up on their routes, bringing it back to the post office," said Mr. Abbarno, who has been part of the annual effort for 20 years. "We also have letter carriers come in on their day off with their trailers and vehicles to take food to drop points."

Musical to be performed at school

For the last two months, approximately 30 students have been stepping into the world of 1912 Iowa in preparation for The Pine School's annual spring musical,

Set in a small, quaint midwestern town, the musical tells the story of con man Harold Hill, who arrives to swindle the town by convincing them about the need for a boy's band to keep their children on the straight and narrow. Along the way, we meet a memorable cast of characters as the townsfolk get swept up in his con.

However, the town's librarian may be the only one who sees through his deceit; yet she discovers she may have fallen in love with him.

This musical has offered the opportunity for our campuses to unite with a cast that spans from the fourth grade to our current senior class.

Additionally, as director, I have seen the school community join together with a sense of unity to help get this production staged.

From a maintenance man tasked with building a fake, portable piano, our art teacher painting beautiful storefronts with

Crime

Sean Baldwin said the increases are a reverse from recent years.

"Generally, over the last few years, we have seen decreases in crime," he said. "To see it go the other way is frustrating for us. However slight, the increase it is disappointing."

Chief Baldwin attributed the increase to an economy that's been in recession for years "and that is driving people to commit crimes."

He said the police department will continue to fight crime by partnering with the community and educating people about the necessity to lock car and house doors to deter criminals who are looking for easy crimes of opportunity.

The county's new ordinance regarding the sale of recyclable materials should help, he added.

In Martin County, the total number of crimes reported by the sheriff's office, police departments and other agencies increased 3.3 percent.

The Martin County Sheriff's Office reported a 2.3 percent increase in crimes.

Sheriff Robert L. Crowder said much of the crime is a result of the economy.

As a result, he said, thefts and burglaries increased.

Metal thefts have increased due to rising prices and more people out of work.

"When the price for a particular commodity goes up, it becomes a more attractive target," Sheriff Crowder said.

He said the sheriff's office also is seeing more people from outside of Martin County coming to commit crimes.

"We have not been able to add any deputies during the past several years, yet the calls we get have increased," he said.

Sheriff Crowder said he believes it's unrealistic to think the sheriff's office will be able to add more deputies in the near future.

In numbers reported by the sheriff's office, overall the number of crimes reported increased from 3,149 to 3,222.

As for major property crimes, burglaries increased from 679 to 690; thefts increased from 2,009 to 2,140, while motor vehicle thefts were down from 99 to 92.

For violent crimes, murders dropped from two to 1; rapes increased from 11 to 16; robberies dropped from 103 to 84 and aggravated assaults decreased from 246 to 199.

non-invasive fat reduction.

Cleared by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, CoolSculpting gently cools unwanted fat cells in the body, thereby inducing a natural, controlled elimination of fat cells.

Based on science developed by the Wellman Center for Photomedicine at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, this breakthrough is based on a body of research that demonstrates fat cells are more susceptible to cold and are selectively, painlessly and permanently destroyed.

Starting several weeks after the procedure, cooled fat cells begin a process called "apoptosis" and begin to shrink and disappear. The body proceeds to naturally and gradually eliminate the cooled fat cells, reducing the thickness of the fat layer.

Unlike other methods of fat reduction, CoolSculpting involves no needles, surgery or downtime.

During the procedure, a non-invasive applicator delivers precisely controlled cooling to the treatment area thereby specifically targeting fat.

Treatments last between one to two hours. Patients can have additional procedures for more pronounced effects if they desire.

Patients can start to see results as soon as three weeks following treatment, with the most dramatic results occurring over a period of two to four months in most patients.

The JeuneNu Aesthetic Beauty & Laser Center at Women's Health Specialists offers a synergistic system of beauty care using both non-invasive laser and healthy treatments and products.

New bagel shop is perfect for breakfast, lunch

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — Stuart's newest restaurant is already getting rave reviews.

Bagel Bites opened about two months ago at 1942 S.E. Federal Highway, just north of Central Parkway.

But even before it opened its doors, at least one customer was already counting down its arrival.

"I saw they were coming and got excited," said Chris Donley, owner of the Drivers Seat, a vehicle accessory store in the same plaza as the coffee shop.

"They're that great."

With corporate clients and walk-in business, the restaurant has gained a quick reputation for serving bialys, gourmet bagels topped with freshly melted cheese, roasted red peppers, jalapeños, olives or spinach.

Its breakfast and lunch sandwiches are hearty, delicious and well crafted.

A top seller is the sausage, egg and cheese. Try it on an "everything" bagel for a high-protein, savory meal with hot melted cheese.

At lunch, the nova platter is perfect with smoked salmon, tomato, onions, capers and creamed cheese.

And a cinnamon-toasted bagel topped with walnut-raisin cream cheese is so good, it's more like a satisfying dessert than a meal.

"We come from a long line of restaurateurs, so we know to keep our customers and staff happy," said general manager Matt Blancke, who co-owns the store with his mother, Susan Krachun, and her husband, Danny.

The family also owns a second Bagel Bites, which has operated for 10 years in Palm City, at 988 S.W. Martin Downs Blvd. It also has ties to restaurants in Michigan, where Mr. Blancke lived.

Its long history in the industry is obvious in the simple goodness of its food.

The restaurant uses freshly baked bagels, crisp vegetables, fish bought from area fishermen and local produce that is crisp when served.

Head cook Kyle Sneider displays a a cinnamon-toasted bagel topped with walnut-raisin cream cheese, while cashier Victoria Agantovic holds a 'walking taco' made from Doritos nacho chips at Bagel Bites in Stuart.

It serves freshly squeezed orange juice from Fort Pierce-based Natalie's Orchard Island Juice Company. And it grinds its whole, roasted Segafredo coffee beans daily to make cappuccinos and other drinks.

Employees whip cheese in-house then add fresh ingredients to create flavors, such as lox or salmon, scallion, vegetable, chive, olive, walnut raisin or Miami, which mixes lox, green onions and horseradish.

Trail to expand, add more parking

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

MARTIN COUNTY — The South Florida Water Management District and its partners in Martin County are enhancing public access to a unique recreation area known as Pal-Mar East. The main feature of the expansion is more public parking access for activities such as horseback riding and hiking.

"Expanding access to the site is a prime example of how this agency works with partners such as Martin County to enhance recreational access to conservation land so the public can enjoy the outdoors," said Kevin Powers, SFWMD governing board vice chairman.

Located near the Martin/Palm Beach County line, Pal-Mar East was acquired jointly by the district, Martin County and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Wetlands Reserve program in 2006.

Developing recreational access has been an important component of the overall management of the 2,800-acre property.

At Pal-Mar East, a trailhead was originally developed with a small parking lot for six vehicles. As the management area gained popularity, especially with equestrians, the water district and Martin County identified the need to expand it to increase access for horse trailers. The parking extension is part of site improvements that include marking an approximately 7-mile hiking trail, which is underway.

This work is the result of a cooperative agreement between the district and Martin County to develop and maintain recreational amenities on public lands, including Pal-Mar East, Allapattah Flats and Cypress Creek.

Throughout South Florida, the district provides recreational access to its public lands, while continuing to manage them to support environmental restoration, water supply, water quality and flood control missions.

At present, the district owns 621,000 acres of land that are open to the public. Many of these properties are in their natural state or have enhancements such as picnic tables, informational kiosks, primitive campsites and hiking trails.

For more information on recreational opportunities throughout the district's 16-county region, visit www.sfwmd.gov/recreation.

ARIES – March 21-April 20

It's easy for your mind to wander and get caught daydreaming, Aries. That's because you are feeling a little restless and in need of a change. A vacation may just do it.

TAURUS – April 21- May 21

Taurus, though you're intent on saving money, some situations arise that will require you to open your wallet. But you can handle these unforeseen expenses.

GEMINI – May 22-June 21

Gemini, sometimes you are misunderstood and that can leave you feeling frustrated. It's best not to change a thing, though, because you want friends who appreciate you for you.

CANCER – June 22-July 22

Exciting prospects are on the horizon, Cancer. This is something you have been looking forward to for quite some time, and you can only count the days until you get news.

LEO – July 23-Aug. 23

Leo, you have to fight for what you believe in, even if that means being unpopular with some friends and family members. Stick with it and you'll like the results.

VIRGO – Aug. 24-Sept. 22

Virgo, though it seems like you are caught between a rock and a hard place, there is a way out. It just may mean swallowing your pride -- something you may not find easy.

LIBRA – Sept. 23-Oct. 23

MARTIN COUNTY — Spring was in the air when a crowd of 170 got together to raise funds for Meals on Wheels at the sixth annual Flower Power luncheon, fashion show and silent auction.

The event, which was held at the Charles and Rae Kane Center on March 21, cleared more than $25,000, enough for 4,000 meals for disadvantaged, homebound seniors.

"This is the only event in our area that supports Meals on Wheels," said Bonnie Ares Royster, director of development for the Council on Aging of Martin County.

"Every attendee, donor and sponsor makes a significant difference in the quality of life for homebound seniors who depend upon this food."

Anchor Home Health Services was the presenting sponsor, with additional major sponsorships from Senior Solutions; Goldstein, Schmitt & Wade; Seacoast National Bank of Stuart and South Florida Radiation Oncology.

Fashions were provided courtesy of April Daze, Evelyn & Arthur, Patchington and Suit Yourself.

Kelley Dunn of WPTV Channel 5, the local NBC affiliate emceed the show.

The not-for-profit Council on Aging of Martin County provides programs that help seniors live independently in their own homes, including: Meals on Wheels, an adult day program, care management, caregiver support and in-home services.

The council is the longest standing organization in the county dedicated to serving our senior population.

For more information on Council on Aging services, or to learn how to support the council and be a part of the Kane Center, call (772) 223-7800 or visit www.kanecenter.org.

TREASURE COAST — Michael Kaiser of Stuart, a sophomore at Saint Edward's School in Vero Beach, has been awarded the President's Volunteer Service Award, presented by the Corporation for National and Community Service, for performing 250 hours of service to the Smithsonian Marine Station in Fort Pierce.

At a ceremony at the Smithsonian campus, Michael received a letter of congratulations, signed by President Obama, for receiving the award, an award pin and a certificate of appreciation from the Smithsonian Institution in recognition of valuable service.

Michael has been working with Nicole Fogarty at the Marine Station, whose work focuses on the complex chemical signals controlling coral spawning.

Michael has been able to use his time with the Marine Station to also perform his own independent research. which he recently presented in a symposium at Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institute.

Scopes

Libra, accept help on an important project and things will go swimmingly. Just be sure to reciprocate that assistance down the line to show appreciation.

SCORPIO – Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Scorpio, sometimes the things you believe to be a big deal really aren't a big deal at all. Simply changing your perception about things can bring on real change.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov. 23-Dec. 21

The biggest lesson you can learn is how to deal with conflict in a productive way, Sagittarius. If you look at your track record, you just may find that the old way isn't working.

CAPRICORN – Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Capricorn, you have a full plate but somehow you always manage to pull through -- even when you are all on your own with the work. Start scheduling a day off.

AQUARIUS – Jan. 21-Feb. 18

Aquarius, you have to be in the mood to finish some projects around the house. Procrastination won't help, but a plan of attack can help you get everything done.

PISCES – Feb. 19-March 20

Pisces, think about ideas for the future if what you are doing right now is not very exciting. Having a plan can keep you motivated.

Bagel

Its cream cheese creations are available in six-ounce "to go" packages, with prices beginning at $2.99.

Bagels are available by the dozen or half dozen in choices that include plain, pumpernickel, seven-grain, English muffin, cinnamon raisin, salt, sesame, poppy, onion, garlic and honey wheat.

Bagel Bites is also home to some surprises that make it more interesting than the typical neighborhood coffee shop.

Head cook Kyle Sneider uses Doritos nacho chips to create a shell-less "walking taco," for instance, served in the chips bag to make it portable. The idea is one Mr. Blancke borrowed from an ice cream shack near a ski resort in Northern Michigan, and has proven popular with local customers, especially the Martin County High School students who buy lunch from the store.

Its chicken salad, made with fresh meat and served on a bed of spinach with tomatoes and onions, is simple and flavorful.

All told, the brightly painted bagel shop is a great addition to the local dining scene.

"It's certainly a great way to start the day," said cashier Victoria Agantovich.

Bagel Bites is open daily. Its weekday hours are 6:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. On weekends, it opens from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Bicycle helmets donated

Warfield Elementary students received new bicycle helmets.

MARTIN COUNTY — The Martin Health Foundation, through a gift provided by Women of Philanthropy, is donating hundreds of bicycle helmets to all kindergarten and first-grade students at Warfield and Port Salerno elementary schools and J.D. Parker School of Science, Math and Technology.

The first presentation of bicycle helmets took place April 13 at Warfield Elementary. Students also learned about bicycle safety.

The next round of donations took place at J.D. Parker School of Science, Math and Technology on April 25. The donations at Port Salerno Elementary will take place in May.

gram on March 8.

To complete their training, each student must write an essay on what they have learned about drug and alcohol abuse and how harmful it is. One winner from each class was selected.

The essay winners were: Emmi McIntosh of Mrs. Anderson's class, Caroline Maccio of Mrs. Aursland's class, Megyn Cook of Mrs. Chesrown's class and Chase Kimpton of Mrs. Dictor's class. The grand-prize winner was Kaitlyn Lunt of Mrs. Dictor's class.

For the past two years, attorney Lauri J. Goldstein of Goldstein, Schmitt and Wade, has underwritten the expense of the T-shirts each student receives for Pinewood, Seawind, Port Salerno, Hobe Sound and Jensen Beach elementary schools.

"I believe in the youth of this county. I have two young children myself and I am familiar with the realities of what happens in the schools," said Mrs. Goldstein.

"The DARE program provides important education that students can use as they encounter negative peer pressure."

The students wrote thank-you letters to Mrs. Goldstein for her participation, which were presented during the ceremony.

The Drug and Alcohol Resistance Education program is an 11-week course that is taught in 10 Martin County public schools by specially trained Martin County school resource officers. Approximately 1,500 students graduate from the DARE program each year.

Perfect conditions for catching blues, snook

FISHING
HENRY CAIMATTO

Big beautiful moon, monster moon, as it has been described; not sure what it may have done for fishing, I think it was a little too big.

What controls the tides, the moon as close as it was gave us some of the strongest tides we have seen in a while.

Grouper season opened May 1, and with the full moon, it could have been as asset, but the monster moon gave us current, like 20 ounces of current, making it difficult if not impossible to get bait to the bottom.

Very experienced anglers found the grouper but the average angler, like you and I, had a difficult time, but the night was beautiful and it was a pleasure to be out there.

It has been many weeks since we had the conditions of 1 to 2 feet, 10 seconds apart and the anglers who went out after lunch are the ones who found the fish. They were up all night eating, so next time we have a full moon, keep that in mind.

A beautiful weekend with king macs topping the catch list, some cobia and a few dolphin, but it was the bottom everyone was trying to get to. A new week and that moon is gone, conditions perfect, let's try it again.

Surf is perfect. Blue fish early, they like the cooler water and then big whiting up close. Cut bait early found the blues, 3-pound fish, from dawn until mid morning. After the sun warmed, in moved some of the biggest whiting we have seen. Both make for excellent table fare.

Now it is time for the snook anglers to come on down. Slot fish and yes, they are feeding on the whiting. Cast a diving plug north or south, not east, these fish are up close looking for the whiting. Yes right there in the first trough. Surf is very fishable, do not forget the sunscreen, cap and sun glasses.

River has settled, no turbity east or west side, take your pick. Lots of bait of all types and lots of fish feeding. Fish early or look to fish deeper in the shaded waters. Keep in mind these fish want in out of the sun.

Lots of slot trout this week with a mix of reds. The flounder are still with us but it is the blue fish and jacks that are eating everything you throw, so bring some extra, you will need it.

Interesting was the pompano bite from the bridge, late afternoon and jigs caught the limit. Strong resident school or maybe they just like it here and are not leaving. No matter, it is nice to see these fish in the numbers we are seeing them.

Black drum, blues and snapper kept most bridge anglers busy and the dark hour it was the snook, still hard to get the slot fish, but I will keep trying. Flair Hawks and that black Bomber were favored this week.

Yes, it is Florida, hot, big, bright sun and I love it.

Henry Caimatto is the owner of the Snook Nook Bait and Tackle shop in Jensen Beach.

Finding a gift for golfing moms

GOLF
JAMES STAMMER

You are almost out of time! Mother's Day is just around the corner.

There is a reason why Mother's Day is a month before Father's Day. If we guys fail in our quest for the right gift for mom, chances are the Dad's Day equivalent of "coal in the stocking" is on the way.

Most golfers are difficult to buy presents for. Toss in that it's the special female in your life and things can get quite confusing. However, gifts are available for the moms in our lives, and fortunately it doesn't have to be oven mitts with fuzzy golf balls on them.

We all need to protect our eyes from the sun and most do when driving, walking or heading to the beach. Today, manufacturers have entire lines of sunglasses made specifically for women and devoted to helping their golf game. Not only do these protect their eyes and make seeing the ball and breaks on the greens easier, they are also a fashion statement.

Just about every golfer needs new grips at some point in time. Many of us ignore our grips until they have become a detriment to our game. Stop by your local pro shop or off-course golf store and purchase a certificate to have her grips replaced.

Women love fashion and most have several outfits they enjoy wearing and if they are anything like the women in my life, everything must match. Hats are not only fashionable, they are great for protecting us from the weather. Like shoes, one can never have too many hats.

If she wishes to make a splash on and off the course, there are plenty of perfect accessories available. Some collections allow you to mix and match gloves, belts, bags, totes, visors, caps and even water bottles for a perfectly coordinated look.

Most golfers are intimidated with one-on-one lessons. Put these same people with their friends and it can become a fun time. Get in touch with the families of your mom's friends and see if they want to get the bunch of them a group lesson. This can turn out to be much less expensive than you think and it gives the ladies a chance to all improve their game while having some fun together.

Contact your mom's club and see about getting her a certificate for lunch or dinner after one of her rounds. Chances are she'd love to hang out with friends and enjoy a few drinks and some food. Better yet, meet her after one of her rounds and treat her to dinner yourself. If the club has a spa, look into treating her to a spa treatment or a massage to kick off her weekend.

Every golfer has his or her own personality. Most of us use head covers on our clubs to protect them from the abuse they are subjected to riding around in a cart or being carried along. By finding a head cover resembling your golfer's favorite animal, team or college, you not only help to protect their investment but to show a little of their personality as well.

Golfers tend to need something in which to store all the stuff they bring with them to the course. You can pick up a monogrammed tote or bag for your mom to put all her jewelry, keys, wallet, phone and more in while she's on the course.

Golf

Many come with a handy clip to attach it to her bag so it's easy to access during her round or take off the bag for the ride home. A nicely crafted bag will protect her valuables and be a constant reminder of just how special she is to you.

If all you need is a small trinket to complete your gift, how about a divot tool or ball marker? You can always find these with a large selection of colleges, professional sports teams, even flowers or cute sayings to match your golfer's personality.

There are lots of golf magazines and subscriptions can be had at low prices. It's the gift that keeps coming every month, or sometimes every week.

Another idea is to purchase a round of golf for mom at her favorite course. Better yet, treat her to a round at a course she has never played. Golfers love to play new courses. In addition, make it a foursome with yourself, if you play, and a couple of her best golf buddies.

Finally, most courses also offer gift certificates that moms can use to tee it up at their leisure or pick up that blouse or skirt they have been thinking about.

Whatever you choose, just remember, that it's the thought that counts! However, you're not just pleasing them, you're laying the groundwork for your day as well.

James Stammer has been an avid golfer and golf enthusiast for nearly 40 years. He hosts the Thursday night golf show on WSTU 1450-AM. Contact him at stammergolf@yahoo.com.

LEGAL SERVICES

The hiring of a lawyer is an important decision that should not be based solely on advertisements. Before you decide, ask the lawyer to send you free written information about their qualifications and experience.
Under Florida law, non-lawyers are permitted to sell legal forms & kits & type in the factual information provided by their customers. They may not, however, give legal advice.
