HOW WEIRD IS THAT?!
SEAN MCCARTHY

Spend any time surfing the Web and you are bound to find stories that are just too bizarre to be true. Here's a sampling, edited for length. And remember, just because it's online doesn't mean it's true!

From kctv5.com:

Man didn't know he had shot nail into his brain

A suburban Chicago man thought the errant nail that discharged from the gun he was working with had whizzed by his head. Instead, it was lodged in his brain. Family members say Dante Autullo spent more than a day with the 3_-inch nail in his head before having it

Brevard Democrats joins boycott of local deli

By Dan Garcia
dgarcia@hometownnewsol.com

PALM BAY – The Brevard Democrats organization is urging its membership to boycott a Palm Bay deli because its owner criticized City Council members during a council meeting.

The Brevard Democrats targeted the Brown Bag deli because its owner criticized three City Council members who favored a proposed fire fee, which would have billed city residents up to $300 annually.

"He crossed the line," said Beth McMillen, chairwoman of Brevard Democrats. She said it was her decision to recommend the boycott to her membership, which includes some members of the City Council.

Ms. McMillen said Brevard Democrats received a recommendation from the statewide Central Labor Council, which was notified of the situation by the International Association of Firefighters Local 2446 of Palm Bay.

IAFF Local 2446 is conducting its own boycott of the Brown Bag deli because its owner criticized council members.

On Dec. 15, Brown Bag owner John Paolella was among several residents who criticized three City Council members who supported the proposed fire fee.

The City Council canceled the planned fire fee by a 5-0 vote after numerous residents objected to the fee.

Urgent care clinic offers constant care

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

An urgent-care clinic recently opened in Melbourne, providing patients with around-the-clock care.

Diagnostic and Clinical Care Services, an independent practice that has served Brevard with internal and family medicine for five years, opened the urgent-care clinic in November. The clinic offers care for patients 24 hours a day, seven days a week and 365 days a year.

"We are the first 24-hour clinic in Brevard County offering our services year-round and on holidays," said Susy King, office manager of Diagnostic and Clinical Care Services. "Other than going to the hospital, we're the only option for patients that need care outside of normal hours."

Patients seeking an expedited trip to the facility can register online before visiting. According to the clinic's website, www.doccs.us, patients are typically seen and treated in less than an hour for minor injuries such as lacerations, sprains, simple fractures, animal bites, sports injuries and other discomforts like sore throats, earaches, asthma attacks, migraines, urinary tract infections or the flu.

Ms. King said the clinic also provides X-rays and lab tests, as well as physicals that are required for employment, participation in sports and school.

While no insurance is required to visit the urgent-care clinic, major health insurance providers are accepted, according to the website.

The physicians operating the clinic, Sangita Sahay and Marilyn Moss, are both board certified and have been practicing for more than 20 years, according to the website.

With shuttle program's end, Atlantis begins a new mission

The shuttle will be displayed in a $100 million facility at the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

In July, Space Shuttle Atlantis pulled into port at the Kennedy Space Center for the last time, signifying the end of NASA's 30-year space shuttle program. Now, Atlantis will prepare for its next mission: to preserve the history of U.S. space exploration and provide inspiration for Americans.

The shuttle will be the highlight of a $100 million exhibit at the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex set to open in the summer of 2013. A groundbreaking ceremony held on Jan. 18 introduced plans for the new, 65,000-square-foot home of Atlantis to a crowd of more than 100 people.

"Where (Atlantis) once expanded man's knowledge in space, now she will expand our knowledge here on Earth," said Janet Petro, deputy director of the Kennedy Space Center, in a speech at the ceremony. "She will teach everyone who visits her about the space shuttle program and what it has meant to NASA, America and all of us here at the Kennedy Space Center."

Organizations collect excess citrus to feed the hungry

Citrus drive to be held in Brevard on Saturday

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

On Saturday, a local church will team with a national organization to feed the hungry using Florida's state fruit.

First United Methodist Church will hold the 15th Annual Brevard County Citrus Drive on Saturday, Jan. 28, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Titusville, Melbourne and Port St. John. The Society of St. Andrew, a nonprofit Christian hunger-relief ministry, will collect and distribute citrus to homeless and underprivileged individuals through several food banks, said Ken DeTorres, a volunteer for the drive.

The event aims to gather citrus that would otherwise go to waste from backyards, farmer's fields, packing houses, groves and orchards and deliver the produce to the hungry in the area.

"The amount of backyard fruit that goes to waste is tremendous," he said. "It can be gleaned and sent to people who are in need."

Last year, 80,000 pounds of citrus were gathered and distributed as a result of the drive.

He encourages people to get involved by picking fruit, providing trees to be picked, or bringing fruit to one of three drop-off locations: at First United Methodist Church, located at 206 S. Hopkins Ave. in Titusville; at Suntree United Methodist Church, located at 7400 N. Wickham Road in Melbourne; or at First United Methodist Church, located at 1165 Fay Blvd. in Port St. John.

For more information, contact Mr. DeTorres by calling (321) 403-6144 or emailing runaboutcourier@bellsouth.net.

Task Force challenges Brevard County criminals

GAME OVER unit honored for outstanding service

By Tammy Roberts
Senior Staff Writer
troberts@hometownnewsol.com

For the past four years, one local organization has proven that strength in numbers goes a long way.

The GAME OVER Task Force, which stands for Gangs and Major Epidemic of Violence Enforcement Response, was recognized last month for its growing success in targeting gang-related violence and other forms of violent activity throughout Brevard County.

Its members include law enforcement personnel from several local, state and federal agencies including the Brevard County Sheriff's Office, Cocoa Police Department, Florida Department of Law Enforcement, Melbourne Police Department, Palm Bay Police Department, Rockledge Police Department, Titusville Police Department and the Brevard/Seminole State Attorney's Office.

One of the most visible law enforcement efforts in the area, the task force was honored by Brevard County Sheriff Jack Parker for making more than 700 arrests since it began in March 2008.

Among these offenders were homicide suspects, career criminals, sex offenders, home invasion and robbery suspects, fugitives from justice, as well as some of the "most wanted" individuals in the area.

"I am so proud of the efforts of all involved with this outstanding initiative," said Sheriff Parker in a press release. "The creation of this concept has been one of the most effective and impacting programs developed in recent years to successfully address violent crime."

> "I am so proud of the efforts of all involved with this outstanding initiative."
> Jack Parker
> Sheriff of Brevard County

The concept of the GAME OVER Task Force is a multi-pronged approach that is inclusive of intelligence collection, investigative techniques and technology, said Cmdr. Doug Waller of the Brevard County Sheriff's Office.

"Each local area has identified repeat, suspected perpetrators of violent offenses, who remain free to commit criminal activity," Cmdr. Waller said.

The unit then works alongside the state attorney's offices to prosecute these various individuals for their criminal offenses, he said.

Most recently, the efforts of the task force have led to the arrest of 24-year-old Donald Frans and 22-year-old Brittanie Brown of North Carolina in connection with a multi-state crime spree; 24-year-old Frederick Stevens, who was suspected of parental abduction of his 2-year-old child; and Merritt Island teens Asage and Ashad Strozier, suspected in a crime spree involving several car-jackings and armed robberies in Brevard and Orlando.

"Our goal is to continue to hold violent offenders responsible and ensure repeat offenders are brought back to jail," Sgt. Casey said.

Beyonce gets fly with golden booty named after her

A newly discovered horse fly in Australia was so "bootylicious" there was only one name worthy of its beauty: Beyonce. Previously published results from Bryan Lessard, a 24-year-old researcher at Australia's Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization, were recently announced on the species that had been sitting in a fly collection since it was captured in 1981 — the same year pop diva Beyonce was born. He says he wanted to pay respect to the insect's beauty by naming it Scaptia (Plinthina) beyonceae. Lessard said Beyonce would be "in the nature history books forever" and that the fly now bearing her name is "pretty bootylicious" with its golden backside. "Bootylicious" was the title of a song by Beyonce's group, Destiny's Child. Lessard says he hasn't heard from Beyonce, who recently gave birth to her first child, but he is a fan and hopes she will take his scientific gesture as a compliment. He also said the name was picked to help draw attention to the importance of his field and the need for more researchers to catalog and study insects.

‘Share your Love’ this Valentine’s weekend

Nana’s Children’s Home to host dinner, dance event

By Tammy Roberts
Senior Staff Writer
troberts@hometownnewsol.com

At a time when love is in the air, one nonprofit organization is encouraging residents to open their hearts to local children in need.

Scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 11 at the Crowne Plaza Melbourne Oceanfront in Indialantic, Nana’s House will host its fifth annual Dinner, Dance & Silent Auction event.

The romantic evening, which has a theme of “Share your Love,” will feature dance music by DJ Rick with Anything Under the Stars, a chocolate fountain and desserts from ChocoLicious, fresh fruit from The Produce Place in Suntree and stunning decorations by Nana’s House supporter Marianne Horne.

Guests will also have the opportunity to capture their memorable evening with professional photography by Eric Klasko and have the opportunity to take home a 1/3-karat diamond, courtesy of Gold Buyer by Kelly of Indialantic. For $20 each, guests can purchase a champagne glass filled with sparkling grape juice. Inside 49 of the glasses will be different cuts of Cubic Zirconia, while the diamond will be placed inside one lucky glass.

Items for the silent auction include a $600 “Night on the Town” package from Brevard Limousine Service; a tattoo valued at $300 from Hypnotic Illusion in Melbourne; a $300 fishing charter package; and a $100 Hamburger Package, which will fly two guests to their choice of city for a hamburger.

Other items include a Disney package, featuring two Disney Park Hopper passes; a “Radio DJ” package, featuring a day on the air with 107.1 A1A DJ Timmy V; and a variety of “Date Night” and “Hotel-Stay” packages.

Established in 2009, Nana’s House is a nonprofit, private Christian home for neglected, abused, needy and abandoned children in Brevard County.

With support from the community, what started out as a rundown, foreclosed Palm Bay home with bad plumbing, a damaged roof and old flooring was transformed into a beautiful four-bedroom home with new and donated appliances, flooring, plumbing and furniture.

But today, the facility is more than just a pretty house. It is a safe haven for local children, who can now thrive in a safe, loving home.

“The idea is to provide these kids with a sense of normalcy,” said Kim Frodge of Palm Bay, founder and president of the organization. “They are involved in extra curricular activities and lead healthy, normal lives.”

Currently, Nana’s House is at capacity with five children, each of who will live at the home for a minimum of one year.

The organization receives no state or federal funding and is run entirely by community donations and an all-volunteer staff.

“We are going strong and have housed and cared for a total of nine children in the past two years,” Mrs. Frodge said. “We’re about as charity as charity can get, and the more the community is learning about us, the more they support us. They are truly wonderful.”

Nearly 200 people attended last year’s “Dinner, Dance & Silent Auction” and raised about $20,000 for Nana’s House.

Mrs. Frodge and her team are hoping the same generosity holds true for this year’s fundraiser.

“One-hundred percent of the funds we raise is used to care for the children at Nana’s House,” Mrs. Frodge said. “It pays for medications for the kids, food, electricity, school supplies, etc. Any money that is leftover at the end of the year is transferred to our building fund account, which will be used to build a gated community on a 4-acre parcel of land that will house as many as 40 children at one time.”

The fundraiser will be Saturday, Feb. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Crowne Plaza Melbourne Oceanfront, 2605 N. Highway A1A, Indialantic.

For sponsorship information, tickets or to volunteer with Nana’s House, call Kim Frodge at (321) 266-3829 or visit www.nanaschildrenshome.com.

Tickets are $60 per person or $50 per person for a table of 10. Visit the website for a list of items needed at Nana’s House.

Friends of Nana’s House sponsored a ‘50s dance fundraiser featuring the band Cactus Jack and the Cadillacs, which was one of several fundraising events the nonprofit hosts each year.

Democrats

Ms. McMillen said Brevard Democrats is urging it members to boycott Mr. Paolella’s deli-style sandwich shop, located in the Winn-Dixie shopping mall across from City Hall.

“We’re standing in solidarity with the unions. We sent it out to our members,” Ms. McMillen said. “He is entitled to his disagreements, but what matters is that he is not acting professionally, and it’s uncalled for.”

Members of the public who speak at council meetings are given three minutes, and they address the council with anger, humor and simple commentary. Mr. Paolella spoke in a humorous vein, comparing council members to characters from “The Wizard of Oz,” saying they lacked a heart or a brain.

“He’s entitled to his opinion. But I’m entitled not to give him my business,” Ms. McMillen said.

Ms. McMillen said Brevard Democrats has no plans to boycott other Palm Bay businesses owned by residents who criticize the council’s actions.

by speeches from Chris Ferguson, the commander of Atlantis' final flight, as well as Bill Moore, chief operating officer of the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex; Florida Lt. Gov. Jennifer Carroll; and Jeremy Jacobs, chairman and chief executive officer of Delaware North Companies.

According to the Kennedy Space Center's website, www.kennedyspacecenter.com, the exhibit will be the highlight of the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex's 10-year plan proposed by the complex's operator, Delaware North Companies. It will offer guests an up-close display of Atlantis as if it were traveling in orbit, with open cargo bay doors and an extended Canadarm, the crane-like arm primarily used to transport payloads.

Other interactive mediums and further plans for the exhibit will be revealed in phases as the project continues, said Andrea Farmer, the public relations manager for the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex.

She said the funding for the new home of the orbiter comes from ticket, food and retail sales at the visitor complex.

With regular admission into the park, guests will be able to enjoy the Atlantis exhibit, Ms. Farmer said.

NASA decided to showcase Atlantis at the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex after holding a national competition to determine the display locations of the agency's three space shuttles last April. Endeavor will be housed at the California Science Center in Los Angeles, while Discovery will make its way to Virginia's Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum's Steven F Udvar-Hazy Center.

"In April, we waited with anticipation for the announcement that Atlantis would be making its home right here where it belongs at the Kennedy Space Center," Mr. Jacobs said at the ceremony. "It is an honor to create the home for Space Shuttle Atlantis and to work with NASA to tell its story to the world."

Mr. Ferguson said that Atlantis will serve as a "reminder of the limitless potential of the citizens of the United States of America."

During his speech, he told the crowd that aerospace companies such as The Boeing Company, Lockheed Martin, Space Exploration Technologies and Sierra Nevada Corporation are working to return U.S. astronauts to space by using American-built spacecraft.

"Atlantis' mission in space is over, but its mission to inspire generations of potential space travelers is just beginning," he said. "I would like you all to stay tuned as we turn to the next chapter on the journey that will never end."

Hometown News is back!

PUBLISHER/ C.O.O.
STEVE ERLANGER

Happy 2012. We hope that the new year has started well for you all. After three years of what historians will undoubtedly recognize as the toughest years since the Great Depression, it looks like we have seen the worst and the good times are starting again.

I have written a few columns over the past few months, none of which have been really good columns to write, but it is with a happy heart that I write this one.

Hometown News is back! Back to the growing, successful and happy place we were for the first six and a half years of our existence.

With a lot of sacrifice from all of our team members over the past three years, and a lot of support from my partners, Vernon and Chris Smith, we have managed to survive this run of tough times. I know a lot of pundits have predicted the end of the printed word, and I might have to agree with them if I were in the daily newspaper business, but the strength of the weekly community newspaper has never been greater.

Over the past three years, we have secured more than 170,000 subscribers out of our 240,000 households delivered. Over the course of those same three years, daily newspaper subscriptions have dropped anywhere from 30 percent to 50 percent.

Local, weekly news is what communities are looking for, and there is nowhere they can find more than in America's most honored newspaper group over the past decade, Hometown News.

With this in mind, Hometown News will soon be coming to a few more communities.

Our last expansion was opening up our East Volusia County office with three editions serving the communities along the coast. The next expansion will be to complete our coverage of Volusia with two new newspapers serving the West Volusia markets of Deltona, Orange City, DeBary and DeLand, Lake Helen and Cassadaga. That's right, after years of requests for us to provide quality news for the West Volusia market, here we come!

In an economy where a lot of businesses are still fighting the fight, we are taking the fight to West Volusia.

We are extremely excited about this move into what we

Where is an example for my children?

I have been watching the people who are in the primaries. It reminds me of years ago, I did a painting of President Johnson, 1972 to be exact.

And the painting consisted of a green background with many white crosses.

(President) Johnson was in the foreground with his head down to his waist, and he had that general smirk that he has and his sleeves were rolled up, and there was blood on his hands clear up to his elbows.

In his hands he was holding this: "Dear viewer or fellow human being, is it not time that we start holding politicians responsible for their actions?"

The greatest crime in our society should be the betrayal of the public trust.

This is not a crime of man against man, but a crime in the magnitude of thousands and millions.

The crime of duplicity and deceit is much more grievous than a crime of passion because it is planned and premeditated.

We are the sons and airs of Cain through the actions of men like these. How can we honor them?

This man lied to me and millions like me and now spends his time trying to justify those lies, compounding them as he did and to the irony of it monetarily profiting.

With men of such vanity that they cannot admit their error, perhaps his personal hell is to live a view the consequences of his acts even though the consequences do not affect him.

I am sick and hollow with despair.

Where in all this nation is an example of a good and wholesome person I can look at with pride?

Where is there an example for my children? For my son?

Do not tell me what to do. Show me the way.

Change the domestic violence laws

This is to bless all the victims of domestic violence, the victim's children, the victim's family,

In time, I hope when my power and other people's power of voices with lawyers, with politicians, with lawmakers, with judges, with police officers and with medical staff that we can change some domestic violence laws in this state of Florida.

Domestic violence hurts all ages, all incomes, all races, all around; and it is a silent hurt because most victims will not, and cannot, get the help that is necessary.

And God bless all those who do help domestic violence victims and their families.

The DMV is a waste

The so-called "Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles," whose retarded-cousin employees mostly can't read well enough to pass a driver's test themselves, paid out tax dollars for a website headlining – and put down anything in your hands so you don't smash the screen – "Service, Integrity, Courtesy, Professionalism, Innovation, Excellence."

There has never been a more useless pile of trash, being paid out of our pockets, than the "we are the boss of you, so just sit down and wait while we go have brunch," than the DMV.

And as for "highway safety?" They park side by side in their expensive cars in shopping mall lots while drug dealers blow by at 100 miles an hour.

Service? Yeah, six hours waiting to be told that you have to send off for another piece of paper is real service.

Integrity? Five hundred dollars is the lowest they go for a bribe. When they're already being paid $50,000 a year, out of our pockets, to move a piece of paper from one pile to another.

Courtesy? Don't bust your pants laughing.

Do we even have to address the rest? Well, yes, the "innovation" part. Innovation? These "inbreds" take two hours to compare the one number on your license to one number on a keyboard.

The state needs to save money by cutting services? Hey, here's an easy one.

Eliminate the so-called highway-safety entirely. I don't care if a thousand immigrants are driving. Oxycodone Rush shouldn't be driving either, but he has a butler.

End the DMV cash cow, completely and entirely.

You don't need a "license" to drive. You need a friend to tell you that you're too old, or too blind, or too incapacitated, or that your car needs a checkup.

Cops have never, not once, ever, prevented a vehicle crash, with their sitting-under-the-bridge (with the air conditioner running, at taxpayer expense) and extortion.

But I have personally witnessed the DMV issue a license to a person so old and blind and decrepit that she had to be literally carried to the camera and have her head held in place until she could have her drool wiped off long enough for the picture to be taken.

"We need more money, so we're going to charge you a $100 for driving around the corner to a garage sale without strapping yourself into a choke harness!"

How could anyone sane rant about needing to "cut government spending" by cutting food aid and health care to children, when some tens of billions are going to idiots to do absolutely nothing except shake you down like a mugger with a gun to your head – which, all too often, they literally are – and we are paying them.

Parking fees up at the Port

As someone who takes the cruise ships several times a year, we have always used the parking lot at the port.

When we arrived last week, we were astonished to see that the fee is now raised to $20 per day. Last year it was $15 a day.

For a three-day cruise, paying $60 to simply park a car is ridiculous. No service is provided, except for a parking space.

We found out that the nearby privately-owned cruise parking lots are much cheaper, $5.99 or $7.99 a day.

They not only provide a secure, fenced and lighted area in which to park, but assist with luggage and provide frequent shuttle service to and from the ships.

They look quite busy, and I hope that they keep gaining more customers. If they can make money and provide additional services at a much lower cost, we feel that the Port Authority is taking unfair advantage of those going on the ships. Many passengers are coming from out of the area and are unaware of the alternatives.

OK, they got our $60 last week, but never again. We will support the privately-owned and much less expensive parking options.

Working holidays

I tried very hard to come up with an articulate letter in response to "Feeding the greed" in Rants & Raves, but I just kept coming back to the same question that I would like to ask the writer of that rant. Are you a complete moron?

While you try to align your letter to the "Occupy Whatever Group," using the terms "99 percent against the 1 percent," you clearly are angry at the fact that persons (probably yourself) in retail employment, "had to be at work at 9 p.m. on Thanksgiving" and "others had little time to spend with family who came to enjoy the 'holiday." You end your rant with "You (shoppers) forced employees of those multi-nationals to work. You were as guilty as the 1 percent."

So apparently, by your own words, you believe no one should have to work any part of a holiday; unless, of course, you are really just talking about your Thanksgiving that was ruined, and you didn't think that was right. Either way, I'll put some questions to you, with no expectations of an intelligent response.

Who do think provides police protection, provides fire and rescue protection, provides hospital-based emergency department care, provides in-patient hospital care, provides protection of our liberty from foreign countries, maintains the national electric grid, maintains every aspect of everything you enjoy so much, and do it 24/7/365(including holidays) idiot?

No. It's not specially trained magic elves as you might answer. It's people. People with families. Just like the people in retail. The difference is, these people don't get "inconvenienced" on any given holiday, as you referenced in your rant. They surrender their entire holidays, and holiday seasons, to provide a necessary service to people like you.

So, do us all a favor. You and your "overburdened" buddies quit your abusive retail jobs, and make room for all those who are unemployed that would welcome the chance to take your place. Just do it quickly.

'Ask not' speech

It's been more than 50 years since the famous John F. Kennedy "Ask not" speech, and (President) Kennedy would roll over in his grave if he could see how his fellow Democrats have distorted his vision.

(President) Obama and his cohorts have completely twisted the message so as to tell Americans to "Ask not what you can do for your country, ask what your country can do for you."

We have become the "nanny-state" that JFK railed against.

The speech could not be delivered today, given the way that government has grown into an "It Takes a Village" mentality, where Americans now have expectations that government will provide for them.

Were it uttered by a modern conservative politician, Kennedy's "Ask not" call to service would be derided as an anti-socialist pitch for more personal responsibility.

"Ask not what your country can do for you." I guess this does not apply to the 43 million people on food stamps, 43 million kids getting free food at school, another 9 million on WIC, about 8 million in subsidized housing, 71 million households not paying taxes because of Earned Income Tax Credit and the Child Tax Credit and about 49 million on Medicaid, in addition to the millions getting free service at the hospital emergency rooms. Sources: www.forbes.com/sites/aroy/2011, http://abcnews.go.com/blogs/politics/2011, www.huffingtonpost.com and www.salon.com/2010.

Many people are in their current position because of today's economy, but many of them are there because the government has removed the need for them to be responsible.

Today, all that those people want to know is "What can the taxpayers do for me today?"

We would all be better served if we would not only heed (President) Kennedy's original call to service, but also live our lives in accordance with the final line of his "Ask not" speech: "... with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own." MRSA — a serious staph infection that resists antibiotics. Sharon police Chief Mike Menster says Parker then threatened to infect the cashier if he didn't give Parker money. The chief tells The Herald newspaper of Sharon, "It's our first case of robbery by threat of an infectious disease." Police say Parker left when the cashier refused, but was arrested a short time later based on his description. Parker remained in jail Wednesday.

TV station covers Ohio bribery trial with puppets

It's "Sesame Street" meets the unseemly side of politics. With cameras barred from a high-profile corruption trial, a television station has puppets acting out the sometimes steamy testimony about hookers, gambling and sexually transmitted diseases. In one scene, a furry hand stuffs cash down the shirt of a puppet prostitute. "I'm horrified," a laughing anchorwoman said after a segment shown this week on WOIO, a CBS affiliate in Cleveland, where the trial of longtime Democratic power broker Jimmy Dimora is the talk of the town. The station's news director brought up the idea of using the puppets to lampoon the trial and give a glimpse of what's happening in the federal courtroom. Because cameras aren't allowed, other stations have relied on artist sketches of the proceedings and videos of Dimora walking into court with his wife and defense team. "It's a satirical look at the trial and, again, I think we have it appropriately placed at the end of the newscast," WOIO news director Dan Salamone said Thursday. The puppets are in addition to the station's regular coverage of the trial of Dimora, a former Cuyahoga County Commissioner and county Democratic chairman who has pleaded not guilty to bribery and racketeering. "It's not intended in any way to replace any of the serious coverage," Salamone said. The station has enlisted a local puppet company to put on the skit. It calls the tongue-in-cheek segment "The Puppet's Court." "The testimony is real. The puppets are not," says smirking anchor Danielle Serino. A talking, buck-toothed squirrel "reporter" provides the play-by-play in an exaggerated, "you won't believe this" tone. A black-robed puppet sits at the judge's bench. And in the jury box, the puppets yawn during the trial.

Violinist Suliman Tekalli, a Daytona Beach native, performs with the Space Coast Symphony Jan. 28 and Feb. 5.

Violinist Suliman Tekalli is a native of Daytona Beach. When he was 3, the family moved to Orlando and he began studying the violin. In an interview last year, he spoke about how he got his start.

"My sister Jamila was three years older and already on the piano," he said. "My mother thought it would be nice if both children were involved in music.

"She chose the violin. I began going to the Suzuki Institute and they gave me a shoe box with strings. I knew it wasn't a real violin and I refused to play until they gave me a real one."

The young protégé made his professional debut at 16 with the Orlando Philharmonic and studied at Juilliard. He was a student of Sergiu Schwartz at Columbus State University and Georgia and is working on a master's degree at the Cleveland Institute of Music, studying with Joel Smirnoff, the school's president.

Mr. Tekalli made his debut with the Space Coast Symphony last year. He returns on Jan. 28 and Feb. 5, when he will play Prokofiev's Violin Concert No. 1. Also on the program are Prokofiev's Suite from "The Love of Three Oranges" and Respighi's masterworks, "Fountains of Rome" and "Pines of Rome."

Mr. Tekalli phoned from the airport in Philadelphia, where he was awaiting a flight back to Cleveland. He had just auditioned for an artist management company, the next step in his blossoming he career. He spoke about the Prokofiev as he waited.

"Prokofiev is known more for piano concertos," he said. "He was a virtuoso pianist. When he did write for the violin, it was a special occasion."

Prokofiev began the work soon after graduating from the conservatory in Russia and envisioned a smaller work.

"The more he worked on it, the more it started to take on more significance," Mr. Tekalli said. "The first theme you hear is a very beautiful melody, a shimmering

Surfside Players presents 'Grease'

Here is Rydell High's senior class of 1959: duck-tailed, hot-rodding T-Birds and their gum-snapping, hip-shaking Pink Ladies in bobby sox and pedal pushers, evoking the look and sound of the 1950s in this rollicking musical.

Head "greaser" Danny Zuko and new (good) girl Sandy Dumbrowski try to relive the high romance of their "Summer Nights" as the rest of the gang sings and dances its way through such songs as "Greased Lightnin'," "It's Raining on Prom Night" and "Alone at the Drive-In Movie," recalling the music of Buddy Holly, Little Richard and Elvis Presley that became the soundtrack of a generation.

An eight-year run on Broadway and two subsequent revivals, along with innumerable school and community productions place this among the world's most popular musicals.

Now the original high school musical is coming to Surfside, with choreography by Renaissance Arts Academy artistic director Christopher D. Kirby and musical direction by McNair Middle School choral director Lisa Hill.

"Grease" will be presented at Surfside Playhouse, 301 Ramp Road, Cocoa Beach, through Sunday, Feb. 5, three weekends on Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $20 for adults, $18 for seniors and active military and $15 for students. Caution: Contains strong language and adult situations.

"Grease" is presented by special arrangement with Samuel French Inc. (www.samuelfrench.com) with songs from the Broadway revival presented by special arrangement with Warner/Chappell Music and Crompton Songs.

Book, music and lyrics are by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey. It is directed and choreographed by Christopher D. Kirby with musical direction by Lisa Hill.

For more information, call (321) 783-3127 or visit www.surfsideplayers.com.

'Pump Boys and Dinettes'

This mix of music, comedy and theater will run through Sunday, Feb. 5, at the Henegar Center in Melbourne.

The presentations will be 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 2 p.m. Sundays.

Cost is $22 for adults and $20 for seniors.

The Henegar Center is at 625 E. New Haven Ave., Melbourne.

STAR SCOPES
James Tucker
Week of 1-27-2012

Aries-March 21-April 19
You represent the highest aspirations in human life. The universe chose you to begin the human parade and journey. You give us strength, endurance, sure-footedness, wisdom, spirit, great heart, generosity, and direction. Wow! You have the supreme blessing of spirit and you give it right back. Are we all blessed or what?

Taurus-April 20-May 20
"Keep on the sunny side," as Mother Maybelle Carter used to say. Make a plan and work your plan. Life always presents challenges. How you react makes all the difference. Make the best of it. This way, you have no regrets. Your life is well lived. Keep a lighter touch and continue to move on and up to your higher dreams.

Gemini-May 21-June 21
Life is filled with opportunities and challenges. The starting point is to live within your means and make the best of what you have right now. Then, locate areas that need to be improved and work on these. Move things forward a little each day until you see change happening. Then go all out and see splendid results.

Cancer-June 22-July 22
Your mind, heart and spirit are working in harmony now. Now is a good time to move your best ideas forward. Listen to your deeper urges, make decisions and take action. Just wait until it feels right. Then go all out, keep your spirit up and winning is assured.

Leo-July 23-Aug. 22
Leos are high spirited. The lion roars where others fear to tread. This unparalleled spirit and great courage moves you toward success in all adventures. You may strike out occasionally but you never give up. The term "lion hearted" is true. It keeps your wit honed to a razor's edge. There is no stopping you now.

Virgo-Aug. 23-Sept. 22
Think before you act. Your kind nature is a wonderful gift, but it will also drag you down and burn you out, unless you take care of your own physical, mental, emotional and spiritual needs as well. Think twice before you jump into things. Get a second opinion.

'Pines of Rome,' and more

Aaron Collins and the Space Coast Symphony Orchestra return to Merritt Island to present "Pines of Rome" on Saturday, Jan. 28 at 6 p.m. at the Merritt Island High School Auditorium.

The auditorium is located off Courtenay Parkway at 100 E. Mustang Way, Merritt Island.

The concert opens with Prokofiev's witty and endearing music from his opera, "The Love of Three Oranges."

Next, violinist Suliman Tekalli, who has entertained at the White House and throughout North and South America, will mesmerize audiences with his technical and lyric mastery of Prokofiev's "Violin Concerto No. 1."

The concert's second half will treat Central Florida audiences to two sonic masterpieces, "Fountains of Rome" and "Pines of Rome." Respighi's "soundtrack" to life in Rome captures everything from the harmonies of nature to the boisterous commotion of festivals.

Featuring an enlarged orchestra, these two larger-than-life works are rarely

The PGK Dance Project returns to Melbourne

Quick off the heels of a successful tour to Boston that included a week long residency incorporating local dancers from Boston Conservatory, Harvard Dance and Salem State University into performances of "Where & When" at The Boston Center for the Arts, The PGK Dance Project's "Love is Gone" Tour hits Florida.

Since relocating to San Diego in 2002, via Munich/New York City, The PGK Dance Project has been an innovator in dance performance, developing opportunities for and presenting other artists, and developing audiences for dance.

The PGK Dance Project brings the ""Love is Gone' The TOUR" to the Henegar Center for the Arts in historic downtown Melbourne on Friday, Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m.

The PGK Dance Project has toured worldwide the last 19 years to critical acclaim for its innovative programming, repurposing spaces for dance and presenting dance in unexpected ways and places.

This program will also

Is this what I really want? Your heart knows. Are you listening?

Libra-Sept. 23-Oct. 22
You were born to be a healer, counselor and teacher, living a serene, compassionate life. Yours is a rich, full life. Your high position and authority comes from your high heart and universal vision. You are always thinking of new ways to serve and help others.

Scorpio-Oct. 23-Nov. 21
The time is coming to carry out new plans. Fine tune your life. When you know what you really want, the doors will open. Take care of details. Your wonderful heart, strong will and determination lead you. You never give up. Stay focused on the top priorities and your visions will bring you safely home to victory.

Sagittarius-Nov. 22-Dec. 21
You continue to grow. Why? Because you face each life challenge with courage and determination. Your tenacity is great. You are more centered, which is the true nature of a positive Sagittarian. You are happier. You are much more open. When you are happy, you make others happy.

Capricorn-Dec. 22-Jan. 19
Compassion, along with a strong sense of humor, best describes your attitude toward life. You have high ideals. You make friends with everyone you meet. You expect the best in yourself and others. You are so much fun to be around.

Aquarius-Jan. 20-Feb.18
You have a deep sense of direction and destiny. Your visions are strong and keep coming. More are on the way. The purpose you feel in your spirit that keeps you focused and moving forward says everything. Keep listening. Stay sharp by honing your tools.

Pisces-Feb. 19-March 20
You always demonstrate a great sense of responsibility. Yours is the truest and deepest heart, along with the greatest conscience. All this majestic heart and spirit will not work well unless you set your own limits and needs.

violin tremolo inspired by his love interest at the time. He was infatuated and was thinking about eloping, but it didn't work out. He even wrote about it in his diary."

The small work grew into a larger piece with three movements.

"There's a lot of fantasy in his music that can be quite passionate," the violinist said. "There are extremely contrasting sections. The beautiful first melody is followed by Prokofiev's particular brand of sarcasm. The section has to be played as if the violinist is trying to convince someone of something."

Mr. Tekalli first heard the concerto when he was very young.

"There is a particular dryness in his humor, as well as a breath-taking beauty to his music, that made his music so interesting to me. It always put me on the edge of my seat to listen to his music.

"Right when you're feeling comfortable, it turns and goes down another path, but at the end, it comes together and makes sense."

For the artist, the twists and turns of the music echo his own life as he seeks to bring his career to a new level.

"This is the beginning of my campaign towards finding (artistic) management," he said. "It's a very exciting period in my life."

Suliman Tekalli performs with the Space Coast Symphony Orchestra on Jan. 28 at Merritt Island High School Auditorium, 100 Mustang Way, at 6 p.m. and on Feb. 5 at Trinity Episcopal Church. 2365 Pine Ave., Vero Beach, at 3 p.m. For ticket information, visit www.spacecoastsymphony.org. or call (321) 536-8580.

Garlic chicken and fresh tart

ROMANCING THE STOVE
with the Grammy Guru
ARLENE BORG

Hello smart shoppers. Today we're making my daughter's favorite birthday dinner: garlic chicken and a fresh fruit tart.

Chicken is the most versatile of meats. It's low-fat, (sans skin) inexpensive and delicious. Even when whole chickens are not on sale it's a good deal; they're always under $1 a pound.

Remove the bag inside the body of the chicken. (You did know there is a bag of giblets such as neck, gizzard, heart and liver in the chicken? Don't laugh and please don't feel insulted. I knew someone who thought the chicken came already stuffed.)

Rinse the inside of the chicken and remove any fat you can. Soak chicken in cold, salted water for about 1 hour; this is called "bleeding the chicken," and gives the meat a fresh taste.

I found the recipe years ago, it requires 40 cloves of garlic. OK, pick yourself up off the floor, that wasn't a typo, I did say 40. You can cut it down to 20 cloves, but no less. Remember, the longer you cook garlic, the milder the flavor gets. The chicken will barely have a garlicky taste. I will give you the original recipe and my low-fat, low-cholesterol version.

Enjoy! See you next week.

GARLIC CHICKEN
serves 3 to 4

1 whole chicken, 4-5 pounds
Salt and pepper
40 cloves garlic, unpeeled
3/4-cup dry white wine
1/2-cup chicken broth
1/2-cup heavy cream, fat-free half and half or evaporated skim milk, (undiluted)

Follow soaking instructions. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper and place in roasting pan. Put garlic cloves all around chicken, placing a few in the body cavity. Add wine to pan.

Place chicken in a pre-heated, 450-degree oven. Lower heat to 350 and roast for at least 1 hour, basting occasionally until skin is browned and crisp.

Place on serving platter, remove any cloves from cavity. Remove all cloves from pan using a slotted spoon and place in a small bowl. Scrape up any browned pieces in pan and pour drippings into a medium saucepan. De-fat by tossing in several ice cubes. Let sit until fat clings to the remaining cubes, at which time you will remove them with a slotted spoon and discard.

Peel half the garlic and add to the saucepan along with the chicken broth. Smash the cloves with a spoon or whisk. Bring to a low boil. If you prefer a thickened gravy, (I do), whisk in some shaker flour (such as Wondra) until a little thicker than you would like. Whisk in cream or alternative and heat through, do not let boil. Serve with chicken.

The remaining garlic cloves are served to be popped out of their skins and spread on crusty rolls or bread. Incredible! Add mashed potatoes and any green vegetable you choose.

FRUIT TART (NIB)

One of my daughter's favorite things is a fruit tart made with both fresh and canned fruits. On occasion I make it for her birthday.

You can use a frozen pie crust or a sweet pastry crust made in a 9 or 10-inch fluted tart pan with a push-up bottom.

SWEET PASTRY DOUGH

1 cup all-purpose flour
1/4-cup sugar
1/2-teaspoon baking powder
Dash of salt
1/2-cup slivered almonds, optional
4 tablespoons unsalted butter
1 egg, lightly beaten

For easy preparation I use a food processor. Process first 5 ingredients. Add butter and pulse until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add the egg and pulse until just moistened. Turn dough onto floured surface and knead 3 times. Roll into ball and refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour.

Break off small pieces of dough and press into pan covering bottom and sides. Prick all over with a fork to prevent shrinkage.

Bake in a pre-heated 375-degree oven for 20 minutes. Set aside; let cool.

FILLING

I prefer a Bavarian cream filling by adding 1 teaspoon brandy to a large, prepared package of cook-and-serve-style vanilla pudding. Pour into cooled shell and chill for at least 1 hour.

TOPPING

1/2-pint fresh strawberries, sliced top down
1-2 ripe kiwi fruit, peeled and sliced
1 large banana, peeled, sliced and dipped in lemon juice
1 can sliced peaches, drained
1/2-cup apple jelly

Circle fruit around crust, set upright at a 45-degree angle overlapping slightly. Create any design you choose; strawberries, kiwi, bananas, peaches, etc., repeating as needed.

Melt jelly in microwave until warm. Lightly brush over fruits, refrigerate and serve.

NOTE: Any fruit may be used.

King of Peace

RELIGION
SCOTT ELLIOTT

It is hard to believe that less than half a century ago, in America, whites were by law entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to the detriment of African Americans rights to the same thing. It's painful to remember, it is so awful.

Whites were at liberty to shop and eat and drink and swim and study where they wanted, blacks were not. Whites were at liberty to pursue happiness in any trade or profession or school or relationship or marriage they wanted, blacks were not. Whites even took away black lives to maintain their sense of white supremacy.

Less than half a century ago, in America, blacks were by law considered unequal and treated as such, thereby violating and ignoring the self-evident truth declared in 1776 that all humans are created equal.

So, despite our nation's founders' claim that our nation answered God's call to consider all created equal and have the unalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuant of happiness, our nation let the elitist call to white supremacy through and left God on call waiting.

So God got on another line and dialed and dialed and dialed. For decades God called.

Many people heard the call, but at first only a few answered. Today the most well known of those who answered is the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. because he did something remarkable about it. Like the prophets in the Bible he took action against oppression.

Lots of people have taken action against oppression, but most rebels in history have resorted to violence. Jesus and the Rev. King, however, did something else entirely. They took the Old and New Testament commandments to "Love your neighbor as yourself," and applied it to everyone, including those who hated them. They used love as a force.

The Rev. King, relying on Jesus, advocated for non-violence — and by that he did not mean doing nothing.

Ignoring injustice is not how Jesus' "love everyone" works. Jesus declared that he was sent to "bring good news to the poor . . . proclaim release to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free."

This is what Jesus worked (and works) toward, this is what He stands for.

Jesus' form of non-violence is love-filled, but resistance-laced and oppression-ending oriented.

In other words, the end goal is peace, and the means to get there is love.

In John's Gospel, peace is what Jesus gives to us and leaves with us.

"Blessed are the peacemakers," Jesus notes in his "Sermon on the Mount" is the personal reward that is ours when we take his gift of peace and use it. Jesus is telling us to answer God when God calls.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. did just that. He applied Jesus' non-violent, love-filled, but resistance-laced and oppression-ending oriented theology and it worked, proving that what Jesus taught is possible to do in the modern world and apply.

It is great that we have a secular holiday that honors the Rev. King, but what he did, he did as an instrument of God. And what a blessing it was.

Annual 'Shop With a Cop' program

Recently, the Brevard County Sheriff's Office and the Brevard County Police Athletic League hosted the Fifth Annual "Shop with a Cop" program at the Merritt Island Wal-Mart and Merritt Island Target.

"Shop with a Cop" is an outreach program to benefit underprivileged children between the ages of three and 15 who are at risk due to their current economic situation, their environment and other factors.

Each year, Brevard County Sheriff's Office deputies and employees volunteer to shop with the children who are provided with a Wal-Mart or Target gift card.

Nearly $6,000 was donated by community supporters for the event that enables children to buy gifts for themselves and their families.

This year 61 children had the opportunity to participate in the program and interact with law enforcement in a positive setting.

For more information, visit the Brevard County Sheriff's Office at www.brevardsheriff.com.

NASA Mars-bound rover begins research in space

NASA's car-sized Curiosity rover has begun monitoring space radiation during its eight-month trip from Earth to Mars.

The research will aid in planning for future human missions to the "Red Planet."

Curiosity launched on Nov. 26 from Cape Canaveral, aboard the Mars Science Laboratory.

The rover carries an instrument called the Radiation Assessment Detector that monitors high-energy atomic and subatomic particles from the sun, distant supernovas and other sources.

These particles constitute radiation that could be harmful to any microbes or astronauts in space or on Mars.

The rover also will monitor radiation on the surface of Mars after its August 2012 landing.

These first measurements mark the start of the science return from a mission that will use 10 instruments on Curiosity to assess whether Mars' Gale Crater could be or has been favorable for microbial life.

Information about the mission is available at http://www.nasa.gov/msl.

You can also follow the mission on Facebook and Twitter at http://www.facebook.com/marscuriosity or http://www.twitter.com/marscuriosity.

Brevard County unveils new Website

While the Brevard County Board of County Commissioners website was already filled with information that citizens want and need from their local government — in fact, the site has won Sunny Awards for the past two years from the national Sunshine Review for its transparency — the Website has now been revamped to include beautiful photos of the area, a more user-friendly interface and a calendar with easily viewable differences between meetings and events.

When users first arrive at the website, they will see the tabs across the top that let them select which category they belong to.

If they are Brevard County residents, the topics and services that they are likely seeking will be listed under that tab.

If they are visitors, whether tourists or someone seeking to relocate, the common topics of interest to that group are listed under that section.

Business representatives will find the services and information most appropriate to them under that category.

The e-government tab provides access to services which can be requested, paid for or reserved online; as well as opportunities to provide feedback or report a problem.

The Contact tab offers the traditional list of departments, for those who are familiar with the previous website, as well as links to various ways to communicate with the county: email, telephone numbers, Facebook and Twitter.

This is Phase One of the new website, as just a half-dozen county departments have been upgraded to the new look.

Phase Two, moving the remaining departments to the new design as quickly as resources allow, will be completed next year.

The design and development was all done in-house by Information Technology Department employees using a database-driven content management software, Sitefinity by Telerik.

Library Services had an immediate need to move their externally hosted website at www.brev.org because it was outdated and difficult to maintain, so they assisted with the purchase of an upgrade to the software, at a cost of $20,000, enabling the entire county to transition more quickly and easily.

The website URL is www.brevardcounty.us.

Florida Tech student-athletes earn degrees

Florida Tech President Anthony J. Catanese presented degrees to 20 student-athletes during a recent fall commencement ceremony at the Clemente Center.

The graduates represented 10 separate athletic programs. A list of FIT's newest student-athlete alumni can be found below.

About 1,340 candidates earned degrees at the commencement.

The graduates came from 45 countries — from Antigua to Zimbabwe — and from 27 states in the United States.

Local authors recognized in national book contest

The 2011 Stars and Flags Book Award Program has announced that authors Lee and Vista Boyland of Melbourne were awarded the gold medal in General Fiction for their book, "Pirates and Cartels."

In the book, drug cartels have invaded America's southern border states and are attempting to take over Mexico, gangs in the U.S. are out of control and Somali pirates team with Jihadists to take a small ocean liner.

The new U.S. president is faced with these difficult tasks. See how he deals with his country in this adventurist thriller.

A national contest, the Stars and Flags Book Awards program, was established four years ago with the task of promoting books which have a connection to the military.

Many of the judges are veterans themselves, including historians, teachers and avid readers.

Anyone interested in the program can find more information at www.starsandflags.com or by emailing nancysentertainment@yahoo.com.

NASA Commercial Crew Program agreements

NASA has announced a modified competitive procurement strategy to keep on track the agency's plan to hzzave U.S. companies transport American astronauts into space instead of outsourcing this work to foreign governments.

Instead of awarding contracts for the next phase of the Commercial Crew Program, the agency plans to use multiple, competitively awarded Space Act Agreements.

Using competitive Space Act Agreements instead of contracts will allow NASA to maintain a larger number of partners during this phase of the program, with the flexibility to adjust technical direction, milestones and funding.

This competitive Space Act solicitation is separate from the work being carried out under existing Space Act Agreements.

The new competition will focus on an overall system design rather than single technology activities.

For more information about NASA's Commercial Crew Program, call (321) 867-2497, email candrea.k.thomas@nasa.gov or visit www.nasa.gov/commercialcrew.

Viera East Ladies 9-Hole Golf Association Christmas luncheon

In December, the Viera East Ladies 9-Hole Golf Association celebrated its annual Christmas luncheon at the Black Tulip restaurant in Cocoa Village.

In lieu of grab bag gifts, the ladies contributed a donation of $135 to Toys for Tots.

The "singing golfers" entertained the 28 members who attended with Sue Buttner at the piano. Sue helped substitute golf lingo to some Christmas carols such as "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" to "We Wish You'd Take Some Golf Lessons, We Wish You'd Take Some Lessons."

Wuesthoff hosts Brevard's first orthopedic robotic arm total hip surgery

Wuesthoff Health System has announced that its Melbourne hospital is once again the first in Brevard County to offer an innovative robotic surgical option.

This time it's with MAKOplasty Hip, total hip replacement surgery performed using the RIO system, a highly advanced, surgeon-controlled robotic arm that enables the accurate alignment and positioning of implants.

The surgery was performed on Friday, Dec. 16, at Wuesthoff Medical Center-Melbourne by orthopedic surgeon Daniel L. King, M.D.

The goal of using robotic arm technology to perform hip replacement is to attain consistent precision in surgery. Accurate placement and alignment of implant components are a critical factor in hip replacement.

Like other total hip replacement procedures, MAKOplasty Hip may be a treatment option for people who suffer from either non-inflammatory or inflammatory degenerative joint disease.

For more information about MAKOplasty please call (800) 522-6363.

BPS announces Preferred Health Centers partnership

Brevard Public Schools has announced its own network of Preferred Health Centers for employees, retirees and covered dependents.

This partnership allows members who participate in the BPS Health Plan, administered by Cigna, to access high-quality, affordable medical care for illnesses, injuries or accidents that are not life threatening but require prompt medical attention.

This network of PHCs saves participating members time and money while keeping emergency rooms free to handle more serious situations.

Brevard Public Schools employs more than 9,000 employees and provides health benefits for more than 13,000 employees, retirees and dependents.

More information on the Preferred Health Centers may be found at http://benefits.brevard.k12.fl.us/Benefits.htm.

Sheriff's Office "Bikes for Tykes" program

In December, the Brevard County Sheriff's Office held its sixth annual "Bikes for Tykes" holiday donation program.

This event was established in 2006 at the Sheriff's Inmate Work Farm and uses inmate labor to refurbish donated, abandoned or unclaimed bicycles.

Titusville and Melbourne Wal-Mart stores also donated an additional 114 new bicycles.

This year, 280 bicycles were donated to the Brevard County Sharing Centers and the National Veterans Homeless Support program.

The bicycles were also presented to parents who otherwise could not afford

I am hardly working … I mean working hard at the golf show

GOLF
JAMES STAMMER

The week that many of us golf media nuts call "The Most Wonderful Time of the Year" is upon us once again. As you read this, I am hard at work attending the 2012 PGA Merchandise Show in Orlando.

I have a much better feeling about this year's show than I've had going into shows the past few years. Last year, there were just over 900 exhibitors on-hand. This year the list should top 1,200. That is a huge jump, and a good sign for the golf economy.

Titleist will be back for the first time in a half decade. Rife Putters, the No. 1 flat stick on the Champions Tour, will be back after a few years away. Taylor Made continues to exhibit, and will have the largest area at the show.

Best of all, Tour Edge has brought back its Media Day to kick off the show week. After a two-year hiatus, the event that gets us all in a great mood for a fantastic week has returned. It's not just a good thing for us, but a great sign from one of my favorite companies.

Last year was a little scary. The aisles were made wider and there were food and drink concessions on the show floor. That is something we'd never seen before. I hope they still have the food close by and the aisles are just as wide. It was nice to not have to run outside to grab a bite, or bump into a dozen people at every turn.

As important as the show is for the major manufacturers, it is more important for the little guys. This is where many of the smaller guys get the majority of their orders. Without big money to market their products, they use the show to get the word out and find buyers they would have otherwise missed. It will be nice to see how many have returned and how many new ones are giving it a shot.

Another good sign that our game is coming back is the number of invites I've received to small parties, dinners and other media gatherings. Years ago, I used to have to pass up several because there were simply too many to choose from. For the last few years, finding an outing, party or dinner to attend has been as difficult as picking the winning lottery numbers. This year I've found something to do nearly every night.

Alas, there is work to be done, and do it I shall. After Tuesday's Tour Edge event, the show officially began with a huge demo day at Orange County National Golf Club on Wednesday. Here I had the opportunity to test out a wide variety of equipment, seeing how it all performed in my humble hands.

On Thursday morning the real work began. I have trudged up and down every aisle at the Orange County Convention Center. I searched high and low, as well as near and far to find items and news worthy of your attention.

I have been hitting and testing all kinds of clubs, trying out teaching aides, and talking to company representatives in an effort to find the best of these items and then report my findings to you.

Usually manufacturers have plans to introduce their latest equipment this week. They have us try them and let them know how they compare to their competition's latest wares and then hold their breath waiting to see how kind our reviews are.

While in town I will be playing some golf as well. I'll be visiting three courses in the area and will report back to you whether or not they are worth a look.

I know you want to thank me for the tireless work I put in this week at the show, but, please, hold the applause. I do this because of the deep love in my heart for our game. Sometimes one must make sacrifices for the good of the sport and the needs of his fans.

Now if you'll excuse me, I must to get back to work. Now where did I set my cigar? Can someone please bring me a cold beer? Hey, who turned down the thermostat on the hot tub? Is it just me or is that 50" television a little too big? Hello, room service?

James Stammer has been an avid golfer and golf enthusiast for nearly 40 years. He hosts the Thursday Night Golf Show on WSTU 1450-AM. Contact him at stammergolf@yahoo.com.

one for their children over the holiday season.

To date, more than 3,372 bicycles have been donated to charities from this program.

In partnership with Waste Management, "Bikes for Tykes" also receives discarded bicycles that would otherwise be taken to the county landfill.

Any citizen who would like to participate in this Waste Management service can place unwanted bicycles by the curb on their scheduled trash pick-up day. The bicycles will be transferred to the Sheriff's Work Farm to be refurbished.

Donations can also be made directly to the program by dropping off unwanted bicycles at any of the Sheriff's Office Precincts or the Sheriff's Work Farm.

Sponsorships and tickets now available for 'Cattle Barons' Ball'

The American Cancer Society's annual "Cattle Barons' Ball," presented by Lexus of Melbourne, is Saturday, March 10, at the Hilton Melbourne Rialto in Melbourne.

The event raises funds to support "Reaching Out to Cancer Kids" camp. This year's theme is "Diamond and Sapphire Ball" and is expected to raise $115,000 to fund cancer-related programs nationally in Brevard County.

Sponsorships begin at $500 ,and individual tickets are $125.

Guests can enjoy gourmet Western chow, live music by The Last Chance Band, a chance to bid on live and silent auctions, participate in midway games, enjoy line dancing and more. The event is black-tie Western.

Volunteers are also needed to provide their time and talent to ensure this year's Cattle Barons' Ball is a success.

Space is limited at the Cattle Barons' Ball, so purchase tickets today.

To register or to learn more, please contact Marty Eyster at (321) 253-0361, Ext. 5755, or email marty.eyster@cancer.org.

Lynda L. Weatherman reappointed to board of directors

Lynda L. Weatherman, president and chief executive officer of the Economic Development Commission of Florida's Space Coast, Rockledge, has been reappointed to the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta's Jacksonville Branch. Her term runs through Dec. 31, 2014.

Ms. Weatherman has served in her current position since 1994.

From 1991 to 1994, she served as executive director of the city of Titusville's Economic Development Department, and in 1991 was an independent contractor for the Hong Kong Trade Fair Group.

She is a member of the boards of directors of the Brevard Workforce Development Board and the Florida High Tech Corridor Council.

Other affiliations include Enterprise Florida Partner Council and National Space Club Florida Committee.

She is also an active member of CivMil, which raises funds for military and civilian causes.

Ms. Weatherman received a bachelor's degree in social sciences/education from the University of South Florida, a master's degree in economic development from the University of Southern Mississippi and a master's degree in international and urban planning from the University of Hong Kong, the later under a Rotarian scholarship.

She received the 2011 Eunice Sullivan Economic Development Professional of the Year, the 2007 NASA Distinguished Public Service Medal and the 2006 Palm Bay Business Leader of the Year awards.

Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta branch directors provide economic information on their industry and the branch territory to the district bank's president and head office directors, who use the information in formulating monetary policy and making discount rate recommendations.

The Federal Reserve Board of Governors in Washington, D.C., appoints three of the Jacksonville Branch directors, and the Atlanta head office directors appoint four.

Ms. Weatherman was reappointed by the Board of Governors.

Wuesthoff goes mobile with smartphone app

Wuesthoff Health System officials have announced that they are reaching out to patients in the growing mobile market through a partnership with a healthcare application that lets users quickly and easily look up medical symptoms and find the closest healthcare providers from any location.

According to the latest Nielsen survey, 40 percent of mobile users in the United States own a smartphone, and more consumers than ever before are turning to their mobile devices to access healthcare information, at home and on the road.

Launching the application allows Wuesthoff to instantly connect with residents and visitors in Brevard County when they need healthcare information.

Arts notes

'Eau Gallie Squares' exhibition

The Fifth Avenue Art Gallery presents its member show "Eau Gallie Squares."

All work is in 12-inch, 24-inch, or 36-inch squares in different mediums, representing a wide variety of subject matter. The inspiration in the area is unlimited.

The exhibit runs through Jan. 31.

The Fifth Avenue Art Gallery is artist-owned and -operated.

The gallery is at 1470 Highland Ave., in the Eau Gallie Arts District of Melbourne, across the street from the Brevard Museum of Art.

For more information, call (321) 259-8261 or visit www.fifthavenueartgallery.com.

'Art of Giving' special show and fundraiser

The Art Gallery of Viera at The Avenue has a very special show planned.

Friend and talented member, Melissa Brooks, has Hodgkin's lymphoma.

More than 50 local professional artists have donated their artwork to enable the gallery to hold a fundraiser on Melissa's behalf.

Even better, the gallery is taking no commission on this art, instead discounting the prices 35 percent as an incentive to the public to support the cause. All of the proceeds will go directly to Ms. Brooks.

The show will run through Feb. 4.

Ms. Brooks will be the featured artist of the month in January, so the public will be treated to a special display of her work as well.

The Art Gallery of Viera is at 2250 Town Center Ave., The Avenue Viera.

For more information, call (321) 536-7773 or email BobbiQBrown@hotmail.com.

'Cactus Flower' at the Melbourne Civic Theatre

"Cactus Flower" is a hilarious romantic comedy which follows Julian Winston, a middle-aged Park Avenue dentist and bachelor, who, to dodge commitment, tells his much younger girlfriend, Toni, that he is married.

When Toni demands to meet his wife, he recruits his prickly nurse to play the part; and love blossoms in the most unexpected places.

"Cactus Flower" premiered on Broadway in December 1965, where it was one of the biggest hits of the decade, playing 1,234 performances and starred Lauren Bacall.

It was then made into a blockbuster movie, directed by Gene Zaks, which introduced Goldie Hawn and also starred Walter Matthau and Ingrid Bergman.

The show stars Randy Caldwell, Amber Prine, Tracey Thompson, Michael Paul, Gordon Ringer, Linda Lawson, Pete Jackson, Tynan Pruett, Karl Rehm and Chandler McRee.

The creative team behind "Cactus Flower" is Peg Girard, director; Caroline Osborne, set designer; Alan Selby, technical director and light designer; Wendy Reader, sound designer; and Alice Henning, costume designer.

The show runs through Sunday, Feb. 26.

Shows will be every, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m.

The Melbourne Civic Theatre, LeGallerie Plaza, is at 817 E. Strawbridge Ave., Melbourne.

Feel free to call the Melbourne Civic Theatre if you have any questions at (321) 723-6935 or email info@mymct.org.

Unique photography of ancient Parthenon at EGAD! Art Lab

The art exhibition "No Stone Unturned / Photography by Josh Garrick" runs through Sunday, Feb. 12 at the EGAD! Art Lab, 1405 Highland Ave., Melbourne.

Mr. Garrick's black-and-white images document the re-construction of the iconic Parthenon in Athens, Greece. Garrick was privileged to be the only American allowed by the Greek Ephorate of Antiquities to photograph this hallowed building from the roof and scaffolding during the rebuilding.

Call EGAD! Art Lab at (321) 258-2119 for more information.

Watercolor workshop at Art Gallery of Viera

Karlyn Holman, author of "Watercolor The Spirit of Spontaneity," "Watercolor Without Boundaries" and "Watercolor, Fun and Free" is coming to the Art Gallery of Viera.

The Watercolor Fun and Free workshops will focus on helping cultivate a loose painting style with individual help, sending you home with finished paintings.

The workshops welcome beginners, but also offer the experienced watercolorist advanced skills and problem solving.

The workshops will be Jan. 27-29. Cost is $275.

The Art Gallery of Viera is at 2271 Town Center Ave., Suite 101, Space 400, Viera.

To see Ms. Holman's work, go to karlynholman.com.

To register, call (401) 596-4266 or email susan@jusancolestone.com.

For more information about the gallery, visit www.artgalleryofviera.com or call (321) 504-4343.

Last weekend for 'Twelve Angry Men' at the playhouse

This 1954 play depicts the trial of a young man accused of murdering his father.

A guilty verdict will be accompanied by a mandatory death sentence.

The 12-man jury is forced to reconsider its, nearly, unanimous decision by the single dissenter who sows a seed of reasonable doubt.

Several of the jurors have different reasons for discriminating against the witness: his race, his background and the troubled relationship between one juror and his own son.

The play concludes this weekend at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

Cost is $16 for orchestra seating, and $14 for balcony, with a $2 discount for seniors, students and military.

The Titusville Playhouse is at 301 Julia St., Titusville.

For more information, visit www.Titusvilleplayhouse.com or call (321) 268-1125.

10th Anniversary Art Show

The Central Brevard Art Association is sponsoring its 10th Annual Art Show at the Cape Canaveral Library, 201 Polk Ave., Cape Canaveral, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Jan. 27-28.

This anniversary show is hosted by the city of Cape Canaveral.

'Art for Wildlife' at the Downtown Gallery

"Art for Wildlife," is a fundraising event benefiting the Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge, will be held 5-9 p.m., Friday, Jan. 27 at the Downtown Art Gallery, 335 S. Washington Ave., (U.S. Highway 1), Titusville.

This free event is open to the public.

There will be live art demonstrations throughout the evening by watercolorist Diane DeShong Cannon.

The new paintings will then be raffled off at various times along with other donated items by artists.

Featured artist Jim Boland will be giving away a photography workshop experience.

Donations for raffle tickets start at $5.

Live music with complimentary hors d' oeuvres, wine and refreshments will be provided.

For more information, call (321) 268-0122

Bob Ross painting class offered at Riverwalk Nature Center

Certified instructor Barry Traxler is offering another Bob Ross painting class in January in Rockledge.

It will be Saturday, Jan. 28 at 11 a.m.

The late Bob Ross was host of the public television series "The Joy of Painting," which ran from 1983 to 1995 and still appears in reruns in many broadcast areas.

During each half-hour segment, Mr. Ross would instruct viewers in the art of oil painting using a quick-study oil painting technique that kept colors to a minimum and broke paintings down into simple steps that anyone could follow.

The cost per class is $40 for instruction, plus $10 for materials.

Classes are open to both new and experienced painters.

The Bob Ross wet-on-wet technique allows students to leave every class with a complete, ready-to-frame painting.

The class will be held at Riverwalk: A Family Park, located at 5355 U.S. Highway 1 in Rockledge.

Seating is limited. To preregister for the class or for more information, contact Riverwalk Nature Center at (321) 433-4490 or email riverwalk@brevardparks.com.

Creative card-making workshops

Learn quick, fun and easy techniques in a relaxed setting to create quality cards and/or gifts.

You will be creating greeting cards, tags and gift bags.

Beautiful, quality materials, including cardstock, decorative papers, stamps, inks, embossing products, die cuts and accessories are included in the price of the class. Advance reservations are needed.

Classes are 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30-3:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2; Monday, Feb. 13; Monday, Feb. 20; and Monday, Feb. 27, at the Art Gallery of Viera, 2271 Town Center Ave., Suite 101, Space 400, Viera. Cost is $12 per class.

For reservations, call (321) 773-0095, (321) 961-2350 or email reenathan@bellsouth.net.

incorporate Orlando/Melbourne dancers into several works and premiere a work created specifically for them during a four-day residency Jan. 30 through Feb. 3, hosted by Dance Arts Centre in Melbourne.

Dancers with previous training are invited to participate in the classes offered by the company and professionals and advanced students invited to perform.

Tickets to the performance at 7:30 p.m. Friday Feb. 3, are $20 general admission, and $15 for seniors and students, advance only at www.TheP-GKProject.org. A reception with the company and local guest artists will follow the performance for all to enjoy.

Tickets are $5 more at the door. Visit Admin@ThePGKProject.org for more information about the performance.

The Henegar Center for the Arts is at 625 E. New Haven Ave., Melbourne.

Dancers interested in participating in the residency should contact The PGK Dance Project directly at (646) 337-6164 or by visiting Admin@ThePGKProject.org.

Space Coast Pops Orchestra

The Space Coast Pops Orchestra presents "It's All About Sinatra" for the second concert of its 26th Annual Season Subscription Series at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, at the Merritt Island First Baptist Church on S.R. 520 and Courtenay Parkway, 140 Magnolia, Merritt Island.

Conductor and music director Richard Hayman will direct the Pops Orches- tra in some of his own arrangements of pop music and then accompany guest artist Tom Heitman in a selected group of popular songs made into vocal classics by the "Chairman of the Board" Frank Sinatra.

Mr. Heitman is back by popular request to sing a variety of Sinatra songs, such as: "The Lady is a Tramp," "Come Fly With Me," "I'll Never Smile Again," "My Kind of Town," "Where or When," "New York, New York," "I'll Be Seeing You" and "The One I Love."

Single concert tickets cost $20 for general admission in advance at ticket outlets and $3 extra at the door.

Call (321) 632-7445 for more information, ticket outlet locations and single concert reserved seat tickets.

Brevard Symphony Orchestra's next concert

The Brevard Symphony Orchestra with two-time Grammy award nominee Philippe Quint on violin will be featured in a subscription concert, "The Four Seasons," 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, at the King Center for the Performing Arts, Melbourne.

Cost is $45-$34. Full-time students and teachers receive a 50 percent discount in rows GG-VV.

The King Center is at 3865 N. Wickham Road, Melbourne.

Contact the King Center box office at (321) 242-2219 or visit www.kingcenter.com.

For more information on performances, visit www.brevardsymphony.com.
