• Toys needed for homeless animals: Everyone should know that they are loved, especially during the holidays. Why not give one homeless animal a little toy to occupy their time and give another one the gift of a forever home? During the rest of December, donate a new cat or dog toy to the SPCA of North Brevard and receive $5 off any adoption fee. Visit available pets at the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Cat or Dog Adoption Center to find your new "FURever" family member. You can also find adoptable pets on the SPCA mobile pet adoption unit at the following location this month.

• Friday, Dec. 28 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Publix, 7325 N. U.S. Highway 1, Cocoa (Port St. John)

To see a complete listing of all adoptable pets at the SPCA or for more information about adopting a pet, visit www.spcanorthbrevard.com or, for more information, call (321) 267-8221.

• Searching for the Florida skunk ape: Capt. Ron Thorstad, at A Day Away Kayak Tours, has announced a paddling on the Indian River tour.

"In search of the Haulover Skunk Ape" tour is about rumors pouring about boaters and fishermen catching glimpses, sounds and especially smells of something large and stinky moving about in the dark on the banks of the Lagoon near the Haulover Canal on the Merritt Island Nation Wildlife Refuge.

Although very skeptical, Capt. Ron has assembled a team of guides who are very familiar with the area in question. The guides will take you to the areas where the sounds, sightings (and smellings) are most often reported.

At the very least, you will enjoy paddling on the lagoon under a full moon and dodging mullet as they

Local leaders share New Year's resolutions

Give goals, hopes for 2013

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — With 2012 almost behind us, Brevard is gearing up to ring in the New Year.

And while some wonder what 2013 will have to offer, a few of the area's movers and shakers have already thought about their goals for next year.

The following are their hopes for the New Year.

• Andy Anderson, Brevard County Commissioner, District 5

"My goal as Chairperson of the Brevard County Commission is to ensure that we bring decorum and civility to commission meetings and encourage Brevard citizens to openly address the commissioners at meetings, while respecting contrary views from their fellow citizens. I also will continue to work diligently to ensure we break ground on long overdue projects, such as the St. Johns Heritage Parkway and northern (Ellis Rd.) interchange. These projects will complement Brevard's commitment to economic development. I also plan to introduce additional initiatives to help boost economic development through unconventional partnerships between different segments of Brevard's economy, such as

Shop with a Cop is an outreach program for at-risk children in Brevard, which provides the children with positive interactions with deputy sheriff's and sheriff's employees. Local donations made it possible for the children to buy Christmas gifts for themselves and their family.

Reflecting on the past

A look back on the top stories of 2012

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Although 2012 is coming to an end, the events that took place and milestones reached countywide will forever be marked in our headlines.

In no particular order, here are a few of the top stories reported by Hometown News in 2012.

• Brevard remembers fallen deputy

More than 3,000 people gathered at Calvary Chapel Melbourne on March 13 to honor the life of a fallen Brevard deputy who served in law enforcement for 30 years.

At a memorial service commemorating the life of Deputy Sheriff Barbara Pill, who was shot and killed on March 6, Brevard County Sheriff Jack Parker described her as honest, hard working and enthusiastic.

"Of all the wonderful characteristics Barbara possessed, her defining characteristic was how much she cared about other people," Sheriff Parker said.

Deputy Pill was a decorated officer with a 31-year history in law enforcement. She served the Miami-Dade Metro for 16 years and the Brevard County Sheriff's Office for 15 years.

Brandon Lee Bradley, 23, and Andria Kerchner, 20, were arrested on charges of murder and robbery as a result of the shooting. They are being held without bond.

• With shuttle program's end, Atlantis begins a new mission

In July 2011, Space Shuttle Atlantis pulled into port at the Kennedy Space Center for the last time, signifying the end of NASA's 30-year space shuttle program. Now, Atlantis will prepare for its next mission: to preserve the history of U.S. space exploration and provide inspiration for Americans.

The shuttle will be the highlight of a $100 million exhibit at the Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex set to open in the summer of 2013. A groundbreaking ceremony held on Jan. 18 introduced plans for the new, 65,000-square-foot home of Atlantis to a crowd of more than 100 people.

"Where (Atlantis) once expanded man's knowledge in space, now she will expand our knowledge here on Earth," said Janet Petro, deputy director of the Kennedy Space Center, in a speech at the ceremony. "She will teach everyone who visits her about the space shuttle program and what it has meant to NASA, America and all of us here at the Kennedy Space Center."

FEMA denies the county's request for aid

Request is currently awaiting appeal at Governor's Office

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Brevard County's request for government aid in the repair of millions of dollars in damages created by Hurricane Sandy is currently under review by the Governor's Office, officials said.

Ernie Brown, director of Natural Resources for Brevard County, said an initial request to the Federal Emergency Management Agency for aid in the repair of the damages and beach erosion created by the hurricane was denied.

The estimated cost in damages is currently at $25 million, the County's natural resources department said. Mr. Brown said the total cost for repairs is a combination of losses in beach erosion throughout the county.

Brevard Community College selects new name

Reflects ability to offer four-year degrees

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — Brevard Community College's Board of Trustees has selected a new name for the institution.

Expected to become official on July 1, the name, Eastern Florida State College, better reflects the school's ability to offer four-year degrees, beginning in August.

"I'm excited about our future because Eastern Florida State College is more than a new name," said Jim Richey, president of Brevard Community College, in a news release. "It represents the new opportunities we can offer our students and our community. We're now exceptionally well-positioned to do that through the addition of four-year degrees."

The renaming process began in August, when college officials began reaching out to the community for

Holiday card contest gives youth with special needs the chance for expression

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Earlier this month, a few students and classrooms throughout Brevard County received monetary gifts and recognition in the spirit of the holidays.

In partnership with Moletteire Injury Law of Melbourne, Very Special Arts-Brevard announced Joseph S., a sixth-grader at Turner Elementary School in Palm Bay, as the winner of the 2012 Holiday Card Contest.

Joseph is an exceptional student Education Student in Don Carothers' class at Turner Elementary.

By winning the art contest, Molettiere Injury Law members said Joseph's art was used as the firm's holiday card that was sent to its many clients and friends.

"Joseph's entry was a unanimous choice this year," said Lori Emly, VSA-Brevard district director and director of Cogswell Street Studio. "He is a wonderful artist, and I hope he will continue with his art. VSA-Brevard is committed to helping children and adults with disabilities reach their full potential through the arts and art experiences."

Since 1987, VSA-Brevard, which is a program of the Brevard Achievement Center, has served children and youth with disabilities in the public school system.

Ms. Emly, who organized the art contest, said Joseph received a gift for winning the contest, as well.

Along with Joseph, Ms. Emily said the firm awarded gifts to second-place winner Shane S. of Palm Bay Elementary and third-place winner Cameron N. of H.C. Andersen Elementary.

Ms. Emly said the teachers of the three winners also received money for their classrooms.

The contest has been hosted for 15 years by the firm, led by Bob Moletteire.

Ms. Emly said the contest gives students who may not excel in other areas the chance to have their talents recognized.

"The most important thing about this program is it gives children, who may have problems in other areas of school, a chance to shine and express themselves through their art," she said. "There are not a lot of opportunities for children with disabilities to express and empower themselves. It is very empowering for that child to realize they can be successful in some areas of their lives."

More than 65 ESE students participated in this year's contest, the firm said.

A crowd of 3,050 people sang Al Green's "Let's Stay Together" in unison Sept. 9, in anticipation of President Barack Obama's speech at Florida Tech in Melbourne.

When the president made his appearance a little before noon, the large crowd erupted with cheers and applause.

Before he began his speech, the president smiled and told the crowd to "take a seat if you have one, because I'm going to be talking for a while."

The president's speech began with some light humor, as he told the crowd that he would be finished in time for an NFL kick-off. It also featured moments of audience interaction, with one woman shouting out, "I love you, Obama," to which the president replied, "I love you, too."

However, when the president started to dive deeper into his speech, he spoke passionately of Medicare and the space program.

"We've begun an ambitious new direction for NASA by laying the groundwork for 21st Century space flight, and, just last month, witnessed an incredible achievement that speaks to our nation's sense of wonder and our can-do - the United States of America landing Curiosity on Mars," President Obama said to the cheering crowd.

2This was the president's 10th time visiting Florida this year, but the first time he has visited the Space Coast in 2012, as well as his first visit to Florida Tech.

• Romney keeps his feet on the ground

Republican presidential hopeful Mitt Romney took a different stance on the Space Coast's economic situation during the Cape Canaveral rally, held on Jan. 29, saying he would take a reasoned approach to the future of space.

"(Mr. Gingrich) promised hundreds of billions of dollars," Mr. Romney said. "I know that's very attractive, very popular. I'm not going to do that. Politicians love the idea of coming in and saying what they're going to do without studying it, without getting the data."

Mr. Romney said he would protect NASA programs that are necessary for America's economic, technological and military well-being.

He said such issues as climate change must be studied in space, and medical and commercial technologies are gained through space exploration.

"All of these objectives are important," Mr. Romney said, including preparing for what he called "existential" issues, such as a catastrophic natural occurrence.

"Technology and science lead to the development of products that improve our economy," he said. "There's another area: The health and well-being of our citizens. Through space, we learn technology that can affect how long we're able to live."

Law enforcement officers arrive at the Calvary Chapel in West Melbourne for the funeral of Deputy Sheriff Barbara Pill March 13.

• Local surf legend leaves his legacy behind

World-class surfer Richard "Rich" Salick touched many lives throughout his work for the National Kidney Foundation of Florida, spreading awareness of kidney disease and inspiring others coping with it.

This was apparent by the crowd of more than 1,000 people who packed Club Zion Community Church in Cocoa Beach on July 7 for his memorial service. Mr. Salick died on July 2, following emergency surgery at Orlando Regional Medical Center. The 62-year-old battled various ailments - including kidney disease, lung cancer and heart disease - for several years.

Stephanie Hutchinson, CEO of the National Kidney Foundation of Florida, said she could recount many fond memories of Mr. Salick, who worked with the National Kidney Foundation of Florida for more than 27 years, most recently serving as the director of community relations.

"He got involved with the foundation as a way to help others deal with kidney failure and find the help they needed as they went through dialysis and transplantation," she said. "He was known for spending hours on the phone with patients, talking about their challenges. He gave hope and direction to many. There are many who credit Rich for saving their lives, when they felt all hope was gone."

• Embraer to build $24 million technology center in Melbourne

Florida Gov. Rick Scott joined representatives from the Space Coast for the groundbreaking of the new, $24 million Embraer Engineering and Technology Center USA at the Melbourne International Airport on Nov. 28.

Gov. Scott was joined by representatives from the Economic Development Commission of Florida's Space Coast and Space Florida.

According to the Economic Development Commission of Florida's Space Coast, the 63,500-square-foot facility will generate 200 engineering jobs by the end of 2016. The airport is also home to the company's final assembly plant and customer center.

Embraer is a Brazilian aerospace conglomerate that produces commercial, military and executive aircraft. The Embraer Engineering and Technology Center USA will financed, built, owned and operated by Space Florida for Embraer.

In a press release, Gov. Scott said the new facility continues to make the state of Florida an ideal place for businesses.

"As we continue to create a better business climate, we are also bringing more jobs to Florida," he said. "These 200 new jobs mean more families will be able to bring a new paycheck home, and, although our work isn't done, we'll continue to work to grow jobs, so every Florida family can enjoy the American dream."

• Motive remains undetermined in Port St. John tragedy

On May 15, 33-year-old Tonya Thomas gunned down her four children: Pebbles Johnson, 17; Jaxs Johnson, 15; Jazzlyn Johnson, 13; and Joel Johnson, 12, before turning the gun on herself.

At about 5:05 a.m., deputies discovered an unresponsive Pebbles Johnson in front of the neighbor's residence. Pebbles never returned home after going to the neighboring house for help and was pronounced dead at the scene.

SWAT members entered the residence where the mother and three children were found dead: Joel and Jazzlyn Johnson near the entryway of the house; Jaxs Johnson on the couch, where he appeared to have been shot in his sleep; and Tonya Thomas in the garage, where she suffered a fatal self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Dispatch records from April indicate instances of violence in which Jaxs tossed his bicycle out of a window and kicked and punched his mother.

It appears that the children's father has not been active in their lives and only briefly spoke with police about the deaths, Lt. Goodyear said.

He added that as details unravel, investigators will continue to look for clues that may point to Ms. Thomas' intent.

"We don't know what the motive is, and I don't know if we ever will," said Brevard County Sheriff's Office Lt. Tod Goodyear. "I would be very surprised if we could tell anybody at the end of this why she did it."

• Brevard opens beach to four-legged friends

For beachgoers at Canova Beach Park, the dog days have begun.

As of Feb. 25, dogs are permitted on a portion of the Indian Harbour Beach coastline that spans the area between Eau Gallie Boulevard and the Radisson Suite Hotel Oceanfront. Brevard County commissioners voted 4 to 1 in favor of the canines after Sandy Paws, a group dedicated to establishing and maintaining a dog-friendly beach in Brevard, retrieved more than 4,000 signatures backing the case.

Though the beach has been implemented as a one-year pilot program, some are wary of its implications. But Brevard County Parks and Recreation director Jack Masson said efforts made by county staff, visitors of the dog park and volunteers will ensure a safe and properly maintained park.

"The critical key to the success of this venture is having a very strong volunteer base of dedicated individuals," Mr. Masson said.

In order to be permitted on the beach, dogs must remain on a leash and wear tags displaying current licenses and vaccinations. Owners must pick up after their pets, and waste bags and receptacles will be available at the park, Mr. Masson said.

Barbara Arnold, the founder of Sandy Paws Brevard, said she encourages every pet owner to clean up after his or her dogs, keep within the marked boundaries of the designated area and follow the rules the county has implemented to keep the beach successful.

"We are hopeful that the pilot program will give us an opportunity to encourage responsible dog ownership and fun," she said. "We have many volunteers who are ready to refill bag stations and participate in regular beach clean-ups, in addition to having fun at the beach."

tourism and non-tourism industries."

• William Capote, Mayor of Palm Bay

"I would like to see the city's financial position continue to improve and be able to attract new business into the area to expand our commercial tax base. Another goal for me this year is to help grow our Bayfront Community Redevelopment area, so that it could become a downtown area that residents and visitors could go to have a good time with their families."

• Wayne Ivey, Brevard County Sheriff Elect

"On the campaign trail, we were so busy and so active that I never had time to workout.

My goal for this year is to work on my fitness levels and encourage our officers, and everyone in our department, to do the same.

It is important to develop and embrace an opportunity to work out –whatever your sport may be and whatever your exercise mechanism is – for a healthy lifestyle. For me, that's racquetball and basketball."

• Dave Netterstrom, Mayor of Cocoa Beach

"My public goal as mayor is to help create positive excitement and buzz for Cocoa Beach and its opportunities to become, once again, a cool place to live, raise a family and visit.Since my public job often pulls me in many directions, my personal goal is to work on making sure my loved ones know they are still my first priority."

Trustworthy Business Worth Its Weight In Gold!

Same People, Same Value, Same Great Service, New Location

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE - Stan Goldfarb grew tired of witnessing individuals receive less than they deserved when selling their prized possessions.

"Quite frankly, people were getting ripped off," said Mr. Goldfarb, who owns Square Deal Gold Buyers with his partner, JR Bott. "There was a need for a trustworthy gold-buying business in the area."

So three years ago, Square Deal Gold Buyers began building its business on trust in the Melbourne Square Mall.

"Based on that, we've grown our business tremendously," Mr. Goldfarb said. "All of the trust that we've built over two and a half years has led us to be the No. 1 gold buyer in Brevard County."

Now it is located in the Chase building adjacent to the mall, in Suite 102 West of 1990 W. New Haven Ave.

"Our concern is some people think we're out of business right now," Mr. Goldfarb said. "We are here with the same great people and the same service."

In its new location, Square Deal Gold Buyers ensures safety among its customers with the installation of 14 cameras that monitor all transactions made, as well as a secured entrance to the office itself.

To prevent fraud and undervaluing pieces, trained appraisers evaluate karat purities in front of the clients by performing various tests.

"We talk to people about their jewelry and its worth," Mr. Goldfarb said. "We will check the exact karat purities and current spot market price. We will explain how the market and process works, what types of equipment we use for testing and answer any questions they may have."

And when it's decision time, Mr. Goldfarb said there is no pressure.

Come see Dawn, Lori, Elaine and Stan, the team at Square Deal Gold Buyers for an honest deal and great service.

"We do not attempt to pressure our clients to sell, but in fact do our best to educate our clients on the value of their items so they can see why we offer what we do," he said.

He said when offering cash for a client's gold, Square Deal Gold Buyers can offer up to 30 percent higher than other, similar businesses. On one occasion, he offered a woman $1,400 for a piece that she was going to sell for $250 to a mail-away cash-for-gold company.

"You have some people that try to rip people off and make a living," he said. "Our plan is a cumulative thing. We'd rather have many customers who contribute a little bit each.

"We're a for-profit business, but we're local guys," He said. "The money stays in Brevard. We're not mailing it away. All our employees are from Brevard. It's a really good business model."

"This is a professional atmosphere for gold buyers, and we want to expand on that," he said.

Square Deal Gold Buyers is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Brevard family turns tragedy into hope for others

Organization raises funds for students to further their education in memory of deceased teen

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — On July 7, 2010, while heading to have his senior picture taken, Myles Freeberg was in an automobile accident. He died the next day.

Since then, with the support of friends and the community, Myles' parents, Tom and Kathy Freeberg, have dedicated a foundation in their son's memory to help students throughout Brevard County further their education.

The Myles Freeberg Foundation, Inc., will be sponsoring the third annual Miles for Myles 5k Family Fun Run/Walk on Saturday, Jan. 12.

Mr. Freeberg, president of the Myles Freeberg Foundation, said the event raises funds for internships and scholarships that are awarded to Brevard County high school students in Myles' memory.

"The most important aspect of the event is to gather with family and friends to celebrate Myles' life and to help other Brevard County high school students pursue their dream of a higher education," he said.

Myles was a student at Viera High School, who played soccer for both a club team and his high school.

As a left defender, Myles grew a reputation and garnered a nickname known as "The Wall." Since the accident, a memorial wall stands at the Viera High School campus in a garden near the cafeteria's outside seating area, so students can gather and hang out during lunch and throughout the day.

Mrs. Freeberg, treasurer of the Myles Freeburg Foundation, said that the organization owes a lot of credit to Hastings Kofkin, a senior at Cocoa Beach Jr/Sr High School. Hastings organized the first 5Kin the fall of 2010 when he was a sophomore.

While the fun run was being organized, Mrs. Freeberg and her husband began creating the Myles Freeberg Foundation, Inc., which would be approved that January.

"Without Hastings organizing (the first event), we wouldn't be doing any of this. It would have been just too much for us that year," she said. "We decided to continue with it, and, with the 5k, we give out all of the money we raise. I feel very blessed we are able to do that."

More than 400 runners participated in last year's Miles for Myles 5K Family Fun Run/Walk. Funds are raised to help Brevard County seniors further their education in the memory of Myles Freeberg, who died in 2010.

Since its inception, the Myles Freeberg Foundation has awarded six internships through the Viera High School Academy of Business and Finance and 21 scholarships through the Brevard County Schools Foundation.

At last year's event, the foundation raised $15,500 with more than 400 people participating in the 5K.

"(Our foundation) has evolved since we first started," Mrs. Freeberg said. "We are very pleased with how things have progressed."

The Freebergs said Myles was a friend to all, and many comments made on his Facebook page by friends and loved ones indicate that he was a very friendly person.

In perhaps what best solidifies Myles' passion for life, one of his final text messages he sent to a friend remains a phrase used by the foundation.

"I'm good…no problems…no stress…so the usual," he said.

The Miles for Myles 5K Family Fun Run/Walk will begin at 8 a.m on Saturday, Jan. 12, at the Viera High School track.

Registration for the event is $25.

To register for the event, or for more information about the Myles Freeberg Foundation, Inc., visit www.mylesfreebergfoundation.org or the Facebook site at www.facebook.com/mylesfreebergfoundation.

Erosion

Mr. Brown said it will cost $12.4 million to repair 18 miles of an engineered dune and beach project along "Mid Reach and South Beaches Shoreline." Mr. Brown said that Brevard County has maintained this engineered dune/beach after its construction in 2005.

Along with the $12.4 million needed in repairs for the engineered dune and beach, Mr. Brown said the county will need about $13 million for the repair of erosion to 14 miles of shorelines in Cape Canaveral, Cocoa Beach, Indialantic and Melbourne Beach.

Despite the rejection for federal aid by FEMA, Mr. Brown said the department is moving forward with the repair project, while the county awaits a decision from the Governor's Office.

"They told us to go ahead and get permits for the repair and begin the bidding process for the $12.4 million project by mid-January," he said. "Turtle season is in May, so we have to start (the repairs) by February. The big question is whether (FEMA) denies or accepts the appeal. If they accept the appeal, we assume they will partner with us for the project."

Mr. Brown said the funding for the nearly $25 million repair project will come from a combination of aid from FEMA, Brevard County and the state of Florida.

If FEMA rejects the appeal for federal aid, Mr. Brown said the county will have to borrow money from the county reserves.

The repair project is expected to be completed in three months, Mr. Brown said.

To repair the erosion to the beaches, Mr. Brown said upland sand sources from sand pits located throughout the county will be delivered to the beach areas with erosion damages, and the sand will then be shaped to fit the area. The sand used for the repairs will be based upon its quality, size and composition, Mr. Brown said.

Brevard County Natural Resources said that some private homes and structures have also been damaged by Hurricane Sandy, which passed through in late October.

The Brevard County Natural Resources Department also said in a press release that Brevard County residents should be aware that, if they have a deck or dune crossover that has been undermined, it is likely a safety hazard and is not stable.

The department said, if a dune has receded to within 10 feet of a property or residential area, property owners should assess the area for stability to determine whether the area is safe to occupy.

The Natural Resources Management Office said it can help with the permitting process for property owners wanting to take immediate action by restoring the dune with beach-quality sand.

ideas and to gather perceptions about the college that could be used to help attract students, build business partnerships and enhance academic programs, said John Glisch, associate vice president of communications for the college.

About 200 people participated through written surveys, focus groups and the college's Facebook page, representing business leaders, elected officials, students, Brevard Community College staff and many others. More than 70 names were suggested, and fewer than 10 recommendations based on the research were given to Mr. Richey for final consideration, Mr. Glisch said.

Research proved that students wanted a name that better grasped Brevard Community College's larger reach. Business leaders desired a name that could make the college appealing on a regional level, which could help the college advance its role in creating jobs and stimulating economic growth.

"Those two factors stood out strongly," Mr. Richey said. "Both groups were looking at new horizons for the college and wanted us to do the same. They were enthusiastic about our future."

Now, the name will be passed to the Florida Legislature and Gov. Rick Scott for final approval during the spring 2013 legislative session.

In addition to its new title, the college created a slogan: "Explore. Achieve. Succeed." Honoring the community's ties to space exploration, the statement will be used in marketing and advertising efforts to attract students and build business partnerships, Mr. Glisch said.

"The statement is the promise we make that enrolling at Eastern Florida State College includes the opportunity to learn about yourself, reach your goals and have a successful life," Mr. Richey said. "It's a great balance of our proud tradition and the unlimited possibilities of the future."

Great country and the debt

I really enjoyed a recent Rant/Rave in the Hometown News.

One was "American, the greatest country in the world," no doubt about it.

No matter what this administration does, we are still the greatest nation on the planet earth.

There was another great article, "How to battle the national debt."

These were very good articles, and each one explains in their own way, their love for this nation and what they would do to correct the deficiencies. And we do have some deficiencies.

Regarding 'We are a Christian nation'

First of all, I am quite curious why Wikipedia.org is used as a source. I myself am in high school, and am not allowed to use Wikipedia as a source or I will get marked down.

My father says using Wikipedia as a source in college is illegal. Wikipedia can be changed and edited. I could go in and make revisions, which is why Wikipedia's not a reliable source.

Secondly, the rant says, "In any case, the forefathers, the founders of our nation, were Christian." That is also where Wikipedia.org is cited. However, I want to talk about the phrase itself. Our nation's forefathers were not all Christian. Yes, some were, but not all.

Benjamin Franklin, for example, was a deist.

Benjamin Franklin did believe in a divine power, however, he did not participate in any organized religion, such as Christianity.

(Source: www.godlikeproductions.com/forum1/message510510/pg1)

Thomas Jefferson was a deist, as well. He rejected the superstitions and mysticism of Christianity.

(Source:www.nobeliefs.com/jefferson.htm)

For example, those who visit the Jefferson Memorial in Washington will read Jefferson's words engraved: "I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every from of tyranny over the mind of man."

When they see the word "God" many Christians see this as "proof" of his Christianity without thinking that "God" can have many definitions, ranging from nature to supernatural." (Source: www.nobeliefs.com/jefferson.htm)

John Adams was a Unitarian. He rejected many fundamental doctrines of conventional Christianity. (Source:www.adherents.com/people/pa/John_Adams.html)

In the article, it mentions references of God throughout history and on historical monuments.

A Muslim could see the word God and refer to Allah, the Islamic God. A spiritual person with no set religion could see the word God as just a higher power, who guides them, under no specific religion. (Source: www.everystudent.com/features/connecting.html)

American religiousness:

- Very religious: 40 percent
- Moderately religious: 29 percent
- Nonreligious: 31 percent

The percents above were from a recent poll this year, Jan. 2 to Nov. 30. As you can see, not even half of America is very religious and 69 percent is religious. However, it does not specify Christianity.

I am not saying Christianity is a dying religion. I myself am not Christian, I do not believe in any higher power, however many of my friends are religious.

However, I also have friends who are religious, but who are not Christian. I have a few Jewish friends.

When I lived in Colorado before I moved here, the Mormon population was huge. A lot of my friends were Mormon and all went to church together.

The last thing I would like to talk about is a quote from the rant I am writing about. "The Capitol building has the word God (Deus) carved into its walls..."

Deus is Latin for God, yes, but it does not specify which God. On (http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/deus), Deus refers to Zeus, the Greek god.

According to (wahiduddin.net/words/name_god.htm), the word God is a relatively new word, a European invention.

God can variously be defined as:

- The proper name of the one supreme and infinite personal being, the creator and ruler of the universe, to whom man owes obedience and worship
- The common or generic name of the several supposed beings to whom, in polytheistic religions, divine attri utes are ascribed and divine worship rendered
- The name sometimes applies to an idol as the image or dwelling place of a god.

Thank you for taking your time to read this.

Editor's source notes: The www.godlikeproductions.com masthead also contains the headings: "Conspiracy Theorists," Lunatic Fringe" and "UFO," but is getting nearly 2 million page views per day.

The www.nobeliefs.com/Jefferson.htm contains supposed quotes from Thomas Jefferson with no other links to check for accuracy. However, this particular quote does not appear on the memorial itself.

The www.adherents.com/people page, about the religion of John Adams, contains many opinions and quotes from papers, letters and other's articles, with no links.

The www.everystudent.com is a feature article from Marilyn Adamson about the beliefs of the major world religions and how Jesus' teachings differ from them, without focusing on any similarities.

In the www.galluppoll.com/poll/159050/seven-americans-moderately-religious.aspx, the participants were asked only two (establishment) questions for the poll:

1. Is religion an important part of your daily life?

2. How often do you attend a church, a synagogue or a mosque?

The http://wahiduddin.net/words/name-god.htm is a web page of a man named "Wahidudding, called "Living from the Heart," and is mostly dictionary definitions of the word "God."

'Stand your ground' not fair

This is about the "stand your ground" law that exists in Florida.

In light of the two most recent cases, where two young, black men getting shot dead by two white men, who could have safely walked away I don't see how "stand your ground" even applies to those men in those two cases.

They had a chance to get away safely but their egos took control and as a result, two young men are dead. Regardless of their race, they are dead.

What is interesting about this law is that if you are a domestic and you are a married person and you have to protect yourself because this does happen sometimes in a bad domestic situation.

It seems to me that I've been following the news for a while here in Florida, and the women or the men get arrested. They go to jail and stand your ground doesn't apply and it is a ridiculous thing.

It is a very unfair law.

Response to 'Goodbye America, goodbye Israel'

All hope is indeed not lost. We came perilously close to losing our beloved country several times during its birth in the 18th century.

But with leaders of courage with a thirst for freedom and the blessings of divine providence, we prevailed over what was then the most powerful empire on earth.

Take heart. We will once again emerge from the same shackles that our forefathers fled England to accomplish.

We again nearly lost our United States of America in the mid 1860s with the tragic loss of hundreds of thousands of American lives on both sides. Again, with great leaders and divine providence, we survived.

We will also survive this. It will take time. It will take patience.

The Revolutionary War lasted eight years, (sound familiar?) and still wasn't over. We still had to fight the War of 1812 and numerous other skirmishes for years to come.

And here we are, living our lives as best we can, trying to teach our children as best we can to most certainly not say goodbye to America, but to educate them about our rich heritage and the dire need to recapture the exceptionalism that is the United States of America.

As for Israel, you need not worry about it. They were chosen as God's people more than 2,000 years ago. That has not and will never change.

Have you not noticed that they do not lose wars with their enemies? There is good reason for that and not just because of U.S. support, which they have less of these days.

You are right about that. They have God's support for eternity.

I don't know if anybody thinks the same as you do

"Goodbye America" will never happen and people like you need to be educated more about the history and the past before making any conclusions.

Israel has many nukes, more than any nations around them. Why?

If you go buy a gun, are you going to just keep it in the closet or to use and kill someone?

Well that's what happening right now with Israel, trying to make trouble, as always, and hide behind someone else (U.S.).

The president is an American and will do whatever it takes to protect Americans and America's interest, even if he has to use Israel as a scapegoat.

You need to study more about the facts and learn before judging.

Thoughts from Dec. 7

Seventy-one years ago today, Sunday, Dec. 7, I was on one of six U.S. Navy troop ships, carrying 20,000 British Army troops, for a destination of Iraq.

At 10 p.m., or 2200 hours Navy time, I heard over the headphones in the forward gun mount the message that Pearl Harbor was bombed.

Our convoy had the official designation "William Sail 12 X Task Force 14."

Two heavy cruisers, the U.S.S. Quincy and the U.S.S. Vincennes, and four of our escort destroyers broke formation immediately and headed for the Panama Canal.

We, with our remaining escorts, made landfall and entered the port of Capetown, South Africa, the next day, to the consternation of the inhabitants.

They could not understand how American ships, a peaceful nation at that time, could have a warring nation's troops aboard.

No one knew that (Winston) Churchhill and (Franklin D.) Roosevelt had decided to flaunt the Geneva Conventions.

During our stay in Capetown, our destination was changed to Singapore, where the troops, when delivered, surrendered.

Presidential bashing

I don't understand why Hometown News is continuing to print letters that are bashing our president, Barack Obama.

I don't understand why you guys keep printing those, and you don't print anything on the other side, not in this week's paper anyway.

I know you say you print the ones that come in, but that's just not true, because I have left some that were not printed. So, I know you don't print them as they come in.

Anyway, maybe you'll print this, but I doubt it.

Editor's note: Checking the Rants & Raves section for the last several weeks in all five Hometown News issues in Brevard County, we can find only one reference to President Barack Obama. It was in a rant about Israel. It mentioned what the rant writer thought the president's opinion might be in regard to the United States-Israel relationship.

More dollars at the airport

In regard to the item in one of your Melbourne issues "Does the airport need our dollars?" I ran into the same problem when I was going out (of parking).

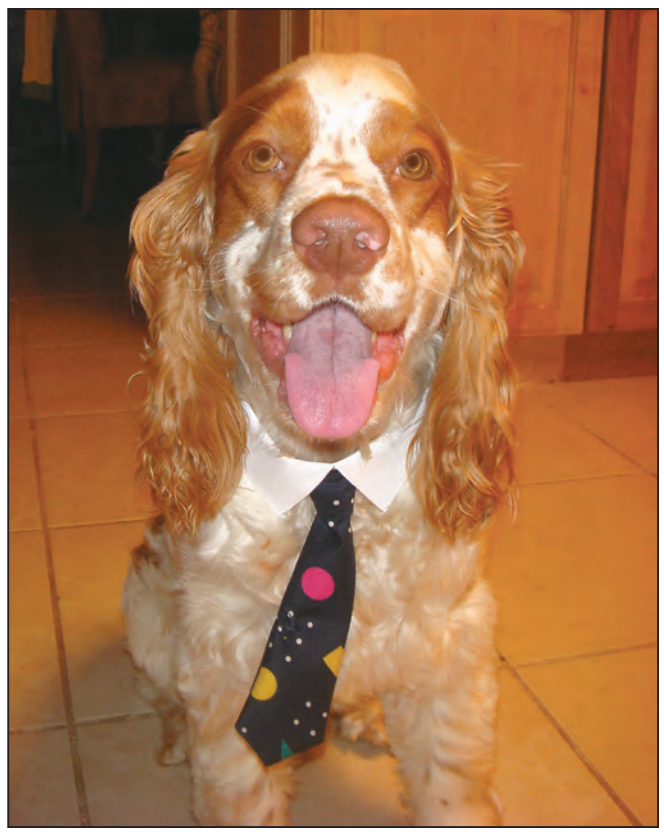
I paid my fee, whatever it was, and I asked directions, and it took so long that the man said, "Now you owe me another dollar."

I had to pay it. And that is unfair. That is so unfair.

I just thought I would make my Rant & Rave issue with you people. You can print it if you like.

The person who wrote that first article is absolutely right. They are mean people and I found them very, very rude.

Hometown News PET OF THE WEEK



2-year-old cocker spaniel, 'Dulce' is the playful pup of Vito Maltese of Melbourne. Aside from having an obvious sense of humor, some of Dulce's favorite activities are going for walks, chasing squirrels and eating dog biscuits.

Is your pet worthy of the spotlight?

Hometown News will be the judge of that.

We are asking our readers to submit photos of their beloved pets, as part of our "Pet of the Week" Contest. The winner for the week will have his or her pet displayed in our newspaper, while also being qualified to become the Hometown News "Pet of the Year!" Email a photo of your pet (one entry per owner) that is at least 1 MB in size to brevnews@hometownnewsol.com. Write "PET OF THE WEEK CONTEST" in the subject line, and in the body of the email, please include the following information:

- Name of pet
- Age
- Breed
- Three of your pet's favorite things to do
- Pet owner's full name and hometown
- Phone number (in case we have questions)

Sisters make music in Brevard

Texas band to play at Titusville's Emma Parrish Theatre

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — A premier Western swing band from Fort Worth, Texas, will be heading south to swoon the residents of Titusville on Friday, Jan. 4.

The Quebe Sisters Band, a group comprised of three sisters, singers and fiddlers – Grace, Sophia and Hulda – as well as guitarist Joey McKenzie and bassist Drew Phelps, will play at the Emma Parrish Theatre at 7 p.m.

"This is our first time to perform in the area," band member Hulda Quebe said. "Folks can expect to hear the music that we play here in Texas: Western swing, hot jazz, Western, vintage country and Texas-style fiddling. The Quebe Sisters Band performs music from the 1940s to the 1960s."

The Quebe sisters took an interest in fiddling at an early age, enrolling in lessons at ages 7, 10 and 12. Now, the sisters are all in their 20s, and they enjoy playing alongside one another.

"We are the best of friends," Hulda said. "We feel very blessed to be able to work together."

The chemistry between the sisters is apparent in their performances, as The Quebe Sisters Band has received accolades such as the Crescendo Award, given by the Western Music Association, and Western Swing Album of the Year, given by the Academy of Western Artists.

"It's hard to choose one accomplishment in particular (that is our biggest to date)," Hulda said. "One thing that is very meaningful has been being invited to perform at the Grand Ole Opry multiple times in the past few years. We have also enjoyed getting to meet many of the musicians that are our musical heroes."

The Quebe Sisters Band will play in Titusville's Emma Parrish Theatre on Friday, Jan. 4. From left: Hulda Quebe, Grace Quebe and Sophia Quebe.

Hulda said The Quebe Sisters Band's inspiration stems from musicians such as Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys, Ray Price and the Cherokee Cowboys and The Mills Brothers, to name a few.

The band has also had the pleasure of playing with billionare and ukulele enthusiast Warren Buffett, and has performed for U.S. President George W. Bush and First Lady Laura Bush.

Titusville's Emma Parrish Theatre is located at 301 Julia St. Tickets for the show are $26 per person.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Aries, you may have to work a little harder to get what you want, but the results will be worth it. Focus your attention on making a name for yourself in the business sector.

TAURUS - April 21-May 21

There is no stopping you when you have a goal in mind, Taurus. Although you may be ambitious, just be mindful of other people in your path as you go.

GEMINI - May 22-June 21

Be honest with your feelings this week, Gemini. Someone close to you is interested in learning more about the way you operate. This could strengthen a friendship.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Don't bite off more than you can chew, Cancer. Otherwise you could be left with a long to-do list and not enough energy to get the job done. Consider paring down tasks.

LEO - July 23-Aug. 23

Leo, although you may have rest and recreation on the brain, celestial forces are pushing you in the opposite direction. Busy days are ahead, so rest later.

VIRGO – Aug. 24-Sept. 22

You have put too much effort into something to abandon your plans now, Virgo. Rethink quitting early on. Maybe a friend can carry you over the finish line.

Community Notes

School office awarded learning center grant

Brevard Public Schools has announced that the Office of Adult and Community Education has become the recipient of a fifth 21st Century Community Learning Center grant, called "Explorers University."

This five-year grant has a funding total of $3 million and will serve approximately 280 students per day. The award will provide after-school services through School Age Child Care to four elementary schools in the south area: Discovery, Harbor City, Jupiter and Sunrise. The monies will provide academic support in reading, science, math and technology, while offering experiential opportunities.

For more information, call (321) 264-1276, Ext. 3020 or email Francisco.jacalyn@brevardschools.org.

Men's lacrosse assists Alzheimer's walk

The Florida Tech men's lacrosse team and coaching staff recently volunteered their time to assist with the "Walk To End Alzheimer's" event at Wickham Park in Melbourne.

The Panthers made a huge impact in the community, while also growing closer together as a team.

Entering into the second season of the program, the young Panther squad assisted in almost every aspect of the Alzheimer's event. They arrived prior to the event to help set up tents, stands and markers along the trail. During the event, players handed out flyers, collected donations, gathered signatures for petitions and even assisted with the event photographer.

One special moment, for not only the team and the coaching staff, but for those in the community who were there to watch, was when a group of the players walked the entire trail with a lady who was in a wheel chair.

The players also formed lines on both sides of the start and finish lines to cheer on the participants. It was something the players and those taking part in the event thoroughly enjoyed.

For information about a "Walk To End Alzheimer's" and the Alzheimer's Association, visit www.alz.org/cnfl/.

Oxygen therapy for pets is now available

The Animal Emergency and Critical Care Center of Brevard is now offering hyperbaric oxygen therapy treatments for pets.

Brevard's first and only hyperbaric oxygen chamber was installed at the facility, and within 24 hours, pre-screened patients began receiving hyperbaric oxygen treatments to assist with post-surgical wound healing.

The Animal Emergency and Critical Care Center of Brevard, located at the southwest corner of Eau Gallie Boulevard and Croton Road, in Melbourne, offers emergency services for pets 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

There is always a veterinarian on the premises, using state-of-the-art imaging equipment to handle emergency and specialty care needs.

The specialty team includes board certified veterinarians, providing emergency and elective surgery and internal medical treatment, as well as neurology, cardiology, canine physical rehabilitation and hyperbaric oxygen therapy.

For more information call (321) 725-5365 or visit www.CentralFloridaAnimalER.com.

Car show was a huge success

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of North Brevard hosted its Second Annual Hot Dogs, Cool Cats and Wild Rides Car Show, which was presented by Ron Norris Ford, in October.

Despite two other competing car shows (one in New Smyrna, one at the Cape), participant turnout for this worthwhile cause exceeded expectations with 98 cars registered (compared to 60 at last year's event).

There were nearly a dozen trophies awarded to show cars, in addition to drawings for an iPod, a lotto tree and a 50/50 raffle.

The success of this event is a result of the community for its overwhelming support and turn-out and also to the massive network of volunteers supporting the SPCA, including students from the Florida Institute of Technology, whose Delta Upsilon chapter of the Pi Lambda Phi fraternity attends major SPCA events to provide the "muscle power" needed to make events like this work.

Tails from the Vet

Dr. Michael Ponte

A good stocking stuffer for your pet is a trip to the vet.

Consider getting your pet up to date on vaccines against contagious diseases such as rabies, distemper, parvo, and many others. Also, along with new Christmas toys, let's add things like combination heartworm/flea prevention to their stockings. These are very beneficial in keeping your pet healthy and happy for the holidays and the coming year. The Brevard County Veterinary Medical Association would like you to visit your local veterinarian during the new year for the continued health care of your pet.

Don't just bring your pet to the veterinarian for their medical appointments. Bring them by for a social visit just to say "hello," get a treat and a scratch behind the ears. They'll enjoy the ride and we love seeing them.

On behalf of Sarno Animal Hospital and the BCVMA, we would like to wish you all a Merry Christmas, Happy Holidays, and a "Yappy" and healthy 2013.

Find relief for pain in the legs

Local medical group offers innovative solution for improper leg veins

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Healthy leg veins contain valves that open and close, allowing the return of blood back to the heart.

But when an individual suffers from venous reflux disease, and the valves that keep blood flowing out of the legs and to the heart are damaged and diseased, vein valves do not close properly. This can lead to problems such as varicose veins, defined as swollen, twisted and sometimes painful veins that are filled with an abnormal collection of blood, as well as swollen limbs, changes in the skin, leg heaviness, fatigue and ulcers.

However, Quality Medical Care, headed by Dr. Subhash Thareja, who is board certified in cardiovascular disease, can help with these problems, using a minimally invasive approach that requires little to no recovery time afterward.

Called endovenous radiofrequency venous ablation, the procedure involves a catheter being placed into the diseased vein through a small opening in the skin. Powered by radiofrequency energy, the tiny catheter delivers heat to the vein wall. As the thermal energy is delivered, the vein wall shrinks and the vein is sealed closed. Once the diseased vein is closed, blood is re-routed to other healthy veins.

Jeannette Breglio, venous ablations senior manager at Quality Medical Care, said she has seen amazing results from patients who have undergone the procedure.

"We had one gentleman tell us that he used to park in the handicap spots at Walmart," she said. "Now, he parks all the way in the back, walks to the door and walks around the store without getting in a motorized chair. The improvements patients make are phenomenal."

She said the procedure doesn't involve cutting, sutures or the hospital. It is performed in the office, and patients can resume work and go back to their daily routines afterward.

"The only homework is to do an extra ten minutes of walking an hour, and patients cannot let their legs get wet for 24 hours afterward," she said.

rights awarded

Brevard Sheriff's Agent Cynthia Young's work with domestic violence victims earned the Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award from State Attorney Norm Wolfinger during the office's annual observation of victims' rights recently.

The event featured former Florida Attorney General Bob Butterworth as the guest speaker.

Following his remarks, Mr. Butterworth announced that the annual Attorney of the Year Award would hereafter be known as the Norman R. Wolfinger Attorney of the Year Award. Assistant State Attorney Bill Respess was the recipient.

Mr. Wolfinger began the annual observation of victim rights in 1986, his second year in office. He will resign the post he has held continuously for the past 28 years on Jan. 6.

During his remarks, Mr. Butterworth spoke about how Mr. Wolfinger and his fledgling staff were leaders in the quest for a constitutional amendment, guaranteeing victims' rights to be informed, to be present, and to be heard during court hearings concerning their cases or their loved ones.

Other awards and their recipients were: The Kathy L. King Victim Advocate of the Year Award went to Christina Vinson, an advocate with the Sexual Assault Victim Services unit at the SAO, and Michelle Glover, an advocate with the Titusville Police Department.

The Outstanding Service to Victims Award went to SAO receptionist Kathy Dudley and South Brevard Women's Center volunteer receptionist Diane Reid.

The Sen. Howard Futch Memorial Leadership Award went to community volunteer Delores Spearman.

Mr. Wolfinger also recognized Col. Danny McKnight (retired) with a special leadership award for his lifetime achievements and contributions on behalf of military personnel.

Top consumer complaints listed

For Hometown News

The commissioner of agriculture, Adam H. Putnam, has announced the top three calls received in November through the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' 1-800-HELP-FLA consumer hotline are: solicitation of contributions, motor vehicle repair and landlord/tenant.

In total, more than 12,200 complaints were filed by consumers in November, and the department received 21,284 calls and 606 emails for consumer assistance and information.

In the last month, the department has responded to many consumer concerns and taken action against several individuals or businesses operating outside of Florida law.

During the month of November, the department registered 3,857 businesses (both initial or renewal business registrations), and received 12,219 complaints.

The top th ree areas of consumer's complaints include:

• Do Not Call
• Sellers of Travel, and
• Telemarketing

It initiated 156 investigations (148 administrative and eight criminal), arrested eight individuals in violation of state law, recovered $277,119 on behalf of Florida consumers, added 6,802 numbers (3,594 individuals) to Florida's Do Not Call List as of November. These numbers will be effective Jan. 1.

Currently, there are 408,581 numbers and 224,852 subscribers on the list

The Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services is the state's clearinghouse for consumer complaints, protection and information.

Consumers who believe fraud has taken place can contact the department's consumer protection and information hotline at 1-800-HELP-FLA (435-7352) or, for Spanish speakers, 1-800-FL-AYUDA (352-9832).

For more information about the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, visit www.FreshFromFlorida.com.

loneliness from creeping in during quiet moments.

SCORPIO – Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Scorpio, you may need to concede to a difference of opinion this week when you simply cannot resolve something amicably. Redirect attention on a craft or pastime.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov. 23-Dec. 21

Sagittarius, sometimes you tend to be brutally honest with others. While honesty is an admirable trait, this week you may need to censor what you say to avoid hurt feelings.

CAPRICORN – Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Taking a circuitous route will land you at the finish a little behind others, Capricorn. But you will get to the end nevertheless. Trust your instincts with this one.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21-Feb 18

Aquarius, you probably won't be able to rest your mind until you square away all of your finances and make a budget for the new year. Take on the job this week.

PISCES – F eb. 19-March 20

Introspection leads you on a mini-quest to find a creative outlet, Pisces. Play to your strengths and some ideas will surface.
