Inaugural Melbourne Air & Space Show to take to the skies

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — Space Coast residents will be able to enjoy a day packed with adventure and excitement, as the Melbourne Air & Space Show 2013 soars across the sky.

The inaugural event takes place on Saturday, Nov. 2 at Paradise Beach Park in Melbourne, with the Air & Space show beginning at 12:30 p.m. Attendees are encouraged to arrive well before the show, as it is sure to draw a massive crowd.

"The Melbourne Air & Space Show 2013 is a one-day extravaganza of air demonstrations," said Brad Swezey, executive director of the National Air, Sea & Space Foundation. "Because of the sequestration, the military is not participating in the show, so we will have an all-star, all-civilian line-up, including the world-famous Black Diamond Jet Team."

The Black Diamond Jet Team is a jet demonstration team that performs loops, barrel rolls, dives and formations just a few mere inches apart. The team leader, Mr. Swezey said, is a former F-15 Eagle pilot and is the first F-4 Heritage Fighter Pilot in the U.S. Air Force.

In addition to the Black Diamond Jet Team, the world-class demonstration team GEICO Skytypers, whose members include former U.S. Air Force and U.S. Navy Fighter Pilots, will cruise to incredible altitudes.

"The GEICO Skytypers is a squadron of six vintage WWII aircraft, performing precision flight maneuvers, and writing messages in the sky that last longer than any other skytypers in the world.

By Chris Fish

MELBOURNE — As a "New York Times" best-selling author, David Sedaris is no stranger to traveling.

"I'm at the Buffalo airport, fixing to fly to Baltimore," he said in an email. "My tour started two days ago, so I'm fairly fresh."

In promotion of his new material, Mr. Sedaris is embarking on a tour across the country, which will make a stop in Melbourne at the Maxwell C. King Center for the Performing Arts on Sunday, Oct. 27.

With his significant other, Hugh Hamrick, Mr. Sedaris has traveled the world and lived in various countries, such as Japan and France. There, he observes the daily nuances of his life, remembering each unique moment of his day to later craft them into compilations of short-stories and essays.

Grant to help fund breast cancer research

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — A grant of $21,184 was awarded this month, as a away to aid in local breast cancer research.

The Community Foundation of Brevard's Kenneth R. Finken and Dorothy Hallam Finken Endowment Fund donated the funding to Florida Institute of Technology for research spearhead by Munevver Mine Subasi, assistant professor of mathematical sciences in the College of Science.

The grant provides funds for the initial study of the use and development of sophisticated mathematical techniques applied to breast cancer research, Ms. Subasi said.

"The successful results of this project will be used as basis in proposals to attract funding from other funding agencies, including National Institute of Health and National Science Foundation," she said. "(The grant) also provides an excellent opportunity for me to reach (and) attract local medical experts for future collaborative studies."

Ms. Subasis will use statistical and mathematical tools to identify the patterns of expression of gene ratios that relate to resistance to the drug Tamoxifen.

"The successful results of this research are expected to directly help medical experts to identify the estrogen positive breast-cancer patients, who develop resistance to Tamixfen," Ms. Subasi said. "The research is also expected to lead to the development of new mathematical tools to address the specific needs

Local teenager turns hobby into mission through unique nonprofit

By Deb Alberto
For Hometown News

BREVARD — Natalie Barton had a dilemma.

She was just 11 years old when she learned to knit, but enjoyed it so much that by age 13, she had accumulated more knitted baby caps than she knew what to do with.

As a way to give back to her community, the Palm Bay resident asked around and was able to donate them to the neonatal unit at a local hospital.

The gesture was well-received, so she continued knitting. It was nice to know someone would appreciate her labor of love.

Then, the 2010 earthquake devastated Haiti, and Natalie knew she had to do more. In three short years, her simple hobby grew into Caring Caps, a global nonprofit organization, comprised of knitters in 12 states and two countries.

Now 16 years old and a senior at Bayside High School, Natalie's organization, Caring Caps, was recently granted its official nonprofit status.

Natalie, who teaches local knitting classes, creates online tutorials for her own YouTube channel and stays busy recruiting new members and keeping her blogs and website updated, said she gets a warm and fuzzy feeling of satisfaction, knowing her simple gesture has inspired so many.

To date, 775 handmade caps have made their way to villages in Haiti, Jamaica, Nicaragua, Thailand, Romania and the Dominican Republic.

"From the feedback we get, these items are really treasured," Natalie said. "For some of the children, it is the only handmade thing they will get from outside of their village. It's nice to know many of these caps will be passed down from generation to generation."

When she saw a potential for growth, the tech-savvy self-starter

Class teaches public about child-seat safety

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — To help curb injury to children improperly secured in their car seats, the Palm Bay Police Department is offering a presentation on child safety seats.

On Saturday, Oct. 26, at 2 p.m., an injury prevention program, which includes the presentation, will be held at the department headquarters.

The free presentation will offer practical exercises to help participants understand how to best install a child safety-seat in the vehicle.

"The information about car seat safety and proper instillation can sometimes be confusing," said Sgt. Tina Hensel, who will be leading the presentation for the Palm Bay Police Department. "Those who are able to attend a class are able to get information and ask questions before they install their cars seats under the guidance of a certified technician. All of my attendees have said they learned something new and were thankful that there was a resource, such as the class, in their community."

The two-hour presentation will provide information about child safety in the vehicle, child safety seats, proper installation instructions, injury prevention and more, as well as the opportunity to have questions answered by specially trained law enforcement officers.

"The most important thing about this class is the practical exercise," Sgt. Hensel said. "It is critical that the car seats are installed correctly in the event there is a crash."

Sgt. Hensel said that the class will also discuss the law, critical information about car seats, criteria for choosing the right car seat for their child and step-by-step instructions to help properly install a car seat.

In the future, Sgt. Hensel said she hopes the department can offer a class every month.

The Palm Bay Police Department is located at 130 S.E. Malabar Road.

For more information, contact Sgt. Hensel at (321) 508-2019. The class is free and open to the public.

designed her own website, www.caringcaps.org, began recording tutorials on YouTube and recruited others to join her mission.

Now, with chapters in Virginia, Maryland, Texas and Oklahoma, Natalie hasn't slowed down one bit.

The popularity of the project inspired Natalie to set up chapters throughout the United States.

Knitters around the country have joined the cause, knitting headbands, baby booties and teddy bears to send around the world.

"We developed a really cool system, where we send out the supplies to our knitters, including a needle, a loom and yarn, then we cover the shipping, so they can send it back to us," Natalie said.

The organization's logo – a heart at the center, spreading light and love – represents Natalie's mission.

"We have found that these items are a really easy thing to donate because the missionaries and people, who travel, can take them in their suitcase," she said. "There's no expensive shipping fee involved."

the federal government shutdown ended, Mr. Swezey said that the shutdown had a potential impact on the show, as the organizations that needed to approve various aspects of the show had furloughed workers.

"The fact that we are able to have this show is a testament to the hard work of those, who came back and made this happen," Mr. Swezey added.

Prior to the 12:30 performances, a display village will open at 9 a.m. for air and space enthusiasts to enjoy. An Air Show Happy Hour will take place at the Hilton Melbourne Beach Oceanfront at 4 p.m., with a street party to follow in Downtown Melbourne that evening.

Air shows, like the upcoming Melbourne Air & Space Show, have always been popular with many Americans, especially Brevard County residents, as it gives people another reason to enjoy a day at the beach with their families.

"People love excitement, adventure and the promise that they can, one day, be a part of it all," Mr. Swezey said. "Air shows offer people all that and more. There is nothing like watching a jet sitting on its tail, going straight up or blasting through the crowds, inches apart from another jet."

The Melbourne Air & Space Show 2013 offers attendees a completely packed day of the very best civilian air flight.

"Additionally, it's a prime opportunity to see local flyers in action," Mr. Swezey said. "What a fantastic opportunity to go to the beach, enjoy the weather and watch some major aerial acts take their aircraft and do with it what no one else can."

another," he said. "Sometimes, life just feels like a story. I'm thinking of the time I bought a stuffed owl, and the taxidermist looked into my soul, or the time I went to Australia and fed a Kookaburra.

"There are days that seem majestic to me," he said. "That said, they can't be forced, and they don't come along too often."

On April 23, Mr. Sedaris released his latest collection of narrative essays, "Let's Explore Diabetes with Owls," where he discusses topics ranging from the fear of socialized medicine to purchasing a stuffed owl. The new book debuted at the No. 1 spot of the "New York Times" Bestseller List, an accomplishment that he hasn't let slide pass without jabbing at it with a respectful taste of his self-depreciating humor he has become synonymous with.

"It feels great to be No. 1 on the Times' list until you look at what was No. 1 a week before, and you realize it was 'written' by a celebrated embezzler or a runaway cat," he said. "It feels great until you consider all the books that are much better than yours, but don't get the attention they deserve because they've not been made a priority by the publisher. All that said, it still feels great."

It is through his public appearances that Mr. Sedaris hones his craft, learning how to best convey his material aloud, which also translates humorously onto his audio versions of his books; something he reads aloud himself.

"By the time I head into the recording studio, I've read each story in front of an audience at least 50 times," he said. "This is to say that I've learned how to read it; I know when to pause and when to lay on a particular word.

"The trick is recording someone else's work," he continued. "I recently read a story for a New Yorker podcast that was written by Miranda July. I'm a huge admirer of her stories, and, though I practiced for a solid week beforehand, I'm not sure that I did it justice."

True to form, even as he is in the process of traveling from city to city, waiting to board his next plane to Baltimore, Mr. Sedaris never stops observing the world around him.

"One of the stories I've written for this tour involves the time I spent as someone's campaign manager," he said. "I was 13, and it's something I've never forgotten for some reason. Understanding why I've never forgotten it is what takes it from memory to a full fledged story."

David Sedaris will perform at the Maxwell C. King Center for the Performing Arts on Sunday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m.

Tickets begin at $35.

For more information, call (321) 242-2219.

Holocaust survivor visits Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy

For Hometown News

It's pretty typical for high school students to get a little antsy by seventh period. They are thinking about homework, practices and plans with friends. But on a Monday afternoon in mid-October, 25 students from Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy's Upper School sat mesmerized, as Sheldon Kermish told his story.

Kermish, originally from Zlotniki, Poland, is a Holocaust survivor. When he was 2 years old, he and his family went into hiding in a 6-by-8-foot bunker on a farm. They survived in that space for two and a half years, barely moving and eating very little. On Kermish's fifth birthday - March 24, 1944 - their host family instructed them to flee quickly. The Russians had temporarily driven the Nazis out, but would not be able to hold them off.

This is the image that Kermish remembers most: struggling through the deep snow, a task made even more difficult because he and his family had not really walked for years. Flames and chaos surrounded them. This is one of the scenes that Cathy Rodby's art students were asked to replicate from memory after Kermish spoke.

Also in attendance were Lara Duguid's "History of the Holocaust" students. While Duguid also teaches Advanced Placement European History and Honors Economics, History of the Holocaust is, in her opinion, the most important class she teaches. "We teach it, so it never happens again," says Duguid. "It's important for students to think about those who sat and did nothing and their culpability."

This was consistent with Kermish's final message. He speaks to students and other groups, as evidence that the Holocaust did exist, and implores them to never let it happen again.

EFSC to present family-friendly musical this weekend

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — A childhood classic tale, complete with a lesson of being kind and respectful toward others, will be brought to life on stage this weekend.
Eastern Florida State College's Department of Performing and Visual Arts will present "Miss Nelson is Missing," a family-friendly musical, at the Bernard Simpkins Fine Arts Center Main Stage at the Cocoa campus.
The performances will be held on Friday, Oct. 25 and Saturday, Oct. 26 at 7 p.m., with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Oct. 27. Tickets are $5.

"Miss Nelson is Missing" features music and lyrics by Joan Cushing, based on the classic children's books "Miss Nelson is Missing!" and "Miss Nelson is Back!" by Harry Allard and James Marshall.
This weekend's performances focus on the students of Room 207, who happen to be the worst-behaved students in the school. Miss Nelson is forced over the edge by her student's constant rowdy behavior, spitballs and paper airplanes.
When Miss Nelson disappears, she is replaced by a terrifying substitute, Miss Viola Swamp. Longing for the sweet and gentle ways of their beloved teacher, the students of Room 207 set out to find Miss Nelson and learn the value of being respectful to others.
The play is produced by the Theatre Rehearsal and Performance class at EFSC.
"The work of this class is to produce a play," said Jeanine Henry, director of theatre arts at EFSC. "Students learn about performance and also help with scenery, props and costumes."
Mrs. Henry said the class presents two shows per semester; the first show is a one-act play, with the second show being a larger production. She added that the productions are typically the result of a class.
"We wanted to do a musical for young audiences that classroom teachers would recognize," Mrs. Henry said about this weekend's musical performances.
"This musical is based on a popular children's book and the actor pool also suited the cast makeup of this show."
Caroline Miller will play both "Miss Nelson" and "Miss Viola Swamp," while Jonathan Seaman will play "Pop Hanson," "Principal Blandsworth," "Detective McSmogg" and the janitor.
The students of room 207 are Kari Snodgrass, who will play "Allison," Landon Morley as "Adam," Victoria Weaver, who will play "Cheryl," Tyler Lehtio as "Gregory," Rebecca Gibbons as "Rachel" and Shad Tererros, who will play "Zac."
Mrs. Henry said that the class, which has been rehearsing since August, is enjoying the opportunity to play elementary-aged kids.
"'Miss Nelson is Missing' is a lively and fun performance, and is a great, affordable outing for the family to enjoy," Mrs. Henry said. "It connects young people to reading — see the play and read the book."
"Miss Nelson is Missing," presented by Eastern Florida State College's Department of Performing and Visual Arts, will be Oct. 25-27 at the Bernard Simpkins Fine Arts Center Main Stage at the Cocoa

What if we see hair loss in our pets and there is no itching observed? We sometimes see this during skin disease work ups. There are several internal diseases that contribute to this phenomenon. Just a few of these are hypothyroidism, Cushing's disease, and ex hormone induced alopecia (hair loss). If we suspect sex hormone induced alopecia and the pet is not spayed/neutered, we will suggest that the procedure be done and within 2-3 months the hair will grow back! As part of our work up for these diseases, we perform blood work and a few specific tests to reach a diagnosis. Biopsies are also necessary for a diagnosis.
Please call your veterinarian for more information and guidance.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION FROM FLORIDA CITY GAS

Every day, underground pipelines safely transport natural gas to homes and businesses throughout the area. Florida City Gas is responsible for the security and maintenance of pipelines in our service territory.

Call Before You Dig

Before digging around your property, state law requires you call 811 to have your utility lines professionally marked – for free! You must wait the required amount of time before you begin your project.

811 Know what's below. Call before you dig.

Pipeline markers indicate the presence of pipe and right-of-way. While they're not present in all areas, it's always best to call 811. If right-of-way is adjacent to your property, it is your responsibility to ensure no new landscaping or physical structure interferes with access to the pipeline, and with our ability to keep it safe through routine monitoring and maintenance. Information about transmission pipelines operating in your community is available through the National Pipeline Mapping System (NPMS) and is available online at www.npms.phmsa.dot.gov.

Water Heater Safety

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission urges all users to lower their water heaters to 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

Carbon Monoxide

Incomplete combustion of any fuel – produces carbon monoxide. Carbon monoxide is poisonous and has no odor, taste or color. Carbon monoxide detectors are helpful, but they are no substitute for using equipment safely. This includes having it inspected once a year by a certified contractor.

Appliance Safety

According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency:

- It's important that you have your furnace inspected by a qualified specialist.
- Be sure all furnace controls and emergency shutoffs are in proper working condition.
- Keep trash and other combustible material away from your air heating and water heating systems.

IF YOU SMELL GAS, ACT FAST.

Although natural gas pipeline incidents are uncommon, these tips will help you identify a possible leak and know what to do.

LOOK for blowing dirt or continued bubbling of standing water.

LISTEN for a hissing or roaring sound near a natural gas appliance or line.

SMELL for the distinctive rotten-egg scent of natural gas. Take action if you detect even a small amount of this odor.

LEAVE the area IMMEDIATELY if you detect a natural gas leak. Don't try to identify the source or stop the leak.

CALL Florida City Gas at 888.352.5325 or 911 once you are safely away from the possible leak site. Stay away from the area until a Florida City Gas representative or emergency personnel indicate it is safe to return.

REMEMBER while near a possible natural gas leak, do not touch or use anything that may cause a spark. This includes lighters, matches, cigarettes, flashlights, light switches and telephones. Wait until you have left the area to use a cell phone.

VIEWPOINT

Avoiding violent crime situations

BREVARD COUNTY SHERIFF
WAYNE IVEY

In the next series of articles, we are going to learn how to use our mind and awareness to avoid a violent crime situation, so we hopefully don't have to resort to "self-defense" measures to protect ourselves.

To understand how to protect ourselves against violent criminals, we must first understand how violent criminals operate, and why.

Lack of Awareness: Most of society travels through each day with "blinders" on, believing that if they are not involved in certain activities or at a location where those activities commonly occur, that there is no need to worry about being the target of a violent crime.

Today's society clearly demonstrates that we can no longer afford to go through life with "blinders on."

By educating ourselves and our family on the latest crime trends and methods used by violent criminals, we automatically increase our awareness and become more alert of our surroundings and those around us.

Body Language: What I am referring to is how we visually appear to the criminal. Do we appear to be a "hard" or a "soft" target? Violent criminals are opportunists, who look for targets that can be easily taken, robbed or assaulted without resistance or an obvious ability to immediately summon help.

By "hard" target, I am not just talking about physical abilities, but more importantly, the ability to see a potential attack before it starts to happen – the ability to have or summon immediate help, or the ability to defend ourselves long enough for help to arrive.

Violent criminals want "soft" targets, those who can be easily approached, attacked or taken from an area with an easy escape route that leaves little or no trace of the incident.

Wrong Place/Wrong Time: This variable is the one that we have the least control over, as we can find ourselves being targeted by a criminal in an environment that we have visited many times – locations that create a sense of comfort, where we let our guard down due to familiarity.

While we can't control where the attack may occur, we can make sure that we know how we will respond if ever faced with a violent situation.

What we need to do is not wait for the emergency to happen before we go into action, but start right now by trying to identify what we would do if confronted.

While the men and women of the Brevard County Sheriff's Office and our state and local law enforcement partners do an incredible job at protecting our citizens, you are the first line of defense against violent criminals.

While the best law enforcement officers in the country have response times in minutes, violent criminals can take our lives in seconds.

Being aware of the various crime techniques and methods used by today's criminals is a very effective way to protect yourself and those you love.

If you know how predators operate, then you know how to defend against their actions. If an event is predictable, it is preventable.

Wayne Ivey is the sheriff of Brevard County

Letter to the Editor

Have we lost our minds?

To the Editor:

My premiums have gone up 70 percent under the "NON-Affordable Care Act," because the major company I worked for dropped all of its pension-benefits because of high costs and regulations of NACA.

(President Barack) Obama does not care. And this NACA has nothing to do with health. It is a tax and will crush America's economy.

It should be de-funded; and totally re-written.

The Republicans have done a poor job in selling their plan, which they put online shortly after the 2,700-page Democratic train wreck was put online back in 2009.

(The) Republican plan was a far better plan and included many facets, which are needed to improve Americans' healthcare.

Not one Republican voted for NACA.

This bill does nothing to improve healthcare.

Bet few congressmen, who receive six-figure salaries, plus tremendous benefits, have read this monstrosity.

Employees across America have had their hours cut or lost their jobs, as employers wrestle to comply.

Logically thinking people would prefer the "government" concentrate on waste and fraud and resent closing off parks. Can you believe park rangers placed barriers on roads leading up to the hill in South Dakota, where four of our great presidents are honored? Mt. Rushmore, Yellowstone and even the National Mall (has been) barricaded!

But (President) Obama allowed illegals, wanting amnesty, to hold a rally there, but restrained our World War II veterans, who saved us from the Nazis and the Japanese, from seeing the outdoor monuments built for their honor. HOW RIDICULOUS!

The track record of leaking personal information and discrimination by the IRS should make Americans want to disqualify this agency from involvement in collection.

He continually shows NO respect for America or its citizens. He 'rewards' terrorists in Syria and Egypt by sending them millions – which we borrow – to buy weapons they use to kill our military!

We will suffer a default, and then people will wake up.

This man continually disobeys our laws and ignores the constitution; which is to limit power; scope of government.

Because of his continual lying, he has no credibility around the world.

Republicans want to restore essential services, such as this. He refuses!

He totally misunderstands the threat of radical Islam, which could devastate America!

Major attacks against Christians and Jews or any "infidel" have taken place throughout Europe, North Africa, the Middle East and throughout Asia, yet we continue to fund our enemies with millions!

Controlling education; through federal programs

The environment is critical

I'm not sure whom to address this, yet I will aim it toward people who are concerned about our environment, America turning into a police state and generally the people who notice that our country has changed dramatically in the past almost 13 years.

I understand that this may not make the paper, as you check the "facts" for "accuracy;" and not only do I admire this, I recommend it. So please, do your own critical thinking, along with your research.

Now, that being said, I will say that it is extremely factual to me along with many others worldwide that what is trashing our environment is the now constant geo-engineering.

It has been ramped up to 24/7/365, causing so much damage to the earth's ecosystem that it is unknown as to whether the earth will be able to correct herself IF these programs came to a halt today!

There is nothing "Al Gorian" about what I'm writing, as I will say that people have caused damage since the industrial age. However, not as much damage, as the world's population and mainstream media would have us believe.

This is the most critical topic of our time, right now.

If these global geo-engineering programs are stopped very soon ... in time for the earth to correct herself, our future generations have a chance to live, giving us the chance to turn all else that is troublesome in our country around.

All of the information, patents and corporations involved are available on the Internet. You only need care enough to research it.

Please stop texting, playing on your phones, driving without looking around you and especially looking up!

Long white plumes behind jets are not contrails, as contrails dissipate quite rapidly. They also have never and will never turn into clouds that haze up our blue skies.

We consent to this spraying of chemicals by our silence and only when enough of us recognize what is really going on will we be able to say, "We do not consent. No, it is not OK to be spraying us with toxins" … as we are ALL breathing this crap!

There was a global march against geo-engineering last Sunday, where one took place right here in Cocoa Beach, though no newspaper nor local media covered it, nor even reported it was going to go on.

Please ask yourselves, why wasn't it or why you never see it reported on (the) mainstream media?

Google geo-engineering and chemtrails. I guarantee you will find a wealth of information.

These programs are why the Indian River Lagoon, the manatees, pelicans, dolphins and God only knows what else is dying or dead; and we CAN stop this. Please, look up.

Go ahead, make my someday

(President Barack) Obama is concerned about 1,500 Syrians deaths and more in the future. Why?

When "Obamacare" is going full throttle ... how many Americans will perish because of rationed healthcare, i.e. death panels?

Exponentially more, I would think.

Pumping gas

This is pertaining to pumping gas.

When you pump the gas, no receipt comes out.

You have to walk into the establishment to get a receipt.

And I told the cashier there that's the reason and convenience of having a credit card. You use it to pump. You press the button for the receipt, so you don't have to go in the store.

So, I might as well go in there and pay them first.

They need to make sure that their customers get their receipt at the pump.

• Celebrating 25 years of storytelling: In October 1988, the Brevard Theatrical Ensemble began entertaining audiences by telling stories that raised goose bumps or just made you remember to look behind yourself when you entered a dark street.

With yard chairs and flashlights, they gathered under a huge oak tree in Cocoa Village. The moss swayed, as the early evening breezes danced around them; and that was the beginning of the yearly October Telling.

It has been an adventure to choose tellers and material that capture young and old listeners.

The first few years they had to invite tellers from all over the state to participate in this yearly program; but then Brevard residents became interested in learning the ancient art of storytelling, and now BTE has a talented group of performers that devote time and energy to produce programs that have been enjoyed by more than 80,000 listeners.

Come and join them at the Porcher House to celebrate their 25th birthday at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 25 and 26.

"(The research) is expected to attract local medical researches for future collaborative studies," she said.

Ms. Subasi said that she has been interested in doing research of this magnitude for some time now.

"I have participated in various projects involving large-scale data analysis, with applications to medicine, during my graduate and postgraduate studies," she said. "I have been introduced to breast cancer research through a project supervised by Dr. Gyan Bhanot, (BioMaPS Institute of Rutgers and Cancer Institute of New Jersey) during my post-doc studies. Since then, I have been exploring the area of Medical Bioinformatics and developing and applying mathematical tools for large-scale data analysis."

Adagio Sax Quartet to host first solo performance

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — One of the Space Coast's newest musical combos will host its first concert this November.

The Adagio Sax Quartet, an ensemble of the Melbourne Municipal Band, will perform on Sunday, Nov. 3 at Suntree United Methodist Church at 3 p.m. While there are no tickets required for next weekend's show, a $10 donation is suggested and will be collected at the door.

"The Adagio Sax Quartet played the pre-show at the Swingtime Concert on Oct. 9 and 10, but the concert at Suntree United Methodist Church is the first independent concert," said Dave Hutson, founder of the ensemble. "We hope to have more independent concerts in the future."

Exploring the full range of the saxophone, the Adagio Sax Quartet's repertoire includes music from the Great American Songbook as well as blues, Dixieland, rags and classical.

"Most of us have heard the sax in jazz, swing and rock bands," Mr. Hutson said. "Our quartet plays jazzy and swing pieces, but the sax is equally capable of rendering classical pieces with elegance. For instance, our arrangement of Bach's 'Air' from his 'Orchestral Suite No. 3' is taken from a string quartet arrangement, and it's quite lovely."

The Melbourne Municipal Band's Adagio Sax Quartet is made up of Dave Melchor, Dave Huston, John Babb, Andrew Cleaver and Johnie Rojas on percussion.

In addition to Mr. Hutson, who also serves as president of the MMB's Board of Trustees, the Adagio Sax Quartet includes Andrew Cleaver, Dave Melchor, John Babb, and local jazz drummer Johnie Rojas.

While the playlist for next weekend's performance has not been finalized, Mr. Hutson said that the Adagio Sax Quartet will play a jazzed-up version of "Ain't Misbehavin'"and Hoagy Carmichael's "Stardust."

During the performance break, members of the quartet will be available to discuss saxophones and music, in general, with members of the audience.

"People should come to next weekend's performance because the music is so enjoyable," Mr. Hutson said. "In an intimate setting, such as the church sanctuary, the harmonies and tonal colors of the music come alive. We are also big advocates of music in schools and ask that parents bring their kids to this concert, so that the kids can experience this music."

The Adagio Sax Quartet will perform on Sunday, Nov. 3 at Suntree United Methodist Church at 3 p.m. A $10 donation in suggested and will be collected at the door. School-aged audience members will be admitted free.

No tickets are required.

Suntree United Methodist Church is located at 7400 N. Wickham Road, Melbourne.

The Adagio Sax Quartet's events are sponsored in part by the state of Florida, Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs and the Florida Council on Arts and Culture.

Broadway musical comedy 'Forever Plaid'

The hilariously charming hit musical, "Forever Plaid," will take you on a trip to "Fiftiesville," with "Sparky," "Jinx," "Smudge" and "Frankie," a fictional 1950s boy band.

Tragically, and inconveniently struck down before their first big gig, "The Plaids" will be brought back to earth to take the stage one last time.

This critically acclaimed musical, celebrating the precision harmonies and well choreographed moves that were the epitome of 1950s traditional values, home and harmony, the uproariously entertaining "Forever Plaid" is perfect for the entire family.

Filled with the nostalgic sounds of the 1950s, the musical incorporates beautifully composed close four-part harmony.

"The Plaids" sing some of the '50s greatest hits, including "Catch a Falling Star," "Three Coins in the Fountain," "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing" and "Magic Moments."

"Forever Plaid" features a book by Stuart Ross and musical continuity supervision and arrangements by James Raitt.

Artful Awakenings offers patients exemplary care, results

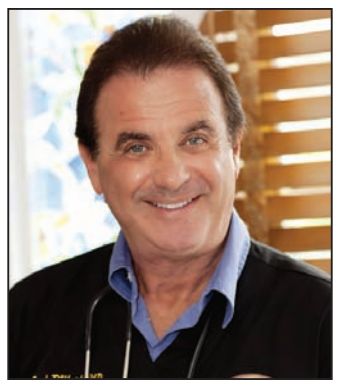
By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — Nestled on the corner of Strawbridge Avenue and Oak Street in Historic Downtown Melbourne is Artful Awakenings, a full-service plastic surgery office.

Opened by Dr. Frank Filiberto and his wife, Christine in December 2011, Artful Awakenings offers its patients a range of cosmetic surgery options with the utmost care.

Dr. Filiberto has practiced in Brevard and Indian River counties for nearly 30 years as an ear, nose and throat surgeon, and still sees ENT patients at his Palm Bay office.

"Before we opened Artful Awakenings, Dr. Filiberto was the chief surgeon for Lifestyle Lift in Orlando from 2007 through 2010, where he worked for four years and trained physicians," said Mrs. Filiberto, office manager and partner. "He has assisted and trained other physicians in the latest and greatest techniques for facelifts, necklifts, upper and lower eyelifts and browlifts, which give a natural, youthful appearance."



Dr. Frank Filiberto

What also sets Dr. Filiberto apart from other Brevard County plastic surgeons is that he was awarded a nationally superior rating in patient satisfaction after performing more than 1,000 facelifts in 2009 for Lifestyle Lift.

When a patient calls to have a procedure done at Artful Awakenings, their point of contact is either Mrs. Filiberto or Jason Goodwin, assistant office manager. The full-service plastic surgery office also has professional consultant, Lucy Williams, on staff.

"We identify what their needs are going to be and set them up for however much time they are going to need," Mrs. Filiberto said. "Some people want to have the full body done and some people just want their eyes or breasts done."

When a patient arrives for a consult, they are brought into the consultation room, where Dr. Filiberto discusses the patients wants, needs and goals.

Artful Awakenings is very conscious about offering Dr. Filiberto's surgical expertise at a competitive price to help patients look as young as they feel.

"Plastic surgery has to be affordable, so we offer Care Credit, which is a wonderful program, with zero percent interest for patients with great credit," Mrs. Filiberto said. "We also offer other credit programs for our patients, who may not have the best credit scores."

Another way Artful Awakenings keeps the cost of its services lower is by not putting patients under general anesthesia.

"There are a lot of plastic surgeons, who still put people under," Mrs. Filiberto said. "Instead of anesthesia, we give them a relaxation sedative, which is a shot that makes the patient feel completely relaxed."

Once the patient is at ease, they are brought into the surgery suite, where Dr. Filiberto numbs all of the areas that will be operated on.

"Patients sleep throughout the procedure, and they don't need to have a tube down their throat and an anesthesiologist helping them breathe," Mrs. Filiberto said. "Anesthesia is the most dangerous part of surgery, so using a local anesthetic has proven to be much safer for patients than general anesthesia."

Mrs. Filiberto added that Dr. Filiberto chooses not to use general anesthesia because plastic surgery focuses on the surface, not cutting into major organs.

Another benefit of foregoing anesthesia is that the patient is able to go home shortly after surgery.

While most patients might initially feel uncomfortable not being under general anesthesia, Mrs. Filiberto is a firm believer in her husband's practice.

"It works beautifully," she said. "We take pride in the fact that Dr. Filiberto makes sure the patient is safe and they aren't having someone else breathing for them. Recovery time is affected by not going under, as well, because you do not have to recover from anesthesia."

With all of his incredible accomplishments, including being a two-time recipient of the National Physician of the Year award by the U.S. Olympic Boxing team, the care and happiness of Dr. Filiberto's patients are of the utmost importance.

"We are a small office, so we concentrate on one patient at a time — we aren't a mill that turns people over and over," Mrs. Filiberto said. "We operate on our patients' time. Artful Awakenings is family-oriented, and our patients leave as our friends."

Artful Awakenings is located at 400 E. Strawbridge Ave., Melbourne.

It's a scary October at IHOP

For Hometown News
newsML@hometownnewsol.com

As Halloween approaches, be very afraid – and also a little hungry – because participating IHOP restaurants in Brevard County and the Orlando area are bringing back one of the restaurant's most beloved traditions for kids. The "Scary Face" pancake joined the "Just For Kids" menu on Oct. 1.

And as a special Halloween treat, from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Oct. 31, participating IHOP restaurants will offer kids 12 and younger a "Scary Face" pancake free – and that's no trick!

Kids 12 and younger can order a "Scary Face" pancake and be able to make it into as scary – or funny – a face as they want.

The "Scary Face" pancake comes with one of IHOP restaurant's world-famous buttermilk pancakes, a whipped-topping mouth, a glazed strawberry nose and a set of delicious decorations: two mini-Oreo cookies to create eyes and eight pieces of candy corn to add teeth or fangs. Let your imagination run wild!

And kids older than 12, and grownups, will get a treat, too, when the most popular seasonal favorite, pumpkin pancakes, return to the menu at participating IHOP restaurants.

All of the Brevard County IHOP restaurants will be participating with the "Scary Face" pancake during October and the giveaway for the kids on Oct. 31.

The Brevard IHOP locations are:

- 4160 W. S.R. 520, Cocoa
- 3830 N. Atlantic Ave., Cocoa Beach
- 1107 Malabar Road N.E., Palm Bay
- 4455 West New Haven Ave., Melbourne
- 3755 Cheney Highway, Titusville.

The "Scary Face" pancake will only be available through the month of October. Hurry before they vanish … like ghosts!

Community Notes

Team named Disney Conservation Hero

The Disney Worldwide Conservation Fund has announced the Mosquito Lagoon Oyster Restoration team as a Disney Conservation Hero.

The team was recognized for their passion and dedication to protecting wildlife and the waterways on the east coast of Florida.

The Mosquito Lagoon Oyster Restoration team is comprised of Jody Palmer, Linda Walters, Paul Sacks, Kirk Fusco and more than 36,000 volunteers who have assisted throughout the years.

The team was one of only 14 recipients this year. They were nominated for their efforts in an ongoing collaborative oyster reef restoration project in the Indian River Lagoon, the most biologically diverse estuary in the continental United States.

Disney Conservation Heroes receive an award medal, recognition certificate and cash award that is shared with their nominating organization.

The DWCF annually invites nonprofit organizations, who have received conservation funding in the past to nominate individuals in communities around the world for their incredible conservation efforts.

Since 2004, Disney has honored 85 Conservation Heroes.

Schools receive grant for programs

Brevard Public Schools is the recipient of the Florida Endowment Foundation Grant Award for $28,000. These monies will be used to support three unique after school programs for students, which are:

• Girls Get It – an initiative designed to engage girls in science, technology, engineering and math careers, with the purpose of empowering to pursue high skill coursework in college and beyond.

• Victory Over Instability by Choosing Education – a science, technology, engineering, art and math initiative for students interested in exploring courses, majors and careers found in the collision of technology and art, such as gaming, web design and sound engineering.

• Students United with Parents and Educators to Resolve Bullying – an innovative safe schools initiative in which mental health professionals coordinate high-energy workshops. SUPERB gives students the leadership and character skills they need to understand safe intervention techniques and to better empathize with peers who are being excluded or isolated.

The Florida Endowment Foundation for Florida's Graduates exists to assist parents and educators in creating socially-adept, academically-capable, self-disciplined, and goal-oriented young people who are prepared to capitalize fully on their future opportunities.

For more information, contact Robin Ward, grant writer, at (321) 633-1000, Ext. 348, or ward.robin@brevard-schools.org.
