Evans Library celebrates 50 years as federal depository

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — The Florida Institute of Technology is inviting the pubic to attend a celebration, 50 years in the making.

Since 1963, Evans Library has served the Florida Tech community and the citizens of Florida's 8th Congressional District by providing and promoting access to information published by the federal government for public consumption.

"Over the span of 50 years, our collection of government materials has come to reflect American society's shifting concerns and priorities," said Robert Sippel, government information/data librarian at Evans Library. "The U.S. Congress has been designating select libraries as depositories since 1813. So, in a happy coincidence, our 50th anniversary coincides with the bicentennial of the Federal Depository Library Program."

On Friday, Nov. 22, the celebration will take place at the library from 3-5 p.m.

Former U.S. Congressman Dave Weldon, who serves as a member of the FIT faculty, will speak in honor of the Parade, performance to kick off holiday season

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — The Viera Company is proud to host the "Light Up Viera" holiday celebration on Saturday, Nov. 30, complete with a magical holiday parade and a festive Holiday Pops concert by the Brevard Symphony Orchestra.

"We've always hosted community holiday celebrations to welcome the season, but this year, we welcome what will become Viera's annual signature event and a hometown tradition for residents of our community and Brevard," said Karla-Mae Goodman, general manager for the Viera Discovery Center.

The parade, full of sparkling lights, professional decorated floats, marching bands and — of course — Santa Claus begins at 5:30 p.m. by the VA Clinic on Breslay Drive and will finish at the Space Coast Stadium.

"Residents, visitors and guests can expect to marvel at the millions of lights on parade," Ms. Goodman said. "With more than 15 professional floats and several lighted independent entries, including marching bands, commercial vehicles and walkers from local organizations, it will be a sight to behold."

Ms. Goodman said the professionally decorated floats in the parade are all themed, including a Toy Soldier, Candy Land and Santa's Sleigh float.

"They all range from 30 to 35 feet in length and are provided by the same company that provides floats for the Gator Bowl Parade in Jacksonville and Gasparilla Parade in Tampa," Ms. Goodman added.

The Viera Company will be providing complimentary magical glasses that will enhance attendees' parade and concert experience, as well as their entire holiday season. Glasses are available for pick-up throughout the month of November at the Viera Discovery Center.

"We've ordered thousands of holoplex glasses for the parade that, once worn, will turn the millions of lights into either a Santa or reindeer," Ms. Goodman

Aviation company builds new assembly plant

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE — A local aviation company will open an aircraft assembly plant and related facilities at the Melbourne International Airport, Florida Gov. Rick Scott announced on Tuesday, Oct. 29.

The Brazilian jet maker, Embraer S.A., is expected to open the new facility by the second half of next year and will employ about 200 engineers, as well as other jobs throughout the facilities.

The expansion will build twin-engine Legacy 500 and Legacy 450 executive jets.

The Legacy 500 is a midsize executive jet, with a 6-foot flat-floor cabin. Eight club seats may be berthed into four beds for rest in a cabin altitude at 6,000 feet, as well as the inclusion of the latest in-flight entertainment, communications and connectivity systems.

The Legacy 450 shares the same cabin cross-section as the Legacy 500, and allows four clubs seats to be berthed into two beds.

At the announcement ceremony held at the Melbourne International Airport, Gov. Scott and the Economic Development Commission of Florida's Space Coast praised the impact of job creation efforts in Brevard County, as well as the state of Florida.

"I'm proud to announce that even more Floridians are going to be able to find great jobs and live the American Dream right here in the Sunshine State," Gov. Scott said in a press statement. "With the creation of more than 365,000 jobs in two-and-a-half years, and our state's unemployment rate below the national average, it's important that we remain focused on continuing Florida's economic momentum. I would like to thank everyone involved in this important project."

Lynda Weatherman, president and CEO of the Economic Development Commission of Florida's Space Coast, praised the relationship between Embraer and the Space Coast.

"Embraer and the Space Coast are a perfect fit, and the EDC applauds the company for choosing to locate its Legacy 500 and Legacy 450 assembly plant and related facilities here, alongside its growing Melbourne campus," she said. "Our workforce, our tax climate, our low-cost business environment — the list of the competitive advantages on the Space Coast is almost as long as the list of technological advances contained in a Legacy jet."

Ms. Weatherman also praised the efforts by the EDC and local partners to make this expansion a reality.

"Thanks to the hard

Concert features young local talent

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Some of tomorrow's brightest stars will rise this Sunday at a free, music-filled event.

The Creative Arts Foundation of Brevard will host "Music on the Hill," a free concert, entirely produced and emceed by young, aspiring entertainers, on Sunday, Nov. 24 at 4 p.m. at Friendship Fellowship Church at Pineda.

The Creative Arts Foundation of Brevard was founded in 2007 and is a nonprofit organization that aims to provide assistance and support to creative artists of Brevard County, with exceptional talents in the music, drama, dance, literature and visual arts fields.

"I'm one of the founders, who found it somewhere," joked Marshall Frank, president of the Creative Arts Foundation of Brevard. "I'm the president, but you don't have to call me 'Mr. President.'"

Despite his comedic tendencies, Mr. Frank's foundation provides young performers with grants, tuition assistance and performance opportunities. "Music on the Hill" is one of the foundation's many events to do so.

Paddlers to raise awareness to declining condition of lagoon

By Chris Fish
cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — In the wake of more than 70 dolphin deaths in the Indian River Lagoon this year, one group of residents is taking matters into their own hands.

On Nov. 30, residents Mike Conneen, John Kumiski, Rodney Smith and Kristen and Mike Beck will paddle an Old Town canoe from New Smyrna Beach to Jupiter through the entire 160-plus miles of the Indian River Lagoon.

The group hopes that this adventure, nicknamed the "IRL Paddle Adventure," will raise public and government awareness to the declining health of the lagoon's natural resources.

"(This is) an idea that has been coming together for 10 years," Mr. Smith said. "The IRL provides great fun and adventure for people of all walks of life to experience."

Mr. Smith said that several of the paddlers are 55 years and older, and he also encourages those who paddle canoes, kayaks or paddleboards to join the cause.

On their adventure, the paddlers said that they will fish, watch sunrises, observe wildlife, tell stories around campfires and sleep under the stars.

Mr. Smith said that the group is currently seeking sponsors to make donations to the IRL Paddle Adventure Education Fund, in an attempt to raise $100,000 for an educational trust fund to be administered by partner the Marine Resources Council.

The Marine Resources Council is a 501 (c)(3) charitable organization, whose mission is to protect and restore the Indian River Lagoon.

The itinerary for the event is expected to last until at least Dec. 21, and the group intends to average 10 to 12 miles per day.

The paddlers said they will be rising early and setting out early to catch calmer winds in the morning.

Residents who wish to accompany the paddlers will need all of their own gear and supplies.

For more information about how to sponsor the adventure, or how to join the paddlers on their trip, visit www.irl-paddle-adventure.com.

celebration at the reception.

In addition, Florida Tech faculty and members of the community will discuss government information resources that they use in the course of performing their work.

"We wish to give our visitors the chance to become acquainted with the breadth of government information resources," Mr. Sippel said. "We have also assembled a selection of materials from our collections that we feel that our visitors might enjoy browsing."

Mr. Sippel said that examples of some the material that will be on display include: "The Roswell Report – Fact versus Fiction in the New Mexico Desert;" the transcripts of President Richard Nixon's taped phone conversations that were submitted to the Senate Watergate Committee; and the analysis of the causes behind the collapse of the World Trade Center Towers.

Mr. Sippel said that he has enjoyed seeing the evolution of published materials in the library.

"Publications from the 1960s include discussions of our involvement in Vietnam," he said. "In the 1970s, concerns about rising drug use and crime rates were emergent, while the 80s and 90s showed our effort to grapple with the AIDS epidemic. For the last dozen years, government publications have placed greater emphasis on combating

cfish@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Poker professionals and amateurs alike will have the opportunity to play their cards, all while benefitting shelter animals.

On Sunday, Nov. 24, the Central Brevard Humane Society will host its 16th annual Critter Run. The event begins at 10 a.m. at the Humane Society in Cocoa and will end at H&D Roadhouse on Merritt Island.

The cost to participate in the Critter Run will be $7 per hand or two hands for $10. All vehicles are welcome.

“Participants will stop at various locations to draw a card,” said Eileen Cole, media relations manager for the Central Brevard Humane Society. “The first vehicle out leaves at 10 a.m., with the last scheduled to depart at 11:30 a.m.”

In addition to having the opportunity to play some poker, Critter Run participants will be able to take part in a 50/50 drawing, as well as enjoy food and live music, which begins at 1 p.m. Prizes will also be awarded for the best, worst and mystery hands.

“Participants will also be able to go ‘turkey bowling,’ which is just bowling with frozen turkeys,” Ms. Cole added.

With its 16th annual Critter Run approaching, the Central Brevard Humane Society is excited for another successful event.

“All proceeds from this event will help to raise awareness and financial support for unwanted and abandoned pets that visit the shelter each year,” Ms. Cole said.

said. “They will enhance the parade, as the many lights turn into these holiday characters, dancing, as spectators enjoy holiday tunes from each float.”

With the holiday parade concluding at Space Coast Stadium, the Brevard Symphony Orchestra will provide a free Holiday Pops concert, beginning at 7:45 p.m.

Song selections include such holiday favorites, as “Winter Wonderland,” “Here Comes Santa Claus,” selections from “The Nutcracker” and “Jingle Bells Forever.”

“The concert will end with a 100-person choir from Calvary Chapel, leading the audience in a medley of Christmas carols, all under the direction of Santa,” Ms. Goodman added.

With the help of supporting partners Savings Safari and Calvary Chapel of Melbourne’s Viera campus, which is providing more than 300 uniformed volunteers, as well as participating businesses, Ms. Patterson said that the Viera Company simply could not host Light Up Viera without such support.

“Light Up Viera will be the beginning of a great family tradition for our residents and visitors to enjoy for many years to come,” Ms. Goodman added. “This is The Viera Company’s gift to the community, and we invite all to come, enjoy and experience all that Viera has to offer as we Light Up Viera.”

The Viera Company will host Light Up Viera on Saturday, Nov. 30, with a holiday parade and concert.

Sunday's performance features three beamingly bright Brevard stars, Daniel Grest, 15, Rachel Ho, 16, and Ellie Richter, 13.

No stranger to the "Music on the Hill" stage is Daniel Grest, who has appeared in the production twice before. A sophomore, who is homeschooled, Mr. Grest is an outstanding vocalist and will soon grace the stage as "Rolf" in "The Sound of Music at the Henegar Center.

"Daniel Grest was our Brevard's Got Music Talent third-place winner in 2011, when he was just 12 years old," Mr. Frank said. "We also assisted his financial needs in being accepted into the prestigious American Boy Choir in Princeton in 2011-12."

At Sunday's performance, Mr. Grest will perform classical and show tunes.

Another "Music on the Hill" veteran is violinist Rachel Ho, a junior at West Shore Junior/Senior High School. Ms. Ho is part of the Space Coast Symphony Orchestra's mentorship program and participates in its professional Masterworks Concerts.

Also a violist, Ms. Ho is currently the Concertmaster for the Brevard Symphony Youth Orchestra.

"Rachel was a finalist in the Brevard's Got Music Talent show at the Henegar in 2013, and has performed in one 'Music on the Hill' show," Mr. Frank said.

Rounding out Sunday's performance is Ellie Richter, an eighth-grader, who is homeschooled. A Viera resident, Ms. Richter has studied classical piano for seven years and has earned superior ratings each of the four times she has entered the Federation of Music Clubs district competitions.

The young concert pianist enjoys spending her free time with friends and family, as well as swimming, reading and singing in her church choir.

"Ellie Richter was also a finalist in the Brevard's Got Music Talent show in 2013 at the Henegar," Mr. Frank said. "Sunday will be her first 'Music on the Hill' performance."

Excited for what promises to be another thrilling show, Mr. Frank welcomes the Space Coast community to Sunday's Music on the Hill.

"The show is fun, comfortable, enlightening and personal," he said. "Each will be performing their recital choices, and their dream is to have a place to perform and show their accomplishments as practiced musicians."

The Creative Arts Foundation of Brevard will host "Music on the Hill" on Sunday, Nov. 24 at 4 p.m. at Friendship Fellowship church at Pineda.

The show is free, but attendees are asked to provide a monetary donation.

Friendship Fellowship Church is located at 3115 Friendship Place, Suntree.

ming schedule unveiled: Florida Tech's men's and women's swimming teams will compete in 11 races this upcoming season, with five scheduled to take place at the Panther Aquatic Center.

FIT began its season on the road in Boca Raton on Oct. 12. The women were scheduled to race against fellow Sunshine State Conference members Lynn and Saint Leo, while the men were scheduled to race alongside Saint Leo, since Lynn does not have a men's team.

The Panthers will open the home portion of their schedule on Tuesday, Nov. 22 against Tampa. Three weeks later, they will take part in the Fourth Annual Shark Invitational, hosted by Nova Southeastern from Dec. 14-17.

They will kick off 2014 by racing at home on New Year's Day against Lewis. The race will mark the first of three consecutive home meets, as Mount Union will visit Melbourne on Jan. 5 and Savannah College of Art and Design on Jan. 11.

FIT will conclude the regular season by hosting Rollins at the Panther Aquatic Center on Jan. 18.

The Sunshine State Conference Championships are scheduled for Feb. 19-22 at the YMCA Aquatic Center in Orlando. Qualifying swimmers will then move on to the NCAA Division II Championships in Geneva, Ohio from March 12-15.

Clearing up the facts

To the Editor:

There has been a lot of confusion about some recent notices to consumers from insurance companies that sell coverage in the individual insurance market, and I'd like to clear up the facts.

Today, more than three out of every four Americans get insurance from an employer, Medicare, Medicaid or the Veterans Benefits Administration. Americans, who purchase insurance on their own, however, generally buy coverage in the individual insurance market.

Before the Affordable Care Act, coverage in the individual market often was unaffordable, had high co-pays or deductibles, or lacked basic benefits like maternity care, mental health services, and prescription drug coverage. These plans also had high turnover rates, and often were not renewed at the end of a plan year. One study showed that more than half of enrollees in the individual market left their plan within a year.

The health care law is creating new protections for people in the individual market, as well as strengthening employer-based coverage. In the Health Insurance Marketplace, consumers will no longer be charged more because of gender or a pre-existing condition, recommended preventive services will be covered with no additional out of pocket cost, there will be caps on out of pocket costs, and plans will have to offer a basic package of 10 categories of essential health benefits.

Some insurance companies that sell products in the individual market are making changes to their plans. Plans that were in place before the Affordable Care Act passed, and that essentially have not changed - that is benefits have not been cut or additional costs imposed on consumers - are exempt or "grandfathered" out of these basic requirements that ensure quality coverage. Those grandfathered plans can stay the same. Nothing has changed this fact, and that coverage can continue into 2014, so long as both the insurance company and the consumer agree that it will continue.

Some of less than 5 percent of Americans who currently get insurance on the individual insurance market have recently received notices from their insurance companies suggesting their plans may no longer exist. These Americans have a choice – they can choose a plan being offered by their insurer, or they can shop for coverage in the Marketplace. As insurers have made clear – they aren't dropping consumers; they're improving their coverage options, often offering plans that are more affordable.

Today, consumers have a choice of an average of 53 qualified health plans in the states where the federal government runs the Marketplace, including those in which it does so in partnership with states. Nearly all consumers live in states with average premiums below earlier estimates. Moreover, half of the people in the individual market today qualify for lower costs on monthly premiums when signing up for coverage through the Marketplace.

While the product is good, there is no denying the online experience on HealthCare.gov must be improved. We will not stop improving the site until every American that wants it has access to quality, affordable coverage.

Importantly, while the team is improving the site, we have opened up new pathways for consumers to apply for coverage through the Marketplace. There are four basic ways to apply for coverage. Sign up by Dec. 15 for coverage that starts Jan. 1, 2014. Enrollment stays open until March 31.

Secretary of U.S. Health and Human Services

Too many on welfare

I have seen too many people on Welfare, who don't need to be on Welfare.

These people have expensive cars, and they can work!

Our country is hurting because this welfare is costing too much, and it puts pressure on our government.

When these people, who can work, live on welfare (and) take advantage of this system, it takes away from those of us who are on Disability.

The food stamps alone, that these people get, are selling their food stamps so they can get drugs or money!

I believe that the solution is to get these people to report on a monthly basis to show that they are trying to get work.

Even though I am only 59, I get Disability because of the car hits I took.

I have the desire to work, but I cannot, because of the pains I experience.

However, these people who are on welfare, are healthy and can work.

While I was living in New York, they had a class where the people who are on welfare would go to, and in this class they can find work and get work!

Welfare should not be a permanent way of life.

Thank you for your attention.

Misbehaving children

I am very glad that finally a restaurant handled misbehaving children, since the parents had no control over them.

When people plan on dining out, they want to be able to enjoy their meal, especially since most of them had to make adjustments to their expenses to do so.

Parents are the ones who should be able to control their children and have them behave in restaurants, stores, churches, parks, etc.

I had four children, and they knew when to have fun and run around and when to behave.

Parents today feel that they should let their children do anything they want.

All this does is make children think that they are the only people they should worry about, and what they want is more important than respecting the rights of others.

Parents need to set an example for their children and bring them up as responsible adults, because most of our present young people are very self-centered and believe what they want comes first.

Illegal dumping

I live in Indialantic, halfway between the Melbourne and Eau Gallie causeways.

My house is near Alamanda Court and Riverside Drive.

There has been a lot of illegal dumping recently in front of my house on Alamanda Court, up to the street north of me.

On Sunday, Sept. 8, I finally caught a neighbor, who was not only dumping his yard waste, but also household garbage, as well.

The Sheriff's Office came and gave him a warning.

On Thursday, Sept. 19, I caught a landscape man dumping yard waste in front of my house and told him it was illegal to dump there.

He said the man I mentioned above told him to dump it in front of my house, rather than to put the yard waste in front of his house, which is legal, or to haul it to the dump.

I went so far as to talk to the owner of the landscape company, who said Code Enforcement told him to dump it in front of my house.

Once again, I called the Sheriff's Office, who said they would talk to the owner of the house and give them a warning.

It is illegal to dump anywhere on Riverside Drive in between the Melbourne and the Eau Gallie causeways.

We used to have "No Dumping" signs up and down Riverside Drive, and I am in the process of trying to get some new signs up.

I called traffic operations on Friday, Sept. 20, and they said they will work with me to try to get the new signs put up.

Please, do not use the front of my house as your dumping ground.

How would you feel if someone was dumping in front of your home?

Just a week ago, there was an article about how clean Brevard County is.

Let us all do our part to try to keep it that way.

Feral cats in the parks

I would like to address what Brevard County Parks and Recreation is doing with the cats in the parks, especially a park on Merritt Island.

A lot of the colonies have been fixed. They have had shots. A lot of people are taking care of them by feeding and watering them every day.

Now, they are telling us that if we come back into the parks to take care of these cats, they are going to put us in jail because they are trapping them and taking them away.

We have taken some out of there, but they are getting to them before we can, and they are going to put us in jail if we come back.

But what they don't know, and they are a few french fries short of a "Happy Meal," is that, even though they get rid of all these cats, there are going to be cats showing up again that are not fixed, that do not have shots, that people are not caring for, feeding and watering them, because they are not allowed to.

Oh, the 1950s!

I was just reading the newspaper, and I was reading about all the bad things about the 1950s.

Well, let me tell you this. I was a teenager during the 1930s, and, believe me, the 1950s were a paradise by comparison.

You can train your dog

This is for all the people, who have dogs, and are having a hard time finding a place for them to poop without aggravating the homeowners in their yards.

I have a great idea. First of all, it is very easy to do this. I worked with dogs for 30 years.

You train your dog to poop in your own yard, and his reward is getting to go for a walk. So, therefore, it is easy to train him, because he has a reward.

How simple is that?

Thank you.

Where are the police?

While I was waiting for my friend to come out of Walgreens on N. Wickham Road in Melbourne, I saw a drug deal go down between the owner of a Hummer and the driver of a Corolla. The crossing guard was sitting in her car at approximately 2:20 p.m. in the parking lot of Walgreens, and she didn't do anything; and I certainly was not going to get involved in this Republican nightmare community.

Then later, coming back from Melbourne Beach, driving north on Wickham Road on the east side or northbound lane, two bicyclists were buying drugs from a small black car, in which the driver was a young man around 22, and his passenger was around the same age. Once again, where were the police?

These people were tying up traffic. They were buying drugs in the grassy area adjacent to the IRS building, which is just south of Fountainbleau Boulevard at approximately 5:33 p.m.

Now, is this for real, or is this a police sideline business?

Local artist dreams of turning neighborhoods into galleries

Resident's murals are showing up all over the county

By Deb Alberto
For Hometown News

BREVARD — In Jean Filipski's ideal world, every house would be a medium for self-expression, and she's willing to climb as many ladders as necessary to get the trend under way.

The mural artist's most recent accomplishment is an ocean scene, painted on the front of local tattoo artist and surfer Brendan Smith's home in Indialantic.

The design was Brendon's idea, inspired by "The Great Wave," a favorite work by Japanese artist Katsushika Hokusai.

Ms. Filipski, who is an Indialantic resident, is making a name for herself around Florida, with her signature murals in homes and businesses from Brevard to Orlando.

She's painted the inside of model homes in Orlando, kitchens in Viera and children's rooms in Satellite Beach.

The wave mural took her about two weeks to complete.

"I wondered if any of the neighbors would complain, but I've had nothing but compliments," she said. "The neighbors would watch the progress and sometimes stop and chat."

Ms. Filipski's artistic endeavors started more than 20 years ago, and she made a living at airbrush art and painting motorcycles before taking on canvases larger than herself.

"I'm always surprised when an artist asks me to do a mural," she said. "I guess the thought of approaching a canvas this large can be intimidating, but I love it."

Some of her other recent work can be seen inside Foo Bar in Historic Downtown Melbourne, where an elaborate display reflects the spirit of the popular nightclub.

Local pets to be honored year-round with Society's calendar

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — While the warmer-than-normal temperatures may have some Brevard County residents still in the "summer-loving" mood, 2014 is just around the corner.

Ring in the new year with a 2014 "Best Pets of Brevard" calendar from the Central Brevard Humane Society, now available for $10 at the shelter or at any of its four Molly Mutt Thrift Shops, as well as its new Merritt Island Adoption Center, local veterinary offices and online.

Gracing the cover of the 22nd annual calendar are "Burl," "Nadine" and "Farrah," three adorable terrier pups living the life on their yacht.

The 2014 "Best Pets of Brevard" calendar also features an "In Loving Memory" section, which includes pets that have passed away, as well as honorable mentions, "Paws of Distinction" and money-saving coupons.

"The Central Brevard Humane Society started the 'Best Pets of Brevard' as a fundraiser, in which proceeds would be used to help raise awareness and financial support for the homeless pets that visit the shelter each year," said Eileen Cole, media relations manager for the Humane Society. "These pets are in need of a safe and loving 'forever' home."

With more than 200 entries for the 2014 calendar — all of which were printed — parents of fuzzy, feathered and scaly children were asked to send in horizontal, color photographs, with no humans in the picture. Pet photos were then blind-judged by a panel of professional photographers.

The Central Brevard Humane Society's 2014 "Best Pets of Brevard" calendars are now available for $10 each.

Calendars can be purchased at the Central Brevard Humane Society, at any of its four Molly Mutt Thrift Shops, located in Melbourne, Merritt Island, Palm Bay and Rockledge, as well as its new Merritt Island Adoption Center, local veterinary offices and online at www.crittersavers.com.

The Central Brevard Humane Society is located at 1020 Cox Road, Cocoa.

For more information, contact the Central Brevard Humane Society at (321) 636-3343 or visit www.crittersavers.com.

EFSC-based group to present organ symphony

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — When Camille Saint-Saens composed the "Symphony No. 3 in C Minor, Op. 78" in 1886, he said, "I gave it everything I was able to give. What I have accomplished here, I will never achieve again."

On Sunday, Nov. 24, the Brevard Community Orchestra will present the Camille Saint-Saens "Symphony No. 3" at 3 p.m. at Advent Lutheran Church in Suntree. General admission tickets are $5, and will be available at the door.

Widely known as the "Organ Symphony," Saint-Saens' work is actually an orchestral symphony, in which two out of the four sections use the pipe organ.

James Bishop

"'The Organ Symphony' is a brilliant musical tour de force that explores the full range of human and musical emotions in Saint-Saens' epic final symphonic work," said James Bishop, director of Instrumental Music at Eastern Florida State College and conductor of the BCO. "The Brevard Community Orchestra was eager to collaborate with Advent Lutheran Church organist, Betty Jo Couch, and the church's incredible new organ."

In January 2013, Advent Lutheran Church installed its new A.E. Schlueter organ, with 36 ranks and 2,196 pipes. Ms. Couch will be featured in Sunday's performance.

"This wonderful sonic marvel is not performed very often," Mr. Bishop said. "The opportunity to hear a fine orchestra, a talented organist and a powerful instrument, like the Advent Lutheran Church organ, in an awesome acoustic space is rare, indeed."

The Brevard Community Orchestra will host "Symphony No. 3" on Sunday, Nov. 24 at 3 p.m. at Advent Lutheran Church in Suntree.

General admission tickets are $5, and will be available at the door.

For more information, call (321) 433-7375.

The Dickens Carolers

As the holiday engulfs us, and we are subjected to a barrage of sentiment and commercialism (which are often indistinguishable from one another), simpler days seem so much more attractive; and many of us tend to look to the past.

Thanks to Charles Dickens and a flood of nostalgia for the 19th Century, the Dickens Carolers take you on a musical and storytelling adventure into some of the traditions that we now include into the Celebration of Christmas, which indeed have been around since before the Middle Ages.

The Dickens Carolers of the Brevard Theatrical Ensemble will help bring Christmas to Brevard County at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 2 at the Eau Gallie Public Library, 1521 Pineapple Ave., Melbourne.

The event is free.

The carolers will also perform at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 at the Melbourne Beach Public Library, 324 Ocean Ave., Melbourne Beach.

The event is also free to the public.

For more information, visit www.brevardensemble.com or call Lady Gail at (321) 676-0697.

The Lettermen are coming to Brevard

I'm sure many of remember, and have danced to, the beautiful music of The Lettermen. They have a very recognizable sound of unique natural harmony of soft melodic music that has made this trio one of the most popular and romantic singing groups of the 60s and 70s – and still today – as evidenced by their website that lists all of their upcoming appearances.

The Lettermen will be appearing for a two-hour fundraising concert performance, which will include an hour of their all-time popular songs, plus all the traditional and religious holiday songs of the Christmas Season.

During the show, The Lettermen pride themselves in welcoming audience members to photograph their group during the live performance. After the show, there will be a "meet-and-greet" reception, held in the Life Center for additional photo opportunities, autographs, DVD purchases and refreshments.

This fundraising concert will be occurring Thursday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at Holy Name of Jesus Church in Indialantic.

All proceeds from this fundraiser will be given to help the homeless and hungry in Brevard County through programs affiliated with Catholic Charities.

Ticket prices are $45 for reserved seating and $29 for general admission. All seating on the evening of the event is first-come, first-served.

The Lettermen's harmony of such popular songs as "Shangri-La," "What I did For Love" and "A Summer Place" have positioned them in the Academic team participates in third match

For Hometown News

081365

Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy's Academic Team recently participated in its third match Oct. 28 at the Viera School Board. Team members at this match include seniors Isabela Rovira (Captain) and Joey Rain, juniors Kaley Stirtzinger, Lindsey Webb and Julian Tang and sophomores Zoha Irfan, Stuti Mishra and Pavlos Pavlakos.

In this third match, the team faced fierce competition from public and private schools that included Florida Air Academy, Edgewood, Palm Bay, Viera and Westshore high schools. Each team member put forth their best effort in each round. Despite their initial set back in the first two rounds, the team members maintained their composure and continue to persevere at each tournament.

The format of the tournament consists of five-, 10- and 20-point rounds, where each group of high school students answer questions about subject areas, including language arts, sciences, history, mathematics, technology, foreign language and music. The competition is played using buzzers, and the first team to answer the most questions correctly is the winner. The teams with the highest scores advance to state competition, and the winning team wins a three-day all-expenses-paid trip to Disney World. The Brevard County Academic Team Competition starts in September and ends in December.

Additional team members, who also attended the previous two matches on Oct. 14 and 21, include Star (Shunxin) Ao, Nick Belsten, John Bohne, Fiona (Siyi) Guo, Erin McGee, Jore Oni, Joye Oni, Ben Perry, Anselm Teather, Charles (Zhenqin)Yuan, Justin Qiu and Kayla Whitlock. The Academic team members meet each week before tournaments to practice questions, strategies and tactics to improve team effectiveness.

Tails from the Vet 069436

Dr. Michael Ponte

Sometimes, your pet can have too much of a good thing. Zinc is an essential element for many of pet's body functions. However, in high doses it can harm nearly every organ system. Symptoms of zinc toxicosis appear a few days after ingesting a product containing zinc; such as pennies minted after 1982, creams and ointments, multivitamins, zippers, or nuts and bolts. If you suspect that your pet has ingested any metallic object, it is a good idea to contact your vet immediately before symptoms occur. Your vet may recommend x-rays to confirm he or she ingested the foreign object. Signs may include vomiting, not eating, runny and/or black stool, lethargy, pale gums, and abdominal pain. If caught early enough, many pets recover. Please call your veterinarian for more information and guidance.

The best way to grow and care for winter Impatiens

GARDEN NOOK
JOE ZELENAK

If you look along the highways of many of our Treasure Coast cities, you will see mounds of colorful flowers planted in large masses designed to create an impact. Most likely the plants you see will be Impatiens. Impatiens plants are annuals that will last for several months, especially during the cooler months of winter and early spring. These annuals planted in groups can create an extremely colorful garden display that will dazzle the senses.

When you walk in to almost any lawn and garden center, Impatiens will most likely be the dominant plant. You will find them in all colors and sizes from a small 4 inch pot all the way up to 14 inch (or larger) color bowls. Many stores also carry six packs and 24 packs. As a rule of thumb, if you are going to plant a garden with Impatiens, plant lots of them. You will be well rewarded with a garden to be proud of.

Impatiens will do best if planted in an area that does not get full sun all day. If you plan on putting in Impatiens just for the winter, this won't be quite as critical as the plants will endure more sun during the winter then the spring and summer. You will want to use a good quality potting soil such as Miracle Gro and plant them in an area that has good drainage. If water stands too long or the soil stays mucky, Impatiens will develop root rot. They do, however, need to be kept evenly moist. If you let an Impatiens plant dry out too much, the plant will wilt. Even though the plant will appear to recover when you revive it with water, there is still damage that has done. Repeated bouts of drying out will compromise the plant quality dramatically over time. If you have a sprinkler system, do not rely on it 100 percent for your flowers. Always supplement your watering regimen with hand watering.

One of the biggest secrets to growing good Impatiens is to use a good quality slow release fertilizer. There are several to choose from but two of my favorites are Osmocote and Dynamite. You only need to apply the fertilizer once or twice during your growing season. Every time you water your plants, the fertilizer is slowly released into the soil. This also helps prevent fertilizer burn.

Impatiens will do well in both the ground or in containers. The only thing you need to watch out for if you plant in containers is fungus disease. You have to be very careful not to overwater or underwater your plants. This can be difficult during the rainy season. If you use containers and you know we are getting a heavy rainstorm, temporarily move your plants to a protected location until the storm is over. Impatiens also need to be protected from the cold. I have seen plants sustain damage in temperatures as high as 37 degrees. Cold damage does not always show up immediately. Very often you will not see the damage until days later. This is true for many other plant varieties as well.
