PORT ST. LUCIE — The Port St. Lucie Police Department is warning residents about a recent scam that has already cost one resident thousands.

Called the “pigeon drop” scam, it involves a victim, or “pigeon,” who is convinced to give up a large amount of money in exchange for a larger amount of money. But the victim is never paid.

Students to get free heart screens
By Dawn Krebs

ST. LUCIE COUNTY — A local nonprofit organization is asking student athletes to “know their hearts.”

A special heart screening being conducted by a local nonprofit might save the life of a student athlete this year.

Called “Know Your Heart: 2nd annual Student Screening,” the event will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 20 at the Port St. Lucie Community Center in Port St. Lucie.

It is being put on by the Jesus Clinton M.V. Foun- dation, which was formed by the family of leuka, a 17-year-old senior at Cent- ral High School who died on Oct. 2, 2011 from a hidden heart condition.

“My dad had Alzheimer’s disease for years, and Vivian and I took care of him at home. A friend told me about Treasure Coast Hospice. They provided Dad’s medications, a wheelchair, a shower chair and oxygen. The RN and hospice aide showed us their love and patience as they helped us give Dad all the care he needed. We suggest calling Treasure Coast Hospice as early as possible.”

Title: Health Care Services

AMENDMENT 1
Title: Health Care Services

In brief: Prohibits laws or rules compelling an employer to buy health insurance. It would add a statement to the state constitution that attempts to prohibit the government from requiring employers to purchase health insurance if you vote yes. It means you want the amendment. The Constitution includes a provision that requires the government from requiring you to purchase health insurance.

Arguments for: Supporters say the federal government cannot force people to purchase health insurance, and this amendment is an attempt to protect Floridians from that requirement in the federal health care act passed in 2010. They say it would show that Congress overstepped its authority.

Arguments against: Opponents say despite its stated intention, this proposed amendment will not allow Florida to opt out of the requirement that all Americans purchase health insurance. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled on June 28 that the federal requirement to purchase insurance is constitutional.

AMENDMENT 3
Title: Veterans property tax discount

In brief: Prohibits laws or rules compelling an employer to buy health insurance. It would add a statement to the state constitution that attempts to prohibit the government from requiring employers to purchase health insurance if you vote yes. It means you want the amendment. The Constitution includes a provision that requires the government from requiring you to purchase health insurance.

Arguments for: Supporters say this amendment will benefit older veterans who were injured in combat but did not move to Florida before the time they entered the military. They say the property tax discount can help with medical bills, may allow veterans to stay in their homes longer as they age and stimulate the housing market.

Arguments against: Opponents say state and local governments face mounting budget shortfalls; any amount of diminished property tax revenue brought about by the collapse of the housing market. Schools and local governments need to maintain the tax base or consider cuts to public services.

AMENDMENT 4
Title: State government revenue limitations

In brief: Prohibits laws or rules compelling an employer to buy health insurance. It would add a statement to the state constitution that attempts to prohibit the government from requiring employers to purchase health insurance if you vote yes. It means you want the amendment. The Constitution includes a provision that requires the government from requiring you to purchase health insurance.

Arguments for: Supporters say this amendment would make it impossible for agencies to meet demand, even when there is available revenue. They say it threatens funding for critical government services like health care and education.

Arguments against: Critics say during tough economic times, when tax revenues drop and there is a greater need for government services, this amendment would make it impossible for agencies to meet demand, even when there is available revenue. They say it threatens funding for critical government services like health care and education.
Smaller, leaner clerk's office for the Port St. Lucie County

By Bill Smith

The Port St. Lucie County has always been home to me, with the exception of the time away serving my country in the U.S. Navy and attending college. I attended local schools, graduated from Fort Pierce Central High and am very proud to say that I have lived more than 45 years of my life in St. Lucie County.

My grandparents farmed in the St. Lucie County in 1914, and I’m proud to say that I am a Florida native, born and raised in St. Lucie County. My opponent has a background in political office but publicly stated his desire for nearly all of my life.

Q: Why should voters choose you?

A: Simply put, I am more qualified than my opponent, not only in education and experience, but more importantly in ethics, integrity and devotion to the betterment of the people, and not focused on my own political gain.

I have more than 20 years of documented, highly successful, multi-level organizational accomplishments, coupled with a proven track record in business management, with an emphasis on sales and/or management. My opponent has a background in political office but publicly stated his desire for nearly all of my life.

Q: How long have you been a local resident?

A: Nearly all of my life.

Q: What are your qualifications for this office?

A: I have more than 20 years of documented, highly successful, multi-level organizational accomplishments, coupled with a proven track record in business management, with an emphasis on sales and/or management. My opponent has a background in political office but publicly stated his desire for nearly all of my life.

Q: What are the top two issues you wish to see addressed?

A: First, improving the economic state of St. Lucie County and restoring jobs and the unemployable, and second, bringing ethical, diverse council candidates to the leadership of St. Lucie County, where political appointments are devoted to the betterment of the citizens and not the betterment of their political parties.

Q: Smith, I believe that one of the more important issues facing our community is economic security. There are many, many ways and like many, the clerk’s office has had to do more than just ordinary city business. It is the candidate who has a proven record of serving our county while expanding services and making them available the way they are received.

Q: Smith, you know to your tax dol- lar is safe, and during my tenure, your dollars have been secure.

Q: Smith, you have been re-elected to serve, and I’m honored that I have been given the privilege of doing things in a way that will make you more comfortable and better.

Q: Smith, I stand ready to do whatever I can to assist, as well.

Q: Smith, in fact, I will tell you three things I did change in the clerk’s office because they needed to be changed.

Q: Smith, we focus on customer service.

Q: Smith, I changed the culture of the clerk’s office to make it more efficient and instructed my team to focus on taking care of our customers and their needs.

Q: Smith, the voters should re-elect me because I am the only candidate who has a proven record of serving our county while expanding services and making them available the way they are received.

Q: Smith, it is time to change the county and elect me.

Q: Smith, what are you choice?

used,” said Cheryl Laloo, Jessica’s mother and founder of the nonprofit organization. “It’s not a full-time job now. The foundation has worked since Jessica’s death to make sure every school has an automated external defibrillator, a device used to shock the heart. Now, every school in the county has between one and five defibrillators at every school.

The first year the heart screening was held, more than 200 students came to be screened. “We had people coming in from as far away as Lake Worth,” Ms. Laloo said. “I have had issues that didn’t know they had.”

Now, this year’s event is from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the screening will offer not only blood pressure and electrocardiogram screenings, but an echocardiogram screening, as well. In addition, the event is open to all students and is free to all who preregister.

“Last year, we realized that we had people who could only afford to take the one in athletics tested,” she said. “We would get kids, most of the children in the family. It’s the same this year.” Normally, these types of screenings can cost up to $100.

Interested students are asked to register for the screening ahead of time.

The foundation is looking for anyone who would like to volunteer to help on that day with registration, refreshments or assisting at the screening. “We’ve had as much help as we’ve ever had,” said Ms. Laloo. “We’ve come such a long way and it is wonderful how many people want to help.”

Use program pull-down menus to find answers.

Most of the time, when I get calls for computer help I can usually figure out how to do things on a computer instinctively. Why? Because I spend so much time on different menus looking for the option that will most likely get me closer to my goal, outside of using mouse hints or whatever it is I'm trying to do.

As an added bonus, just after I spend some time on a menu that has pull-down menus I have "help" listed as the last one to the right. So by the time I get to the last pull-down menu, I can always open that program help file and do a search on what I'm trying to do. The help file will then list all the options that contain whatever words I searched and find. I can usually figure out how to take the next step.

Let's take a look at an example of this. I'm writing my column with a typical word processing program and I wanted to do the main menu option - title type bold and larger. So I can start looking around the screen for something that may help me reach my goal.

As I move my mouse (and my eyes) around the screen I notice a couple of things, first at the top of the screen, above where the words are being typed, there are (usually) rows of pull-down menus and buttons available. And, as I move my mouse downward the mouse button 2 (right) is available. I can start looking around the screen for something that may help me reach my goal.

And, as I move my mouse downward the mouse button 2 (right) is available. I can start looking around the screen for something that may help me reach my goal.

At that point I have two choices, I can stare at the screens with a blank expression and wait for someone (who's pretty good with computers) to show me, or I can start looking around the screen for something that may help me reach my goal.

As I move my mouse (and my eyes) around the screen I notice a couple of things, first at the top of the screen, above where the words are being typed, there are (usually) rows of pull-down menus and buttons available. Of course, that rather tame demonstration is just an example of how intuitive computing works; at no time did I ever get the urge to go get a book or call tech support. I kept on clicking, just doing and, after seeing what I was thinking, I discovered the answer on my own, instinctively.

Now, I know what a lot of you are thinking: that the things you have trouble with are harder than just changing the "text size." But, up to this point I've been keeping up with help here at this one command. How can this possibly help me?

And to think I almost missed the lesson in how to do that. The lesson is where we go for help.

PORT ST LUCIE — The 115,150-square-foot Digital Domain facility is now available for a variety of purposes. The facility includes a 12-screen cinema, an eight-studio television and film production center, a 7,000 square-foot offices area with a meeting and training area, and an extensive open-space floor plan allowing for multiple usage options. A new high-end technology center, the reservoir building, was designed to consolidate extensive open-space floor plans, allowing for increased ability for multi-purpose usage.

With fiber optics and high-speed security integrated throughout, the building is fully prepared for independent audio/visual environments, 1,318 seat main theater, two movie theaters, sound edit suites, a motion capture facility and a state-of-the-art data center.

The interior and exterior design was inspired by Gérard, the world-class architect who also designed the museum and studios facilities for Lucasfilm Ltd. The facility is designed to coincide with the Hyundai and Lucasfilm Ltd. The building is within walking distance of housing, shopping, restaurants and gym facilities, and is a five-minute drive from PGA golf courses and the New York Mets spring training facility. Digital Domain will become a high-tech incubator for high-tech industries such as Buruch research, the city offers diverse economic opportunities, crucial guide for the area's future sustainable growth and state-of-the-art infrastructure ready to support development and investment.

Those interested in making a positive impact in the lives of local residents facing life-limiting illnesses can take a volunteer training class with Visiting Nurse Association Treasure Coast Hospice beginning Oct. 22.

The primary funding source for the service, as well as a stadia inventory service, is a portion of the county’s bed tax, Mr. Gill said. “The bed tax has experienced an increase in recent years, so any immediate loss of revenue from the naming rights will not affect the debt service payment for the current budget year.”

But the name, Digital Domain, is on more than just the sign and the front of the building.

Mr. Gill said. “It’s located throughout the facility, including the scoreboard and the dugouts,” said Mr. Gill. “Right now, the county is working with the Mets organization to find a new organization to take over naming rights.

Until then, the name will remain on the side of the building, as it would be cheaper to replace it with a new one, officials said.

Allergic Skin Disease

by Patrick Kelly, DVM

One of the most frequent reactions are medical conditions that we learn to live with and learn to manage. But even if you know the causes of your pet’s skin problems, you may not understand the true causes of the skin problems your pet may be experiencing. This can make it difficult to manage and control the disease.

Diagnoses of allergic skin disease are most common in pets with seasonal allergies. It is important to assess good quality food and treat for parasites.

Contact dermatitis occurs when a susceptible pet is exposed to an allergen in the environment or accidentally ingests the allergen. If the reaction is severe enough, topical corticosteroids may be prescribed.

The most common areas of the body affected are the feet. A patch that is itching at their feet and Noblesville, Ind., is a allergic to the grass, they are exposed to. Another common source is the grain found in the area because it is the most likely food used in pet food. When the pet is allergic to the grains, when a pet lays down. Other possible causes of con- tract dermatitis are feline hairballs and clogged ears, which can lead to ear infections.

Dogs are more likely to suffer allergic reactions from food than cats, although both can be affected. The most common allergens are wheat, milk, and eggs in the dog and wheat, milk, and eggs in the cat. The allergens are often found in the diet of the pet, and when the pet is allergic to the grains, when a pet lays down. Other possible causes of contract dermatitis are feline hairballs and clogged ears, which can lead to ear infections.

ST LUCIE COUNTY — Nothing says fall in Florida like the appearance of pumpkins. And no one does it better at combining fall activities and children than the Fort Pierce Downtown Business Association.

This year, the organization is teaming up with the Manatee Center to bring fall fun alive with its annual Great Pumpkin party.

“This is its second year,” said Deborah Cohen, one of the organizers of the event. “Last year, we had about 1,000 children, and close to 500 adults.”

The party will take place from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Second Street in downtown Fort Pierce between Orange Avenue and Avenue A. Admission is $5 per person, which includes all decorations, trucks and a ride on train rides.

But the fun isn’t limited to just the kids. Adults can enjoy live music, and have a chance to win door prizes and purchase 50/50 tickets.

“This has something for everyone,” Ms. Cohen said.

The pumpkins party will be held from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Second Street, between Orange Avenue and Avenue A in downtown Fort Pierce. Cost is $5 per person and parking is free. For more information, call (772) 528-2513.

Pumpkins, more in downtown Fort Pierce

The Palm City fall fest will be held at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Oct. 19, and at 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. on Oct. 20 at Ballarat Plantation, 1250 Wayne Ave. in Fort Pierce. Cost is $5. For more information, call (772) 460-5299 or go online to www.jazzsociety.org.

BLACK BOX THEATRE

College night, by the Fort Pierce Jazz and Blues Society, takes place from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Black Box Theatre at the Sunrise Mall, 177 South 2nd St. in Fort Pierce. Cost is $5. For more information, call (772) 807-4488.

TUESDAY, OCT. 23

Tuesday jazz jam, by the Fort Pierce Jazz Band and Blues Society, takes place from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the Black Box Theatre at the Sunrise Mall, 177 South 2nd St. in Fort Pierce. Cost is $5. For more information, call (772) 460-5299 or go online to www.blackboxtheatre.com.

Vigil taking place Oct. 25

The national epidemic of the abuse of powerful prescription painkillers is felt every day here in St. Lucie County. I urge the people of our community to take a stand by participating in this year’s annual national candlelight vigil at 6:30 p.m. at The Crossing Community Church, 5200 Oleander Ave., Fort Pierce. Each year, America loses 28,000 people to drug-induced deaths,” said Ken J. Mascara, St. Lucie County sheriff.

Local community leaders will join together to light candles, bow their heads in a moment of silence and view stories of young people who have died of drug poisoning, many from abusing and misusing prescription pills. The St. Lucie County vigil is organized by the NOPE Task Force and the St. Lucie County Sheriff’s Office. We are committed to educating people of all ages about the growing destructive forces of drug abuse that have hurt countless communities,” said Sheriff Mascara.

High school recognized by chamber

John Carroll High School was proud to be nominated for and received an award from the St. Lucie County Chamber of Commerce as its 2012 annual Business and Industry Awards in Libra.

The school was honored with a certificate reading, “With a rich history in honoring the best of St. Lucie County businesses, it’s with great honor that we recognize your contributions to the community and the overall quality of life of St. Lucie County residents.” Additionally, the school was one of three education institutions to receive an award. The award presented to JCHS was the Business and Industry Appreciation Award. The chamber recognized businesses in 11 categories for their overall impact on the economic well-being and quality of life for county residents.

According to the chamber, the judging criteria included: community involvement, economic impact, chamber participation and environmental responsibility.

Among the nominees were Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institute at FAU (category winner), Indian River State College (Chamber appreciation award recipient), Keiser University and Barry University.

Congratulations to the entire John Carroll High School family whose hard work contributed to this recognition.

John Carroll High School proudly serves students both Catholic and non-Catholic, from Palm Beach and Martin counties.

Libra, whether feedback from work is positive or negative, rest assured that hard work will ultimately garner some recognition. Keep working hard and all will be well.

SCORPIO – Oct. 24-Nov. 22

No one is going to know how you feel unless you speak up, Scorpio. Don’t slink into the shadows; get your voice heard.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Projects around the house seem to go with every passing day, Sagittarius. If you do not think you can get them all done on your own, it may be time to hire a professional.

CAPRICORN – Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Experiencing car troubles, Capricorn? This may be the ideal time to go shopping for a new vehicle. A new ride can lift your spirits and put to rest those fears about your current vehicle.

AQUARIUS – Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Don’t work yourself silly, Aquarius. Time to get productive and company-minded, but rest if it comes at the price of your health. Rest before you tackle anything else.

PIQUES – Feb. 19-March 20

Pices, while it can be challenging to all sides, are very often great ways to catch up on some rest and personal time.

To make several baskets:

1. Put a square of chocolate candy into each basket.
2. Insert a pipe cleaner in the handle. With a few twirls, the pipe cleaner naturally creates a handle. With a twist, the handle is finished. With the children's help, insert them into the large gods and candles, and the chocolate in the rest of the basket. It will be a cute Halloween treat plus healthy hot fudge sauce.

But you must use low-fat whipped cream or fat-free whipped topping or fat-free yogurt. You must use low-fat whipped cream or fat-free whipped topping.

Finally the experts have learned what we always knew; chocolate is good for you. Scientists say chocolate is a natural anticoagulant and vitamins that help prevent many diseases. Does that mean you can eat that whole box of chocolate candy, topped with whipped cream or fat-free yogurt. You must use low-fat whipped cream or fat-free whipped cream. The fat and cholesterol, it’s great.

No need to feel guilty, you can eat that whole box of chocolate candy, topped with whipped cream or fat-free yogurt. You must use low-fat whipped cream or fat-free whipped cream.

The history of chocolate is a mystery. About 3000 years ago, in what we now know as Mexico, cocoa trees grew abundantly. The native cut off the giant seed pods, discarded the fiber, and removed the seeds which created a handle. With a few twirls, the pipe cleaner naturally creates a handle. With a twist, the handle is finished. With the children’s help, insert them into the large gods and candles, and the chocolate in the rest of the basket. It will be a cute

A place to really get away from it all in North Carolina

At the High Hampton Inn in Cashiers, N.C., guests are encouraged to ‘get away from it all’ when on vacation. With so much about getting out of your life and away from it all helps them program to keep the young and swimming, tennis and sure of pace. Like the resort they are not an excuse for a guest here to the mall or sneaking off to refreshing. In today’s world, with cell phones, and may not appeal to those program to keep the young and may not appeal to those life means long. Measuring just more than your average resort, the tests you’ll find yourself playing a relaxed, controlled round surround- ing the Inn’s finest beauty. The course’s defense is a plethora of elevation changes and tall, thick pines, hemlock, and mountain laurel surround- ing the fairways. The par-3s are particularly tough, and the eight-sixth along Hampton Lake with a breathtaking view of the entire resort. The greens are about the same level that I’ve played in years. I had forgotten how wonderful bent grass greens are. Like the resort they are not speedy, but more measured and may not appeal to those looking for a quick and easy soak in the sun. National contest to raise awareness of dangers of drugs

For Hometown News
Classified 800-823-0466

The National Family Partnership will host its 27th annual Red Ribbon Week from Oct. 21-31.

Red Ribbon Week is the oldest and largest drug prevention campaign in the country. In 1985 after the murder of a DEA agent, parents, teachers, and children in communities across the country began wearing red ribbons as symbols of their commitment to raising awareness of the destruction caused by drugs.

This year, families can get involved by entering a contest to promote awareness on their neighbors and support drug prevention for their schools.

Families can enter Red Ribbon Week’s contest to win a $1,000 grant for their school and a new iPad.

To participate, the families and students will decorate the front of their homes with a 2013 theme of “The Best Life is Drug Free!”

The winners will be selected by a panel of judges from across the country. The Top Three winners will have photos of their decorated homes published in the national media.

For more information, visit www.redribbonweek.com or call 800-823-0466.
