Referendum question will be sent to voters Nov. 4

Property list includes Crestlawn Cemetary

By Jessica Creagan

jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — During the Nov. 4 general election, voters in the city of Vero Beach will get to decide whether 26 parcels owned by the city will be specially protected for the future.

The Vero Beach City Council voted to send the question to the public during the Aug. 19 meeting after discussing the issue for several months.

If voters approve the referendum, the city parcels listed could not be sold, leased, traded or gifted without the voter approval.

Last year through conversations about Crestlawn Cemetery, a cemetery that is deeply rooted in Vero Beach history, it became known that the cemetery was not specifically protected from being sold by the city charter and could be sold legally and privatized, a matter that concerned some residents greatly.

As a result, Councilwoman Amelia Graves and former city councilman Ken Daige began a process working with city staff to create a list of properties that have significance to the community and would be something the community

Indian River County residents join ALS challenge and fundraiser

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Yes, it's summertime and it's hot outside, but that's not why thousands of people, including Indian River County community leaders, are dumping buckets of icy-cold water on their heads.

Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, more commonly known as ALS or Lou Gehrig's Disease, has received nationwide attention this year due to viral videos of people challenging their friends, families and even celebrities to raise awareness of the disease and either pour bone-chillingly cold water over themselves or donate to ALS research, or perhaps to do both.

Vero Beach Police Chief David Currey was among the many who stepped up to take the ice bucket challenge this past week.

Prior to the dousing, Chief Currey said his daughters Kennedy and Karley asked him to take the challenge and he accepted to honor the memory of a friend.

"In April of this year one of my best friends for more than 25 years died from ALS. Tom Cetrone of Linwood, N.J. left behind a wife of 16 years and two beautiful young daughters. Tom was 49 years of age," Chief Currey said.

ALS is a progressive neuromuscular disease, wherein motor cells in the brain and spinal cord degenerate, leading to muscle weakness. As the disease progresses, it results in severe impairment of mobility, speech, swallowing and respiratory function. There is currently no cure and the average life expectancy of a person diagnosed with the disease is anywhere between two to five years without invasive mechanical ventilation, according to the ALS website.

Chief Currey also challenged staff members of the Vero Beach Police Department to join in him in taking the challenge and several have already accepted. Videos of the officers standing with their chief to honor his friend are available on the Vero Beach Police Department Facebook page.

Alissa Gutierrez, director of marketing and communications of The ALS Association Florida Chapter in Tampa, said statewide, at any given time, the number of patients with ALS is about 1,600.

"Because our patients usually don't live very long, our numbers never get very large. In the U.S. there are at any given time around 35,000 people with the disease," she said.

As of Aug. 20, the Florida ALS chapter received $50,000 in donations, compared to $21,000 last year during the July 29 to Aug. 19 timeframe, Ms. Gutierrez said.

"The ALS Association Florida Chapter is the only organization in our state solely dedicated to caring for people with Lou Gehrig's disease," Ms. Gutierrez said.

"We hope people will designate The Florida Chapter as their ALS charity of choice by going to www.ALSAFL.org."

As of Aug. 25, the national ALS Association received $79.7 million in donations from July 29 to Aug. 25 of this year. Last year donations reported during the same time period were $2.5 million. The donations came from existing donors and 1.7 million new donors, a press release said.

The closest support groups for ALS families in Indian River County are in Viera and Stuart. The Brevard County-based group meets the third Wednesday of each month from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at 8085 Spyglass Hill Road, Viera. The Martin County-based group meets the first Tuesday of each month from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at 501 E. Osceola St., Stuart.

Debunking some computer myths

There are a lot of myths surrounding computers out there, some based on reality, some based on "the way technology used to be" and some based on plain old fear and paranoia. Some computer myths tend to be so prevalent that I often see veteran computer users falling prey to some of them. This week I thought I would try to dispel some of these myths.

The first myth I want to address is that, "if you connect to the Internet you will immediately become a target for some hacker who is out to steal your identity."

COMPUTE THIS

This myth is one that is born out of paranoia and misinformation. We have all seen the stories in the news, stories about some hacker getting caught accessing some big company database or stories about some poor people getting their identities stolen, but the fact of the matter is most hackers just aren't interested in you. Hackers tend to go after the "big" targets, such as corporate databases, and don't spend too much time hunting individual end users.

But that's not what the Internet security software companies want you to think. There is a big market for computer security programs and firewall software, but if it's not configured or installed correctly (which is most of the time) it can bring your machine to a crawl and still leave you vulnerable.

As long as you have a quality, up-to-date anti-virus program installed and running, and have all the current operating system updates installed, you should be safe plugging your machine into the Internet.

If it is identity theft you are worried about, I would be more concerned about all those big corporate entities out there that already have your personal information on file. Databases such as those that are the real targets. Why take the time to hack into one user's machine for one identity when there are so many other systems out there that hold thousands (even millions) of identities in their databases?

Another common myth that I run into is, "regularly defragging my hard drive will make it run faster." This myth has its origins from the way technology used to be. Sure, if you are running an old 486 machine with Windows 95 and a 1 gig hard drive, defragging it periodically will clean things up a bit and give you a noticeable increase in performance. If, on the other hand, you are running something a little more modern (any machine built within the last five years) defragging the hard drive all the time to increase performance is often just a waste of time. Furthermore, Windows operating systems from Vista on are set up to perform this chore automatically.

Any increase in performance gained by defragging will typically be unnoticeable. Sure, it's nice to see all those red areas turn blue when you do defrag a modern machine, but don't be fooled. You aren't gaining much. I will concede that running defrag periodically to "tidy up" is good practice, but it's not the cure-all that some people still think it is.

The next myth comes from unclear advertisements that some computer manufacturers run. Many ads today for new computers tout their systems as being "wireless ready" right out of the box. And, to a degree, this may be true, with things such as WiFi chips being built into the motherboard, but the thing that the ads tend to leave out (or bury in fine print) is that you need to be in an area of wireless service for

Rants & Raves

Got something to say?

Email the Hometown Rants & Raves at newsfp@hometownnewsol.com or call (772) 465-5504.

Commenters are asked to refrain from making slanderous statements. Statements of fact will be checked for accuracy.

Laws are there for reasons

I am sure you all would agree with me to say to those, who are in such a rush to get somewhere, slow down and be respectful to others.

I always drive what the speed limit is, but there comes a race driver, who gets mad at me, while I am doing what the law says to do.

This is a country of laws. Imagine if there were not any laws. Oh, my God! I don't want to even imagine what people would be doing to each other.

Please, if you go to church on Sundays (only), listen to the words and practice them; it will benefit you.

You are living in this great country, so please be nice to each other, and respect each other. Respect the laws and follow them.

Thank you.

Headlights in the rain

Why am I seeing so many people still not turning their headlights on when it's raining?

It doesn't take a genius to realize that it's more difficult to see a vehicle when you are separated by a curtain of rain. It also happens to be a Florida law.

I'm sure that most every other state has this in effect, as well. I don't know what causes folks to think this way. It could be just plain laziness.

I think it is probably the same group, who think that just because they know where they are going, that they don't need to use turn signals to tell us. I do think that, for some reason, they rationalize that if they are in a turning lane, that eliminates the need.

These are the same people, I guess, who make left turns from the center lane and vice versa.

My driver education class in high school in New York was called defensive driving. The name fits, because it's every man or woman for themselves.

Reporting people who litter

Today, I was sitting at the traffic light at an intersection on Highway A1A, waiting for the light to change.

A pickup truck, with a utility trailer attached, was sitting there, as well. The driver was eating a banana.

When he finished, he threw the banana peel out the window onto the street.

He must not have been a local resident because we try to keep our beach and roadways clean.

I wish I could have seen his license plate number, so I could report him.

We certainly don't need these "animals" messing up our city.

TV ads vs. entertainment

I had called in about the TV commercials, but I never saw what I had to say printed in the newspaper.

Skim for a cause

Kelsey Bloome shows she has the moves during the Shore Lb. Throw Down Skim Boarding Contest to benefit the Vero Beach Lifeguard Association Saturday at Mulligan's Beach House in Sexton Plaza.

Cliff Partlow staff photographer

However, there were two recent printed messages, and I guess it was directed at me. I took it personally that they were printed.

Now, comes the comeback. I would like to address the issue of the TV commercials.

To the parties, who recently expounded on this issue in the Raves, now comes my Rant. I shall not elongate – just the bottom line.

If you want to pay for these commercials, you must enjoy spending your money this way.

I do not prefer to do this. I prefer paying cable for entertainment purposes only – nothing else.

Thank you.

How about a compromise?

Compromise: a way to get along by going along. A negotiating tactic that one side insists the other side take. Be willing to compromise, but insist that the other side be the one to do it. That's fine in some cases, but on important matters, never, not even one inch. Why settle for less than what is right. That's why gridlock rocks. It means the system is working the way it was set up to work.

Now, there are times when compromise is good, or at the very least tolerated.

Take the situation with the Washington Red Skins. Sure, it's ridiculous! However, there is a way to please everyone and no one loses his or her rear end in the deal. This should make both sides happy.

Change the name to the "WASHINGTON RED ONIONS" Plaster a decal of a red onion over the Indian head and still call them the "WASHINGTON RED SKINS".

Problem solved.

Can't we just all get along?

Don't reward mediocrity

Too many parents fail to require their children to do homework. Too many parents fail to praise their children for getting good grades, and too few parents show commitment to their children's education. Another reason for the failings of our public schools, however, is lousy preparation of teachers by education colleges. A study by

Deputy

Deputy Spencer thanked them and the people he has served with during his tenure. He said Indian River County is the best place to live and work, but attributed his ability to do his job well to his wife, Loma.

"I wouldn't be where I'm at without her," Chief Deputy Spencer said.

Charles W. Sembler II, former Indian River County Tax Collector, also spoke during the meeting, sharing a funny story, but closing with words of praise for Chief Deputy Spencer counting himself "lucky to have him as a good friend."

Sheriff Deryl Loar, the fifth Indian River County Sheriff Chief Deputy Spencer has served under, said the officer's retirement was bittersweet.

"He is an ethical man and a gentleman and we will miss him," Sheriff Loar said.

Chief Deputy Spencer began his law enforcement career as a patrol deputy with the Lee County Sheriff's Office and came to the Indian River County Sheriff's Office in July 1980.

He was entrusted with various tasks and responsibilities and rose through the ranks while serving Indian River County, including: a promotion to corporal in road patrol in 1985 with a transfer to the training unit in 1987, a promotion to lieutenant over the personnel services section which includes human resources, accreditation and training, in 1989, a leadership position in the special operations section to include ranch and grove, marine enforcement and aviation in 2001, a promotion to deputy division commander in uniform patrol in 2004, a promotion to captain and command of the information services division in 2007, a transfer to the judicial and staff services division in 2009 and an appointment to chief deputy in 2010.

After retirement, Chief Deputy Spencer and his wife will remain in Indian River County, but will have a little bit more downtime and traveling opportunities.

In an interview, Chief Deputy Spencer said it would be nearly impossible to choose just one experience out of his long career as the most memorable.

During those 34 years, technology used by the agency has improved by leaps and bounds, he said.

"When I started, we didn't even have walkie talkies and now there are laptops in the vehicles," Chief Deputy Spencer said.

There have been incredibly sad events including the death of Indian River County Sheriff's Deputy Richard Raczkoski, the only Indian River County deputy killed in action.

"I was also here when the (David) Gore murders happened and other kidnappings in the 1980s," Chief Deputy Spencer said.

He said he felt privileged to have been involved in five different sheriff's office administrations and humbled to have been a part of many changes and improvements to the office.

"And you never know, after the curtain goes down, there may be an opportunity for an encore," Chief Deputy Spencer said.

'Ultimate' competitor helps team to silver medal

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The game of Ultimate Frisbee has taken Ryan Hiser of Vero Beach across the Atlantic Ocean to a different continent and renewed his love of the sport.

Mr. Hiser, a freshman student at the University of Florida and recent graduate of Vero Beach High School, was chosen to play for Team USA at the World Flying Disc Federation's World Junior Ultimate Championships in Italy in July. He and his 23 teammates in the 19-year-old and younger division won all of their games through the tournament and advanced to the final game against Canada.

Although they lost in the championship game, Mr. Hiser said the games and experiences during his time on the team were incredible.

"We lost to Canada in a thrilling 17 to 16 game that was close the entire game. It was a memorable experience and one that I will cherish the rest of my life," Mr. Hiser said.

Find ways to beat the heat

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — With high temperatures forecast throughout the weekend, the Florida Department of Health urges residents and visitors across the state to beat the heat and stay cool, healthy and safe.

“Florida’s families, especially those with young children, are encouraged to take precautions to keep cool in high temperatures,” said Dr. Celeste Philip, Deputy Secretary for Health and Deputy State Health Officer for Children’s Medical Services. “Staying cool will help to protect your family from heat stroke, heat exhaustion and dehydration.”

In a heat wave, keeping your cool will keep you healthy. People and animals should stay indoors. If you don’t have air-conditioning, go to the mall, library or a community relief shelter. Remember to drink more fluids, but avoid alcohol and high sugar drinks. When going out, wear light clothing and never leave any persons, especially infants or young children, or animals in a closed, parked vehicle.

During extreme heat, a person can experience sunstroke, heat cramps, heat exhaustion and even heatstroke if exposed to high temperatures and humidity for an extended period of time. Those most prone to heat exhaustion are the elderly, people with high blood pressure and people working in a hot environment.

Warning signs of heat exhaustion include heavy sweating, paleness, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, dizziness, headache, nausea or vomiting and fainting. If heat exhaustion is untreated, it may progress to heat stroke. If symptoms become more severe or last longer than one hour, seek medical attention immediately. If you suspect you may have heat exhaustion, take the following cooling measures: drink cool, non-alcoholic beverages; rest in an air-conditioned area; take a cool shower, bath or sponge bath; wear lightweight clothing, and prevent sun burn by applying sunscreen of 30 SPF.

To avoid becoming dehydrated, drink plenty of fluids, especially water, even if you don’t feel thirsty. Young children and babies may need more fluids than normal daily intake to stay hydrated and are urged keep cool by spending time in air-conditioned areas as much as possible. Signs of dehydration include thirst, weakness, nausea, muscle cramps, feeling dizzy and light headed, decreased urine levels and/or urine that has a strong odor or is darker in color than normal, tiredness, sluggishness, irritability and headaches.

The Department also reminds Floridians to be mindful of the needs of pets. Make sure that pets have access to water, ventilation and shade.

Watch out for some common poisonous plants

Although I have written about this topic two years ago, I am getting a lot of e-mail requests to talk about some of the most common poisonous plants in Florida. I have compiled a list of some of the most common plants that we all have in our yards and gardens. Some of the varieties that are poisonous will shock you.

If you look around your yard and neighborhood, you will find ornamental plants of almost every size, shape and color. What you don't know about some of these common plants can be deadly. Some parts of the ornamental plants or flowers in your yard may contain deadly poison. The most susceptible to being harmed by these plants are children and pets. One of the most toxic and common poisonous plants is the Oleander. The Oleander plant contains a deadly heart stimulant that resembles the prescription drug digitalis. If a child eats a single leaf or two from this plant it could be deadly. There have been several instances where people have died from eating meats that were roasted from a wood fire that contained Oleander twigs or branches.

Dieffenbachia, which is a common tropical that many of us have in our homes, is also a highly toxic plant. All parts of this plant are poisonous.

If eaten, the plant can cause intense burning and irritation of your mouth. The plant can be deadly if enough swelling occurs to block your airway. You should always wash your hands after handling this or any of the listed poisonous plants.

Another surprising plant is the Azalea. All parts of the Azalea plant can be toxic if ingested. The symptoms include nausea and vomiting along with difficulty in breathing and possibly coma. The end result can be fatal. Even the berries of Jasmine plants can be toxic. They can cause digestive problems along it to work.

If you don't have wireless Internet access and are contemplating buying a new computer that's wireless ready because you are under the impression that it will connect to the Internet right out of the box, you are about to make a mistake. All this "wireless ready" stuff means is that you won't need any extra hardware to connect to an existing wireless service. It doesn't mean that you can just turn it on and be online as some people have been led to believe. In order for these systems to work, they need to be in a wireless "cloud;" either your own wireless service, DSL or cable plugged into a wireless router, or a public wireless hotspot, such as those found in many hotels, airports and coffee shops.

I hope this helps and until next week, happy computing!

Question

would like to have some say over changes.

Most of the properties on the list are parks or “green spaces.”

Crestlawn Cemetery will top the list on the ballot question in November, thanks to Councilwoman Pilar Turner’s insistence on clarity and transparency, since the cemetery prompted the entire issue of protecting lands.

Should the referendum question pass, city attorney Wayne Coment said a language change in city documents will ensure that burial plots at Crestlawn Cemetery could continue to be sold without referendums being needed for each one.

Another parcel, known as “old city nursery” was included on the list, not because it is a park, but because it is seen as a place of future expansion for the cemetery.

The entire list of city parcels to be included in the referendum question are as follows: Crestlawn Cemetery; Old City Nursery; Pocahontas Park; Humiston Beach Park; Jaycee Beach Park; South Beach Park; Alex MacWilliam Park; Riverside Park; Veterans Memorial Island Sanctuary; Troy Moody Park; Municipal Marina; Young Park; Bob Summers Park; the Power Plant parcel; Waste-water Treatment Plant parcel; Block Manor Park; Charles Park; Jacoby Park; Alex MacWilliam Boat Basin Park; Piece of Pie Park; Pine Terrace Park; Royal Palm Pointe Park; Van Busch Park; Lake Rose; Leisure Square and Michael Field.

Garden

with nervous system disorders.

The foliage from oak trees can be toxic but the effects are gradual. If foliage is ingested, it can slowly affect your kidneys. You need to ingest a substantial amount for severe poisoning to occur.

Lantana, which is commonly used by many as a colorful ground cover, is another specimen that is toxic if ingested. Acute poisoning can cause hemorrhagic diarrhea and rapid heart rate.

Although this list includes some of the most common plant varieties, there are many more that could be added to this list including Milkweed, Narcissus, Daffodil, poison Oak, Purslane and Snow on the Mountain. Bear in mind that just because some of your favorite plants can be toxic if ingested, common sense and keeping these plants out of the reach of small children and pets can totally avoid tragedy.

We have talked a lot about common and seemingly innocent plants that can be toxic but here is one plant that many people think is deadly poisonous but in reality, it is harmless. The plant I am referring to is the Poinsettia. The Poinsettia plant is one of the most widely produced plants in the country. During the holidays, almost every household has at least one Poinsettia adorning their décor. Fear not as today’s commercially distributed varieties are not poisonous. There are some people, however, that may get a mild allergic reaction to the milky sap if it comes in contact with their skin. The affected areas can be washed with soap and water to remove the sap if irritation develops. Poinsettia plants are not a serious risk for animals although it is always best to keep any plant out of the reach of pets if they like to chew plants.

Finally, there are also several common houseplants that can be toxic to animals and children. Probably the most common is the Philodendron. The toxic part is the leaves. If ingested, it can cause burning of the lips and mouth and can also cause contact dermatitis if the plant juice contacts the skin. Similar symptoms can occur with Pothos, Golden Pothos and Devil’s Ivy.

VERO BEACH— After a comprehensive search, Indian River Medical Center's Behavioral Health psychiatrist team is complete.

The most recent addition is Guido Nodal Jr., M.D., who joined the Behavioral Health Center team this summer. He is an experienced, board-certified adult psychiatrist with added certifications in geriatrics and addictions. He has been practicing in Florida for almost 30 years.

"I am excited to join such a great team that is focused on patient outcomes and service excellence," Dr. Nodal said.

"The Psychiatry team needs four full-time doctors to provide excellent care," said former BHC Medical Director Raymond Dean, M.D. After six years as medical director of BHC and various other leadership positions over the past 16 years, Dr. Dean handed the reins over to Paul Hebig, M.D., as medical director. Dr. Dean will continue to offer care for the child/adolescent unit. Dr. Hebig has been with the Behavioral Health Center for five years. He is a board-certified adult psychiatrist, with additional certification in forensic psychiatry.

As the new medical director, Dr. Hebig is particularly happy with Dr. Nodal's interest in expanding the Consultation/Liaison service line at IRMC. Dr. Nodal will spend part of his day at IRMC seeing inpatient cases referred for psychiatric consultations.

"We know that 35 percent of post-interventional cardiac patients will have a major depressive episode and 9 percent of women will have post-partum depression. We can help before these develop into full blown crises,"

Dr. Hebig said.

Dr. Kristin Hicks joined the Team in October 2012. She is board certified in adult psychiatry and specializes in geriatric psychiatry. She is looking forward to having more time to develop more alternative adjunctive therapies, such as meditation and Tai Chi.

The Behavioral Health Center is a 46-bed acute psychiatric crisis stabilization facility. They treat approximately 2,000 patients, of all ages, per year.

"The atmosphere of the finals game will be something I remember for the rest of my life. There were more than 5,000 people in attendance and much, much more watching through the live computer stream, which is the most I have ever played Frisbee in front of," he said.

The intensity of the game was amplified through the crowd watching and responding to the plays, Mr. Hiser said.

"The last couple of points the stadium was going crazy. I honestly felt like I was back in the Citrus Bowl playing football on a Friday night in Vero Beach," he said.

The tournament week began with a parade and opening ceremonies in Lecco, Italy.

"The parade was absolutely amazing. There was no better feeling walking through the streets of Lecco singing some of the most famous patriotic songs of our country," Mr. Hiser said.

"My heart swelled with pride for our country and made me truly proud to be an American," he said.

From one continent to another, Ultimate Frisbee competitors are much the same, though the stakes were definitely higher at this tournament, Mr. Hiser said.

"The level of play was just as spirited, if not more spirited, than Ultimate in the U.S.," he said.

The official language during the tournament was English and the friendliness and courtesy between the international players was the same as the players playing pick-up games in Vero Beach, Mr. Hiser said.

"Everyone respected the calls on the field and if there was a disagreement it was done in a mild manner and no one ever argued or got loud with each other. It was amazing," he said.

Playing for Team USA was also a learning experience, Mr. Hiser said.

"I learned a good deal of new things from the coaches and team. Most importantly I learned how to become a really good teammate," he said.

"All the guys on the team were just as good as me and better. I didn't have to be the captain or have the pressure of being the one of the better players on the team. I learned how to cheer my teammates on more than myself and how to help my teammates get open even if I was not catching the disc.

"I also learned some new overall offensive strategies and defensive strategies. I became better at man defense and learned how to effectively guard someone," Mr. Hiser said.

He hopes to take all of these experiences and use them with his new teammates.

"I'm looking forward to playing on the University of Florida Ultimate Frisbee team this year!" he said.

Potters at the wheel

Art museum plays host to dozens creating bowls for nonprofit fundraiser

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — The slap of wet clay onto a potter's wheel followed by the whirring of the wheel spinning 'round and 'round is going to be a familiar sound at the Vero Beach Museum of Art for the next several weeks.

About 30 potters are participating in the annual soup bowl workshop where the bowls are used as a fundraiser for the Samaritan Center, a nonprofit organization providing shelter and support for homeless families in Indian River County.

Shotsi Lajoie, workshop coordinator and potter, said she always loves this event and the spotlight it puts on the Samaritan Center and their work in the county.

Restaurant takes fresh, creative food to next level

By Anna-Marie Menhenott
news@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — When Travis Beckett and Vero's Top Chef 2013 winner Lou Kolbauer began to realize their business, Wild Thyme Catering, was beginning to expand exponentially, they decided needed a larger space to create their incredible cuisine. So, out of necessity, Chive Restaurant was developed as a place where not only locals could enjoy a fresh, quick lunch, but a base for the catering company to work from.

Fast-forward nearly a year, and the popular restaurant is readying to open a second, larger location in Vero Beach, is continuing to cater events across the Treasure Coast, and is generally becoming one of the area's best spots for "quick creative cuisine."

Although the busy, chalked menu may seem a little overwhelming for new patrons, Mr. Beckett and his friendly staff are available to help first-timers through the process of ordering.

"We start with the basics," Mr. Beckett said. "First, customers need to decide if they want to choose a wrap, burrito, taco, po boy, salad or a beans and rice bowl. The second step is to choose the 'meat' of go inside whichever they chose in step one... the last step is to decide which of the toppings and sauces they want on top. It really is pretty simple once a customer gets used to what we serve."

It may seem like a simple process, but deciding between the arrays of incredible offerings is far from easy. With items such as slow roasted pork, marinated chicken breast, Maine lobster, grilled shrimp, Mahi Mahi, seared Ahi tuna and flank steak as options, decisions can be quite challenging.

Once that decision is made, choosing from the many different toppings and sauces can make each visit to the restaurant a unique experience.

"Some people come in and know exactly what they want," Mr. Beckett explained. "Our menu includes items that you may not find at restaurants that serve a fast lunch. We try to bring a healthier option to the table. We have soups and salads and of course serve classics like the Philly cheese steak. Our sides are not typical; we serve Swiss macaroni and cheese, Thai glass noodle salad, cole slaw and tri-beans and rice."

There is also a menu for children which includes a taco and side, a cheesy quesadilla and chicken mac n cheese and for dessert, homemade banana bread with Captain Morgan's Apple Butter is a must-try.

With such incredible menu items, it's hard to pick a favorite. Most customers leave knowing just what they want to try the next time they visit. While sitting down enjoying a green beef taco, I overheard someone order a chicken burrito with fresh veggies and wasabi mayo. I decided the next time I visit, that's exactly what I will have... The endless possibilities just might just be the method to Chive's madness.

Chive gives away a free lunch everyday on their Facebook page and is preparing to open its location at 8 Royal Palm Pointe in Vero Beach in late September.

The restaurant located at 1785 Old Dixie Highway in Vero Beach is open Monday – Friday, from 11 a.m. - 7 p.m. and on Saturday from 11 a.m. – 4 p.m. They can be reached at (772) 492-9166.

Potters

A potter is allowed the freedom to design and decorate the bowl as much or as little as desired, Ms. Lajoie said.

“The bowl itself is usually simple, but some potters add a little extra design to it, or choose a special glaze to make the bowls their own,” she said.

Members of the public are especially invited to watch the potters at work on Aug. 30 and 31, but there will be potters at the museum constantly through September working on either throwing the bowls or glazing them, said Ms. Lajoie.

Visitors might also see the potters working on soup tureens which will be either raffled off during the event or sold at a live auction.

Assisting the potters during the workshop will be a small group of volunteers who do a variety of odd jobs, such as tidying up or preparing the clay for the potter by beating out air bubbles from the blocks of clay, Ms. Lajoie said.

Ms. Lajoie said the goal is always to craft more bowls than the year prior. In recent years the number has fluctuated between 1,200 and 1,300 bowls.

The bowls will be available for purchase at the 22nd annual Samaritan Center Soup Bowl on Nov. 13 and will be $15 apiece. The bowls will be divided up at the more than 30 different soup-serving locations and sold onsite along with soup, Ms. Lajoie said.

The more bowls the better, Ms. Lajoie said, because the handmade items are in high demand and often sell out one hour into the lunchtime event.

The money donated to the Samaritan Center from the bowl and soup sales goes toward a variety things needed for the care and training of the people that live in the temporary housing shelter.

This year, just a few days prior to the soup bowl, another fundraiser will be held where guests can further participate in donating to the Samaritan Center.

“Give from the Heart, A Small Plate Event,” will take place on Nov. 10 and includes cocktails and hors d’oeuvres, as well as a handcrafted and hand-painted plate for each participant.

Unlike the soup bowl event, where there are about 5,000 people participating buying soup or a soup bowl or both during their lunch hour, the small plate event will be formal and ticketed, Ms. Lajoie said.

Tickets are available for $100 per person and guests 40 or younger are eligible for a junior ticket at $75 per person, a press release said.

The event will take place at Quail Valley River Club and replace an annual spring fundraiser usually for Samaritan Center at the venue, Ms. Lajoie said.

Space is limited so reservations are required.

For more information about the soup bowl workshop, contact Ms. Lajoie at shotsi@comcast.net.

Preparing for a storm: a guide for business owners

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

At Florida Power & Light, we know the impact that a major storm can have on your business. We have a plan and urge you to prepare as well so you and your employees can get back to business as safely and quickly as possible. Below is a guide that we hope will help get you started:

Plan ahead:
• Ensure your employees' contact information is up-to-date and that you have a plan in place to communicate after the storm passes.

- Determine if your business is in a flood and/or evacuation zone and review evacuation routes
  - Identify what you need to secure your building or office.
  - Review your insurance coverage, photograph or videotape your building or office – inside and out.
- Before a storm:
- Gather supplies to secure the exterior of your office and protect.
  - Fully charge all portable electronics.
  - Make multiple back-ups of computer files and data, and store records off premises.

- Record a special voice message, informing employees and customers the status of company operations.
  - Close your offices, with sufficient time to allow employees to secure their own homes; inform clients that you're closing early and when you plan to reopen.
- After a storm:
- Watch for downed power lines. Call 911 or FPL at 1-800-4OUTAGE to report fallen power lines that present a clear and imminent danger to you or others. Do not attempt to touch any electrical power lines, always assume that every power line is energized.

• Stay connected with us, report an outage and get updates at www.fpl.com, which is also accessible with mobile devices.

• In case of interior water damage, immediately turn off your circuit breakers, disconnect all electrical appliances and turn off all wall switches. Remember, never stand in water while operating switches or unplugging any electrical device.

• If you use a portable generator, read and follow all the manufacturer's instructions and safety guidelines.

For more storm and safety tips, visit www.fpl.com/storm.

Honoring heroes over Labor Day weekend

If you have ever wanted to be a hero, your chance to become a hero to be one to those who defend our freedom and their families comes this Labor Day weekend.

Every day the men and women of our armed forces put their lives on the line so that we can safely enjoy our swimming pools, cookouts, sports and time with loved ones. When it is time for them to come home, many return bearing the scars of combat and service. Others come home in a flag-draped coffin.

Patriot Golf Day is about these fine men and women and their families. Should you tee it up over this holiday weekend, please do so at a participating course. Proceeds from your round will go to the families of those who have been injured or killed defending our great nation.

To fully appreciate Patriot Golf Day's mission, it's important for you to know how it came to be.

Brad and Brock Bucklin, twins born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, were part of a family of five sons of Duane "Buck" and Dawn Bucklin.

The boys grew up to become fine young men. Trying to find direction in his life, Brock followed his brother into the military, enlisting a year after his brother in August of 2004. In the military Brock found his way and told his father that he planned to enter Officer Training School and make the Army his career.

Brock was assigned to the 1st Battalion, 68th Armor Regiment, 3rd Heavy Brigade Combat Team, and 4th Infantry Division of Fort Carson, Colorado. In December 2005, he was called to service in Iraq.

On May 31, 2006, 28-year-old Corporal Brock Bucklin was the "acting mayor" of Forward Operating Base GABE, on the outskirts of Baqubah, 40 miles northeast of Baghdad. Just as a mayor of a town is the point person, the "mayor" of FOB GABE was the "go-to" guy when soldiers had problems or needs.

Brock's duty was to coordinate and manage the independent contractors and support resources to address those needs. On that day, he was assigned to assist a contractor in identifying equipment for transport.

The civilian contractors were responsible for moving concrete barriers, the largest 12 feet long, six feet high and four feet wide. Each barrier weighs as much as 10 tons and while they were moving them onto trailers one of the trucks became stuck.

A cargo chain was attached between the truck and another to pull it out. As the workers stood off to the side, the chain snapped and a broken link found Brock, slicing an artery in his neck.

Medics arrived and provided treatment to Brock. Eighteen minutes later, a MEDEVAC helicopter transported him to LSA Anaconda Air Force Hospital. A half-hour later Brock Bucklin, having served only 22 months, had died.

"It is a tragedy when a son or daughter dies before you. It's unnatural. It's the thing that's unacceptable and most troubling," said his father, Buck.

Brad, stationed in Germany, was allowed to accompany his brother's coffin home to Grand Rapids. Then-Captain Dan Rooney, a PGA Professional from Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, and member of the Oklahoma Air National Guard, was on that same flight as it carried home the body of Corporal Bucklin.

The plane landed at 11:35 p.m., and Rooney watched through the plane's window as the Bucklin's awaited Brad and the coffin of their late son. Brock's son, Jacob, was clinging to the leg of his mother.

The pilot had requested that passengers remain in their seats until the remains of the fallen hero could be transferred to his family. Rooney looked up and saw that half of the passengers had left the plane. In that moment, Rooney was inspired to give back to the families of fallen heroes.

A little over a year after Brock's funeral, Rooney called Buck, letting him know that his son, along with all the families of those who had perished or became disabled in the line of duty, would not be forgotten.

"I am an ordinary person that has been blessed with the extraordinary opportunity to be the flight leader on the Patriot Golf Day mission," says Rooney. "I simply planted a small seed which has been cultivated by PGA Professionals and great citizens around the United States."

Brock Bucklin's son Jacob, now 11, is the recipient of a scholarship generated from Rooney's vision for honoring fallen heroes - The Folds of Honor Foundation, and its largest fundraiser, Patriot Golf Day.

"It was good to know that something good came from this," said Buck.

"There are a lot of other sons and daughters who did not come home."

"Never could I imagine what it was that Dan Rooney wanted to do," continued Buck. "But I know that my son would be extremely proud."

If you'd like to be a hero and honor the memories of our true heroes, please do so over this Labor Day weekend by playing at a participating course. Courses and additional information are available at www.foldsofhonor.org.
