THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

The Jury of Awards of the Atlanta Exposition, a body composed of some of the most distinguished men in the country, among whom are Daniel C. Gilman, president of Johns Hopkins University; Vice-President Stevenson, Hon. J. M. L. Curry, secretary of the Peabody educational fund; G. Brown Goode, of the Smithsonian Institution; President McBryde, of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, and others equally eminent in art, science and education, has just issued a very strong endorsement which has been given to the press of the country.

The address speaks in words of highest praise of the national government exhibit, showing the development of agriculture, forestry, mines and mineral wealth, fisheries and fish culture, the protection and promotion of commerce, the education and civilization of the Indian and the encouragement of invention. They call attention to the civic pride displayed by the citizens of Atlanta, and to the varied and inexhaustible resources of the Cotton States as is shown in their comprehensive exhibits. The interested co-operation and social intercourse that is promoted is spoken of as an admirable sign illustrating the good will and fraternity now prevalent among the citizens of our united republic and the establishment of sympathy among those who have been widely separated is mentioned as being a direct result of the exposition.

The important contributions made to the exposition by the women and the innumerable illustrations of skilled labor receive their due portion of praise. Attention is called to the exhibits that illustrate the progress of education and science, and the advancement of the colored population in intelligence, industry and enterprise.

In speaking of the exhibits made by the different systems of railroads the jury says:

We believe that the permanent good of an exhibition of this kind will be manifested in the improvement of popular intelligence and industry; in diffusion of correct standards of taste and skill, and in more accurate knowledge respecting the natural resources and characteristics of the different parts of our own country. For example, the collective exhibits made by the Southern railroads and also by the Seaboard Air Line, and the Plant system of Florida, bring out in vivid outlines the advantages of the regions through which these railroads are constructed. The improvements in the railway connections of Atlanta with Chicago, New York, New Orleans and Florida, are permanent contributions to the prosperity of the country.

The people of this State are to be congratulated on the beautiful and comprehensive exhibit of West Florida that shows up very advantageously the many and varied interests of the Land of Flowers. This exhibit is beautifully arranged, and is a special object of admiration to all who visit the exposition. To the Hon. W. D. Chipley, of Pensacola, is due much of the credit of this enterprise, which will, no doubt, be the means of bringing to this State thousands of Northern visitors, who otherwise would return home from Atlanta without visiting Florida.

Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt will pay ten millions for a duke. This is a high price for royalty when it is considered that two kings have been known to be captured by a couple of bits of cardboard with only one small spot on each.

The Spanish system of editing the press dispatches from Cuba may cause the Madrid government to believe it is suppressing the rebellion, but in the meantime the insurgents are gaining victory after victory, and are recognizing their own belligerency.

Jacksonville and all Duval county is excited over what is claimed to be a gold mine at Panama. There is gold in abundance in Florida soil, but it is not in its primeval state in dust or nuggets, neither is it in the shape of booty hidden by sixteenth century pirates, but in the tobacco, the phosphates, the grain, hay, cattle and hogs, the vegetables and fruit and the inexhaustible supply of lumber.

Now that Southern governors and State legislatures have taken the occupations from Rogillets Corbett and Fitzsimmons, these thumpers and jaw-breakers might find congenial employment in the South Carolina constitutional convention, where the sprinting and bluff displayed by these modern disciples of the manly art of self-defense would find a ready market.

SENATOR CALL'S MISTAKE.

THE TIMES-HERALD believes in the honesty of Senator Call, his sincerity in the opinions he proclaims, and in his devotion to the people of Florida. Bitter attacks upon the Senator and his official acts by certain newspapers with monopolistic tendencies have been numerous and aggravating, and that Mr. Call retaliates should not be a surprise, but the statement made by him in his speech in this city last Monday night that "one hundred and forty of the one hundred and fifty newspapers in Florida were bribed and suborned by the railroads to work for the destruction of the interests of the people," was altogether unwarranted and unworthy of a man of Senator Call's sound judgment, knowledge and fairness.

The great body of editors and newspaper publishers in this State, as elsewhere, are honest and honorable; they are high-toned gentlemen, who, for small compensation, are doing more for the advancement of civilization and education in art, science and Christianity than all the national legislatures that ever convened. There are exceptions to all rules, but editors scorn a bribe and a briber. As for the so-called free pass, that of the editor is paid for in advertising, at very low rates, and is an entirely different thing from the legislator's pass, for which the railroad receives no remuneration other than class legislation.

CUBA LIBRE AND CASH CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Cuban Union League Club will give a picnic at Ballast Point on the 10th inst., the proceeds of which will be devoted to the fund for the wounded Cuban soldiers. An interesting program has been arranged, including athletic sports, bicycle, foot and horse races during the day, a grand ball in the pavilion and pyrotechnic display at night.—Tampa Times.

The Cuban day celebrations, the great mass meetings that are being held in almost every city in the Union in the interest of Cuban liberty and the innumerable resolutions of sympathy for the patriot insurgents, are very gratifying to all friends of liberty in the American republic, nearly all of whom earnestly desire the freedom of the Queen of the Antilles from the yoke of Spanish tyranny, yet it is clear to any close observer that one Cuban entertainment of the kind it is proposed to hold at Tampa on the 10th inst. is the sort of sympathy the struggling Cubans are in need of.

A rehearsal of the Declaration of Independence is good enough in its way, but the homely adage that "money talks" is a truism that is as applicable to great revolutions as to a horse trade or a political convention. Modern warfare is very expensive and cash contributions are the best means to bring about a realization of Cuba libre.

Eugene Debs threatens to make a tour of the country when his term of imprisonment expires, beginning with Texas. It may be necessary for Governor Culberson to call another extra session of the legislature.

Not long before his death the poet Longfellow told Hezekiah Butterworth one evening in his library how he came to write "The Psalm of Life," "The Bridge," "Excelsior," "Hiawatha," "The Old Clock on the Stairs," and some of his other great poems. Mr. Butterworth has now embodied the evening's talk in an article on "How Longfellow Wrote His Best-known Poems," which The Ladies' Home Journal will publish in its next number.

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE

is what you need when your liver becomes inactive. It's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Pellets; they're free from the violence and the griping that come with the ordinary pill. All medical authorities agree that in regulating the bowels mild methods are preferable. For every trouble of the liver, stomach and bowels, these tiny, sugar-coated pills are most effective. They go about their work in an easy and natural way, and their good lasts — they strengthen and tone up the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels, thereby promoting digestion. Sick and Bilious Headache, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Dizziness, are prevented, relieved, and permanently cured. They're the cheapest pill for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money is returned.

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

The "Waterloo" that met the Democrats last Tuesday in nearly every State in the Union in which elections were held does not tend to show that the people have forsaken those time-honored principles of Democracy, which have been the strength and maintenance of this government for more than a hundred years, nor is it an indication that the masses of American citizens are ready to advocate the promotion of trusts, monopolies and a corrupt system of spoils that has characterized the Republican party in its thirty-four years of existence. In nearly every instance the result of the late elections hinged on local affairs and in few cases was there a strict party fight, not complicated with coalitions and factional dissatisfactions.

In Maryland the Republican victory was nothing more than a vigorous uprising of voters irrespective of party to free themselves from the dictatorship of Gorman, who has so long ruled that State with the iron sceptre of a despot. In Kentucky the Democrats made the fatal error of placing a free silver candidate on a pronounced gold standard platform, and with Blackburn waging war on Carlisle and Carlisle attacking Blackburn the result was no surprise.

Despite the strenuous efforts of Republicans, Reformers and Independent Democrats, the Tammany, or regular Democratic ticket carried New York City, but with a majority too small to save the State, which is always Republican without strong aid from the city.

A union of Republicans and Populists brought about Democratic defeat in other States. Now that business is reviving and a new era of prosperity is dawning, this last-named party, always a calamity party, will have no longer an excuse for further existence.

In surveying the field the conclusion naturally presents itself, that the Democratic leaders learning wisdom from the mistakes of this year will so conduct the national campaign of 1896 as to insure a triumphant victory.

The rivalry that has existed so long between St. Paul and Minneapolis is duplicated in the fight for supremacy between Crescent City and San Mateo as will be seen from the following from the San Mateo Item: "The census taker paid San Mateo a visit this week and checked us up 421 as against Crescent City's 503. We're doing well and if Crescent City don't look out we'll be ahead."

A Liberal Proposition.

THE TIMES-HERALD has perfected arrangements with the "Word and Works Publishing Company, of St. Louis, by which it is enabled to furnish the "Word and Works," a well known and deservedly popular paper, edited by Rev. Irl R. Hicks, the renowned weather prophet, whose wonderfully accurate prognostications have been a source of surprise to the scientific world for a number of years, together with THE TIMES-HERALD for only $1.70 in advance. In addition to this, each subscriber is given a copy of Hicks new Almanac for 1896. The Almanac for next year is better than ever, has a world-wide reputation, and has for several years had an immense sale at 25 cents per copy. The subscription price of "Word and Works" is $1 per year, THE TIMES-HERALD is $1 per year, and the Almanac at 25 cents, making a total of $2.25, which can be secured through The Times-Herald office for the small sum of $1.70.

Readers of this paper whose subscriptions have not expired can obtain the benefit of this liberal offer by remitting the required sum and having their subscriptions extended one year.

Mrs. Laura C. Phoenix, Milwaukee, Wis. "Patron of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The Invalid had the 'Lagrippe,' and I was one of the first. Resuming duty so soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drafts made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 2 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food, as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me." June 5, 1894. Mrs. LAURA C. PHOENIX.

SLEEP OR DEATH

FOR YEARS MR. BURGHEIM HAD SUFFERED.

Paine's Celery Compound Soon Made Him Well.

Publisher of Two Great German Papers.

Can Now Work Fourteen Hours Every Day.

Sleeps Soundly and Peacefully Every Night He Lives.

Sleep is one of the things that cannot be put off from night to night.

The punishment for sleeplessness is worse than pain. It means a shattered mind. It often happens that a sudden stress of work or anxiety robs one of the night's rest. The effect is soon apparent in the languor, headaches and listlessness that ensue.

If rapid and abundant means are employed to repair the exhausted parts the nerves regain their elasticity. But if an unnatural privation of the brain the whole nervous system becomes undone, and prostration results.

Thousands of men struggling under great responsibilities or tedious work, anxious, overworked mothers and wives, shop girls, who are forced to stand on their feet all day long, have little difficulty in convincing their friends of the remarkable power of Paine's celery compound to restore their energy, renew their vigor, and make them strong and well.

Here is a letter from Mr. Max Burgheim the well known president and manager of the Cincinnati Freie Presse Company. Mr Burgheim writes:

"The following statement may be of interest. I have been suffering from sleeplessness, insomnia, for many years, and although I have tried almost everything to get cured, consulting the best physicians, and even going several times to Europe, everything was in vain.

"I did not have a night's rest for almost six years, that is to say, I could not sleep for two hours in succession in a single night; you can easily imagine what the effect on me had been.

"After spending a fortune in trying for relief I had given up almost all hope, and when I first read about Paine's celery compound I did not have much faith in anything. But after having used so many remedies and consulted so many physicians in this country and abroad I felt like giving the compound a trial. The result was truly wonderful.

"The very first night about six months ago that I tried Paine's celery compound you can imagine my joy when I found that I had slept six hours in succession, a thing that I had not been blessed with for so many years. I continued the use for over three months with the same happy result, and although I was fearful lest the malady would come back on me, I can now say that although I have not taken the compound for months I do sleep every night peacefully and without interruption.

"You can easily imagine what this means for a man who works fourteen hours every day in the year and has charge of two large newspapers. I consider my case a most remarkable one, and I should be glad if this statement should be the means of helping others who have suffered like I in the same untold agonies, and for this reason I give you full permission to make use of this statement in any way you choose."

The clergymen of Jacksonville are following in the footsteps of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst and have gone into the "reform" business. Discourses on "pollywag," "free Jacksonville" and gambling galore have been numerous in that city of late. These sermons on moral reform that do not have for their nucleus the story of a crucified saviour are right much like the tragedy of "Hamlet" with the Prince of Denmark eliminated.

KING JOHN TALKS.

King John has just laid down a paper published in the interest of religion—no, perhaps, he had better say in the interest of a certain church. It was filled with so many queer things and odd notions that it really proved a curiosity, yet he was told that it contained similar ideas every week.

One of the articles written by the editor, who appears very much like a small-sized saint, was an attack upon secret societies. The burden of the wrong was that they usurped the place of the church; that men instead of attending, patronizing and encouraging the church were using their time, money and influence in building up these societies, and the argument wanted to prove that men were wicked sinners, who had no rights; that they should not belong to nor encourage these societies, as they were wrong in principle; opposed to the church; against God and the Bible.

It must appear to the casual reader that the editor is surrounded with a dense fog of ignorance, for every one of the prominent secret societies is built upon the principles of civilization and Christianity, and in every one King John has visited had the Bible for its rule and guide.

If the church or a church is on a decline the cause is within its own doors. If it has not the qualities which go to make a true Christian, then it must and should go down. King John was told by a newspaper man while in the north that the male attendance at the churches of his town was not more than 20 per cent. "It is patent," said he, "that the churches have grown less masculine during the last decade." If this be so it is losing its power to interest, to educate, to elevate the human race, and it seeks solace elsewhere. The foundation of the church is the promise of eternal life. What does it cost to secure this promise, not in filthy lucre alone, what are all the elements necessary to secure a life beyond the river, as now opposed by the church? It is a bundle of impossibilities unattainable by mortals. If the church be on the decline it is because it has turned out of the theological camp men who profess a more liberal and a more reasonable construction of the plan of salvation, because it repeats the same old story of punishments, both unnatural and unmerciful; because it teaches a power greater than God, a power that undermines His works; because it teaches a hell that never existed; because it teaches that it is the only saving power; because it teaches uncharitable acts in sending millions to other lands when deserving poor are suffering at its doors. If the church be on the decline it is because it no longer feeds the proper food—hope—love—life. To attack societies that have these qualities is to confess its own weakness and profess that it is narrow, contracted, selfish and bigoted.

King John has known societies to carry families through trials, misfortunes, reverses, sickness and death; to protect and support the widow; to shield the daughter; to feed the children; to educate the boy; to rescue the drunkard, to redeem his manhood, to place him in honorable positions, support him in his trials, to encourage him in every laudable undertaking. If the societies had not done these things, in all probability they would have remained undone.

The great societies of the present day do not war against the church. They are doing much to stay the hand of crime; doing much to build up a higher and a better plane of society, to make grander and nobler men and women—more self-reliant, self-supporting, creating new avenues of industry, reforming the depraved and fallen, and it is now an audacious hand that strikes them.

What is the church doing? It is becoming more selfish, more bigoted, more clannish and narrower. The church that sustains the paper above mentioned is so narrow that it denies that all other churches have the saving power; that only by its creed can one be saved; all other creeds are as mist, baseless fabrics, dissolving visions.

We have only one bible but ten thousand beliefs, creeds. Only one bible but ten thousand plans of salvation. We want but one bible, and its teachings made so plain that all can understand it alike. We want a religion that is a religion to all the world, a universal religion, built upon faith, love and eternal life. We want a religion that fires the heart with consideration for all of our race, that will curb the tongue before it commits slander, that will sing the same tune to the deaf that it hums behind the back of the importunate that will encourage the weak and give them strength, that will win the ignorant, that will comfort the sorrowing and feed the poor with bread instead of resolute, that will want a religion that will from the gutter and support him until he can stand alone; we want a religion that will fill the churches with sunshine, the attendants with hope, the members with love and the preachers with silver voices that they may sing the sweet story of Christ so that it will find lodgment in every soul. Then peace will reign in every heart and joy fill our land. Hail the day. Keuka, Nov. 6. KING JOHN.

DRAYTON ISLAND DOINGS.

DRAYTON ISLAND, Nov. 5. Rain, rain, rain! "It rains and the wind is never weary." But Nibble knows without finishing those beautiful lines that the sun is shining most brightly behind the dripping clouds.

November would have no "lingering in the lap of sunshine in her's, thank you," and she promptly reminded us that we were enjoying those warm, delightful days only by favor.

However in spite of the rain for several days, which was, indeed, very welcome, Nibble has succeeded in gathering a few items which may prove acceptable to your readers.

Sunday morning last Captain Strange very kindly took a party of Islanders down to Norwalk on the Star to attend the memorial services of Mrs. Strange. No stops were made except at Fruitland, where Mrs. Williams joined us. Teams met the steamer at the landing, and we had a pleasant drive out to the Methodist Church, where the services were held. The decorations were tasteful and artistic in the extreme, consisting altogether of wild flowers—the feathery white ageratum and pale-colored asters. Their dainty beauty seemed a fit emblem of the fair young life whose transplanting to that other golden shore we had gathered to commemorate.

Rev. Mr. Londer gave his hearers a beautiful and touching talk which was appreciated by all. Mrs. Beasley presided very acceptably at the organ. We were all pleased that we had been allowed the privilege of paying this tribute to the memory of our friend who has "gone before."

The ladies of Norwalk had most kindly prepared luncheon for the party from the Island, but the weather was so threatening that it seemed best to hasten back to the steamer. Their kindness and thoughtfulness was very cordially appreciated, however.

Mr. Wright is back among us after a later stay to the northward than he usually indulges in. Mr. Wright's friends are always glad to welcome him back, as he generally brings so many fresh ideas in his wake.

Mr. McElroy, too, is once more on the Island, after about two months at the North, which occasioned him quite a sharp attack of illness. His friends hope, however, that he will soon be restored by the healing breath of Florida's balmy breezes.

Mrs. Reed had the pleasure of a short visit from her mother, Mrs. Woodworth, of Welaka, recently. Also from her friend, Mrs. Whitman, of Nashua.

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, of San Mateo, came up Saturday night for a little visit to Mr. and Mrs. Learned.

Oh, yes, Mr. Buckle's if there is any thing extra nice going on up here you shall be "whistled for."

J. F. seems to be very easily downed. Just because some unappreciative creature says the correspondent is a "bit" "stiff" he very meekly gives up. Do you not know Mr. J. F. that a trifling little puppy dog very often sits and barks at the moon; but does it ever cause the moon any discomfort? When the editor gets tired of us and wishes us to quit he can tell us so. At least that is the opinion of HUNTERS.
