Vet from WWII, Korea needs help to make Memorial Day events a success

By Anne Siren

PELICAN STAFF

Pompano Beach - Andy Buglione, Boy Scout leader and veteran of World War II and Korea, is preparing the ceremonies for Memorial Day in Pompano Beach.

He needs help, and he's earned it with his own dedication to country and community.

Buglione, 85, returned from Korea in 1954 to his home in Long Island, his wife Kay and their two children.

Four years later, Buglione moved his family to Pompano Beach where he worked for the Broward Sheriff's Office as an auto mechanic.

In 1968, he started a Boy Scout Troop at St. Coleman's Roman Catholic Church. He became a Scout in 1935 and was close to completing Deerfield Beach - "Storytelling is alive and well primarily because of Connie Regan-Blake," said a host on "Good Morning America," and Saturday, April 14 in Constitution Park, festival-goers will hear this renowned storyteller and a dozen others spin their tales.

The city's first Storytelling Festival is the brainchild of resident Henry Gould who lived near Jonesboro, TN for a time and was enthralled by the International Storytelling Convention held there each October. "That was my introduction to storytelling, and I loved it," Gould said. "It's so beautiful there in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains and, you know, growing up we listened to stories on the radio. Now, when

New incentive program gets underway this summer

Deerfield Beach - Recycling will become an even smarter choice later this year when the city initiates an incentive program that will give residential recyclers bonus coupons and store discounts for their efforts to keep the planet greener.

With the help of a new fleet of specially designed trucks, the amount of recyclables collected at each home will be measured, and coupons redeemable at local businesses, will be awarded.

"This is payback driven," said Assistant Director of Environmental Services Chad Grecsek. "It supports local businesses, and it encourages people to recycle more which brings in more revenue for the city. Recycling will not be mandatory, but there will be no reason not to [do it]."

Grecsek said the city will issue a request for proposal soon for a private partner to market and run the rewards program. That partner will also be Chill, you're in Lauderdale-By-The-Sea!

Public will help choose new brand and slogan

By Judy Vik

PELICAN STAFF

Lauderdale-By-The-Sea - Town commissioners and the public got their first look this week at a proposed brand to help market the town's commercial districts. It incorporates the theme "unwind" and depicts a pelican perched on an Adirondack chair with the words, "Relax- you're here. Lauderdale-By-The-Sea."

Andy Royston, creative director of the Tangled Spider Design Group said, "People come here to unwind and feel happy. This is not a complicated place. It's a relaxing place."

Royston said inspiration came from some of the "locals" - the pelicans at the beach. "They live here, make their homes here, and pelicans can be cute," he said.

His group also discovered buildings in town that suggest a bygone era and that gave rise to the Adirondack chair.

"It's like a promise to people," Royston said. "Stop and relax and take it all in. The chair is the epitome of summer relaxation. Read a book with not a care in the world."

He explained the brand components could be used in different ways, on posters or signs. The pelican and chairs could be different colors. And the pelican can move around on the design. "He's not going to fly away. He's at home here. He'll wander around and make a bit of a nuisance of himself," Royston quipped.

Another possibility presented by his group used colorful building blocks that included images of starfish or the sun. A welcome sign could be a patchwork quilt of blocks featuring a turtle, waves, palm tree and starfish.

A third idea was nostalgic picture postcards, creating the idea of old school, seaside fun.

Slogans under consideration are, using the initials LBTS: Let's Be Thoroughly Spoiled, Living by the Sunshine, Lazing beneath the Sun, Light Balms the Soul.

All suggestions are on the town's website, lbts-fl.gov under monkeysurvey.com and are on Channel 78. Residents and business people are invited to make comments on the three themes: chair and pelican, blocks or postcard. The Lauderdale-By-The-Sea Chamber of Commerce is sending an email blast to its members for their opinions, as

Wilton Manors Relay For Life set for June 1, 2

By Michael d'Oliveira

PELICAN STAFF

Wilton Manors – For years, Bill Wetzel was a cancer survivor. But at the American Cancer Society's 2012 Relay For Life Wilton Manors, he will be one of those remembered who lost his struggle with the disease.

Wetzel, former Wilton Manors parks and recreation director, died on Feb. 4, 2011, leaving behind a wife and two children. He took his final breath 20 years after being diagnosed with testicular cancer.

"He really understood he was on borrowed time and really lived. There were periods of time, two to three-year spans, where he fit a lot of life in," said Jim Wetzel, Bill's brother.

According to the National Cancer Institute, 8,290 men were diagnosed with testicular cancer in 2011 and 350 died.

First diagnosed at age 26, Jim Wetzel said his brother went through multiple bouts of chemotherapy, surgeries and alternative treatments. Eventually, says Jim, the cancer spread to his brother's spine, paralyzing him and causing both kidneys to fail.

But through it all, he says he never heard his brother complain. "He was constantly upbeat. I don't know how he did it. He inspired my daughter to do Relay For Life," said Jim. "Billy was always a good uncle. He really provided a very strong role model for my children."

He compared his brother to a championship boxer. "He went through hurdle after hurdle. He would just keep getting up."

Public skeptical about new mixed-use zoning for Commercial Blvd.

By Judy Vik

PELICAN STAFF

Oakland Park - "Now we're just setting the rules of the game," a city official assured residents at a recent community meeting on a proposed mixed-use overlay district for a portion of Commercial Boulevard.

The big issues are density and height, Harris Hamid, director of Engineering and Community Development, told a standing-room only crowd at the municipal building.

City commissioners have postponed until April 4 discussion of the new district which will be designed to spur revitalization of East Commercial Boulevard on the north side between North Andrews Avenue and Northeast 6 Avenue.

The area is currently a mix of single-family homes, commercial, office and retail. Rick Buckeye, senior planner, said a study approved in 2010 and concerns of the business and property owners need to be considered in the redesign.

"The new zoning would advocate a living/work environment," he said. "When the area is rezoned, any single-family homes built prior to Jan. 1, 2012 could remain."

Prohibited businesses include schools, fast food restaurants, drive-thrus and auto-related businesses. Day nurseries and childcare businesses would be permitted.

The Planning and Zoning Board has approved the land use amendment creating the overlay district, but wants 20 dwelling units per acre while developers are hoping for 27 units per acre. The board supports three-story buildings, while developers have asked for five stories. Twenty units per acre result in about 190 units; 27 units per acre allows for 220 to 230 units.

According to an economic analysis the city commissioned, three-story buildings would be profitable but would need to be a combination of retail, office and residential [mixed use].

The overlay zoning district would define what could be built in the area and provide incentives to the developer.

Several residents spoke against the proposed plans.

"Even three stories would take our privacy away and will affect our schools," a woman in the audience said. "We don't want to look at hi-rises. I have a pool in my yard, and I don't want people [in a nearby hi-rise] watching my children play. We want a limit to heights."

"I'd like to see a community of stores," said

Michelle Fistel, a resident since 1978. "I don't want to see buildings, buildings, buildings that all look alike. I don't want to see apartments or buildings more than two stories."

"I've lived here 42 years, and I'm against this 120 percent," said Joe Bowman, a general contractor. "Who are we enticing? Where did this start? This is insane. The whole thing is insane."

"We don't want a concrete jungle built in our residential

Continued from page 4 neighborhoods," resident Bill Sears said. "I don't want to see concrete silos down the street."

Don Lampasone, a developer-general contractor said, "You need some plantings, some palm trees and incentives to improve and make it more of a vibrant area. My suggestion is to stay on this track. That area someday will get developed. I think everyone will agree this area can be improved."

Horace McHugh, assistant city manager, said the city could sit back and do nothing. Instead, they have tasked planners to come up with concepts. "We realize we have to strike a balance between property owners and residential owners," he said.

"Whatever we do, we're trying to create rules so a developer can build a product where everyone wins," Hamid said. He assured the audience the proposed ordinance will not take property by eminent domain.

Hamid will take the residents' comments to the commission at the April 4 meeting and present a draft ordinance. If passed, the rezoning effort would start. "We're not ramming it down the throats of anyone," he said.

Sponsors needed for Seafood Festival Bounce Horse Derby

Pompano Beach - Wanna help a great local charity and at the same time promote your business and have more fun than a barrel of monkeys?

Then sign up ASAP to be a sponsor and compete in the inaugural Pompano Beach Seafood Festival Bounce Horse Derby on the beach Saturday, April 21.

Pompano Has Heart, Inc., the disaster-relief charity that raises money and commodities to help those in need both locally and abroad, is hosting its first bounce horse race and what better venue than in front of thousands of people at the Pompano Beach Seafood Festival.

For a $200 donation to Pompano Has Heart, sponsors will get to have their "jockey" compete in the 40 foot grueling stretch course on the sand that will take place in front of the Community Stage at 4 p.m.. In the event more than six sponsors enter the race, there will be elimination heats held before the finale. In the event of rain the race will be held same time that Sunday.

First Place prizes for the winning sponsor of the race is a free one-year membership to the Greater Pompano Beach Chamber of Commerce ($300 value), the coveted Derby Trophy Cup, local merchant gift certificates and the bragging rights of all South Florida for one year.

You must be age 18 or older to compete and be in good medical and physical shape for this special endeavor.

For complete rules and guidelines or to sign up as a sponsor for the Seafood Festival Bounce Horse Derby please email Pompano Has Heart President, Steven Wolf, at pompanohasheart@gmail.com or call 954-654-3757. Pompano Has Heart, Inc, is a 501C-3 Non-Profit Corporation.

Her volunteer work has touched hundreds of hearts and warmed an equal amount of bodies

Ed. Note: Thank you to reader, Linda Papp of Shelton, CT., who took time to share the good work of her mother-in-law, a Pompano Beach resident. We hope this inspires other readers to share their stories or find their own ways to make our communities even better than they already are.

By Linda Papp

PELICAN READER

"As a young boy, I can remember my mom doing her needlework while watching television. And I thought, 'Wow, how can she do that without even looking at what she's doing?' But she did and never missed a stitch."

That was my husband Robert's first impression of his mom's crocheting. It left such a lasting effect on him that he wanted others to know how many people she has touched through her years of giving. So he asked me to write a story for him.

When I met Ethel Papp in 1966 she had already been crocheting and knitting for many years. She was only 45 years old at the time. Today she is 90 and still crocheting her heart away.

When her husband passed away several years ago, she felt the need to help others. So she filled her days, volunteering at the Hospice that was once so helpful to her own family needs.

She helped the patients and their families in any way she could, comforting them, bringing them something to eat, or drink, or sometimes she would just sit silently beside her patient's bedside.

One year, she began doing needlepoint and made enough ornaments to fill the ward Christmas tree. Another year she was nominated and received the Hospice Volunteer of the Year Award, and was honored at a luncheon where she was presented a plaque of appreciation.

These days you will find Ethel sitting in her favorite chair in her living room, knitting or crocheting lap robes. She has made them for Hospice patients, children's cancer wards, the veteran hospital, her church choir at St. Elizabeth Church of Hungary and a boys orphanage, not to mention just about every member of our family. When you ask her why she does it, she will simply say she feels like she is giving a little something back. It makes her feel good to give to others in need.

Ethel's lap robes stretch around the world, from a boys orphanage in the Caribbean, to across the ocean. She has even sent a bunch of them to her family in Connecticut.

People in Sweden, Germany, Poland and Hungary enjoy the comfort of her robes. She has made over 300 lap robes and hasn't stopped yet. As long as she has a supply of yarn and her vision is good, she'll continue to produce her lap robes to warm the hearts of others.

So if you think you're too old, or not good enough to make a difference in this world, think of Ethel, sitting in her favorite chair in her living room, making her lap robes, and still making a difference in her own little way. Who knows how many people she has made smile with a little gift made from the heart. And those little gifts will continue to touch someone's life forever.

Egg-cellent hunts set for Deerfield kids of all ages

Deerfield Beach – City staffers are hiding 20,500 plastic Easter eggs next week, "seeding" the city's three egg hunts with candy and prizes. The first egg hunt, designed for kids age 10 and older, takes place Thursday, Apr. 5, 8 to 10 p.m. at Constitution Park where 7,500 eggs will be hidden and then found with the help of flashlights.

Refreshments will be served. The park is at 2841 W. Hillsboro Boulevard. Participants should bring their own lights.

On Friday, Apr. 6, the Egg Stravaganza will be held at Westside Park for kids ages 10 and under. Children will be divided into three age categories as they search for the 5,000 eggs, 6 to 8 p.m. Westside Park is at 445 SW 2 Street.

The annual Egg Run will be held Saturday, Apr. 7, 10 a.m. until noon at the Deerfield Beach Middle School Athletic Complex, 501 SE 6 Avenue. Children, ages 10 and under, will be divided into age groups as they search for 8,000 eggs containing candy and prizes.

Recycle

required to adopt a local charity.

Residents will be furnished rolling carts where they can place recyclables from newspapers to aluminum cans to almost all household-product containers. Called single-stream recycling, it is already in place but not everyone is aware that paper, glass and plastics can be placed together in the small yellow or blue recycling containers now in use.

When the large rolling carts are available, the expectation is that recyclable collections will increase by 30 to 50 percent. "The goal is to pick up garbage less frequently," Grecsek said.

In this city, recycling has been the mission of Cheryl Miller since 1992 and she has grown the current program into a model for the county. This city was the first to single-stream. It is the first to have a drop-off center for batteries, paint, electronics, light bulbs, oil, CDs, metal and plastics, shoes, large cardboard pieces, and is he only one with a bin for that ever-present packaging material – styrofoam. Miller has educated the community so well that its recycling efforts earn big financial rewards. Last year, a $1.5 million grant from the Resource Recovery Board will be used to buy the big rolling carts.

On Founders' Day, the city created its own float made of all recycled materials. The slogan was, Recycling is a Breeze.

Miller raises the level of awareness by holding neighborhood contests, by handing out small gifts, made of course from recycling materials, to residents who recycle and by being present at local fairs and festivals. This year, her department's float won first prize in the Founders' Day Parade.

The new program awaits delivery of seven "one-armed bandits" purchased for $1.6 million. Like the trucks that now collect garbage, a device will lift the recycling container and dump it. The driver won't have to get out of the truck which makes the whole process safer and more efficient and saves time and energy.

Deerfield residents are already getting the "Cadillac" of solid-waste service, Grecsek said. Bulk waste and recyclables are collected once a week; garbage twice a week. There's been no rate increase since 2007. There is no thought of privatizing this department Grecsek said. "The city has invested in a new building, the Central Campus at 401 SW 4 Street, and in new equipment. We have no interest in outsourcing. We fear it would cost us in the service residents receive."

Eager to initiate the incentive program that makes recycling a no-brainer, Grecsek said, "It's indeed a game-changer."

Visit The Villages with a preview package and enjoy a vacation at the same time while there

By Phyllis J. Neuberger

PELICAN STAFF

An off-season special makes it inexpensive and easy to visit this idyllic retirement community in Central Florida and enjoy the amenities of The Villages at the same time.

Your hosts, Kevin and Audrey Sullivan explain. "Our Lifestyle Preview Plan, invites visitors to a four to ten night vacation. Check out this self contained retirement community with homes, priced from $130,000 to one million. Stay in a beautiful, fully equipped two or three bedroom villa with bicycles and golf carts included. Enjoy complimentary golf, tennis, fitness and recreational activities, trolley and boat tours on man-made lakes stocked with fish. And that's not all.

"For those who want to cook at home, there are many handy grocery stores. And when it's time to dine out, choose from 80 available restaurants. For entertainment, enjoy a variety of movies and discounts in our variety of signature stores. There's even a shuttle to the Orlando International Airport."

With a laugh Kevin says, "If this sounds like I like The Villages, I do. Not only are my wife and I sales and marketing representatives of The Villages, we play in this active community with its many easy to arrange amenities."

The Villages came into being 42 years ago as a start up community on farm land in Central Florida. It was such a success that it grew into the self contained city of 88,000 residents that it now is. It's located about one hour Northwest of Orlando and three miles east of the turnpike.

About 150 two and three bedroom villas are available to sample this easy lifestyle which has already captured the hearts of so many residents. The average age is around 65. Residents must be 55, but in the case of couples, one mate may be under 55. There are also long time and new residents in their 80s.

Asked why they advertise The Villages in South Florida, Kevin says, "Many of our residents are from Pompano Beach and other bustling cities. They choose us because this is easy living with endless activities to pursue just minutes away. Our main transportation is a golf cart which can take you to every destination along specially constructed trails. Our residents said

Interact supports National Kick Butts Day

Deerfield Beach – Interact Club students at Deerfield Beach High School still have a few $50 gift bags to give to smokers who agree to give up their cigarettes for a day. The club's effort is part of its campus-wide initiative that encourages students not to smoke or to quit.

It is also tied in with National Kick Butts Day which was Wednesday, Mar. 21. Young people all over the country asked their friends and neighbors to give up one pack of cigarettes and stop smoking for the day. According to the Kick Butts website, the tobacco industry spends $1 million every hour to recruit kids as replacement smokers for the 400,000 Americans who die each year.

At the school, club members have placed signs around the campus urging students to stop smoking. According to Interact Club advisor Frank Pizzo, none of his 38 club members smoke.

The gift bag, provided by the Broward County Health Department, contains items to encourage exercise - a t-shirt, pedometer, water bottle, etc. Anyone interested in "kicking butts" for a day can call Pizzo at 954-650-4903.

PELICAN STAFF

The Pelican gets many letters and emails. Recently one arrived starting out like this: "I am a 21 year old college student, born and raised in Pompano Beach. I was born with only two fingers on my left hand and a shorter right arm. Doctors told me it would be of little use, but I proved them wrong."

Ruden, a handsome young man, arrived at the paper for this interview bursting with energy and enthusiasm to tell us his story. How he dealt with his handicap, which had made him self-conscious and pretty much of a shy loner, is well worth sharing. "My struggle began when I decided I wanted to be a drummer. With only two fingers on one hand it was a challenge. My dad solved the problem by suggesting I wear a leather glove which could keep the stick in place between my two fingers. What a wonderful solution this turned out to be. A glove has become very important to me. I never remove the glove without replacing it because it gave me the confidence I needed to progress in life."

Before becoming a drummer, Ruden says he was a real target for bullies. "I was shy, kept to myself and stayed with my small group of friends who accepted me, but couldn't protect me.

It was tough, but it was a growing up experience." Becoming a drummer in Pompano Beach High School drum line stimulated him to alter the way people saw him. "I learned that by projecting a positive image, I gained acceptance and changed from being a follower to becoming a leader, using my own experience to help others take on their adversities."

He continued. "Break dancing was my next challenge. I took a few classes at a dance studio and then taught myself. I use both hands and can do some really cool stuff. This moved me into fitness which is now not only my passion, but also the source of my income."

His high school activities included drumming, hip-hop dancing and creating his own dance group, NBA, or No Boundaries Aloud. He earned a Bright Futures Scholarship and other scholarships and now attends Florida Atlantic University, or FAU, where he will soon graduate with a degree in Exercise Science. "My high school anatomy teacher, Dr. Singkornrat, was my source of inspiration. She opened my eyes as to what I could do in the health field. And health is now my passion and livelihood."

At 19, he was diagnosed with type one diabetes. He decided to deal with that challenge by becoming a personal trainer. His goal was to motivate others to overcome their problems. He struggles every day to keep a positive

Man shot dead after attacks on local family

Pompano Beach - A man who was acting irrationally and threatening a mother and her two small children in the front yard of their Pompano Beach home Sunday evening was shot and killed by the children's father. Broward Sheriff's Office homicide detectives are investigating the fatal shooting.

Shortly before 5:30 p.m., BSO deputies responded to 3030 NE 2 Ave. following a 911 call regarding a person shot.

Witnesses told deputies they saw the man swinging a piece of wood at a woman and her two children shortly after they walked out the front door of their residence.

At about the same time the mother was trying to protect her 3-year-old son and 5-year-old daughter, her husband, Emiliano Arellano, drove up with his two brothers. Emiliano and his brothers tried to stop the assailant.

Emiliano said the man became very agitated when he told him he was going to call the police.

When the man turned his aggression toward Emiliano's daughter, Emiliano pulled his semi-automatic handgun and fired one shot, striking the suspect in the chest. The same bullet hit Emiliano's brother, Pablo Arellano.

The unidentified suspect died at the scene. A family member drove Pablo to North Broward Medical Center for treatment. Pablo is expected to recover.

BSO homicide and crime scene detectives responded to the scene to investigate the deadly encounter. Homicide investigators interviewed everyone involved as well as witnesses while crime scene detectives documented the scene and collected evidence. Detectives also took Emiliano to the Public Safety Building for questioning and to record his statement. He was very cooperative on scene and during questioning.

The suspect who died was later identified as Ciriaco Estrada, 47, The investigation continues.

Woman killed by fellow church member after struck by car

Deerfield Beach - A woman leaving church was killed after she was struck by a fellow churchgoer's car

Sunday morning in Deerfield Beach.

Around 10 a.m., as Sunday morning mass was letting out at St. Ambrose Catholic Church, Mary Sczepanski, 88, got into her 2007 Buick Century, which was backed-in to a disabled parking space on the northeast corner of the parking lot.

Sczepanski accidentally placed the car in reverse, accelerated and struck a curb stop. Apparently startled, she accelerated over the curb stop and onto the sidewalk, still in reverse, unaware a pedestrian was there.

The car struck Luciana Porto, 66, of Deerfield Beach and came to rest a short distance away.

Broward Sheriff Fire Rescue Deerfield Beach Units responded and transported the victim to North Broward Medical Center where she was pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

The driver of the car and a witness were evaluated on the scene by paramedics but

Parking proposal would bring major change to LBTS business district

By Judy Vik

PELICAN STAFF

Lauderdale-By-The-Sea - Commissioners considered two parking redesigns for East Commercial Boulevard between the Intracoastal Waterway and Seagrape Boulevard this week and favored the one with angled parking, improved intersections and a recovery zone making reentry onto to the boulevard safer.

Downside of the proposal is a required approval from the Florida Department of Transportation that could add months to the project timeline. "The area is now pretty stark with not a lot of landscaping or shade," Hugh Johnson, landscape architect with Architectural Alliance, told commissioners. He analyzed existing conditions and found unsafe conditions at crosswalks, parking lots with a lot of asphalt and small sidewalks and little landscaping or shade at retail businesses.

"Our goal is to improve the appearance of the street and the parking areas and design an entry feature," Johnson said. "We were asked to create a streetscape that encourages pedestrians to visit the area and to differentiate LBTS from Fort Lauderdale on the west side of the bridge," he said.

"When you come over the bridge, you should feel like you're in a completely different place, like you have entered a seaside village. You are here."

The reconfiguration of parking areas allows for wider pedestrian sidewalks, pedestrian plazas, outdoor dining, landscaping/shade, site furniture and signage, he added.

Drainage and resurfacing need to be addressed in all four parking lots. Most of the parking spaces are less than the nine feet the code requires and that would be corrected.

The plan also calls for pedestrian mid-block crosswalks perhaps equipped with LED lighting that goes on when a pedestrian enters the crosswalk.

Commissioner Stuart Dodd suggested providing a road so drivers could pull into angled parking spaces and then drive forward to get out. Johnson said that could be considered.

outlook, achieve his own fitness goals and professionally help others do the same.

Amanda Flores says, "Working out with Chris is very challenging and hard, but he does explain the value of each exercise and in the end it's worth it."

Annie-Mai Hurmemaa calls Chris "Great." She says, "I'm very visual so Chris has to do an exercise himself to show me how it works and he tells me where that exercise will benefit me. He's helped me tone up my body nicely."

Chris credits his brother, Michael for always being "protective and encouraging to me. My parents have been too. It helps to get positive energy from one's family. I'm getting close to graduation and hope to attend graduate school with a major in kinesiology to increase my knowledge of body mechanics. This will help me be more secure in knowing what my clients can attain. I have learned that by fixing the body, one actually helps fix the mind. They are so closely connected. I see this every day in my current career as a personal trainer. One's self image is both mental and physical."

Stories

I watch sports on TV, I turn off the sound and get the commentary on radio instead. They have to describe what is going on..."

Locally, Gould discovered storytelling at the Caldwell Theatre in Boca Raton. He became so intent on bringing it to Deerfield Beach, he approached Judi Standich, chair of the Deerfield Beach Cultural Committee and asked, "Outside of the art festival and a few concerts, what do we do here for culture?"

According to Gould when she heard his idea Standich said, "Go for it." His notion was also endorsed by Caren Neile, who produces and co-hosts WRLN's "The Public Storyteller" every Sunday.

It is Neile who has enlisted the prestigious lineup of storytellers that includes Regan-Blake, Mij Byram, Lucia Gonzalez and Shana Banana.

Regan-Blake comes to town after performing this month in Yosemite, Australia and New Zealand. She annually performs at all the nation's top storytelling festivals relating her stories woven from both her Irish heritage and her Appalachian roots. She is regularly credited with creating the renaissance in storytelling as was mentioned on the morning TV show.

South Florida's own Mij Byram started her dramatic career on the family landing. Her mom brought the popcorn. Her brothers and sisters were a captive audience. Today she says, "One good story always leads to another point of view, another adventure, another angle, another voice, another song, another place, another time..."

Shana "Banana" Smith is also local and gained fame telling children's stories, as well as singing and writing songs which have been likened to the sounds of Joni Mitchell, Joan Armatrading and Cassandra Wilson. She will spin yarns and sing at the Deerfield festival.

Other storytelling highlights include an amateur storytellers' swap -10 minute dialogues from anyone who wishes to step up, adult ghost stories and a session by Gail Rosen on "Telling Our Own Stories."

Michael Stock, co-host of "The Public Storyteller" will be master of ceremonies.

Folk entertainment booker Jim Higgins has recruited musicians to play at the festival that include "Spider" John Koerner, acclaimed American folk and country blues musician. Others on the program are Big Brass Bed, Kuyayky, the Patty & Frank Trio, Ellen & Gary Bukstel.

Food and soft drinks will be sold by local restaurateurs.

The event begins at noon and concludes at 10 p.m. in the Arboretum at Constitution Park, 2841 W. Hillsboro Boulevard. "This will be an incredible venue," Gould said, "and will introduce many people to the arboretum."

Thanks to the support of major sponsors, JM Family, SE Toyota, Frank Congemi and the Deerfield Beach Kiwanis Club, there is no charge for admission.

Parking

Commissioner Chris Vincent said he liked the fact the plan eliminates vehicular traffic where there are pedestrians.

Designers said they will provide cost estimates in early May.

Johnson also presented an alternate scheme which kept parallel parking on both sides of Commercial Boulevard, increased the width of bike lanes and reconfigured the parking lot to provide for 140 parking spaces, 13 more than currently. Fifteen-foot sidewalks would accommodate outdoor dining.

"A is nice, but B is a game changer," Vice Mayor Scot Sasser said of the two proposals. He liked Dodd's idea for adding a way for drivers to pull forward to get out of their space on Commercial.

Memorial Day

his Eagle Scout project when his father died. Buglione joined the U.S. Army shortly afterwards.

After his discharge from the Army, Buglione became active in the American Legion and the VFW. In 2011, Buglione was named Legionnaire of the Year for Florida.

But Scouting never left his heart. Today he is the Scout Commissioner of the Lighthouse District for Boy Scouts of America. His Scout troop today consists of Boy Scouts with special needs.

Now Buglione has some needs of his own, and he is counting on the community to step up to help him and others honor all Veterans on May 28.

“The interest in Memorial Day is getting lower and lower every year,” says Buglione. “We are losing Veterans and losing people who come out to watch the parade.”

The ceremonies include services at Westview Cemetery and Pompano Beach Cemetery. Buglione’s Boy Scouts prepare for the day by placing flags on graves of all Veterans in Pompano Beach.

During the late morning of Memorial Day, the parade begins at Atlantic Boulevard and Northeast 23 Avenue.

To make the day a success, Buglione needs participants in the parade, volunteers to help plan the events and sponsors to underwrite some of the costs.

To join Buglione and other veterans in the planning, volunteers are asked to attend a meeting on April 4 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars, or VFW, 243 S. Dixie Highway, Pompano Beach at 7 p.m.

The event and parade are open to all groups that want to participate. There are no costs to become involved. Marching bands, clubs, church groups and others are encouraged to attend.

Pony Division Phillies beat Mets 7 to 2

By Michael d'Oliveira

PELICAN STAFF

Pompano Beach – The Mets gave up just one run in the first inning but couldn't stop the six more scored by the Phillies in the 7 to 2 loss Monday night.

The Mets and Phillies, part of Pompano Baseball's Pony Division which includes 13 and 14-year-olds, squared-off at the Four Fields complex.

With two outs, including one strikeout, Mets pitcher Chris Swan was close to closing out the top of the first inning when the Phillies Tyler Krinkie hit a blooper to right field for a single. Once on base, Krinkie stole second, third and home plate before the Mets got their third out.

Sharp infielding by the Phillies ended the inning 1-2-3, leaving the Mets scoreless.

After giving up two base hits to the Phillies, Swan answered back with two strikeouts. But the Phillies Logan Rataiczak knocked-in both base runners with a double, giving the Phillies three runs before the top of the inning ended.

At the bottom of the second inning, Swan helped his own cause with a triple that scored two runs and brought the Mets to within one run of tying the game. But a strikeout and double play by the Phillies kept them in the lead.

The Phillies tried to expand their lead in the third but were denied. The Mets were equally unsuccessful in their scoring efforts; both teams caught runners trying to steal. Defense dominated on both sides again in the fourth inning and kept both teams scoreless again.

But the fifth inning saw the Phillies get back on the scoreboard when Mason Kemp, after a small pitchers battle, knocked-in two more runs; he later stole home, adding another run to the tally before the inning ended. The Mets threatened to score, getting men on second, but the Phillies defense shut them down again.

Thanks to multiple strikeouts by Mets pitcher Blaise Marks, two, and Phillies pitcher Anthony Blasko, three, both teams were kept scoreless in the sixth inning.

The seventh and last inning saw the Phillies get their last run off with a hit by Anthony Blasko which knocked-in Bobby Blaski from third base. The Mets were unable to respond, making the final score 7 to 2.

Oriole Golf Club offers great golf at great prices and lots of fun

By Judy Wilson

PELICAN STAFF

Margate – “This course is in better shape than it has been in years,” said Jack Shoenfelt, owner of Oriole Golf Club. He credits his golf superintendent, Gary Fisher, and his staff for improving the 40-year-old fairways and greens which makes the semi-private club a great golfing value.

The course, designed by Bill Dietch, is distinguished by its challenging par 3's, seven water holes and a few large bunkers. “The strength of the course is its par 3's, Shoenfelt said. “Two of them are especially interesting: on the front nine, the number seven hole is 195 yards off the championship tee, uphill into the wind with a huge bunker guarding the green. On the back nine, the 14th hole is a short par 3, just 140 yards, but the green is small and protected by two monster bunkers.”

The club stays busy by offering daily tournaments, attractive discounts for frequent players and by keeping the rates moderate both for members and guests. Membership fees have not risen in 12 years. “We may have the lowest rates around... it's a real value. Our regulars keep us going. Some of them play every day," Shoenfelt said.

For those who play two consecutive days, the "Mulligan Rate" second day rate is steeply discounted. Currently Oriole is offering a $5 discount for weekend play if the golfer plays a weekday round. "We've always been known as a busy golf course," Shoenfelt said. "And it was always the least expensive to play, only now it is in much better shape."

To keep pace with private clubs that are going public, Shoenfelt's team is continually "dressing up" the place. The grill, with a water view overlooking the course, is now offering daily lunch specials and an expanded menu. The lounge is open until "the last person leaves," he said. Wednesdays are particularly popular as they are 99 cent burger days. Chef Robin Edwards's pies and soups have become legendary.

In summer, the club holds three junior golf camps with amazingly low tuition: As low as $40 for the week. To supplement the camp, Oriole holds its annual December Pro-Am Benefiting Junior Golf that also makes camp scholarships available.

One of the club's more popular leagues for both men and women began this week on Monday night. It is open to the public. Debbie Douma coordinates it and can be reached at 954-972-8140.

Shoenfelt also operates the nine-hole Margate Executive Course on W. Margate Boulevard across from the entrance to Oriole. That par 30 course is a great place for the beginning golfer, the senior golfer or the accomplished golfers looking to improve their short games, he said.

Some tee off at five years

For the very youngest golfers, an annual Pee Wee Tournament for ages five through 12 is held every August. Many of the kids who play in the Pee Wee event are experiencing tournament golf for the first time. The tournament is followed by a pizza party for the kids.

Green fees at the Executive Course for those who walk are as low as $6.

Oriole employs PGA Head

Pro, Todd Norman, and golf instructor, George Monteil, to give lessons, handle the golf shop and the junior clinics.

The club offers a driving range with grass tees, a practice putting green and a pro shop with friendly staff and quality lines such as Titliest, Callaway, Taylor-Made and Foot-Joy.

Tucked away in the Oriole Gardens condo community, Oriole Golf Club is a haven for golfers who want an active club life as well as good rounds of golf.

Pompano Beach's Jukebox Diner offers up tasty comfort food, friendly service and, of course, fantastic tunes

By Malcolm McClintock

Jukebox Diner
2773 East Atlantic Blvd.
Pompano Beach,
954-960-5882

Located at the foot of the Atlantic Boulevard Bridge, just steps from the Intracoastal, the Jukebox Diner is the kind of cozy eatery that regular customers visit several times a week. This clean, brightly colored and airy spot features posters of all the top musical icons and, of course, a fully loaded free jukebox that offers a great selection from the past 50 years.

"We had our restaurant for many years on A1A near the Hillsboro inlet," says co-owner Bernadette Scollin. "But Hurricane Wilma destroyed it in 2005."

Finally, seven years later, Scollin and her business partner Linda Herr are back in business at a great new location near the water. "We had so many loyal customers that we had no choice but to re-open here in Pompano. We even managed to reunite our whole original kitchen staff."

"We offer great food for breakfast, lunch and dinner," says Scollin as she brings out a signature omelette of spinach, feta and tomato served with a side order of highly seasoned crushed potatoes. "Our home fries are very special. We created this unique recipe."

"People just love our omelettes, especially the spinach and feta one. So we

The popular spinach, feta and tomato omelette with flavorful homefries is a must-try at the Jukebox diner. [Staff photos]

Co-owners Linda Herr and Bernadette Scollin show off their famous Pear Walnut Chicken Salad and the juicy signature 1/2 lb. Jukebox burger with sautéed mushrooms, onions and crumbled bacon smothered by melted cheddar and Swiss cheeses.

Christina Henley founded Solid Rock Realty in 2003.

What impelled the founder to start the business?

Solid Rock Realty was created out of her strong desire to make positive changes in the industry, for consumers as well as agents.

The concept of Solid Rock Realty is to create a paradigm shift in the way consumers are served by maintaining only the most highly educated and trained agents, eliminating all the “real estate secrets” and empowering the client to be part of the entire real estate process of selling, buying, or investing.

Who helped her?

It would be impossible to point out all the individuals who helped Christina Henley launch Solid Rock Realty. However, her dearest friend Kate Major was certainly the lead person in helping Christina take her vision and ideas and putting them on paper to create a business model that is currently being realized today.

Describe some of the greatest moments?

First, let me say that we look forward to many more to come. To date, some of our greatest moments have come from the day to day interactions we have in seeing people meet and exceed their expectations for the buying and selling process.

Additionally, many great moments have happened during or after our monthly education event series “Save the American Dream.”

So many have given feedback about how they are more at ease that their future real estate related decisions will be better informed decisions because of what they have learned.

Wine and Light hors d'oeuvres are served. THEY ARE ALWAYS FREE OF CHARGE AND FREE OF SOLICITATION!

What is the service?

A knowledge and information source of all things real estate for the purpose of buying, selling or investing in the greater Ft. Lauderdale area.

Has this business contributed to the community in some way?

We offer a real estate business that consistently delivers concierge style customer service while empowering each and every client to make the best possible decision regarding some of the largest investments in their life.

They want to be an integral part of the process discussing strategy and to know it will be implemented effectively. To meet today’s consumers’ desires and demands for a more knowledgeable and experienced consultant who is fully aware of the challenges of the ever changing real estate market, Solid Rock Realty’s “professional real estate consultants” commit to rigorous training and coaching weekly, sometimes daily.

Also, today’s consumer wants transparency. In an attempt to meet this need, we invite our clients to come to our office and see everything exactly as we see it, thereby eliminating the mystery.

How has the service changed or expanded?

The real estate climate is always changing. As an example we are seeing more families under distress because of the increasing number of delinquent and underwater mortgages.

In an attempt to help those families, our agents have earned the Certified Distressed Property Expert designation.

This gives a working knowledge of the entire situation and all options available to homeowners today. We come beside them to walk through the process with them by providing the information and help they need to make informed decisions and get on the road to recovery.

Technology is also a large part of properly serving today’s consumer. Every agent at Solid Rock Realty is highly trained and efficient in maximizing all technology available in our industry to better serve our clients. The Solid Rock Realty office is equipped with all the latest, greatest technology. We offer our location for various meetings and gatherings that benefit the greater community. If you have a need please feel free to contact us to see if we can be of service to you in this way.

No arrest

Sheriff's Office has given out little information on the case saying it is under investigation.

Fleming, 22, had been visiting his friend David Cody at Cody's grandmother's home in Allwood Park that Saturday and according to Cody had asked him for a ride home. Cody said he left his grandmother's without Fleming and at 11:20 p.m., while heading south across Hillsboro Boulevard in the 200 block, Fleming was struck by a 1999 Dodge pickup truck allegedly driven by David Calderilla Alcocer, 20, of Coconut Creek.

Fleming lived in Deerfield Beach at Stanley Terrace. His mother Theresa Walker and father Thetus Fleming also live in Deerfield Beach.

According to the police report, Alcocer left the scene of the accident but returned 30 minutes later and gave BSO a statement. A witness, waiting for the signal light at the intersection of Hillsboro and Martin Luther King Blvd. (MLK), saw that Fleming had been hit and called police.

Cody, a community activist, said he feels guilty that he did not give his friend a ride and has taken up the cause for Fleming's parents. Not only does Cody want to see justice done, he is renewing a longstanding request for pedestrian/motorist safety precautions at the MLK intersection. "It is very dark there," Cody said. "And there are no turn signals." An added risk for Fleming was that he was wearing "the uniform - black jeans and black shirt," Cody said.

To bring attention to Fleming's death and the dangerous intersection, Cody has organized a protest for this afternoon (Friday), 6 p.m. in front of Advanced Auto Parks, 286 W. Hillsboro Blvd. An impromptu protest last week brought out 30 friends and relatives of Fleming. Cody expects many more people will attend this week's protest which will end, he said, at BSO Headquarters.

Cody said an internet search produced information that Alcocer was driving on a suspended license and had warrants out for his arrest (The Pelican could not verify these accusations). Leaving the scene of an accident is a first degree felony in Florida.

While Cody and others including City Commissioner Ben Preston have petitioned the city to improve safety conditions along the Hillsboro/MLK corridor, the intersection is under the jurisdiction of the Florida Department of Transportation. Preston wrote to FDOT Dec. 27 pointing out the unsafe conditions at the intersection and received a response on Jan. 12 that said a detailed safety review was being performed.

"This issue is not something the city is able to deal with," Preston said. "Even when people die, you have to go through the studies. If it were up to me, I'd make changes."

FDOT had agreed to install one safety upgrade, yellow truncated domes at the intersection that help people with poor vision feel the difference in the pavement and realize they are in the street.

Cody is charging that city officials got in the way of that project, but Charlie DeBrusco, director of environmental services, says that is not so. DeBrusco said the MLK intersection meets the requirements of the American Disabilities Act, while 13 others governed by FDOT, do not. He favors a study of the area beginning at Dixie Highway to determine what improvements are needed. "I have a problem with just arbitrarily picking this location. We are not required to have the truncated domes there, and there are 13 other intersections not up to ADA standards. We need to resolve all the issues first."

DeBrusco said that after Fleming was killed, he looked at the area and saw people crossing Hillsboro Blvd. at several locations including at a supermarket at NW 2 Avenue. "We need a complete traffic safety study there," he said.

Surprisingly Entertaining!

By Becky Masterman

“EDITOR AND AUTHOR” (TUCSON, AZ USA)

Fear of Flying in the Age of Terrorism (Kindle Edition)

Full disclosure: I’m not afraid of flying. But the author is an acquaintance of mine so I gamely downloaded this to my kindle and intended to read it on a flight to Austin.

However, once begun, I found I could not skim it as I intended. The writing is so lively and the pacing so perfect, not a sentence is padded.

Plus I kept finding information that intrigued me and advice for conquering fears that went beyond those involved with worrying about falling out of the sky. Who knew there was an app for discovering where turbulence exists at any moment? McCord explains how you can use this app to not only decide whether to fly, but how long the bumps may last once you’re in the air.

And that’s just one useful piece of information. This concise book manages to pack in lists of web sites you can visit, and helpful summaries at the end of each chapter if you need to review.

Upon finishing it (savoring it) I immediately downloaded the book to a friend’s computer because she IS afraid of flying. I’m sure she’ll get even more out of it than I did. Read this. Give it as a gift. They’ll thank you. Also, from now on I think I’ll keep my shoes on during the flight.

had no choice but to put it on the new menu," says the perpetually smiling Herr. "The nice thing is that we serve breakfast all day long so people can order it whenever they want."

Other tantalizing breakfast creations include the Banana Fosters French Toast, the Irish Benedict with corned beef hash, the blueberry pancakes, the New York Steak & eggs or the classic eggs any style with bacon, ham or sausage.

To get the ball rolling at lunchtime, the Jukebox diner serves up a great array of appetizers such as soups, homemade chili, "Paul McCartney" chicken wings, nachos, potato skins and even fried zucchini.

There is also a host of healthy salad options such as the sliced steak with blue cheese, red onions and roasted peppers or the incredibly popular Pear Walnut grilled chicken salad with feta cheese and cranberries. Both are delightful with zesty balsamic vinaigrette.

Along with quiches and classic cold sandwiches such as club or roast beef, the Jukebox delivers mouthwatering hot favorites like Philly Cheesesteak, Cream cheese stuffed French Toast with fresh strawberries can usually be found on the specials board.

barbecue Pork, Spicy Ranch Grilled Chicken and blackened Mahi Mahi.

"Personally, my favorite is the Jukebox burger," says Herr about the juicy signature ½ lb. patty with sautéed mushrooms, onions and crumbled bacon smothered in melted cheddar and Swiss cheeses. "But we have a whole bunch of other great burgers are as well."

For a hearty dinner, the melodious diner delivers timeless homestyle favorites such as meatloaf, country fried steak, roast turkey, pasta marinara with grilled shrimp, ½ roasted chicken and even chopped sirloin.

And for those with a sweet tooth, the Jukebox prepares decadent desserts such as Sinatra's New York, New York cheesecake, the Brownie McGee's waffle with hot fudge and vanilla ice cream or the colossal banana split. "We also make the most authentic milkshakes - thick and rich just like in the old days," says Scollin with complete confidence.

Big breakfast dishes start at $6.25, lunch plates at $7 and dinner platters at $9. Daily lunch specials are written on the board including the soup and ½ sandwich or quiche. The Jukebox also offers pleasant wines for $4 a glass or bottled beer for $3. There is also ample free parking.

"The quality of the food and the customer service are outstanding. On top of that, the prices are very reasonable," says local resident and frequent visitor Michael Summers.

"The local community has been tremendously supportive," says Scollin. "We are truly excited about being back in business!"

Publix in Pompano Beach

Atlantic Boulevard Publix set to open March 31

Pompano Beach – With nearly all the shelves stocked, Publix executives took time on Wednesday to treat Pompano Beach’s movers and shakers to lunch and a tour of their newest store, 2511 E. Atlantic Blvd., before it opens to the public tomorrow at 7 a.m.

The new store replaces the former Publix, built in 1967, and eclipses its predecessor’s size by about 20,000 sq. ft. The Atlantic Boulevard Publix is 56,000 sq. ft., has its own liquor store, 254-space multi-level parking garage and a variety of specialty food stations not found in many smaller Publix locations.

well. "This is everyone's decision. It's everyone's town," said Mayor Roseann Minnet. She urged residents to weigh in. The matter will be brought back to the commission April 10. Commissioner Mark Brown asked if the team was open to other slogan ideas. Andrew Hillier, company president, said yes, although the one presented was one of about 10 considered.

Brown noted that Pompano Beach is using pelicans with moving wings in their beach redevelopment plan. "Pompano is moving in on the pelicans," he said.

"We have seen the Pompano pelicans, as well," Hillier said. "Unlike this one, unfortunately it doesn't have a personality." Vice Mayor Scot Sasser said the block design had the most versatility. Commissioner Chris Vincent said he could see endless products, such as a dice game with blocks, T-shirts and beach towels. "They could make this town stand out as a beachside community."

"It looks really nice, but it's important to put the fishing pier on there, and some type of fish and some cocktail drinks. Pelicans live on the pier. They don't live on chairs," said Spiro Marchelos, a fishing pier owner. Patrick Pointu said he would vote for none of what was presented. "Tourists remember the pier, the sun, palm trees, the beach not the chairs," he said.

John Boutin, general manager of the Windjammer Resort, liked the concept and said the colors are great. "The pelican is wonderful as a draw, bringing out imagination in all of us," he said, but he wouldn't suggest naming it. "The image is special to each person. Relaxation is a common theme."

Images intended to brand the image of Lauderdale-By-The-Sea as a relaxing spot on the ocean where a good book can replace a stuffed briefcase. Discussions will be continued at the April commission meeting. The concepts presented this month were from Andy Royston, creative director of the Tangled Spider Design Group. Final Deerfield Beach Green Market This Season

This Sunday, April 1st
8:00 AM – 1:00 PM
The Cove Shopping Center

As usual, there will be a great selection of fresh produce, bakery goods and specialty food items. This is your last chance this season to see what everyone is talking about.

We thank everyone who has come out and made our markets so successful. We also thank all the great vendors who have participated with us.

Relay

Along with fighting his own disease, Bill also used some of his precious time to help others fight their battle. In 2008, he was a part of Wilton Manors' first Relay For Life event. "He was always involved with something like that. He always wore his Livestrong [bracelet]," said Jim. This year, the city's Relay For Life takes place June 1 and 2 at Hagen Park, 2020 Wilton Drive.

The event, starting at 6 p.m. on the first day, is an 18-hour fundraising event where members of participating teams take turns walking non-stop around a designated track for the duration of the event; money raised is donated to the American Cancer Society.

Alexandra Rousseau, community representative for the American Cancer Society, said this year's goal is to raise $35,000. "We're trying to grow the number of teams as well," she said.

Along with a Survivors Lap, which celebrates individuals who are in remission or have beaten their cancer, Relay For Life also includes the Luminaria ceremony, which honors and remembers those who are fighting cancer and those who have died.

To donate or start a team, visit www.relayforlife.org/wmopfl or call 954-564-0880.

RJ Boyle's heaping haul of swordfish off the Texas coast

Capt. RJ Boyle is an experienced angler in South Florida. His studio is located in Lighthouse Point. Call 954-420-5001.

By RJ Boyle

RJ BOYLE STUDIOS

I went to Texas last week to give a seminar on swordfishing. We had put a seminar on last year at the same time and it was a huge success, so we decided to give it another shot.

This year's event, which benefited Everyday Heroes, was even better but it's not the seminar that I want to tell you about – it's the fishing.

After the seminar, we hopped on my buddy's boat, the Booby Trap, and headed offshore 90 miles in pursuit of a broadbill swordfish. What a trip it was. In a day and a half of fishing we caught 21 swordfish, five of which were over 200 lbs. The first day we caught 11 swords in the daytime.

To my knowledge, that is

by far the record for the most swords ever caught during daylight hours in one day. The second half-day we caught seven swords by noon. We added three swords at night, bringing the tally to 21 swords in a day-and-a-half.

Of the 18 swordfish caught during the day, 14 were caught on a hand crank reel; an 80w Shimano. We trolled around an LP1200 electric reel to find the fish. Once we found it we were able to drop the hand crank reel.

We hooked two double headers which ended up being the four biggest fish of the trip. I fought a swordfish on the Tiagra 80w for almost two hours; that would have been the Texas state record but I got tired of holding the rod while we were catching the other fish. So I sat the rod in the gunwale for five minutes which is not legal by IGFA rules, so we disqualified the fish.

The fish we caught was just under 400 lbs. and we let it go. All said it was the trip of a lifetime and I thank God for letting me experience all of the things he has given me. I am truly lucky.

St. Joseph remembered in Deerfield Beach

It was a family affair at Joseph's Bakery on March 19, St. Joseph's Day. Long lines of people lined up for the traditional Zeppole. The Saint's Day recalls a famine in Sicily. Italians prayed to St. Joseph, foster father to the baby Jesus, to end the hunger. The famine ended and since then special foods are prepared with the Zeppole pastry as the dessert to recall the miracle. Pictured are Joseph Teresi Jr., Mariano Teresi, Father Michael Lynch, St. Ambrose Catholic Church and Joseph Teresi, III of Joseph's Bakery. Joseph's Bakery is located in Deerfield Beach at 788 South Federal Highway. Call 954-571-7747.
