Dairy farm may be converted into urban garden

By Judy Vik

PELICAN STAFF

Oakland Park - Acreage at a former dairy may be transformed into an urban farm and community garden after commissioners expressed enthusiasm for a proposal by the Urban Farm Institute to plant the vacant land north of Jaco Pastorius Park.

“Urban farming is the wave of the future, but most of us have lost touch with agriculture,” Chris Brown, a principal with Redevelopment Management Associates [RMA], told commissioners. Brown, a self –

Oakland Park - Main Street will present “A Tribute to Jaco” from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1, at Jaco Pastorius Park, 4000 N. Federal Hwy.

The evening will feature live music by Le Bron Jams with Julius Pastorius & Friends; pop rock by the Marcel Salas Trio; and progressive metal by The Neolythyc with segments of their new album, “March of a Thousand Sons.”

Guests will get a sneak peek at an upcoming “Jaco Pastorius Documentary” produced by Robert Trujillo and the Pastorius family.

At 50, Pompano Boat Parade may be the best ever

By Judy Wilson

PELICAN STAFF

Pompano Beach

— A couple whose names are synonymous with safe boating will be the grand marshals of this year's boat parade, Dec. 9. Richard and Gwen Leys, officers in the Coast Guard Auxiliary almost from the day they arrived here from Philadelphia in 1993, will be on the bow of the 75-foot party boat, the Musette, greeting parade watchers from Lake Santa Barbara to Hillsboro Blvd.

Richard and Gwen Leys will serve as grand marshals of the 2012 Pompano Beach Boat Parade.

The Leys have also been on the boat parade committee for many years because it was their first glimpse of a Florida holiday. Seeing all the lighted boats on the Intracoastal Waterway was "a magical experience," Gwen Leys remembers. They immediately joined the CG Auxiliary and become parade participants themselves.

Pompano Chamber of Commerce CEO Ric Green held off telling the Leys they would lead the 50th annual boat parade until Gwen became agitated that no grand marshal had been selected for this anniversary year.

"Without the Leys, there would have been no boat parade for the last 10 years," Green said. "They persisted. They are dedicated to the parade."

The Leys join other media and sports dignitaries who have led the procession for five decades.

Traditionally held the night after the Winterfest Boat Parade in Fort Lauderdale, Pompano's waterway event this year is set a week earlier on Dec. 9. Gwen Leys said the change was made in hopes of attracting more participants. "It's a long day," she said referring to the Winterfest Parade. "It's grueling. The boat captains are out six or seven hours from the time they lineup to the time they get home. Many are exhausted the next day. So we thought we would start the season a week earlier."

There is no charge to enter the boat parade and boats can

Contract renewed for emergency services

By Judy Vik

PELICAN STAFF

Lauderdale-By-The-Sea – Town commissioners here have authorized the town manager to renew a contract with American Medical Response [AMR] for emergency medical services.

AMR offered to waive an automatic four percent increase in the $753,660 annual fee if the town agreed to extend the contract to fiscal year 2015, said Tony Bryan, finance director.

Bryan thanked Brooke Liddle, AMR's operations manager, for his efforts in contract negotiations.

Under contract terms, AMR agreed to station and maintain no less than one advanced life support ambulance with a minimum staff of two paramedics and one emergency medical technician or EMT at all times at the town's public safety building at 4513 Ocean Drive.

All secondary response units will be staffed with a minimum of one paramedic and one EMT.

AMR must respond within six minutes or less to a minimum of 90 percent of all emergency 911 calls each month.

"Our residents are getting unbelievable response times with 98 percent of calls responded to in under four minutes," said Commissioner Stuart Dodd.

He thanked AMR for three years of service and for the new agreement.

The contract was rewritten to include several key changes, including adding requirements that:

- The supervisor on duty remain physically within the boundaries of the town unless responding to a call, transporting a patient or returning from a call.

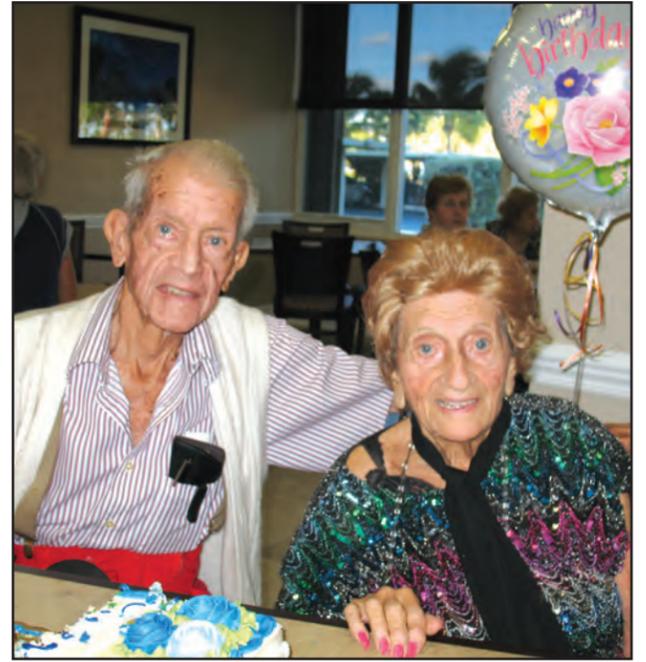

- AMR provide statistical and financial reporting to the town on a quarterly basis.

- AMR provide the town with results of any performance reviews.

- AMR notify the town if any AMR personnel assigned to the town are reported to the state for non-compliance with certification requirements.

- AMR notify the town of any disciplinary action taken against AMR personnel assigned to the town.

Popular South Florida restaurant chain has family's history on its walls

By Judy Wilson

PELICAN STAFF

Deerfield Beach – When Mike Flanigan walks into his restaurant on A1A, his life passes before his eyes. Pictures of himself, his wife Cathy and his children, his family and friends, and friends of friends cover the walls. Dominant is a photo of his father, Joe Flanigan, the patriarch of a large clan and founder of the Flanigan's chain of eating and drinking establishments.

Walking through the restaurant recently, Mike, 50, pointed out photos of himself at various ages, his brothers, his nephew, his children and various other relatives. The one common denominator in this scrapbook of his life is that everyone pictured is boating or fishing. "I'll hang anyone's picture up, but it must show a fish," said this avid water sportsman.

The Flanigans, three boys and two girls, grew up in Sea Ranch Lakes. Their parents came here in the late '50s soon after his father, "Big Daddy," opened his first lounge and restaurant on Commercial Boulevard in Oakland Park. The concept, good food in a laid-back atmosphere, flourished.

In the early '60s, Big Daddy purchased the High Tide location on the "S" curve here. With it came Liquor License #0001, the first ever issued in Broward County. In 1985, the family decided to re-image the restaurants to become more focused on food and the stores became Flanigan's Seafood Bar and Grill. Each location also carries a nickname. Some, like Piranah Pat's and Guppies, are almost as well-known to the public as the bearded logo of Joe Flanigan himself.

Of course there is a story about that logo, too. Originally, Joe Flanigan wanted Ed McMahon to be the restaurant spokesperson, but that deal fell through. Then, one day he encountered the real Col. Sanders, who had made his own face famous, and decided that he, Joe Flanigan, was the better looking man. So he became the face of Big Daddy's.

The Flanigan's love of fishing comes naturally. They grew up summers on a sailboat docked at Walker's Cay in the Abacos. There were five kids on that boat living a life even Tom Sawyer would have envied. Mike and his brothers have kept the Bahamas alive for their children.

The Flanigans keep a 65-foot houseboat at Little Grand, the island a short boat ride from Walkers, where they spend as many holidays as they can. Their days there are filled with two things: fishing and diving. At Easter, they sponsor the "Big Joe Memorial Fishing

Local blogger highlights the not-so-cute animals

By Michael d'Oliveira

PELICAN STAFF

Pompano Beach – When Dorian Wagner and Stephanie Stephanie Fonju step into an animal shelter they bypass the cute cats for the ones who need a little extra help finding a home.

“I try to put my efforts into ones that don't have that [cuteness] advantage. It's amazing what a little bit better camera work can do,” said Wagner, a Deerfield Beach resident. Her website, www.yourdailycute.com, features photos of cats up for adoption.

“Black cats are the least adopted. It's not because they don't have personality, it's that they're all hard to photograph. Better photography makes all the difference in the world to [a potential adopter] who's just scanning [a website],” she said.

Fonju, who has been photographing shelter pets with Wagner since 2010, make the cats look more adoptable.

“I suppose the only difference [between photographing people and animals] is I can't really direct [animals],” said Fonju, a Plantation resident.

But Wagner's website and Fonju's photographs have helped more than the animals that have been adopted. Because of their work, Royal Canin USA, a company that makes premium dog and cat food, donated 592 lbs. of dry cat food [valued at $2,500] to Noah's Ark, a non-profit shelter located in Pompano.

“I love the place. I love the people. They're doing really good work,” said Wagner about Noah's Ark.

“Dorian is well respected in the pet blogging community and does an amazing job advocating for rescue cats and all animals. She's been a great help in educating cat owners about the effects of spaying and neutering and the importance that custom nutrition plays in our pets' lives,” wrote Ronna Krahl, retail marketing manager at Royal Canin USA in an email to The Pelican. “We were happy . . . to make a donation to her favorite cat rescue, Noah's Ark, to support the amazing work they do.” The food donated was specifically made for cats that have been spayed or neutered. Hormonal changes after surgery cause a decrease in energy and an increase in appetite.

But whether specially formulated or not, Barbara Beeson, president and founder of Noah's Ark, is glad to have the help. “That will keep the kitties at Noah's Ark happy for many months to come.”

This month, Beeson is celebrating the 10-year anniversary of Noah's Ark,

Report carried its own bias

To the editor,

Regarding last week's story about toilet paper at a fire station decorated with President Obama's face, I read your report and it left me wondering how the NAACP was involved as a organization for contributing a response.

I am also offended by the method of this person's political statement and can see that if it was done by a paid government employee and executed in a government building how it might warrant disciplinary action, but your report did not reflect any evidence of racial hatred other than maybe that our President happens to be of African American descent and you are assuming that the person's actions were racially motivated.

Now if that is so, I ask you who is the racist? Maybe you and maybe the NAACP.

I ask you to respect the authority and protection the public awards you as a journalist and please, be more careful about inserting your opinions and assumptions into to your reports. Just the facts please, I would like to form my own opinion.

Pearl Harbor Day performance

Deerfield Beach – The 13th Army Band, part of the Florida National Guard, brings three bands to the beach here Friday, Dec. 7 to play a diverse program of Latin, rock and patriotic music. The free concert begins at 7 p.m. in the main beach parking lot and commemorates Pearl Harbor Day. Veterans from all wars will be recognized at a reception before the concert. Three ensembles of the 44-piece band will be performing: The Latin band “Sintonia,” the rock band “Dead Time” and the concert band with music appropriate to the day.

Serving the State of Florida, the nation and local communities since 1906, the citizen soldiers of the 13th Army Band provide music for all occasions with eight distinctive ensembles. It has played at such significant events as the Presidential Inauguration, the Super Bowl and July 4th celebrations throughout the state. It regularly provides support for military funerals and in times of disaster provides relief supplies to areas in need.

Wounded warriors take to the sea for a day of fun, fishing

By Michael d'Oliveira

Lighthouse Point – Ever since he was discharged from the Marine Corps seven years ago, Zach Dunn has found it hard to trust people. But get him with a group of fellow veterans and it's like a group of old high school buddies reuniting.

"It brings you back to that brotherhood you had when you were serving," he said.

Last Saturday, Dunn and a dozen fellow veterans went fishing for tuna, mahi and whatever else they could catch – all part of a Wounded Warrior Project fishing trip sponsored by local boat captains, Lighthouse Point Marina and Nauti Dawg restaurant.

The Wounded Warrior Project is a private organization that helps disabled veterans with mental and physical rehabilitation, job training and educational opportunities. And from time to time, a little rest and relaxation.

"These guys are very much outdoorsman. And this helps manage their stress and energy levels. It really helps the PTSD [Post Traumatic Stress Disorder]," said Chris Rick, manager of Wounded Warrior's TRACK program in Jacksonville. TRACK is a specialized 12-month education program. "We advocate for whatever they need. Mind, body and spirit."

As part of TRACK, Dunn is training for a job as a veterinarian technician. But it's his past that he's had to work on the most these last eight years.

On May 13, 2004, Dunn was on patrol with his infantry unit in Fallujah, Iraq when his Humvee was hit by an IED [Improvised Explosive Device]. Dunn was struck by shrapnel in the head,

Dr. George Georgakakis, specialist in ENT, head and neck surgery and hearing, treats patients of all ages

Dr. Georgakakis is an M.D., P.A., who specializes in otolaryngology, head and neck surgery, says listening and getting a good history is the first step in diagnosis for many of the ailments in ear, nose and throat such as earache, hearing loss, chronic sinus drip, headaches, tinnitus, vertigo and more. Dr. George Georgakakis feels home grown. He says, "I have lived in Fort Lauderdale since I was 18 months old. I graduated from Northeast High School, got all of my degrees from the University of Miami and only left to do my surgical internship and Otolaryngology residency at the University of Maryland."

He is certified by and is a member of the American Academy of Otolaryngology, and is affiliated with Holy Cross and Imperial Point Hospitals. His Fort Lauderdale office Suite 302 is at 4801 N. Federal Highway.

In practice for 11 years, Dr. George relates easily to patients. He's unhurried and makes time to listen to his patient's description of the problem. "The patient's history is very important," he says. "Often there are multiple problems which I want to hear about before I begin an actual examination."

He admits, "The allure of this specialty for me was treating all age patients in the areas of ears, nose and throat. The systems are closely connected and often affect each other. We see everything including chronic sinus disease, hoarse voice, difficulty in swallowing, sensation of a lump in the throat, vertigo, tinnitus and hearing loss."

One of his young patients, two-year-old Jacob Mincey, seemed to have many ear problems. His mother, Homanda Mincey, says, "Dr. Georgakakis put Jacob at ease and has been very helpful

Jan's Homemade Candies, Inc. sends chocolate gifts to wounded service men and women at Walter Reed Medical Center

Making a Difference

Phyllis J. Neuberger wants your suggestions about people who are making a difference. Phyllis's new book, China Dahl, is available on amazon.com. Call 954-783-8700.

By Phyllis J. Neuberger

PELICAN STAFF

Stepping into Jan's Homemade Candies, Inc. and inhaling the mouth watering smells of homemade chocolate cooking, turns a visitor into an instant impulse buyer. As the eye scans the showcases displaying elegant chocolates in every artistic shape and design imaginable, it's hard to resist owner Jan Lendi's generous offer to sample a taste of this and a taste of that.

But The Pelican didn't come to this store in Lauderdale-By-The-Sea at 4327 N. Ocean Drive for personal pleasure, but rather to meet the lady who ships her delectable candy off at least once a week to our wounded men and women returned from battle with physical and mental challenges, all being rehabbed at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, Bethesda, MD.

Jan smiles and says, "My obsession to thank these American heroes began when my brother emailed me asking me to pray for Josh Wetzel who had stepped on an IED in Afghanistan and lost both legs. I put 'Prayers for Josh Wetzel' on my Facebook page and 5,000 people prayed for this young man. My husband Bob and I decided to send him a huge piece of solid chocolate with his name and army medallion on the top. We became friends."

"There he was, all banged up and struggling to learn how to walk on his new legs, and yet he cared enough to ask us to pray for another soldier, Eric Hunter, who had also lost a leg in the same way, same place. We sent Eric a large personalized chocolate also. Then we sent a collection of chocolate army medallions to both of these heroes to pass out to all of their fellow patients."

"Corey Garman became our next friend. He, too, had lost his legs. We heard from his friends that he and his fiance, Megan, were going to be married in the hospital in September so I made them wedding favors. They kept postponing the wedding and we couldn't understand why. They froze our chocolate wedding gifts and explained that Corey wanted to stand on his new legs like every groom on the day of his wedding. They hope that will be soon."

"We now send one or two packages of chocolates every week to our growing list of new friends. These men and women fought so valiantly for us. We get notes of appreciation every day. Some are emails. Some are written by supportive family members for those with no arms. Whenever one of our boys is having another surgery, off goes a shipment of their favorite fudge or chocolates. We now know their favorites.”

“Why do we do it? We do it because I wouldn't have my shop if it weren't for boys like these who fought for our freedom and paid a terrible price. They are heroes who deserve gratitude, good wishes and friendship from every one of us. When I see their faces I realize these boys and girls have barely left childhood and yet they have lost essential body parts defending our way of life. Bob is actually growing a beard during No Shave November to draw attention to these wounded warriors.”

Jan and Bob do even more. LBTS has its own way to thank the military. The town regularly hosts a military couple, found through the U.S.O., for a weekend of rest, relaxation and romance.

Jan and Bob further enhance those weekends with sweet wishes baskets of chocolates. So far Jan has sent 30 baskets to visiting military couples.

Jan's Homemade Candies, Inc.

Come March, it will be 12 years since Jan and her husband helper, Bob, opened their store in LBTS. “The past few years have been a struggle because of the economy,” Jan says. “With God's blessings, we've made it through. We hope business will pick up in this new season.”

Jan makes almost all of her chocolates and fudge in the shop, producing small batches at a time so there's no waste. Everything is natural. No preservatives are ever used. “Our chocolates can be frozen,” Jan says. “Be sure they are in an air tight container and thawed completely before reopening. We ship year 'round using frozen gel packs and insulated boxes. Our chocolates arrive as fresh as if they had just been purchased that day. We have many loyal customers. In fact some of our arriving snowbirds make this their first stop on the way to their hotels.”

Bob, who assists his wife, says, “We do a lot of personalizing chocolates for events and individuals.” He holds up a chocolate cross, saying, “We just finished baking 100 dark chocolate crosses for a special dinner at Holy Cross Hospital.” Then he shows off a beautifully colored chocolate shark, saying, “We just made 100 of these for an alumni group from Nova Southeastern University.”

Jan's newest creation, called ‘Berry Healthy Bark,’ contains, 72 percent dark chocolate with organic cherries, cranberries, blueberries, almonds, pepitas [shelled pumpkin seeds] and acai berries. It's become an instant best seller.

While Jan was being interviewed, a new customer, Bob Brockman, stopped by at the suggestion of his friend. He said, “My very good friend, a Western Buddhist Monk, Gen Kelsang Norbu, loves the all natural goodness of Jan's chocolates.” Brockman sampled the pumpkin pie fudge and raved. He promised to return before Christmas for some eggnog fudge. As he chose one of those, and those, and those, sampling a few as he went along, he laughed and said, “I guess I am that kid in the candy store.” He walked out of Jan's with a $27 box of assorted goodies feeling thrilled with his choices.

Thank you Jan and Bob

Lendi for your generosity and support for our wounded GI Joes and Janes, who are patients at Walter Reed Medical Center.

Life's a banquet, and most poor suckers are starving to death!"

This fabulously successful hit hardly needs introduction. AUNTIE MAME set a standard for Broadway comedy that's been sought after ever since.

"Auntie Mame was a handsome, sparkling, scatterbrained and warm-hearted lady who brightened the American landscape from 1928 to the immediate past by her whimsical gaiety, her madcap adventures and her devotion to her young nephew.

Department [WMPD] and sign a contract with BSO. WMPD personnel voted 28-0 for the change.

“We’re very far away from a merger,” said WMPD Sgt. Chuck Howard, speaking on behalf of the WMPD. “We want the people to be educated and come forward and just voice their opinion and ask the commission for a proposal.”

Beyond the public comments section at Tuesday’s meeting, residents also have a chance to express themselves at the polls.

In January, 82 percent of residents voted to require a referendum as “a condition of abolishing and transferring the city’s police department.” Commissioners would still

But the commissioners would still have the final say.

In an Oct. 16 candidates forum, Vice Mayor Julie Carson and Commissioner Tom Green both expressed support for keeping WMPD. “I like it. The residents like it. It’s not fiscally responsible to move to BSO,” said Carson.

According to the PBA, switching would allow the city to save $4 million over the life of the first three-year contract through the reduction in some administrative positions and services that can be handled through BSO.

Commissioner Scott Newton said he doesn’t believe the numbers but also doesn’t believe people want a change. “The community is not asking for a change. As of today, there’s no reason to look to BSO. Most people are very happy,” he said.

But Howard said switching to BSO is about more than just the city budget.

“We would have all those resources we can share from the Sheriff’s Office. If we have a major crime in process we can pull those resources from Oakland Park BSO,” said Howard.

With BSO, the city would have access to SWAT, helicopters, the bomb squad and a specialized unit that focuses on high crime areas.

Wilton Manors spent $5.689 million this year for police services; 43 percent of the total budget. In 2011, the city spent $5.658 million and in 2010, $5.608 million.

Lauderdale-By-The-Sea [LBTS], which is the closest BSO municipality in size to Wilton Manors, spent $3.5 million this year, $3.4 million last year and $3.1 million the year before that. LBTS is 1.5 square miles and has a population of 6,168 with 28 BSO personnel, including 19 deputies. Wilton Manors is 2.5 square miles and has 11,843 residents with a police staff of 28, including 16 patrol officers.

Said Howard, “There have been times when we had to hold calls [or get assistance from Fort Lauderdale] because we’re understaffed.”

According to a brochure distributed by the PBA, a maximum of two officers patrol Wilton Manors at any given time. Howard added that the change would allow personnel to go from the current eight-hour shifts to 12-hour shifts, allowing for more flexibility and less stressful schedules.

Assistant City Manager Leigh Ann Henderson said police staffing levels have remained the same for years.

In 2010 Pompano Beach

Commissioners, unhappy with rising costs, considered dropping BSO in favor of restarting the city’s police department. Pompano hired BSO in 1999. One aspect of the BSO contract they were unhappy with was a single year increase of eight percent. Charles Whitelock, who represented Pompano in negotiations with BSO, said at the time that the increase contained “fluff to cover unanticipated costs.”

Ultimately commissioners decided it against it because of the costs.

“If we were starting our own police force we would need more money [than the four-year, $37.3 million contract],” said Commissioner Charlotte Burrie in 2010.

“That was the main factor,” said Pompano Beach Mayor Lamar Fisher. He added that public sentiment in favor of keeping BSO and the additional resources that come with it also persuaded the commission. Municipalities that contract with BSO get to make decisions on command staff, including the selection of who serves as chief of the district.

WMPD Chief Paul O’Connell served as BSO chief in Parkland before being hired by Wilton Manors.

Commissioner Rex Hardin, who voted against BSO in favor of a Pompano police department, said he is happy with the level of service provided by BSO but saw a chance for significant cost savings to taxpayers. Hardin said start-up costs for the new department would have raised costs for the first year but the city would have seen “significant savings” over the long term.

Flanigan's

Tournament" that brings the little island alive. Proceeds are donated to local churches.

Occupying the company's only beachside location, the Deerfield Beach Flanigan's is being expanded to keep up with the neighborhood – specifically the new two-story pier restaurant. A liquor store has been closed to allow for expansion of the kitchen and a few more indoor tables. Outside, sidewalk dining and the existing tiki hut will be expanded. If all that goes well, the owners would like to go up a story providing customers a view of A1A and glimpses of the ocean. They feel the addition, second-level outside dining, will give the building and the corner a presence in keeping with its surroundings.

Several years ago, the Flanigan's took over ownership of The Whale's Rib, a popular restaurant located next door. While it is part of their restaurant empire - now 22 stores from Stuart to Pinecrest in Dade County - they maintained the Rib's original ambiance and distinctive menu. The company is headquartered in Fort Lauderdale and on the American Stock Exchange, symbol, BDC.

Bolstering this company that has been in business for more than 50 years are many, many dedicated long time employees such as the Deerfield Beach manager Kevin King, who has worked for Flanigan's on and off since 1992. He is back now to oversee the proposed expansion. Mike says some employees have been with the company almost since the beginning. "Our employees stay with us because of the family atmosphere," he said. "And we always try to promote from within."

Because they are fishermen, the Flanigan's make dolphin and tuna their signature dishes, along with the baby back ribs they boast are the best anywhere.

To keep the Flanigan legacy current, the family changes out photos when the walls get full. In Deerfield, their long history more than fills the room. And in Miami, there is a warehouse of photographs waiting to be hung so the story of a family at play will continue to be told.

wonderful production. We picked so many talented performers from the many, many who auditioned. This is a very funny show," said Kris Coffelt, artistic director of the Curtain Call Playhouse.

Coffelt herself plays the rambunctious Mame. "It's the role of a lifetime," she said comparing it to another highlight of her career, her dramatic portrayal of Queen Eleanor in "The Lion in Winter."

This "Auntie Mame" is directed by Steve Chamber, a playwright, performer and director. "It's a joy to have him with us," Coffelt said. The play was first performed in the '50s coming to Broadway after Patrick Dennis [Mame's nephew in real life] wrote a novel in 1955 about his life and times with his aunt. It is not the musical version, "Mame," but makes up for that with the "wonderful and witty dialogue" by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, Coffelt said.

With a cast of 20 that make multiple costume changes for the fast-paced scenes, the play moves along at an energetic clip. The costumes, about 80 in all, have been created by Chuck Roeder of Oakland Park.

This is the 16th season for Curtain Call Playhouse which annually mounts four productions: a musical, a musical revue, a comedy and an adult performance for children. In addition, the Playhouse holds workshops and camps for young thespians. Coffelt says Pompano Beach the Player's hometown. Rehearsals are at the Emma Lou Olson Center.

Starring with her in "Auntie Mame," are Brian Inerfeld, as the young Patrick. Inerfeld is a veteran of the musical. The older Patrick is played by Eric Salas, Lindsey is played by Peter King, Beau by William Roach, Vera by Tera Young and Mr. Babcock, Mame's nemesis, by Joel Kylker. Several of these main players, have not been on the Curtain Call stage in the past.

"Even the minor characters have a scene written for them. They are very defined characters," Coffelt said.

Opening night of "Auntie Mame," Friday, Nov. 30, is being sponsored by the City of Pompano Beach and includes dinner. Tickets are $30.

The matinee show, $20, is Sunday, Dec. 2. The Skolnick Center is at 800 SW 36 Ave.

The show goes to the Willow Theatre in Boca Raton, 300 S. Military Trail, for another five performances through Dec. 16. For performance times, check the website or box office, 954-784-0768.

Next production for Curtain Call Players is "Kiss me Kate," which plays Jan 27 to Mar. 16. Curtain Call Playhouse is a not-for-profit theatre that tours Broward and Palm Beach counties.

Farm

proclaimed urban farmer, said residents can learn to farm either in their own backyards or in a community garden.

Until August when the lease was up, the Institute ran a two-acre farm on Powerline Road south of Copans Road in Pompano Beach, but issues caused it to close.

Now, with plans taking shape for a Culinary Arts District in downtown Oakland Park, Urban Farm officials Jon Albee and Stephen Hill are proposing to operate the acreage with the city as a partner. "The idea is to make locally-grown food more available and help people grow it themselves," Hill explained. "This is a perfect fit to the Culinary Arts District."

The farm features innovative urban growing systems, including vertical hydroponic towers and EarthBox soil-based systems, Brown said. The hydroponic units don't use soil. Foods would be naturally grown with organic nutrients. "You can feed a family of four with six to eight towers," Brown said. He has 15 hydroponic towers at his house. "I come home and cut my lettuce, add oregano and thyme and make an incredible salad."

Classes are proposed for composting, use of worms, health and nutrition. The Urban Farm Institute, a non-profit arm of The Urban Farmer, would operate the only commercial farm east of U.S. 441, Brown said.

For a monthly fee, participants become part of Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) and share in the food raised.

Discussions also are under way for a green market in the downtown area just north of City Hall on NE 12 Ave. (Main Street). Brown suggested the market be on Wednesday or Friday evenings, since there are already so many green markets in the area on weekends.

Commissioner Suzanne Boisvenue noted that she grew up on a farm. "People want this. We need to do this. I'm really excited about it," she said. Brown said the proposed tenant, the Urban Farm Institute, would work the farm. The area would be fenced and locked at night. An avid home gardener, Commissioner Jed Shank reminded the commission that he asked for a community garden two years ago, but the idea wasn't supported then. "I'm so excited about this. It's outstanding," Shank said.

be heavily festooned, or look more like Charlie Brown's Christmas tree. The idea, Green said, "is simply to have fun." A captain's party will be held Dec. 6 at the Isle Casino. "We want to make this first class," Green said.

Captains will also get special gifts and mementoes. "Truthfully, the boat captains make the parade," Gwen Leys said. "They are the ones we need to thank."

The Chamber claims Pompano's is the oldest Christmas boat parade in the country. It began simply with a few boat owners lighting up their hulls and cruising throughout the city's canals. It grew to be a 60-boat procession, but in recent years the number of boaters has dwindled. This year, interest is high. "We already have more entries than we did just before last year's parade," Green said. "And already we have more sponsorships."

Those without boats, or who have not been invited aboard by a friendly captain, can ride, dine, drink and dance on the lead boat Musette for $55. The Musette boards at the Two Georges restaurant in Deerfield Beach at 4:30 p.m. and cruises the waterway for four hours. Reservations for that cruise can be made at the Chamber.

with Jacob's earaches. Jacob doesn't put up a fuss about going to the doctor like most little kids would."

His practice includes doctor of audiology, Paula Liebeskind who has 25 years in diagnosing hearing loss, and when needed, assists clients in determining if a hearing aid is needed and what type would be of value.

Dr. George says, "It's important to be realistic about hearing aids. They improve hearing, but will not give a person the natural hearing experienced as a child. Manufacturers of aids have made great strides in the help they deliver. If a patient is on the fence about wearing one, I often recommend waiting a year or two and then repeating the test. Removing ear wax, a simple and easy procedure done in the office, is often an easy solution to sudden hearing loss."

Asked how he determines what the ailment might be, the doctor says he does an initial basic exam. For a more informed diagnosis, he says, "We often use a Laryngoscope which is a flexible telescope that allows us to do a painless exam of the nose and throat."

"We have a very effective new tool for treating chronic sinus disease. The tool, balloon sinuplasty, permits us to dilate the sinus allowing for better drainage and eliminating problems. Because this is a new procedure we do it in the hospital as an outpatient treatment. Most patients experience great relief from their problems."

He describes another useful tool used in his practice. "Using a video recorder we now can provide patients the ability to see their own vocal cords in action. This helps them make a treatment decision with more confidence. Because seeing is believing, this tool is a welcome one."

Discussing allergies, he says, "We do RAST testing which is a blood test that determines the presence of allergy. Once discovered, the problems can be treated with avoidance or medical management. If necessary, there are always allergy tests."

"Tinnitus is another common problem. We do ear cleaning, hearing tests and if we can find no explanation, we will discuss coping measures. We do what we call tinnitus retraining therapy or TRT.

Vertigo is a frequent complaint. Benign positional vertigo can be relieved through Epley Maneuvering which we can do in the office. If this still doesn't help, we can do a videonystatogram which allows us to assess the inner ear function."

See an ENT doctor for these symptoms:

- Voice hoarseness for more than two weeks
- Difficulty swallowing or the sensation of a lump in the throat
- Sudden loss of hearing
- Investigate chronic sinus drip or headaches
- Nasal congestion might be caused by allergies knees and right arm, causing traumatic brain injury and nerve damage.

After the IED, Dunn spent time in a series of military hospitals in Iraq, Germany and staeside before finally being discharged and sent home to San Diego. But while his physical wounds have healed, Dunn still struggles with PTSD.

"It's been a long time. It's been an up and down roller coaster," he said.

But for Dunn, Saturday was a high point – especially catching a black tip shark.

"That was a pretty fun catch," he said.

For Bryan Wagner, the fishing trip was also a good day. "It was absolutely fantastic. This is a great city. Everyone seems super chill," he said.

Wagner, who is originally from Exeter, California, and served in the Army as a military police officer, lost his right leg on Dec. 17, 2007 when an IED tore through his Humvee in Baghdad. "Don't vacation there if you don't have to," joked Wagner.

Eventually, he ended up at Walter Reed Medical Center where he went through physical rehabilitation and had to relearn how to do many things, including how to walk and even use the bathroom.

"Everything I was used to I had to learn again. I was upset but I had to man up."

And he owes his recovery to the physical therapists who helped him. "I am where I am because of physical therapists. They're amazing. They're the best at what they do," said Wagner, who is studying for his doctorate in physical therapy so can he become a physical therapist and help others get past their wounds and get back to living.

Like Wagner, Vinnie Lasorsa and the other boat captains who took the veterans out fishing want to give back. "It's just a cool thing. It makes you feel good to show them their sacrifice is appreciated."

Lasorsa organized the first Wounded Warrior fishing trip out of Lighthouse Point in 2009 aboard his own vessel. But once his boss, Jimmy Buffett, heard about what he was doing he insisted Lasorsa take the veterans out on his 42 ft. sport fishing craft. "[Jimmy] said, 'Take them out on my boat,'" said Lasorsa.

"It was more special [than just a day of fishing]," said Brad Abell, captain and owner of Teaser. "It's just great to show your appreciation for they've done."

And Damon Zeigler, a Marine Corps veteran who works with the Wound Warrior Project, said the captains should remember their experience for a long time. "The day you go fishing with a vet is a day you don't soon forget."

NEW MEDICINE BASED ON AN 88-YEAR OLD THEORY BY ALBERT EINSTEIN CAN HELP ALMOST EVERYONE WHO IS SICK OR INJURED!

What you are about to read may be the most important information you've ever read. Here is why. Albert Einstein was, quite possibly, the most intelligent person who ever lived. His theories and ideas were so far ahead of his time, that even now, the smartest scientists alive are still discovering his value.

One of his theories published in 1917, worked out the theory of how lasers function. However, it was not until May 16, 1960 (43 years later) that the first actual laser was developed by an American scientist. Since then, scientists and inventors have developed many types of lasers and all kinds of uses for them. They can be used as a scalpel that is so delicate, it can be used on the eyes of human beings. Lasers are used to read price codes at your local supermarkets. And they're used to play music and video on your CD's and DVD's.

But now, there is a new type of laser so effective against human disease and injury that it is rapidly changing the practice of medicine. This is a new type of low-level laser which produces an unfocused light that has been...

Registered With The FDA To Be 100% Safe!

Low-level lasers use less than one watt of power and they produce what can best be described as a "Healing Light". Call 1-800-303-6923, Code 6033.

Here is a somewhat un-scientific description of how this "Healing Light" can potentially help reverse the damage done by human sickness and disease.

As you probably know, our entire bodies are made up of cells. The health of all human cells is based on energy. If your cells don't receive enough energy, they will weaken and the body will become sick.

Be One Of The
First 200 To Call & Receive A Free DVD!

For you to be healthy, what your cells need is exactly the right kind and the right amount of energy. Every time you get injured or become sick, the energy flow to your cells is disrupted. Until the proper type and amount of energy is restored, you will remain sick or injured.

That's what a low-level laser device does. It re-energizes the cells in your body with the right kind and proper amount of healing energy.

It may surprise you to learn that low level lasers are ...

Used By Doctors To Heal Their Patients In The Fastest Way Possible!

Could you guess what kind of doctors use the highest percent of low-level lasers on their patients? It's doctors involved in sports medicine. Why? The answer is simple. You see, doctors involved in sports medicine often have to get their patients better in the fastest way humanly possible because every day he remains "unhealthy" can cost the sports organization millions of dollars.

Professional Results In a Small, Easy to Use Package! Call 1-800-303-6923, Code 6033 For Your FREE Information Report.

But here's something exciting! You don't actually need to go to a doctor to get laser therapy. If you want to you can buy one of these devices and use it on yourself. The best ones come with simple, easy-to-follow instructions and can be used by almost any person with average intelligence.

Perhaps the best low-level lasers in the world have been invented by a doctor named Larry Lytle. He has studied lasers and human health for years, and Dr. Lytle is, without question, one of the most knowledgeable people in the world about low-level lasers... and... how they can be used...

To Help Almost Every Health Problem Ever Experienced By A Human Being!

Dr. Lytle believes (as do many other people) low-level laser therapy will become the medicine of the future.

If you hold a low-level laser device against the skin of your body and turn it on, you will be able to see the laser light... but... you will not be able to feel it. There probably won't even be a sensation of warmth. Laser light is as gentle as the kiss of a butterfly. But, from a healing point of view, it is quite possible it is more effective than drugs or surgery.

Low-level laser therapy is not just the medicine of the future. For many people who know about it, it is the "medicine" they use now. The problem of trying to explain the healing powers of low-level laser therapy is...

It Works So Well On So Many Different Problems, It Seems Like It Couldn't Possibly Be True!

But it is true! As mentioned earlier, all injury and illness creates an interruption of energy to the cells of the human body. The body will never recover until the proper amount and type of energy is restored to these cells. But once that energy is restored...

The Body Can Recover From Almost Anything!

With the correct equipment, properly used, low level lasers have been clinically shown to reduce pain, reduce inflammation, increase cellular energy, increase cell permeability (so that the nutrients the cell needs to heal can get into the cell) and even help correct faulty DNA!*

What you have just read is a very simplistic explanation of low-level laser therapy, of how it works, and what it can do for you. But this is something that needs to be explained to you much more accurately by a real expert.

This is information which just might help relieve you of any disease and might possibly save your life and the life of your loved ones. And best of all, you can ...

Get This Information Absolutely FREE!

Dr. Larry Lytle himself has written and compiled a FREE REPORT in which he explains to you exactly how and why low-level laser therapy works. Dr. Lytle will show you some unbelievable "before" and "after" pictures of people who have benefitted by this amazing new therapy.

For some people, a free report and information like this can mark the beginning of an entirely new life... pain-free and full of energy. For others, it can make the difference of living a healthy life compared to a low-energy life of sickness and disease.

And, for those who live with enormous pain every day ... this free report could truly guide them to a miracle! But even if you are not sick, not injured, or not in pain, you should still order this report. After all, it is 100% free. And almost nobody lives out their life without having at least some kind of sickness or injury.

Wouldn't it be nice to know that, if you do become sick or injured, you will at least know where to go to find some sort of answer to your problems that don't involve dangerous drugs!

Call 1-800-303-6923

...after you are connected, at the prompt, press the code number - 6033 - into your keypad then leave your name and mailing information. That number again is 1-800-303-6923, Code 6033. Your free report ... and free gift (if you're one of the first 200 callers) will be sent to you via 1st Class Mail.

After all, this is one FREE report that will teach you about something that can possibly make more of a positive change in your life than anything else you will ever learn.

Get the free report. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain. The report and your gift are both 100% free!

have some favorable conditions. Lines are in the water at 8 a.m., Lines are out at 4 p.m.

Louisiana oysters are always a joy.

Lobster

fish, cod and more. Maine Lobster also has all the sauces and spices needed to make the next seafood cook-out a flavorfully memorable one. Of note, the homemade mustard and seafood sauces are the perfect accompaniment for the popular crab cakes and crab legs.

Shellfish lovers will greatly appreciate the huge dry diver scallops, the sweet bay scallops, the little and middle neck clams, the prime Louisiana oysters and the fresh mussels. And nothing beats large pink, deveined Key West shrimp. "They are the sweetest, tastiest shrimp you will ever eat in your life," says Maine Lobster's knowledgeable proprietor. "People just love them!"

The star of the show at this seafood emporium is the fresh Maine lobster. Fresh lobster meat is also sold, out of shell, by the pound. One pound of lobster meat is equivalent to 4-7 lobster tails and is good for four to five days."

Maine Lobster Seafood offers a variety of species depending on the season. At the moment, Florida Stone Crab is all the rage but customers are also lining up for the live blue crab that arrive fresh almost daily at 3 p.m. "I try to get here early so that I can get first pick when the truck arrives," says area resident John Wilkins who is first in an increasingly long queue of blue crab aficionados waiting for the next delivery. This popular crustacean is primarily found in the waters of the Western Atlantic Ocean, the Pacific coast of Central America, the Gulf of Mexico and is recognized for its delicate texture, sweet meat and being low in fat.

Other popular varieties include the delicately textured snow crab, the superior tasting Alaskan king crab, the more esoteric golden crab, the flavorful Dungeness crab and even the ready-to-eat red crab.

urban and economic development.

“Our east and west community redevelopment agencies are growing.”

He cites a new downtown in Old Pompano that incorporates a new library on West Atlantic Boulevard with a “connectivity” zone that incorporates development on Dr. Martin Luther King Boulevard to the Flagler business area with landscaping, lighting, business centers and a proposed cultural center.

“We have the best beaches in Broward County, and we have now added the position of a tourism manager to focus on bringing more people to our city,” he adds.

More than two years ago, Fisher initiated a “Mayor’s Stimulus Package” that focused on several innovations that would power economic growth. “We have expedited the city’s permitting process that speeds up final approvals. All departments can read and comment on proposals at the same time. But the best part is that developers can immediately see if there are any issues,” he says.

He is proud of the fact that a recent survey by the city indicated that the city has a 98 percent approval rating. “I have to give credit there to the friendliness of our departments and to this commission. We work as a team.”

“Residential and commercial values have risen in the city, and people are really seeing the results of development on the east side. We will see the opening of the Marriott Hotel at the beach in 2013,” he said. “And this week we officially opened the transit center on Dixie Highway and Martin Luther King Boulevard. That is the key to developing the Transit Oriented Corridor which will generate more development.”

A big issue to Fisher is the idea of unity in the city. Another part of his stimulus plan was the creation of “Unity in the Community,” an annual event to bring city residents together in a multi-generational and multi-ethnic festival. This year’s festival boasted several hundred participants.

Fisher gives credit of the city’s success to the leadership of this commission, but he gives all of the credit to a higher authority.

“When I leave my office for a city meeting, I pray for guidance all the way to city hall. God has blessed me,” he says.

Fisher is married to Suzanne. They have two children, Trisha, a graduate of Nova University Law School and Paul, a senior at West Minster Academy.

In many ways, Fisher follows in the footsteps of his recent ancestors.

His grandfather, Louis Sr. served as mayor of Pompano in 1943. His great grandfather, Clint Lyons, signed the articles of incorporation for the city in 1908.

The election takes place March 12, 2013. Two commission seats will also be open for that election, District 4 seat, presently held by Commissioner Woody Poitier and District 2 seat, presently held by Commissioner Charlotte Burrie.
