Some criminal cases are unusual, humorous or just outright odd. And there's no shortage of them on the Treasure Coast. This column will highlight cases that often leave observers shaking their heads.

A bad business plan

On the one hand, people might applaud a homeless man in Vero Beach for attempting to earn some money.

The problem is he went about it the wrong way.

He reportedly went inside a truck stop and took two bottles of motor oil without paying.

The next day, a truck stop employee was surprised to see the shoplifter across the street attempting to sell the oil.

As a result, the man was arrested. Possibly he learned two things of value from the experience:

- You have to buy your own inventory to start a business. Your competitors aren't going to donate items to you.

- And if you want to start a business illegally in that fashion, it's probably not a good idea to sell items a few feet from where you stole them in the first place.

Hunger is issue for TC children

By Samantha Joseph
sjoseph@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — About one out of every three children on the Treasure Coast doesn't have enough food to stay healthy.

A new national study found that more than 33,500 children in Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Okeechobee counties are what the U.S. Department of Agriculture call "food insecure," which means they lack "consistent access to adequate amounts of food."

The study, sponsored by ConAgra Foods Foundation, is called "Map the Meal Gap: Child Food Insecurity 2012."

It provides a breakdown by county of the number of children who qualify for federal feeding programs. It also shows that despite not knowing where their next meal will come from, more than 10,000 area children do not qualify, based on family income and other criteria, for public aid and must depend on help from local nonprofits.

In Indian River County, 7,310 children do not know where their next meal will come from, and for 31 percent, if help comes, it will come from local nonprofits.

In Martin County, 6,740 children don't have enough food, and 44 percent of those don't qualify for fed-

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — International certifications and years of corporate experience from one candidate will be up against the day-to-day experience and legacy of the other candidate in the Indian River County property appraiser's race this election cycle.

Thomas Dehn, a property appraiser with 30 years of experience in the private sector is challenging incumbent David Nolte, who has served as the county's property appraiser for the past 31 years.

The two candidates, both registered Republicans, will face off during the August primary election.

Moms secure grant for sun protection

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Shielding children from the scorching hot Florida sun in the summertime may seem like a superhuman task, but it's just the challenge for some local super-moms.

Last week, State Farm Insurance representatives awarded a $25,000 check to the Buggy Bunch for their proposal to bring shade covers to local playgrounds in Vero Beach as part of the State Farm "Cause an Effect" grant program.

Rain and overcast skies provided some sun protection during the check presentation and festivities in Humiston Park in Vero Beach on June 7, but grey clouds didn't stop the Buggy Bunch members' celebration.

Dozens of children bounced in a bounce house, explored a fire truck, took a ride in a tram, snacked on sweets by Classy Cupcakes and played on the playground during the event, while moms and dads watched them and chatted.

The Buggy Bunch is the fastest growing nonprofit mom's group on the Treasure Coast with more than 1,500 members. The mission of the group is for moms to meet one another for fun, fellowship, fitness and friendship.

Sharing their faith in Jesus Christ is the tie that binds them altogether, said Shantarra Houston, public relations manager.

"Good Shade" grant proposal by the Buggy Bunch was one of 3,000 submissions State Farm received. It was chosen as a top 100 cause and in a three-week period received more than 20,000 online votes to get one of four nationwide $25,000 grants.

Jennifer Robinson said getting out the vote was a daily pattern for so many members of the Buggy Bunch.

Law games scheduled for Treasure Coast

By Jay Meisel
jmeisel@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — The Florida Police and Fire Games scheduled for this coming week on the Treasure Coast may not match the hype attached to this summer's Olympics Games in London.

Nevertheless, the event will have a major impact on the Treasure Coast, said Garry Wilson, chief deputy for the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Office.

More 4,000 people, including deputies, police officers, firefighters, National Guard, military personnel, both active duty and retired, and their families from throughout the state will descend on the Treasure Coast, said Chief Deputy Wilson, who is coordinator for the Treasure Coast.

Those participants will fill hotels, eat at restaurants and spend money at businesses, he said.

"It will have a very positive effect," he said.

Events will be held in scattered locations in Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin and Okeechobee counties from June 16 through June 23.

This is the third year in a row the event will be held on the Treasure Coast. Next year it moves to Fort Lauderdale, Chief Deputy Wilson said.

Organizers work year round to get the events set up, said Sgt. Adam Bailey of the Indian River County Sheriff's Office, who is the coordinator for that county.

"We start (planning for the next one), as soon as it's over," he said. "We plan all year for these games."

The first games were held in 1985 in Tampa and have been held on the Treasure Coast and in Jacksonville, Daytona Beach, Tallahassee, Gainesville, Cocoa Beach and Sarasota since then, according to the event's website.

The games were held on the Treasure Coast for the first time in 2003 and 2004.

For the past 20 years, Sgt. Mark Middleton of the Martin County Sheriff's Office has participated.

He's competed in softball, bench press, volleyball, table tennis and basketball.

This year, he will compete in the mountain bicycle competition because it best fits his schedule as coordinator of events in Martin County, he said.

Although he won't be climbing any mountains, he said, it still qualifies as a mountain bicycle competition, because "It's the type of bicycle that you ride." The course will be challenging as "it's not just a flat sand or hard-based course," Sgt. Middleton said. It will have sand palmetto roots, logs and other obstacles, he said.

Families and volunteers spruce up cemetery

Nearly 75 volunteers and members of family buried in Winter Beach Cemetery pitched in to spruce it up Saturday. Elaine McNeal pulled weeds and picked up old flowerpots around hers and adjacent plots while her husband, Randy, (not shown) ran a weed whacker around the headstones.

Thanks to volunteers and family members, Winter Beach Cemetery, one of the oldest cemeteries in Indian River County, got a bit of a face-lift Saturday. The cemetery is home to eight Civil War veterans and countless World War I and II veterans. Alan Ryall and his wife, Chris, uncover a headstone hidden by an oak tree and weeds.

"It's a very good workout course."

Not all the events are athletic in nature.

Capt. Gregory Kirk of the Fort Pierce Police Department will compete in the poker event.

He has competed in the law games since 2004 in the bench press event. But he's opting for a less physically challenging event, as his "shoulders aren't what they used to be," he said.

On the other hand, Sgt. Bailey said he plans to compete in the 9.11 mile run. He said he doesn't run a lot, though.

"I think I should be able to make it to the end," he said. "If not, that's what ambulances are for."

St. Lucie and Martin counties typically have around 30 participants, while Indian River County has a dozen.

Events are open to the public for those who want to be spectators. They include the following:

Kelly Sartain, executive director and Buggy Bunch co-founder, thanked State Farm Insurance and everyone who helped make Thursday's Good Neighbor, Good Shade $25,000 grant presentation possible. State Farm Insurance gave the organization the grant to provide a shady spot in Humiston Beach and Troy Moody Park in Vero Beach.

and were begging our Facebook friends to vote, too," Ms. Robinson.

She is excited about having the shade covers for play group meet ups.

"The playgrounds here are great, but the slides and equipment in general are so hot, so you're left with going early, which is difficult with small children or leave before the kids are ready to leave,"

she said.

The group is working with the Vero Beach recreation department to decide where the first shade cover will be installed.

Humiston Park and Troy Moody Park are the top two choices, said Rob Slezak, recreation director.

Mark Sartain, from Kimley-Horn and Associates, is volunteering his time to studying the engineering issues and reviewing the manufacturing companies who carry the shade products. He hopes to have one shade covering installed by early 2013.

His wife, Kelly Sartain, is the executive director and co-founder of The Buggy Bunch. Mrs. Sartain said the next step for the Buggy Bunch is a fundraising campaign to raise an additional $25,000 for shade on a second park and some donations have already been pledged.

"I specifically would like to thank the Indian River Skin and Cancer Center, as well as the Florida Eye Institute for their generous donations,"

Mrs. Sartain said in a press release.

Kelly Modesitt, a local State Farm agent and member of the Buggy Bunch, brought the grant program to the attention to the nonprofit's attention earlier this year.

"It's very exciting and we've received so much support from the city," Ms. Modesitt said.

eral child nutrition programs.

In St. Lucie County, 16,400 are going hungry and 29 percent cannot participate in federal assistance programs.

"The statistics speak for themselves," said Judy Cruz, CEO of the Treasure Coast Food Bank, which serves the four-county region.

"There's still a long way to go. About 30 percent of the children on the Treasure Coast are suffering from food insecurity. We're reaching a small percentage of them, but you have to start somewhere."

The nonprofit distributes about 7.5 million pounds of food each year, enough for 6.3 million meals.

It has also created an extensive set of programs to help feed the region's hungry, especially children.

A summer feeding program provides meals for children who typically get discounted food at school cafeterias, and would likely go hungry during vacation months.

The group's backpack program relies on school staff to identify students who might need extra food to take home on the weekend. Its school pantries expand on that idea, giving children enough food for their siblings and family.

"There are many families who have not felt any recovery from hard times yet. They continue to struggle for basic needs, and their children, who need good nutrition for health, education and future success, are especially at risk," said Ms. Cruz.

The nonprofit organization, which contributes to more than 250 charities on the Treasure Coast, is in need of financial assistance to help meet growing demand.

Every $1 donated provides seven meals for people in need, administrators said.

And supporters who want to volunteer can help stock shelves, sort food and work in other areas.

For ways to help and more information about hunger in the region, visit www.stophunger.org or call (772) 489-3034.

Event encourages transit rides

For Hometown News
 newsp@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Senior Resource Association is challenging the community to take a ride on the GoLine to work, run errands or just for the fun of it on June 21, which is the seventh annual "National Dump the Pump Day."

With the return of high gas prices, the Senior Resource Association will join with other public transportation systems nationwide to participate in the nationwide celebration. The slogan of this year's National

Dump the Pump Day is "Dump the Pump. Save Money. Ride Transit."

Sponsored by the American Public Transportation Association, the 2012 National Dump the Pump Day encourages people to ride public transportation and save money, instead of driving a car.

Started in June 2006 when gas prices were $3 per gallon, this national day emphasizes that public transportation is a travel option that also helps people save money.

Since gas prices reached $4 or more this year, saving money is on everyone's minds and public transportation is the quickest way to beat high gas prices.

According to the latest APTA transit savings report, a couple can save an average of more than $10,000 annually by downsizing to one car.

What began with a couple of buses providing scheduled door-to-door transportation via Community Coach, has evolved to include GoLine, a public transit system with bus service on 15 fixed routes throughout the county and in Barefoot Bay.

Riders take GoLine buses to work or school, medical appointments, grocery stores, the mall, the beach and dozens of other locations throughout the area.

Representing a 250 percent increase in riders since 2007, the fleet is now comprised of 61 buses.

In 2011, GoLine provided 978,861 trips running 15 routes, six days a week and Community Coach provided 45,000 trips.

For information about GoLine routes that run throughout Indian River County, visit www.golineir.com.

Candidate

Mr. Dehn moved to Indian River County in 2009, but has worked around this area since 2004. He currently serves as the national chief appraiser/compliance administrator for Florida Residential Appraisals.

Since 1990, Mr. Dehn has had an SRA designation with the Appraisal Institute, a global association of professional real estate appraisers. The designation indicates Mr. Dehn has completed extensive training and coursework in residential appraisal.

He is two courses away from receiving his MAI designation, which is the commercial appraisal counterpart.

"I hope to complete my courses in July," he said.

Mr. Dehn said his experience in the industry will help the office run efficiently and in a more fiscally responsible way.

"I have overseen many counties in Florida, three to four times larger than ours," Mr. Dehn said.

With his experience, Mr. Dehn said he could save the county the cost of deputy appraisers in the office, because he has the knowledge to carry out the chief tasks himself.

"I'm a very low-risk candidate," Mr. Dehn said.

If elected, Mr. Dehn has pledged to take a 15 percent pay cut the first year in office.

"We're in some of the toughest economic times in our history. I'm willing, in the first year, to help offset the budget challenges," he said.

Good fiscal management of the property appraiser's office would include eliminating duplicate positions, realigning the structure of the support staff and likely eliminating senior staff members who are overpaid, Mr. Nolte said.

Quarterly employee evaluations would be a part of his administration and each employee would have a clear job description to live up to, he said.

If elected, he would step down from his current job and dedicate himself full time to being a constitutional officer.

This is the first time in 16

 years there has been an opponent challenging Mr. Nolte for the property appraiser position.

For more information about Mr. Dehn, visit www.dehn2012.com. For more information about the upcoming election, visit www.voteindianriver.com.

opponent, Sandi Harpring, have both qualified and will be on the August ballot.

Ms. Swan was appointed to the supervisor of elections position by Gov. Rick Scott after the resignation of former Supervisor Kay Clem in March 2011.

She was appointed to complete Ms. Clem's term of office through 2012, but the experience has led her to seek the voter's approval for a term of her own.

"Since I took over I have already made great strides and changes to the office," Ms. Swan said.

Some of the notable changes include a website makeover, a more efficient election results tabulation process and development of a precise system to validate the addresses of newly registered voters, all while dealing with ever-increasing budget cuts, Ms. Swan said.

"We are the first county in Florida to have our voter registration tied to an address point," she said.

By collaborating with the county's geographic information systems department, the elections office can pinpoint the exact address given on a voter registration to verify if it is a valid voting address.

Prior to this system, the office could only verify by street segment, not actual address points. Because of the new system, the elections office was recently able to identify about two dozen addresses given by Indian River County voters that were invalid.

"It really makes our voter rolls very clean," Ms. Swan said.

Prior to her appointment as supervisor, Ms. Swan served on staff at the elections office for seven years. In 2008, she was promoted to assistant supervisor.

Since she was hired in 2004, Ms. Swan said she has been involved with planning and running 15 elections.

"It's a very technical job. To learn on the job would be very difficult, it takes years to learn everything. Our staff has been cut severely since 2008, from 11 full-time staff down to six full-time staff. I did away with the assistant supervisor position to save money, so I am actively involved in the day-to-day operations at the office," Ms. Swan said.

Another way Ms. Swan cut back is by returning 122 hours of accumulated vacation time, valued at more than $4,500 to the county.

Leslie Swan
 "Everyone is cutting back and I wanted to lead by example," Ms. Swan said.

Prior to working in the elections office, Ms. Swan worked in the private sector for Eastman Kodak Company and was a small business owner.

For more information about Ms. Swan's campaign, visit www.voteleslieswan.com. For more information about the upcoming election, visit www.voteindianriver.com.

Old acquaintances

When a Fellsmere police officer saw a man driving, he knew the man lacked a driver license.

That's because he had stopped the man numerous times before and found that he didn't have a driver license.

In that respect, this time was no difference. When he stopped and asked the man for his license, the driver told him that he knew he didn't have a driver license.

This time the man also was arrested for having marijuana and prescription drugs without a prescription.

Trouble sending email away from your network easily solved

One of the features that make laptop computers so appealing is that they are portable. With a laptop you are free to roam where you want to.

A laptop with a wireless Internet connection gives you the ability to work in any room in the house and even beyond.

With a laptop you have the freedom to leave your home (or office) entirely and still have the full-blown computer power you would expect to have with a desktop machine. And with free wireless "hot spots" popping up all over the place the possibilities are endless. You can get the same amount of work done that you would expect to get done if you were confined to a desk all day from places such as coffee shops, airports, the lobby of a fine hotel or even by the pool!

But (as is true with all good things) there are a few "gotchas" that you have to be aware of if you decide to take your machine out on the road.

One issue that causes a fair amount of confusion for budding "road warriors" is the inability to send email from on the road. Receiving mail is usually not a problem but the inability to send mail when you are on a connection other than your home network is a complaint that I hear quite a bit.

Now, not everyone has this problem. There are plenty of people out there who are able to use their laptops wherever they want and sending isn't a problem but there are others who (try as they might) can't send an email when away from home to save their life. The answer usually lies in what email service their system is set up to use when the mail fails to send versus the email services that works no matter where they are.

Confused? Let's back track a bit and talk about the typical home Internet service and what's included.

When you sign up for Internet service for your home, one of the things that you get is an email address. Your Internet service provider gives you access to the Internet from home and sets up a username which typically becomes your email address. Then your email program (Outlook Express, Outlook, Windows Live Mail etc.) gets set up with your username, password, "POP" and "SMTP" settings. Now the POP settings (post office protocol) tell your email program from where on the Internet your incoming mail can be retrieved and the SMTP settings (simple mail transfer protocol) tells your mail program where on the Internet your outgoing mail needs to go when you click the "send" button. The problem sending mail usually lies with the SMTP settings.

COMPUTE THIS

You see, Internet service providers take spam very seriously and in an effort to try to thwart SPAM, some providers will prohibit relaying outgoing mail through their SMTP servers.

What this means is when an outgoing mail message is being sent from within their network, it goes along without a hitch. But when you try to use your machine in a network that is different from the one you use at home (maybe your home network is AT&T and the coffee shop you are trying to send email from is Comcast, for example) then the SMTP server rejects the outgoing mail because it's not originating from within its network. The message gets blocked as part of the service provider's efforts to thwart spam.

So what do you do? And why is it some people have no problem sending mail and others can't?

Well, many ISPs have a different SMTP address for people when they are on the road but one of the easiest ways to work around this issue is to set up a free, web-based email service such as Gmail from Google so it doesn't matter where you are when you try to send See COMPUTE, A8

Getting prepared, just in case

Callers are asked to refrain from making slanderous statements. Statements of fact will be checked for accuracy.

Responding to plagiarism

I must respond to the plagiarism rant written by an obvious Republican. Not all Democrats are criminals, some may be, as some Republicans may be, criminals.

Eight years of Bush policy has put us into this spiraling debt crisis. The do-nothing Congress has decided to fight each other and the president, rather than compromise, so our future is in jeopardy because neither side will give. There is no leadership in congress, Republican or Democrat.

Lucky you, you could work very hard and retire. Not so for my family. We lost half our retirement in 2008 and have yet to recover all of it (just lost 2012 gains in two days of market gambling on Wall Street with my 401K).

Most people agree that we must reform the tax code, make changes to Medicare and Medicaid so it will survive, get money out of politics, put term limits on congress and learn that innovation is not our enemy, all from Tom Coburn's new book.

Too bad the Republicans have picked a sorry candidate like Romney. President Obama is not much better, but I think he has my interests and survival in mind vs. a millionaire Mormon. Be very careful what you wish for. I would have gladly voted for Buddy Romer (rep), but your party wouldn't even let him on one of the 21 debates stage.

Stop watching Fox News. Your rant was verbatim of that channel's major spin and daily talking points. Talk about getting your facts straight and plagiarism!

Regarding the deficit

One reader rants about deficits and federal debt, another about the Pope's approach to economic policy and another rants the empty echo of most conservative minds regarding "top down expanding bureaucratic government, etc." and "no wonder our federal budget and deficit is out of control."

I am writing to set the record straight and to lead these echo chambers who repeat distortions to the facts. Yes, not left-leaning propaganda but the actual facts with sources so each may self-educate. It has been said that ignorance is curable but stupidity is not. So let us educate.

First, government is not expanding, it is contracting. Since President Obama took office the number of government workers has shrunk. Yes, fewer are employed in government jobs today. Try researching FedScope, the url is www.fedscope.opm.gov/index.asp. These data show growth in very recent federal employment, approved by congress, of medical personnel, border patrol agents, military to support returning veterans and homeland security. Not bureaucrats. So the statement that we have an ever expanding government "out of control" is false. One can also use data in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, but it is more to wade through.

Next, the Pope knows nothing, nada about economics. Debt reduction will not spur growth. Investment generates growth, ask anyone with a growing business. This fact has been proven many times over the past decades ever since Ronald Reagan's "supply side" economics and Dick Cheney's infamous quote: "Deficits don't matter." Recall that one? It was uttered in defense of the tax cuts for the rich and it has been proven wrong again. The Pope should educate himself to see the harm done to the poor by austerity programs. Keynesian economics works, proven over and over. And voodoo economics doesn't work at all. See Stockman. Remember the "Laffer curve?"

Now for a fact that will raise some ire. Under Reagan, our deficit rose by some 3 trillion. Under Bush I, another 2 trillion was added. Remember Desert Storm? Clinton reduced the deficit to almost zero, almost. But the previous debt remained. G.W. Bush, added a huge unfunded tax cut and two wars, thus increasing the deficit by more than 9 trillion. When President Obama took office he inherited a budget deficit of more than $14 trillion. The deficit is a GOP deficit, not a Democrat deficit. These are the facts.

The facts will not disappear just because someone calls them "Obama's deficit." However, there exist many who believe a lie if it is repeated often enough. That is sad, because the facts still remain, and the lie will be exposed. I urge those who rant on this score to stop and educate themselves. Just Google federal deficits over time.

Now, for socialism and what is a socialist. Starting with the error in describing western European countries as socialist, they are not. Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and more are social democracies. The people elect their parliament and their prime ministers. Elections are held when support falters and the country changes.

A socialist believes in managing limited resources and not, repeat not allowing some to have disproportionately more of these limited resources. How it is managed is different for each country. But keep in mind, that the Danes are judged the happiest people on Earth. And the others are not far behind them.

Our population is in the lower third of satisfaction. I have the ability to move back to a Scandinavian country and may if this country deteriorates much more in its present rancorous political debate.

I remain optimistic, but disappointed in the rants and raves of ignorance. Learn the facts, and then form an opinion. We are entitled to our own opinions, but not our own facts. (Winston Churchill) Education is not by itself evil, ignorance is.

(I was a bit mistaken regarding our national debt/deficit. The graph and an explanation are recorded here: <http://zfacts.com/p/1195.html>. The title of the graph is: Republican national debt: $12 trillion and counting. The often quoted $15 trillion includes interest on this debt, which we owe to ourselves not as mythically stated to China.

The URL will add more information. There can be no denial, except among the deluded.)

Just the facts, ma'am.

Editor's note: Zfacts is a website created by Steve Stoft, an economist with a doctorate.

Easy to purchase

I have not smoked marijuana but I did smoke Philip Morris Commanders for a long time and I think they are much more dangerous and the nicotine habit is hard to break. Why are they so easily sold?

A low-carbon choice?

We can generate more low-carbon electricity which is affordable while creating more American jobs.

It's not complicated. Nuclear produces nearly 70 percent of our carbon-free electricity.

With our electricity needs expected to grow 24 percent by 2035, advanced nuclear plants must be built now to meet this rising demand.

Drugs and Obama

The Obama administration demonstrates daily that it has no serious interest in winning the war on drugs. We spend huge amounts of taxpayer dollars on the border patrol, the customs service and the immigration and naturalization service but they get little direction from the president. Drugs flow across our southern border virtually unimpeded. Our children are at serious risk. An entire generation is in danger because of a lack of will in Washington.

Grant provides vehicle repair service

For Hometown News
newsfp@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Salvation Army of Indian River County received an $18,780 grant for its social service program, ride safe/vehicle safety and maintenance.

The program helps provide relief to those affected by the downturn in the economy by making their vehicles safe by getting new tires, brakes and other safety issues corrected, including car seats and seat-belt repair for children and passengers who use the car.

This program is designed to help those who have jobs and need reliable transportation to maintain employment or accept employment, along with getting their children to school, daycare or summer camp safely who normally would not be able to do so due to financial restraints and non-reliable transportation.

The grant was awarded by the Indian River Community Foundation through a competitive grants program designed to address time-sensitive community needs intensified by the recent economic recession.

Kerry Bartlett, executive director of the Indian River Community Foundation, said her board of directors appreciated the opportunity to offer additional funding to the Salvation Army's unique program.

"Although the economy is slowly recovering, there is no denying that good, hard-working people are still struggling to make ends meet and an unexpected auto repair bill can send a family over the edge," said Ms. Bartlett.

"This program strategically targets people in jeopardy of losing employment opportunities due to unreliable transportation, which not only benefits the family, but the entire community."

Advocate awarded for volunteer work

For Hometown News
newsfp@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — Janice Johnson was named Florida's Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program Treasure Coast Council's "Ombudsman of the Year," serving Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River, and Okeechobee counties.

Ombudsmen volunteers receive this award by demonstrating exceptional efforts, going above and beyond the call of duty, in advocating for long-term care facility residents living in nursing homes, adult family-care homes, and assisted living facilities.

Ombudsmen volunteers from the program's 18 councils located throughout Florida, protect the health, safety, welfare, and rights of Florida's most vulnerable population. These advocates spend hundreds of hours working to make sure the voices of elderly residents are heard and respected.

Through their daily activities conducting annual assessments, investigating complaints, meeting with residents to resolve issues, supporting resident and family councils, and providing training to residents, consumers, and facility staff, these ombudsmen volunteers provide a noteworthy example of selflessness and public service.

This is Ms. Johnson's 10th year serving on the Treasure Coast Ombudsman Council. Her outstanding service is evident in her work and dedication to long-term care residents and has proven to be an invaluable asset to her fellow council members.

"Janice is always willing to go above and beyond expectations to serve the needs of residents," said Kevin McKeown, Treasure Coast district manager.

"She assists her fellow ombudsmen by being a mentor for new volunteers and assisting them on their first case investigations and complaints. Janice makes the Treasure Coast Council knowledgeable, motivated, and dedicated to their service for long-term care residents. She deserves the credit being given to her, and much, much more."

The Treasure Coast Council honored Ms. Johnson at its monthly council meeting April 9.

For more information about the program, local council meetings, or becoming an ombudsman volunteer, call (888) 831-0404 or visit ombudsman.myflorida.com online.

Trustworthy business is worth its weight in gold

Square Deal Gold Buyers has new location, same great service

By Meagan McGone
mmcgone@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE - Stan Goldfarb grew tired of witnessing individuals receive less than they deserved when selling their prized possessions.

"Quite frankly, people were getting ripped off," said Mr. Goldfarb, who owns Square Deal Gold Buyers with his partner, JR Bott. "There was a need for a trustworthy gold-buying business in the area."

So three years ago, Square Deal Gold Buyers began building its business on trust in the Melbourne Square Mall.

"Based on that, we've grown our business tremendously," Mr. Goldfarb said. "All of the trust that we've built over two and a half years has led us to be the No. 1 gold buyer in Brevard County."

Now it is located in the Chase building adjacent to the mall, in Suite 102 West of 1990 W. New Haven Ave.

"Our concern is some people think we're out of business right now," Mr. Goldfarb said. "We are here with the same great people and the same service."

In its new location, Square Deal Gold Buyers ensures safety among its customers with the installation of 14 cameras that monitor all transactions made, as well as a secured entrance to the office itself.

To prevent fraud and undervaluing pieces, trained appraisers evaluate karat purities in front of the clients by performing various tests.

"We talk to people about their jewelry and its worth," Mr. Goldfarb said. "We will check the exact karat purities and current spot market price. We will explain how the market and process works, what types of equipment we use for testing and answer any questions they may have."

And when it's decision time, Mr. Goldfarb said there is no pressure.

"We do not attempt to pressure our clients to sell, but in fact do our best to educate our clients on the value of their items so they can see why we offer what we do," he said.

He said when offering cash for a client's gold, Square Deal Gold Buyers can offer up to 30 percent higher than other, similar businesses. On one occasion, he offered a woman $1,400 for a piece that she was going to sell for $250 to a mail-away cash-for-gold company.

"You have some people that try to rip people off and make a living," he said. "Our plan is a cumulative thing. We'd rather have many customers who contribute a little bit each."

"We're a for-profit

Come see Dawn, Lori, Elaine and Stan, the team at Square Deal Gold Buyers for an honest deal and great service.

business, but we're local guys," He said. "The money stays in Brevard. We're not mailing it away. All our employees are from Brevard. It's a really good business model."

"This is a professional atmosphere for gold buyers, and we want to expand on that," he said.

Square Deal Gold Buyers is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — During a May meeting at the Quail Valley Boathouse, the agents of Norris and Company Real Estate presented Indian River Habitat for Humanity with a check for $1,182 in support of the Habitat mission to provide safe, affordable housing for qualified families in need in the county.

Norris broker and owners Gena Grove and Jane Schwiering made the presentation to Andy Bowler, Habitat CEO, who expressed appreciation and spoke briefly about Habitat's current projects, noting that in its two decades serving the community, Habitat has provided more than 275 homes.

"We are the first real estate office to start a collection for Habitat (among its agents), with the company matching the funds. We have 40 brokers who contributed and are happy to help Habitat," said Carol Prezioso, general manager.

Nautical art on display at waterfront

SEBASTIAN — The Sebastian waterfront area is about to get even more picture perfect.

The Sebastian River Art Club will present a nautical art show and sale, "Along The Waterfront" at Crab E Bill's Indian River Seafood in Sebastian on June 15 and 16.

The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 25 artists have signed up to participate, said Toni Hill, show coordinator.

"We will have a nice variety of oil, watercolor and acrylic painting of seascapes, boats and other nautical-themed works," Ms. Hill said.

Crab E Bill's is located in Fisherman's Landing on Indian River Drive.

"I reached out to Bill for the venue. It'll be a different place for an art show," Ms. Hill said.

Staff members of the popular seafood market will award prizes to the top three works in the show, she said.

The Sebastian River Art Club was formed in 1972 and currently has a roster of about 120 members.

From left, artists Quentin Walter, Carol Lohr, Judy Burgarella and Weldon Stout, discuss the Sebastian River Art Club's new art center during a reception for an exhibition by Frits Van Eeden in October. The new Sebastian River Art Club and Center is open to the public.

Within the past decade, the art club has opened an art center as a place to display member's works and meet to discuss club business, or offer art classes to the public.

The art center is open on Tuesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Artists gather on Tuesday to work on paintings in the workspace, but interested individuals can speak with club representatives either day.

Ms. Hill will be one of the artists participating in the upcoming show. Her chosen media are digital photography and printmaking.

Her submission will be a digitally enhanced photo of a stormy sky on the riverfront.

"I am kind of the token photographer of the group, but there are a couple of other people who do photography, as well," Ms. Hill said.

The art club is known for their prolific painters, but the membership now includes several other kinds of artists, including jewelry makers, potters and sculptors, she said.

"We are branching out a little," Ms. Hill said.

Members of the club also exhibit their work in local banks, at Sebastian

Museums reach out to military families

Offering free admission for those on active duty

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — Two museums in Indian River County have decided to thank active military personnel this summer by offering free admission.

Active duty military members and their immediate family members can visit the Vero Beach Museum of Art and the Indian River Citrus Museum free through Labor Day 2012. The program includes active duty reserve and active duty National Guard.

The two museums are joining a group of more than 600 museums nationwide to participate in Blue Star Museums, a partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts and Blue Star Families. The program is designed to honor servicemen and women.

Rebecca Rickey, executive director of the Heritage Center in Vero Beach, was quite excited to have the citrus museum participate in the program this year.

"We don't charge admission for the museum anyway, but we wanted to be part of the Blue Star Museums anyway," Ms. Rickey said. She and other itors this summer because of their participation in the program.

The Heritage Center and Indian River Citrus Museum are located in a building that was used by servicemen in World War II, so the location actually has a military history of sorts, Ms. Rickey said.

"Where the museum used to be was a servicemen's lounge. They used to sit in there and write letters and read magazines," she said.

The Vero Beach Museum of Art is undergoing renovations this summer, but the Laura and Bill Buck Atrium and the Wahlstrom Sculpture Garden will be open. "Form, Color, Light: Cast Glass" by Rick Beck will be on display in the atrium from June 23 through Oct. 14.

Mr. Beck is known for his cast glass sculptures of mechanical objects, such as saws, backscratchers and spoons, often in deep and vibrant hues and in much larger scale than the objects that inspired them, a "People aren't going on long vacations right now, they're doing the 'staycations' still," Ms. Rickey said.

Week of 6-15-2012

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Aries, you could find yourself daydreaming this week, which will only make an important decision even harder to make. You need to focus, or the week will be wasted.

TAURUS - April 21-May 21

Common sense may be what you use to operate, Taurus, but this week a little imagination and spontaneity could be the secret to achieving great success in the next few days.

GEMINI - May 22-June 21

Be careful with whom you share your goals, Gemini. While there just may be a few copycats who want to steal your thunder, you could find a promotion is stolen away, as well.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Cancer, explore new ways of doing things this week, especially in your professional life. There's always room to grow and a new perspective might make things easier.

LEO - July 23-Aug. 23

Leo, be careful of a misstep when you move into new territory. Don't leak information before you have fully developed the ideas, or things could get tricky.

VIRGO - Aug 24-Sept 22

Cosmic fog is clouding your reality, Virgo. It is unlikely you will be able to make a sound decision, so it is best to wait a while before tackling difficult or life-altering projects.

LIBRA - Sept. 23-Oct. 23

Libra, there is no time for daydreaming right now. There's simply too much to get done. Start on small tasks and build up to the larger ones.

SCORPIO - Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Sometimes the best growth comes from not knowing where you're heading, Scorpio. While you may want to BREVARD COUNTY — Some of the biggest music stars of the modern and early pop music genre will make their way and entertain aboard Victory Casino Cruises, Florida's largest gaming ship.

The summer concert series will showcase national recording acts beginning June 22, with the legendary group The Coasters, featuring Carl Gardner Jr., "A Tribute, The Legacy Continues."

Two nights later, on June 24, Victory presents a "SaiLebrity" cruise with Chris Kirkpatrick from Nsync and Nigels11. Other acts to follow include: Terry Sylvester, formerly of The Hollies on July 13, Fran Cosmo, former lead singer of Boston on July 27, John Ford Coley, formerly of England Dan and John Ford Coley on Aug. 17 and Denny Laine, formerly of The Moody Blues and Wings on Aug. 31.

All of the concerts are free with a Victory boarding pass. "We are increasing our entertainment offerings as we find musical acts becoming more and more a complimentary draw to the casino business," said Greg Karan, Victory Casino Cruises chief operating officer.

"Victory is allocating more resources to entertainment, booking talent not typically found on gambling cruise operations."

The sizzling summer swiipe and win continues with prizes such as a Victory motorcycle, a custom, one-of-a-kind Victory surfboard, scooters and more for Victory's first year anniversary bash in July.

The Victory 1 Casino ship offers five-hour cruises out of Port Canaveral 14 times weekly with more than 600 state-of-the art slots, 30

Group raises $8,500 for research

SEBASTIAN — During the Eagle Riders of Sebastian Inlet Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 4067 Strokes & Spokes poker run on May 19, the Eagles raised more than $8,500 for the Fraternal Order of Eagles Diabetes Research Center.

More than 130 members of the community participated in the fundraiser. Seth Marr, 7, a Type 1 diabetic, was on hand to describe his day-to-day struggle with maintaining diabetes.

Sandie Kelly, president of the Juvenile Diabetes Awareness Corporation in Vero Beach, shared the experience of losing her 6-year-old child to diabetes and how she has since dedicated her life to finding a cure.

To help raise money, the Eagle Riders sold raffle tickets for a chance to win a Kindle Fire e-reader. The winning ticket belonged to a member of the Sebastian Eagles, who then decided to gift the Kindle to Seth, who had earlier donated $10 of his own money for a chance to win the device.

Eagle dignitaries expected to attend the check presentation ceremony include Southeast Regional Diabetes Research Center Chairmen John and Sherry Gingras, Florida State Diabetes Research Center Chairmen Ken Kohnen and Lynn Repp.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles Diabetes Research Center will be housed at the John and Mary Pappajohn Biomedical Discovery Building on the campus of the University of Iowa in Iowa City.

The state-of-the-art center will host leaders in the field of diabetes research in an effort to find a cure for the disease. The F.O.E. has pledged to donate $25 million over a five-year period to fund research efforts.

To date, the Eagles have given $15 million to the university to help bring an end to diabetes.

The Sebastian Inlet Eagles has maintained a presence in the community since 1983 and currently host nearly 700 Aerie and Auxiliary members.

Community outreach presents nonprofit check

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Grand Harbor Community Outreach Program presented Harvest Food & Outreach Center with a check for $10,000 to support the nonprofit's Passport to Prosperity program. The grant was given specifically to help cover the costs of both food and hygiene items purchased by program participants, as well as for classroom materials to support the program as a whole. The program is 12-weeks long and provides education and goal setting for adults, addressing the root causes of poverty and food insecurity. Participants attend on-site workshops and educational opportunities, including on-the-job training activities, with the ultimate goal of becoming self-sustaining and less reliant on government assistance. Harvest Food has two campuses in Vero Beach and serves more than 350 families a day. For more information, call (772) 770-2665 or visit irc.harvestfoodoutreach.org.

College to host culinary seminar

For Hometown News

TREASURE COAST — The Culinary Institute at Indian River State College will hold a free information session for those interested in preparing for a career in the culinary arts on June 20 at 6 p.m. in the Richardson Center at the IRSC Mueller Campus at 6155 College Lane in Vero Beach.

Attendees will learn about program information and financial aid, tour the professional culinary teaching facility and enjoy light hors d'oeuvres.

Students in the two-year program gain practical experience in food preparation, kitchen management, budgeting and purchasing. They learn classic culinary techniques, develop expertise in modern and international cuisine, study nutrition and sanitation, and benefit from knowledgeable instruction in kitchen management and entrepreneurship.

Because of the small class sizes, students receive individualized, hands-on instruction from certified chefs who have years of professional and instructional experience and first-hand knowledge of what leading food service employers are looking for.

Graduates earn an associate in applied science degree in restaurant management with a culinary arts concentration.

The Culinary Institute at IRSC meets the needs of people who are new to the culinary arts industry, as well as those who have industry experience and want to develop a broader range of skills and earn a degree with formalized training.

Applications are now being accepted for the fall semester.

For more information, email culinary@irsc.edu, call (772) 226-2511 or visit irsculinaryinstitute.com.

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Indian River Federal Credit Union's annual summer reading program for student's ages 5 to 13 will run through Aug. 30.

Participants can earn free admission to My Crazy Frogs, Vero Beach's inflatable indoor playground.

Here's how this year's program will work:

- Get a reading card at Indian River Federal Credit Union (offices are located at 2800 20th St., Vero Beach, and 11638 U.S. 1, Sebastian).

- Have students read two books.
- Have a librarian stamp

the reading card.

- Take the stamped card to My Crazy Frogs (next to Vero Bowl) Monday through Thursday for one free admission.

IRFCU's summer reading program is co-sponsored by "Treasure Coast Parenting" magazine.

Don't forget yard when making hurricane preparations

Hurricane season is here and the prediction is for an average or slightly below average season. Since it is still uncertain whether El Nino will take place this summer, we are leaning toward an average season. It does not matter what the numbers are if your location gets hit by a storm. The time to plan for that potential blow is now, well before a system is heading our way. Not only is it important to prepare your home, but it is equally important to prepare your yard.

The first thing you should do as the season peaks is to trim all your trees and bushes. One note of caution: never do your trimming when there is a named storm in the Atlantic. The trimmed debris may not be picked up in time and could be potential missiles in the event the storm hits our area.

Get rid of any foliage that is dead or might be hanging over your house. If you any dead or weak trees from last year's storms, cut them down so they don't have a chance to do damage this year. Take a tour of your yard and make a list of items that would be dangerous to leave lying around. This list should include patio furniture, loose garden ornaments, small TREASURE COAST — As summer officially kicks off, Tropical Smoothie Café is gearing up for their official holiday, National Flip Flop Day, on June 15.

Each year, the gourmet smoothie and sandwich chain hands out its signature smoothie, the Jetty Punch, to customers who come into cafes sporting flip flops.

This year, Tropical

Smoothie Café will give out 24-ounce smoothies from 2-7 p.m.

Tropical Smoothie Café created National Flip Flop Day six years ago to raise money for its national charity partner, Camp Sunshine, the only retreat in the nation whose mission is focused solely on addressing the effects of a life-threatening illness on every member of the immediate family: the child, the parents, and the siblings. To date, Tropical Smoothie Café has raised more than $1 million for Camp Sunshine.

Now through National Flip Flop Day on June 15, customers can make a difference by visiting their local Tropical Smoothie Café located on the Treasure Coast and donate money, or purchase a specially designed key fob, which includes a 10 percent discount on future purchases.

"National Flip Flop Day is about giving back to our customers for their generosity in helping to bring a little bit of hope, happiness and healing to these children and their families facing life-threatening illnesses," said Greg Watkins, area developer, for Tropical Smoothie Café in St. Lucie and Indian River counties.

Donations can be made directly through www.nationalflipflopday.com or by texting "camp" from their cell phones to 20222 to donate $10. Standard text charges may apply.

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — HarborChase of Vero Beach will host the HarborChase Hole-in-One golf tournament on Aug. 11 at The Club at Pointe West.

Proceeds from the tournament will support the Alzheimer & Parkinson Association of Indian River County, in its 30th year of serving community residents with disorders affecting memory and movement by promoting quality of life and choice through advocacy, support, empowerment, education and research connections.

Spearheading the planning committee are HarborChase staff led by Tom Rockwood, director of maintenance, and committee members Kara Anderson, executive director, Sheree Gough, director of sales, Trish Kelly, director of memory care and life enrichment, and Liz Barr, director of resident care.

"As a community focused on assisted living and memory care, we are very impressed with the impact of the services that Alzheimer & Parkinson Association provides for HarborChase residents and for other residents of Indian River County affected by memory and movement disorders," said Ms. Anderson.

"As an autonomous and self-supporting organization that provides essential services to our local community, we're counting on the community to help us raise our fundraising goal so they can continue to provide unique services for those in need."

In addition to the golf tournament, the HarborChase staff held a dining to make a difference event in April to raise more than $3,000 for the nonprofit organization.

Additionally, HarborChase supports Alzheimer & Parkinson Association of Indian River County as event sponsors for the annual "Walk to Remember," which is scheduled for Nov. 10, and plans to participate as a team that includes family and friends.

Father's Day on U.S. Open Sunday makes perfect time for golf gifts

I hope that you guys all paid attention when Mother's Day was here just a month ago. If you did, and made all those special moms in your life happy, chances are you'll enjoy Father's Day. If not, well, there's always next year.

Men are not always the easiest to buy for. We may not like 30 pairs of shoes, but we'll happily collect a few dozen hats or caps. With Father's Day falling on U.S. Open Sunday, what could be more perfect than a U.S. Open cap? Stop by your local golf store or www.usopenshop.com to pick one up.

Women don't have the market cornered on fashionable eyewear. There is a plethora of sunglasses on the market specifically designed for golf. If your guy has trouble seeing the ball as it flies into the woods, maybe he just needs sunglasses that make tracking the ball easier. Golf-specific lenses also help us spot the slight nuances and contours on the greens and make reading putts much easier.

Men tend to sweat more than women. Or at least we admit to it more. Grips are our only contact with the club and sweat tends to make grips deteriorate. They will get hard and slippery or just worn down. Stop by your local pro shop or off-course golf store and purchase a certificate to have his grips replaced.

Most guys are crazy about the film "Caddyshack." Now, thanks to Devant Sport Towels, you can pick up a towel featuring "Caddyshack" artwork from David O'Keefe. These thirsty towels are 16-inches by 25-inches and include a lock clip attachment. Check your retailer or visit

GOLF

www.devantsporttowels.com

Women also aren't the only ones with fashion sense. We men like to look our best, as well. Nexbelt (www.nexbelt.com) is the next generation of belts featuring no holes. Nexbelt's PreciseFit innovative ratcheting system allows for 1/4-inch adjustments compared to 1-inch adjustments on most belts, helping you find the perfect fit.

The company's golf line of belts features a buckle with a face that flips down revealing a hidden ball marker. Without holes in the belt, the leather will also last much longer and even go up or down 15 belt sizes with the same belt.

More golfers are using the game to relax. Some golfers relax with a cigar, others with a drink. If your father is a cigar smoker, you could consider a torch lighter that won't blow out in the wind, or maybe a leather case to carry those stogies in.

A flask is also a nice gift. The reason we have 18 holes is because the Scots used to take a shot of whiskey after each hole. Turns out their flasks held enough shots for 18 holes and then they needed to search for more.

Each golfer has his or her own personality. Most use headcovers on their clubs to protect them from the abuse they are subjected to riding around in a cart or being carried along. By finding a headcover resembling your father's favorite animal, sports team or college, you not only help to protect their investment but allow them to show a little of their personalities, as well.

Golfers tend to need something in which to store all the stuff they bring with them to the course. You can pick up a mono-programmed shoe bag or valuables pouch for him to put his watch, keys, wallet, phone and more in while he's on the course. Many come with a handy clip to attach it to the bag so it's easy to access during a round or take off for the ride home.

If all you need is a small trinket to complete your gift, how about a divot tool or ball marker? You can always find these decorated with a large selection of college logos, professional sports teams logos or an inspiring saying.

Golf magazine subscriptions can be had at low prices, and the gift keeps coming every month or sometimes every week.

Another idea is to purchase a round of golf for dad at his favorite course. Better yet, treat him to a round at a course where he has never played. Golfers love to play new courses and if you come along, it makes it even more special.

Finally, most courses offer gift certificates that dad can use to tee it up at his leisure or pick up that shirt or cap he's had his eye on.

No matter what you choose, dad will find it special because it came from you. We dads tend to have a soft spot for that.

James Stammer has been an avid golfer and golf enthusiast for nearly 40 years. He hosts the Thursday night golf show on WSTU 1450-AM. Contact him at stammergolf@yahoo.com.

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Dyer Chevrolet Mazda Subaru presented the 44th Dyer Difference award along with a $3,000 check to the Sun Up Center.

The Sun up Center provides a lifetime of support from infancy through adulthood, for individuals with developmental delays or disabilities, as well as mental illness by offering programs that encourages independent and social skills. "The Sun Up Center is providing our community with great support for those with developmental needs and we are very pleased to be able to help support them," said Tatiana Dyer.

This award salutes a nonprofit organization in the county that is making a difference in the community.

potted plants, yard torches, arbors and even your gas grill. Make a list so you know ahead of time what you will have to move. If you have a shed or gazebo, you might want to add extra tie downs to be sure they stay put and don't wind up in Kansas. You can start early by limiting what you keep out in your yard during the peak months of August and September. If you own a swimming pool, you can throw all your patio furniture into the pool to help keep it from traveling across Florida. Make your yard as secure as possible as this will help to reduce potential damage to your home.

There are many plants you can put in your yard that are both attractive and also seemed to hold up fairly well during a hurricane. Hibiscus, plumbago, firecracker plant, ixoria and even my roses seemed to hold up very well during our past hurricanes. You may also want to consider some native plant varieties such as palmetto bush, passionflower, azalea bush, wax myrtle, live oak and southern magnolia. Native plants are used to the high winds that can hit during hurricane season since they have been around our area for so many years. They also add a natural beauty to your yard. If you live near the ocean, planting becomes even more of a challenge because you need to have plants that are resistant to salt spray. Remember that a hurricane can carry the ocean mist far inland with its 70+ mph winds. Plant varieties such as Indian hawthorne, saw palmetto, confederate jasmine, society garlic, daylily, pittisporum, oleander and Mexican petunia can do very well in areas where salt spray can be a problem. Gardenia plants also can fare well with less than 25-percent damage and full recovery after one growing season.

If you plan on installing any new trees at this stage of the hurricane season, you should plan ahead on their location. Plant the trees where they won't potentially cause a problem for your structure. Be sure to anchor your newly planted trees carefully with ties to help prevent damage in the event of high winds.

As you can see, with a few common sense tips and some good planning, you can have both an attractive and safe yard this hurricane season.

LEGAL SERVICES

The hiring of a lawyer is an important decision that should not be based solely on advertisements. Before you decide, ask the lawyer to send you free written information about their qualifications and experience. Under Florida law, non-lawyers are permitted to sell legal forms & kits & type in the factual information provided by their customers. They may not, however, give legal advice.
