School board votes to demolish flood-prone school

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The buildings that used to ring with children's laughter and the squish of sopping wet floors will soon be completely demolished.

The former Osceola Magnet School in Vero Beach will be demolished for about $325,000, said Carter Morrison, assistant superintendent of finance for the Indian River County school district.

School board members voted 4-0 to remove hazardous materials and demolish the buildings during the Sept. 11 meeting.

A few of the buildings in the back of the property still need final approval from the state department of education before removal, but that is expected to come within the next two weeks, Mr. Morrison said.

He hopes the approval will arrive during the estimated six weeks of asbestos abatement and then the contractors can knock down everything all at once.

The location of the new Osceola Magnet School, formerly Thompson Elementary School, will be partly under construction during the school year, said Scott

SEBASTIAN — Election Day is coming soon and the four candidates for Sebastian City Council are ready to battle it out.

Damien Gilliams, a local businessman and frequent government critic, is joined in the race for two seats on the council by sitting Mayor Jim Hill, Jerome Adams and Tim Slaven.

Mr. Gilliams has not held public office, but has served on a number of Sebastian boards or committees, including the code enforcement board and the community redevelopment association.

His reasons for running are the same as they have ever been, Mr. Gilliams said.

CPA challenges incumbent in mosquito control district race

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Two candidates are going head-to-head for Indian River County Mosquito Control District seat three.

First-time challenger Scott Stradley is running against 20-year incumbent Janice Broda for a chance to take a leadership position in the special district.

"As I looked at the mosquito control budget, I became concerned about the spending and the fact they have not come to grips with the new normal," Mr. Stradley said.

Mosquito control is an expensive proposition, but in looking at their budget and meeting minutes for the past four years, Mr. Stradley, a certified professional accountant and certified financial planner, is confident he can make the district more efficient and cut costs.

Mr. Stradley, a 28-year resident of Indian River County, has never held an elected office, but currently serves as the chairman of the Vero Beach utilities commission and

Entrepreneurs, mentors sought for business plan contest

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — The four-county area of Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin and Okeechobee has been nicknamed "The Research Coast," a happening place for entrepreneurs to get their start in the world.

Those business-minded individuals will have a big chance to network, potentially find investors and make their names and ideas known in an upcoming business plan competition.

A not-for-profit group, the Research Coast Principium Foundation, is dedicated to developing economic opportunity by facilitating interaction between professionals, investors supporting organizations and the emerging regional business community, according to a press release.

Michael Corbit, regional talent acquisition manager at Workforce Solutions, an organization that analyzes labor market needs to build an integrated workforce development system for jobseekers and employers, is among the board of directors. He is excited about the business plan competition, a first for the region.

The idea behind the competition is to help entrepreneurs and local businesses gain exposure and compete for cash prizes, Mr. Corbit said.

At the same time entrepreneurs are putting themselves forward, the foundation is also looking for mentors in the community, retired or semi-retired professionals who could help guide, direct or even become involved in the new businesses, he said.

"We are exposing these companies to successful business leaders who reside in the region to potentially become mentors to these companies," Mr. Corbit said.

Kevin Barry, a partner in the Vero Beach law firm of Rossway, Moore, Taylor and Swan, is also on the foundation's board of directors.

Sanders, director of facilities planning and construction.

The school is scheduled to have an expanded cafeteria and stage built by April 2013, he said during a round-table discussion earlier in the day.

Also during the round table meeting, school board members heard from their attorney about revisions to school-board policy concerning students arrested and/or charged with criminal activity.

Suzanne D'Agresta said she and Superintendent Fran Adams have listened to concerns from representatives of juvenile justice and created a new policy that outlines procedures for principals to implement should a student be arrested by law enforcement or even charged with a misdemeanor or a felony.

The revisions came about after some people in the community were concerned the present school policy was too punitive, said school board member Claudia Jimenez.

The policy is not quite ready to appear before the board in a public hearing, but certain elements have been defined, Superintendent Adams said.

The consequences of an arrest and subsequent charge will vary on whether it is for a misdemeanor or a felony, but it will affect both athletic and interscholastic extracurricular activities, Ms. D'Agresta said.

Under the new policy draft, students arrested for a felony would be removed from the roster as far as competition goes, but might be allowed to practice with their former team members. After a felony charge however, a student would be immediately suspended from all activities until the charges are resolved, Ms. D'Agresta said.

School board member Carol Johnson said she was not in favor of the changes because they lower the standards of behavior in Indian River County schools.

The present policy says a student arrested for a criminal offense, including a charge of a juvenile crime or offense, will be immediately suspended from participation in the Florida High School Athletic Association sanctioned events and sports until the criminal charges are resolved.

A student is to be dismissed from said programs if he or she pleads no contest, is adjudicated guilty, has adjudication withheld, or is otherwise found to have committed the offense. The policy includes pretrial diversion programs as adjudication.

In order to go back to the activities, the school principal would have to recommend reentry and the superintendent would have to give written permission.

Annual media breakfast, workshop slated for Sept. 26

For Hometown News NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — All organizations, nonprofits and churches in Indian River County are invited to participate in the sixth annual nonprofit media breakfast and workshop to take place from 9-11:30 a.m. on Sept. 26 at the Vero Beach Elks Lodge, 1350 26th St..

This session brings together representatives from local print, radio and electronic media outlets for the purpose of providing practical tips to nonprofit staff and volunteers about how to best publicize their charitable events, programs and causes in the community.

Those who attend will learn new ways to help organizations be aware of new trends and stay updated about media outlet requirements for submitting news and information. Promotional materials from nonprofits can be presented to expected media participants.

After registration, everyone is invited to help themselves to a continental breakfast — juice provided by Natalie's of Orchid Island — and be seated at assigned tables.

Following a brief introduction, media representatives will make short presentations and then move from table to table every 7 to 8 minutes. Participants will stay seated while the media rotate around the room until each table hears from every speaker.

Additional time is being scheduled at the conclusion of the program for follow-up questions and informal conversation with media attendees.

Because this type of event requires significant planning and coordination, please RSVP and pre-pay. Cost is $20 per person and can be paid by cash, check, credit card (MC or Visa) or on our e-store online at www.cultural-council.org.

For more information, call (772) 770-4857 or email info@cultural-council.org.

past seven years after moving from South Florida.

"It was getting very crowded and hectic. Sebastian had a more relaxed atmosphere that really attracted me to it," Mr. Adams said.

Mr. Adams said he enjoys helping people and could not think of a better place to assist his community by serving them on city council.

He feels it is important to keep Sebastian's attractiveness and improve on it by bringing more high-paying jobs to the area.

Jerome Adams

"Parents need jobs to live in a city, and they need better-paying jobs," Mr. Adams said.

Social activities for children, those out of elementary school, but not in high school, is also something Mr. Adams would like to help facilitate if elected to Sebastian City Council.

He suggested bringing a movie theater or video arcade to the community that could do two things at the same time: provide more jobs to the community and young people with something to do.

Though this is his first time running for public office, Mr. Adams is well aware that managing the city budget and being accountable to taxpayers is a big task.

Keeping the services of the government at a high level without raising taxes is hard, because the revenue stream is limited, he said.

Finding new revenue streams would be very prudent in these economic times, Mr. Adams said.

"Raising taxes is the last resort and you've have to educate the public on what you're doing and why," Mr. Adams said.

Mr. Adams is married and has one son.

parenry are at the top of his list. They are joined with concerns about preserving the environment and especially the Indian River Lagoon.

Advertising the lagoon and fishing on billboards when the sea grass beds in the lagoon are dying, leading to fewer fish in the waters, just isn't a good policy, Mr. Gilliam said.

Mr. Gilliam says council has not been pro-active to helping this situation and open to outside environmentalist help for this issue.

He said the working waterfront project is a boondoggle.

The project has stalled, the museum has never been opened and a restaurant on the project property was allowed to open and then abruptly closed.

Mr. Gilliam says the group undertaking the project is quite friendly with the council and proper procedure hasn't been followed in the bidding process.

"It's a sinkhole. It's good old boy politics as usual and I want to stand against it," Mr. Gilliam said.

He would like to see changes made within the city, including establishing a grant-writing department paid on commission and establishing a citizen's volunteer academy, similar to the volunteer police academy. The volunteers could help the city save thousands, Mr. Gilliam said.

Another idea Mr. Gilliam has is to create a revenue-producing environmental learning center within the city.

Young and emerging businesses will find great benefits working with mentors in their industries, and the potential for getting angel investors or venture capitalists is quite great, he said.

"It brings all the elements of the community together," Mr. Barry said.

For 20 years, Mr. Barry worked in international law firms in New York and Boston, has had previous experience with business plan competitions and is glad to bring that mindset to the Research Coast.

The competition is open to companies in all four counties, however, bonus points could apply to companies that are considered "qualified target industries." According to Enterprise Florida, a public-private organization working to facilitate job growth statewide, the areas are: clean tech, life sciences, information technology, aviation/aerospace, logistics and distribution, defense and homeland security, financial/professional services and manufacturing.

All companies will be asked to prepare a submission package, which includes a PowerPoint presentation, an executive summary and a simple financial summary.

The deadline to submit an application is Jan. 7, and the date of the final competition is March 21 at Indian River State College in Vero Beach, a press release said.

a representative on the county's economic development council for the board of county commissioners.

"When I'm elected, we're going to kill mosquitos and cut the budget," Mr. Stradley said.

One of the cost-savings he will propose is scheduling the workers differently when it is time to spray for mosquitos at night.

Night spraying is a scheduled activity and because it is planned in advance, schedules for employees can be changed.

"I'm certain there's a solution so we don't have to pay employees time and a half (to spray at night)," Mr. Stradley said.

Another budget-cutting maneuver would be to restructure the health-care benefits of employees.

Unlike many governing boards, employees of the special district are still able to receive dependent healthcare coverage and do not pay a co-pay, Mr. Stradley said.

"Nobody gets dependent coverage anymore, police don't get it, firefighters don't get that," he said.

It's just one more example of the district being stuck in the past, Mr.

Stradley said.

"I think it's good that the employees share in the cost of healthcare for the better plans. It needs to cost people something so that they don't overuse it. I think we can save a lot of funds there," he said.

He also wants to make the district more accessible to the public by recording videos of the meetings and perhaps moving the meetings to a more well-known location.

Grant proposals sought

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnews.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Future Leaders Professional Advisor Council of the Indian River Community Foundation is inviting county nonprofit organizations that serve local youth to submit grant proposals for programs targeted at children ages 12-18.

The council is a group of emerging leaders who have an interest in charitable giving, estate planning and other philanthropic instruments. The group formed last year and just completed a successful fundraising campaign to establish a charitable fund at the Indian River Community Foundation.

The council chose youth development as the first strategic focus for their funding and spent the summer working with Community Foundation staff to develop the grant guidelines.

"Research shows that successful youth development programs support the healthy development of adolescents," said Shaun Fedder, Board member of the Future Leaders. "Our members are excited to learn how our local nonprofits are supporting youth as they transition from adolescents to adulthood."

The Future Leaders Council will award two grants of $1,750 each in November.

The funds must be expended by May 31, 2013, said Kerry Bartlett, executive director of the Indian River Community Foundation.

"The role of the Community Foundation is to assist the Future Leaders group, or any of our fund holders, through the request, selection and grant funding process," Mrs. Bartlett said.

"Once the grants are awarded, we will continue working with the recipients on behalf of the donor to monitor progress and provide a final report on the outcomes of the funded projects."

The Indian River Community Foundation is a nonprofit organization that provides donors with flexible philanthropic tools to achieve their current and long-term charitable giving goals. The foundation's mission is to build a stronger community through donor-driven philanthropy.

To be eligible for the grant program, nonprofit organizations must have an active profile on the Indian River Community Foundation Nonprofit Knowledge Center before the application due date.

Applications are due Oct. 3 and must be submitted on the Indian River County Funders Forum core grant application, which is available at www.ircommunityfoundation.com.

To receive the complete request for proposals or for more information, contact Mrs. Bartlett at (772) 492-1407 or visit www.ircommunityfoundation.com.

Half marathon becomes certified

For Hometown News NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — After three years of conducting the county's only half-marathon event, officials at the Healthy Start Coalition raised the proverbial bar up a notch with the beachside half marathon, making it a U.S.A. Track and Field "certified" course. "Becoming USATF certified was a huge step forward for us this year in becoming a more widely-known and respected event," said Julian Fojon, development specialist for Healthy Start. "Serious marathon runners need to have a certain number of 'certified' races under their belts in order to compete in larger races, and now they can add our beachside half marathon to their list of must-do races to help them meet their goals." The fourth annual half marathon will take place Oct. 13 at Riverside Park and will include a 10K run. All proceeds benefit Indian River County Healthy Start Coalition. Entry fees for the half marathon and 10K run are $80 and $45, respectively until Oct. 3. After that date, the fees are $85 and $50 until race day. A complimentary continental breakfast will follow the 6:30 a.m. run along with a health and fitness expo. Vendors for the expo are still being accepted. Event sponsors include: Advanced Motion Therapy, Best Buy, Coca-Cola, Dyer Difference award and Mantle & Starr. SpringHill Suites is the host hotel. For more information about the beachside half marathon, 10K run and the expo, call (772) 563-9118, visit www.beachsidehalf-marathon.com or email events@irchealthystart.org.

Tips when sending email, texts or tweets

Logging onto the Internet for the first time can be very confusing. There is a whole new vocabulary to learn and a new set of guidelines to follow.

If you don't follow these guidelines, you may find your email box filled with some very nasty messages called flames. The guidelines I'm speaking of are known as "netiquette" and are an important part of participating in the online community.

For starters, let's go over some basic email etiquette. Email messages are quick to bang out and send instantly with the click of a button. This makes them especially susceptible to bad grammar, lousy spelling and poor content. Remember, humor and sarcasm can easily get lost in a medium such as email and can result in some pretty rude messages being sent.

Take your time with your message and if you are trying to be funny or sarcastic, use a "smiley" or "emoticon." These are little faces created with the characters on the keyboard, and when looked at with your head tilted to the left, look like little facial expressions.

For example, :) is your basic smiley, :( is the same guy only in a bad mood, this emoticon is a wink ;) and this :( emoticon is crying.

Emoticons can be used to put the emotion back into a message that's become sterile and mechanical. Using an emoticon can be essential to let your email recipient know when you are just kidding.

If you have a word processor or email client with a spell checker, use it when you compose your message. Also, watch out for the "caps lock" button on your keyboard. TYPING IN ALL CAPITAL LETTERS IS CONSIDERED SHOUTING AND SHOULD BE AVOIDED!

I've heard the argument that typing in all caps makes it easier to read, but if you have trouble seeing when you are typing your message, there are other ways to increase the font size. Learn how to increase your font size and don't rely on caps lock, it can really get on peoples' nerves.

COMPUTE THIS

Remember email has flaws. Avoid foul language and "private" or "confidential" messages. Email routers aren't perfect and your message may be accidentally sent to Mrs. Smith's first-grade discovery class. Never send anything you'd be embarrassed for your mom to see (a deleted message can have copies archived all over the place).

If you send an email message that can get you in trouble, Murphy's Law will kick in and you will (usually long after you thought the message in question was "deleted") be embarrassed.

These guidelines apply not only to email but even more so to message boards and blogs. Message boards are an area where netiquette is of the utmost importance. They are online bulletin boards that are read every day by countless people all over the world and if you post a bad message to one of these boards, you may find yourself the center of a "flame war" and your email box will be flooded with hundreds of nasty responses.

Use common sense when posting messages to message boards or blogs. If you have a gut feeling that maybe you shouldn't post a message, don't. Once you post a message you usually can't take it back and you may offend thousands.

Other pitfalls to avoid in the message boards are the "trolls." These insidious little messages are designed to generate outrage and flames. Again, you'll recognize them when you see them. Don't respond. That will only encourage them. Remember these words of wisdom: don't feed the trolls.

And lastly, don't fall for any of the countless get rich schemes on the 'net. They're there and you'll know them when you see them. Trust me, there is no money waiting in Nigeria, you didn't

Bear hug anyone?

How awesome was it to see the president of the United States right here in our own backyard?

He not only made his way through the Treasure Coast, he made a stop to visit one of our local heroes. Scott Van Duzer has done so much for the community. It was only fitting that he had the privilege of a visit from our commander in chief.

What I don't understand is why some Republicans have taken such offense to what happened? Why are they trying to boycott Big Apple Pizza? This guy does so much for everyone not just Republicans, Democrats, whites, blacks, gays or straights. He does for every single person who is in need regardless of what or who they are. These so-called Republicans, who scream and shout about small business, should be appalled at themselves. You go, Scott! You make us all proud of you.!

Bigger and better

Thank you so much for making the crossword puzzle larger. That makes the paper so much better! Thank you.

Vote carefully

I'm a senior and things aren't getting any better for us. I went to the grocery store and spent about $100 and came home with three bags. We have to be careful who we vote for this year.

Just wondering

I saw one of Mitt Romney's (out of his own mouth) ads on TV that if he was elected he would create 700,000 jobs for Florida.

Here's my question; are those the same 700,000 jobs that Gov. Rick Scott promised when he was running for governor?

Stop bashing the president

I am tired of the constant Obama bashing and am very afraid of a Mitt Romney presidency.

Remember that trickle-down economics under Bush led us to a recession. People panicked in 2010 and voted in the Republicans, who then obstructed every effort of the president to improve the economy and create jobs. That is why the recovery is slow.

Remember that jobs have been created under President Obama. It is just that so many were lost as a result of Bush's policies.

Remember the housing crisis was caused by greedy, get-rich schemers not by President Obama.

Be grateful that many more people have health insurance and your child or grandchild won't have to sit in class beside a sick child whose parents don't have health-care.

Be glad that Osama Bin Laden is dead and General Motors is alive.

Consider again the choice ahead. Who do you trust? The man who you know is a committed and concerned leader or the one who isn't sure what he himself believes?

The president, who will save Medicare and Social Security, or the candidate who doesn't understand that many people live on that alone after retirement and cannot just get some cash from their Cayman account?

The man who will try everything before he takes us into war or the one ready to attack Iran etc.?

If your wife is raped or your 14-year-old daughter abused by her uncle, do you want at least the choice of termination of a pregnancy?

If your parents are aging and unable to live independently, do you want the assistance of Medicaid if a nursing home or home care is needed but they cannot afford it?

Do you want all schools to get better or just waivers for a few lucky students who get to go to a school out of their district?

Do you want the party who managed the Republican convention or the Democratic convention running our country?

I just don't trust either Mr. Romney or Mr. Ryan and I don't like the party much either, especially Mr. McConnell, who has had it out for President Obama since day one.

Remember that even George H. Bush talked about a kinder, gentler nation, one that cares about all people, and not just survival of the fittest.

If a kinder gentler nation is your choice, you need to vote Democrat across the board.

One thing is clear

After watching Mitt Romney's reaction to the bombing in Libya, it's clear that this buffoon has no business leading the country. His "shoot first aim later" manner is embarrassing. He has no idea what he's talking about. I know I don't want him as the figure head of our country.

This great nation is supposed to represent freedom, diversity and respect for every citizen. I just don't believe Mr. Romney stands for those same qualities.

Quiet at the convention

The Democrats in Charlotte, N.C., did not talk much about freedom. They were strangely silent about preserving and protecting traditional American values. And we are still waiting to hear how they feel about studying hard and working diligently.

Freedom is never more than a generation away. There are always hucksters out there who will offer security if we will cede to them a portion of our liberties. The current crowd in Washington should be replaced with real leaders.

From bad to worse

A change was made; we jumped out of the frying-pan and into the fire. What a change! When promises are made and blatantly broken, people become cautious, if not deaf, to what is said thereafter, "once bitten, twice shy."

What two areas should be the priority of our next president? I would say (No. 1) one who would maintain the godly principles this country was founded on (which includes moral judgments, law and order, charity and other humane precepts) and (No. 2) one who has the ability to improve the job 'blight' (famine) that is devastating the country.

Work is the backbone of economic existence. A famous quote says: "If any would not work, neither should he eat." So being able to create jobs so that people can work is vital.

Rhetoric and nitpicking isn't going to get the job done, because to every accusation, there is a bulls-eye rebuttal, whether from one's opening their mouth and putting a foot in it, or from what was, or wasn't done as promised.

An advisory panel of 26 (or 29?) has been created to implement job growth. The panel is made up of CEOs who have down-sized companies, have monies in foreign banks and have shipped jobs overseas in order to generate profits for their shareholders to whom they have an obligation that's been corporate America people!

And it did not add 5trillion to our debt.

Now there is this CEO with a record of creating jobs, rescuing companies from the brink of disaster, is ready, willing and capable of taking on the task of creating jobs for America, with the same zeal he gave to his shareholders. But he is being vilified for having done the very same things members of the assembled panel have done or, are doing. He doesn't need an assembled panel and he knows how to budget money, not spend it like a kid in a candy store.

Who are you going to choose?

Nonprofit partners with storage company

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — As a vital fundraising arm of Indian River Habitat for Humanity, having raised funds to build some 54 Habitat houses in the county, the Habitat Home Center ReStore relies on a variety of partnerships.

These include the hard-working home center volunteer team, the people and businesses that donate items and, of course, devoted shoppers who know great bargains and great prices when they see them.

Recently, the home center was fortunate to have established a new partnership, with the local PODS franchise.

Joe Lourcey manages PODS of Melbourne and Port St. Lucie, a moving and storage business, which features special containers which can be moved, loaded, unloaded, placed, stored etc., to accommodate all sorts of items, sizes, distances, locations and time frames.

To help the home center, Mr. Lourcey donated the use of PODS to collect, transfer and store very large, multi-load donations of furniture and other items, from an Olive Garden remodeling deconstruction job.

PODS driver Jason Wallace also operates the engineered container structure for loading, unloading, transporting and placing the POD unit, which is aptly named POD-Zilla.

Altogether, the PODS operation allows Home Center ReStore manager Dave Sneed to efficiently receive, briefly store and unload the generous Olive Garden donations.

Since May, PODS has donated transport and storage for the Habitat Home Center ReStore amounting to more than $1,500.

Sheriff to chair fundraising campaign

For Hometown News

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Sheriff Deryl Loar has taken on the role of 2013 March for Babies chairman to raise awareness and important funding for stronger, healthier babies.

"The Indian River County Sheriff's Office is a proud supporter of the March of Dimes and its March for Babies campaign. We care about the health of babies and their families and hope others will join us in supporting this important cause," said Sheriff Loar.

"Be sure to join us on March 2, 2013 at Riverside Park to walk together for stronger, healthier babies."

This year, the March for Babies campaign will focus on recruiting new teams and sponsors to participate in making a difference for moms and babies.

The March of Dimes is the leading nonprofit organization for pregnancy and baby health.

For more information, email Pam Crowley at pcrowley@marchofdimes.com or call (772) 410-5460.

Compute

win some foreign lottery and you'll do nothing but annoy people if you forward that chain letter. If it sounds too good to be true then it's probably a scam.

Take time to find out the rules of the road before you try to communicate with the masses. Usually checking the FAQ (frequently asked questions) before posting messages can help prevent your email box from overflowing with flames.

All of these suggestions also apply to instant messenger programs and texting, as well. It is easy to forget about manners and grammar when sending text messages and sure, it may be "just an instant message" but remember, there is someone on the other end. Be nice!

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Three Indian River Medical Center cath lab employees, Linda Gerace, Bill Ludwig and Michael Swanson, earned significant credentials within their professions.

Mr. Swanson earned the cardiac interventional credential from the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists.

Ms. Gerace and Mr. Ludwig earned the registered cardiovascular invasive specialist credential from Cardiovascular Credentialing International.

"This lends tremendous credibility to IRMC's cath lab and heart center, as now 100 percent of its eligible employees are credentialed to perform and assist in specialized cardiac care," said Randy Kerperien, manager of cardiac catheterization and echocardiography.

Cardiovascular invasive specialists must have two years experience on the job before they can sit for these credentialing exams.

Pet loss service selects marketer

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — Yates & Associates, public relations and marketing, has been selected to provide public relations support for Haisley Funeral Home and Cremation Service and pet loss services on the Treasure Coast.

"Haisley Funeral and Cremation Service takes great pride in our reputation for providing compassionate and quality service to our customers," said Rick Haisley, funeral director/owner.

"We look forward to working with Yates to continue to build on our reputation through greater awareness of what we do and the care we have been providing for nearly forty years as our family helps customers in their time of need," he said.

One of the areas of concentration will be creating more awareness for Haisley pet loss services.

"Our pets, whether dogs, cats or other animals play an important part in our lives," said Sam Yates, owner of Yates & Associates.

"The loss of a pet is, in many cases, the loss of a loved one. By making more people aware of Haisley pet loss services, we will help those who have experienced the loss of a pet cope with the loss and retain the memories that created the joy of pet ownership," he said.

Yates & Associates is headquartered in Jensen Beach and serves select clients on a local and national basis.

Haisley pet loss services continues that proven tradition with 24-hour pet loss services, 365 days a year.

Free rabies vaccinations offered

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Humane Society of Vero Beach and Indian River County hopes to make rabies history by offering a free rabies vaccination with any pet exam or spay/neuter surgery through the end of September. This offer is available to anyone with a dog or cat 4 months of age or older.

Recognizing rabies is a fatal disease that kills approximately 55,000 annually, the Humane Society is teaming up with the Global Alliance for Rabies Control to vaccinate animals and educate the public about rabies prevention.

Rather than honor World Rabies Day on Sept. 28 for just one day, the Humane Society hopes its special vaccination program will keep a greater number of pets disease free.

"Vaccinating your pet plays a critical role in keeping him or her and our community healthy," said Maria Ramirez, Humane Society's director of animal care.

"It's our intention to be proactive about rabies so that people and animals are safe," she said.

The shelter will also provide the community with educational information about curbing the spread of rabies. Pet exams are $28, while low-cost spay/neuter surgery fees are dependent on the species, sex and weight of the animal.

Pets must have an appointment, be 4 months of age or older, on a leash or in a carrier and be in general good health. Copies of each pet's previous veterinary records are helpful.

To schedule an appointment or for more information, call (772) 388-0801.

Award-winning soul blues artist to stop in Sebastian

By Jessica Tuggle
jtuggle@hometownnewsol.com

SEBASTIAN — Earl's Hideaway in Sebastian will get some welcome exposure after a visit from some serious soul singers.

Curtis Salgado, an award-winning vocalist, songwriter and harmonica player, and his band will perform on Sept. 30 at 2 p.m. at the Sebastian bar close to the river.

Mr. Salgado was the winner of the 2010 Blues Music Award for soul blues Artist of the Year. His music has been described as raw and heartfelt, a mixture of blues, funk and rhythm and blues.

"Our presentation is high-class musicianship. We're a professional, tight, bad-ass rhythm and blues band with hardcore soul," Mr. Salgado said.

He has been touring and performing with various groups as a professional artist since the 1960s and has continued to hone his craft even amid health challenges, a press release said.

Mr. Salgado has been fighting cancer since 2006 and has undergone three surgeries, including a liver transplant, in his battle.

His most recent surgery to remove a cancerous growth from his lung was in July, but after a four-week recovery period, he was back on the road and back to singing the blues.

Rhythm and blues recording artist Curtis Salgado will appear in concert on Sept. 30 at 2 p.m. at Earl's Hideaway in Sebastian.

"I feel blessed, bottom line," Mr. Salgado said.

His health issues have redirected his life and no longer does he base his worth on the size of a concert crowd or the number of albums sold.

"You can't take it with you. I'm lucky to be alive and playing for five people," Mr. Salgado said.

About 70 percent of his concerts are original music.

His newest album, "Soul Shot," is by Alligator Records.

"I wanted to make a soul record that you can listen to and dance to," Mr. Salgado said in a press release.

The tracks include slow-burning ballads and driving rocking tunes.

For more information about Mr. Salgado, visit www.curtissalgado.com.

Fried peppers, sausage and peppers, sausage and cabbage

Hello, smart shoppers! Fall is almost here and I'm sure you'll have more cookouts. How about something you can prepare in advance instead of standing over a hot grill? Let's talk about peppers.

You can't go to any fair and not be overwhelmed by the wonderful aroma of sausage and sweet peppers. Did you know that a red pepper has twice the amount of vitamin C as an orange? I'll also include an unusual recipe for sausage and cabbage.

Sausages are in no way a low-fat food, but we can make them a bit lower in fat by going to a local butcher. They can make a sausage that is lower in fat and isn't full of gristle (yuck). The price is usually comparable to the supermarket and the flavor so much better. They can make a lower fat sausage, but you have to order in advance and buy several pounds, since it's not possible to make just 1 pound of lower-fat sausage for an individual. The way you cook the sausage will also lower the fat somewhat.

Purchase the peppers wherever you can get a good price. Usually vegetable stands offer the best price. Shop around.

Try these delicious and different recipes. See you next week.

FRIED PEPPERS Serves 4 or more

- 3 large bell peppers, any color
- 2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil or Canola oil (or one tablespoon of each)
- Salt, pepper and paprika
- 3 or 4 large cloves garlic, peeled and cut up

Wash and cut peppers in large strips, discarding the stem and seeds. Dry on paper towels. Heat oil in skillet. Fry peppers slowly over medium-low heat, lightly browning on all sides. Keep a close eye — they can burn in a flash. When peppers are half cooked, add garlic and sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Cook, turning occasionally, until tender. Serve warm or cold.

SAUSAGE AND PEPPERS Serves 2

I am always asked for recipes for two, so this one is it. To make it for more, simply double or triple the recipe. Sausage and peppers is an easy one and more peppers or onions will just make it taste better.

The recipe is for dinner. Omit sauce and potatoes if serving on sub rolls.

HINT: If using sweet and hot sausages, place a toothpick in hot sausage — be sure to remove it before the first bite.

- 1-1/4 to 1-1/2 pounds Italian sausage
- 2 bell peppers
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, cut up
- Half of 8-ounce can of tomato sauce or 1/2-cup spaghetti sauce
- 1/2-teaspoon dried oregano
- Few shakes of salt and pepper
- 2 medium potatoes, peeled and cut in 1-1/2-inch chunks

Cut sausage into 2- or 3-inch pieces. To cut the fat, place metal cake cooling racks on a cookie sheet. Spray with cooking spray. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Bake sausages on racks until browned, pricking them with a fork to allow the fat to drain off.

Seed the peppers, cut in strips and place with sausages and all ingredients in a baking pan. Bake uncovered until almost done, stirring halfway through. Add 1/4 cup water, stir and cover pan. Bake about 10 minutes or until potatoes are tender. To prepare the regular way, place all ingredients, including raw sausages, in pan and proceed as above. Serve with crusty Italian bread.

SAUSAGE AND CABBAGE

- 1-1/4 to 1-1/2 pounds Italian sausage
- 1 small head cabbage,

- cut up
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and chopped
- 1/2-cup canned tomato sauce
- 1/2-teaspoon each of salt and pepper
- Grated parmesan or Romano cheese

Cut sausage into 2- or 3-inch pieces, brown in frying pan. (To cut the fat, follow above instructions.) Remove sausages, set aside. Drain all fat except 1 tablespoon. Brown garlic until golden. Add tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Cook until bubbly. Add sausage and cabbage to pan. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover and cook until sausages are done and cabbage is tender, stirring occasionally.

Annual paddle race set for November

For Hometown News NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

SEBASTIAN — The annual paddling race on the St. Sebastian River, "Up the River with a Paddle," will bring together recreational and competitive paddlers, kayakers, canoers, stand-up paddle boarders and anyone who can make it up the river with a paddle.

Organizers aim to draw paddlers of all ages and skill levels from around the state.

The event will be held Nov. 17 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. at Dale Wimbrow Park, 11805 Roseland Road in Sebastian.

Proceeds will benefit By the River, the Treasure Coast's independent, residential community for low-income seniors, founded by internationally known spiritual teacher, Ma Jaya. The race is sanctioned by the American Canoe Association and hosted by Florida Outdoor Center.

"We're looking forward to lots of friendly competition on the water. Last year's event was a lot of fun for everyone and very exciting," said Joe Coakley, board member of By the River.

"We hope this event will stir the emotions of everyone for the need to assist seniors who are in need of affordable housing in Indian River County."

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., but advanced registration is suggested.

Individual and tandem races kick-off at 10 a.m., with short and long distances, such as parent/child, kids fun, masters 50 plus and elite categories, as well as the "Beat Mike Beck Challenge" for cash prizes. Mr. Beck is a former member of the U.S.A. national kayaking team and Guinness world record holder in 24-hour kayaking.

Team races in a six-man elephant canoe bring lots of excitement, when teams from local businesses, organizations and groups compete for the title of best team in the county.

Last year's event brought a nail-biting finish when two teams tied and had to race again to gain the championship. Nurse On Call won the competition.

The event is free and open to the public, who are welcome to enjoy the food, festivities and entertainment and cheer on their favorite racers.

Entry fees begin at $5 for kids under 14, $35 for individual adult racers and up for team competitions. Entry fee discounts will be given to ACA members (and includes ACA insurance for all racers).

Those who register prior to the event will receive a free event T-shirt and swag bag.

For more information on signing up for the races or to donate, sponsor or volunteer, please contact Florida Outdoor Center at (772) 202-0220 or Bhagavati Hausman at By the River at (772) 913-5144 and www.BytheRiver.org.

Partnership forged between hospital, coalition

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Indian River County Healthy Start Coalition and Indian River Medical Center's Partners in Women's Health has joined forces to provide funding and services for two programs designed for pregnant women through the first year of their child's life.

"Providing the Partner's in Pregnancy program and TLC Newborn through the hospital will allow us to have a continuum of service from pre to post natal," said Rebecca Russell-Gootee, executive director for Indian River County Healthy Start Coalition.

"The partnership will help provide education, training and support during a woman's pregnancy, delivery and continue throughout her baby's first year of life," said Nurse Donna Riordan, director of women's health care, pediatric and partners in women's health at Indian River Medical Center.

Partners in Women's Health is in its fourth year of providing funding through grants by the hospital district, as well as programs for women who are pregnant.

The PIPP program offers supportive information on what is happening to the pregnant body and the baby during the months of pregnancy, teaches healthy nutrition, introduces birthing choices, provides hospital tours, swaddling techniques and supportive birth experiences. These programs are free and open to the public.

They are held at either the hospital or at the Partners in Women's Health offices located behind the New Vision Eye Center building, at 1050 37th Place, suites 101 and 102.

The TLC Newborn program will be introduced to participants of the PIPP classes and once the birth occurs, those new parents will segue into the TLC program at expanded classroom space at the Healthy Start Coalition offices.

TLC will then provide education on the child's growth and development, social groups, media networking and provide lactation support for the first year of the child's life. While the hospital will provide class instructors, the Healthy Start Coalition is the funding agency providing the administrative oversight in making sure the programs are in compliance with

State and federal guidelines are followed and the service is provided to satisfy the needs of the maternal child and infants in the county. Classes are open to the public and are free.

The Healthy Start Coalition office is located at 333 17th St., Suite R, just west of the intersection of Indian River Drive and the Alma Lee Loy Bridge.

While some classes are currently in session through Partners in Women's Health, the remaining spectrum of classes will begin by late September at both locations.

Sharks shut down Pirates at the net

By Brittany Llorente
bllorente@hometownnewsol.com

SEBASTIAN — The Sebastian River High School Sharks knocked down the Palm Bay High School Pirates 3-0 at the temporary Shark's home court at Sebastian River Middle School, last Thursday night.

The first set was a clear win for the Sharks, 25-12 with Tiffany Cobb and Kara Robinson scoring aces. Morgan Cole was a quick setter for Robinson, Tamara Hunt and Kalin Gabbert.

With Gabbert serving, the Shark's went on a 7-point rally that closed out the first set.

The second set was a Pirate's comeback. The Pirate's Catie Braun was a defensive wall on the net, shutting down more than 8 Sharks points.

"I have a lot of good timing from being a dancer," said Braun. "I want to be more emotionally tied to the game so that I'm more aggressive. I also need to work on my hits more."

The Pirates led by more than double the points until the 15-point mark. Savannah Waters and Brittany Best's serves rallied the Pirates close to sealing the win when the Sharks closed in.

Sharks Morgan, Hunt and Cole's serves hammered the Pirates. The nail-biting end put the Sharks on top 25-23.

"I thought we fought really hard tonight," Robinson said. "I've been playing for awhile now and I've learned that teamwork is so important and when you work together, everything falls into place."

With a close second set, the Sharks finished strong in the third. Cobb had a 6-point rally followed by strong set-serve offense.

The Pirate's offense was having communication problems, with some players almost crashing into each other on the court. The great team effort in the second set fell apart at the net and center of the court in the third.

"When we played well we communicated," Pirate's Coach Troy White said. "When they were scoring points on us, we weren't communicating."

The Sharks finished the game 25-12, starting and finishing the sets with the same scores.

"I thought we started off pretty well but we've really been working on finishing and taking care of business," Shark's head coach Whitney Jones. "Our serve-receive game worked really well for us tonight."

Cobras win despite sloppiness

By Patrick Bernadeau
Special to Hometown News

ST. LUCIE COUNTY — Twenty one second-half points provided more than enough of a cushion as Fort Pierce Central overcame a series of errors to defeat Sebastian River 28-6 Friday night at Calvin R. Trippett Field at Lawnwood Stadium.

Entering the contest ranked eighth in the Class 7A state poll and the RivalryHigh100 national poll at number 100, the Cobras (3-0) collected their second win in four days.

Just 96 hours earlier, Central completed a game against Palm Bay that was postponed due to lightning, picking a dramatic 14-12 comeback win.

"I'm of proud them for playing two games in one week, showing the mental toughness and physical toughness and doing a good job in winning both games," said head coach Josh Shaffer, who improved to 10-1 in career regular season games.

"It was emotional win on Monday and then you have to come back and play a team that really wants to beat you bad. They've got Division 1 players, so it was tough."

It was a game that was tough for both sides due in part to the players making it tough on themselves. The opening kickoff included a holding penalty on the Cobras. The game's opening drive included five penalties between both sides.

Sebastian River (1-2) ended their first four possessions with two punts, a lost fumble deep in their own territory and a turnover on downs.

Central didn't fare much better on their first four possessions, as they recorded a punt, an interception at the goal line, a turnover on downs and a mishandled snap on a chip shot field goal attempt.

The scoreboard didn't light up until midway through the second quarter, when Central was set up with a short field to work with following a 24-yard punt return from J.J. Stevens. After an incompletion to start the drive, the Cobras needed just three Alquan Vickers runs to open up the scoring.

Vickers, who started in the backfield in place of the injured Marcus Levy, had 69 yards on the ground and another 30 yards receiving, received the handoff on a weak side sweep to the outside and scored on a 14-yard run.

After another Sebastian River turnover on downs, the Central offense started a drive for the fifth time in Sharks territory. Despite the advantage of the short field, Cobras quarterback Sam Vaughn was intercepted by Jovante King inside the Sebastian River 5-yard line. It was King's second turnover on the night and kept the Sharks deficit to just one score entering half-time.

Central began to pull away in the second half as Stevens, on a running play similar to the Vickers' end zone romp, would score on an 18-yard weak side touchdown run to extend the Cobra lead to 14.

Vaughn, who saw Sharks in his face much of the night, struggled to 13-25 passing but was able to put up 200 yards through the air, including an 11-yard touchdown strike to Josh Knight with 7:25 left in the fourth quarter.

The Sharks were stymied for much of the night offensively by the terrific Cobra defense, recording their first play in Central territory late in the third quarter.

Down by 21 points, Sebastian River would immediately respond to the Knight score when Vero Beach transfer Nate Pryor gave his team some life following an electric 74-yard touchdown run down the right sideline on the ensuing play from scrimmage. Despite falling to convert the point after, it was suddenly just a two-score game.

Pryor, who had 117 rushing yards on 12 carries, is just getting use to things, having just one week's worth of practice with the team under his belt.

"He's still gasping the offense but after solid week of practice, Nate played exceptionally well," said Sharks head coach Randy Bethel.

"We just try to put him in positions to let his athleticism show."

Golf classic to feature sports celebrities

Every week, ordinary people do it on the PGA, LPGA and Champions tours. They may not be as ordinary as you or me, but they are average folks who happen to have a little extra money and happen to want to tee up with the touring pros to have a little fun and help out charities.

Since most of us cannot afford a few thousand dollars to play in a tour program, we have to settle for just dreaming of it.

Well, now you have your chance. You may not get to play with Tiger or Phil or Ernie or Rory, but on Monday, Nov. 26, you can tee it up and play with a famous athlete or celebrity.

Champions Tour player and 1992 Senior U.S. Open Champion, Larry Laoretti, and legendary drummer and Bon Jovi band member, Tico Torres, are teaming up to host the 2012 Celebrities Fore Kids Golf Classic at the famed Medalist Golf Club in Hobe Sound.

This year's event promises to be a great day for golf and for kids with cancer in our area. To say the list of celebrities and sports figures has some of the biggest names is big is an understatement.

I could start a pretty good baseball team with the ball players participating in this event. Jim Palmer, and Jim Kaat would make a pretty solid front end of a starting rotation. Then I could put Hall of Famer, Mike

GOLF
JAMES
STAMMER

Schmidt at third. These guys may not play competitively on the diamond anymore but they are quite serious when it comes to golf and helping out children.

If you're into hockey and have a favorite player, there is a chance you could tee it up with Hall of Famers Clark Gillies or Bobby Orr. From the links, 1969 Open Champion and 1970 U.S. Open Champion Tony Jacklin joins Dana Quigley, Larry Ziegler, Michelle McGann and Jackie Gallagher-Smith. Last year Jack and Barbara Nicklaus attended the awards dinner and participated in the live auction.

The event, which raises money for children with cancer on Florida's Treasure Coast, kicks off with a pre-tee cocktail party on Sunday, Nov. 25 at The Bear's Club, Jack's personal private club in Jupiter, where players will be paired with their celebrities. It's a great way to end the weekend and get ready for golf on Monday. You can hang out with the celebrities and enjoy an evening of relaxation.

Cancer is an emotionally and financially exhausting experience for many families. Celebrities Fore

Kids, Inc.'s goal and purpose is to offer financial, as well as emotional and social support to children and families who have a family member going through treatment and who cannot otherwise obtain assistance. The charity's intent is to help with related daily living expenses, which negatively impact the family's health, well-being and quality of life.

Celebrities Fore Kids, Inc., through its partnerships, provides financial assistance for: transportation to and from treatment centers; non-covered medical and prescription expenses; rent or mortgage payments; automobile payments and maintenance; gift cards for food, gas and clothing; daily living expenses such as phone, water and electric and individual and/or family counseling.

In its 11-year existence, Celebrities Fore Kids has raised more than $1.5 million. In addition, along with the Robert & Carol Weissman Cancer Center, the charity has provided assistance to more than 100 Treasure Coast families with adults who have cancer and are supporting their minor children through a most difficult time.

The golf classic begins with registration and buffet luncheon beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Monday.

From there it's to the carts and the links with an 18-hole scramble beginning at noon, followed by cocktails and hors d'oeuvres and an awards dinner. There will also be live and silent auctions featuring travel and vacation packages, golf certificates and memorabilia from the celebrities.

The Celebrities Fore Kids Golf Classic is a wonderful opportunity for anyone to help out children who need our assistance as they battle a terrible condition. In return, you get a truly memorable day with one of your sports or celebrity heroes. The best part is while enjoying your day you will be helping Celebrities Fore Kids assist many children and their families in our area.

Sponsorship packages start at $150 with sponsor and play packages beginning at $1,500. If you'd prefer to just attend the luncheon, awards dinner or auction, there are packages available for those, as well.

The field is limited, so please sign up as early as possible to ensure your place in the field. Corporate sponsorships are also available.

To enter yourself or group, or for more information, call (772) 781-7943 or visit the website at www.celebrities-forekids.org.
