SEBASTIAN — The Florida Department of Transportation has promised signs indicating a lower speed in portions of U.S. 1 in Sebastian is on the way.

From Jackson Street to County Road 512 eastbound the new speed will be 35 miles per hour. The signs will be slightly larger than current signs and at first the signs will be marked with orange flags to gain motorist attention, said Lisanne Robinson, a business owner on U.S. 1 who has actively

New fiscal year akes effect

Councils, boards, get ready for another year

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The new fiscal year is underway and all of the governing boards in Indian River County have gotten their 2013-14 budgets finalized and their property tax rates set.

Some groups sought to increase revenue, while others held the line for taxpayers. Here is a roundup of what municipalities in Indian River County chose to do for the new budget year.

Indian River County commissioners voted to approve a budget of $255 million, a decrease compared to last year's approximately $299 million.

The property tax rate within the county depends on the location of the property and overall taxpayers will be seeing an increase to help cover the costs of raises and other services at the county level.

A property owner in the unincorporated part of the county will have a property tax rate of $6.69 per $1,000 of taxable value, which is a 7 percent increase from last year.

School board explores new building costs

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Portable heaters and rat traps in rooms does not make for a safe working environment and so a new administration building for the school district is in order, school board members said last week.

During a school board workshop on Sept. 24, the board members gave staff direction to continue exploring building and funding options for a new administration complex or building after hearing a report from staff and an architect about the cost of repairing the current building, an estimated $4.3 million, versus building a new one, an estimated $7.3 million.

The school board has made it clear that they do not want to borrow funds to pay for a new building, so the money would come from various sources, including the sale of district properties. A decision to build a new facility has the potential to be criticized by citizens who want more funds to go to the classroom, and school boards in the past have backed away from making such a decision, allowing the current building to patched up dozens of times, but not addressing the real issue, said Board Member Karen Disney-Brombach.

"If not now, then when? If not us, then who?" Ms. Disney-Brombach said.

Carter Morrison, assistant superintendent of finance and operations, said it would cost an estimated $4.3 million to fix the current building, which was originally built as a county hospital in the 1950s.

Included among the many repairs needed are a new roof, replacing the entire sanitary sewer system and the heating and

HEALTHCARE SPOTLIGHT

Bringing out the body's wisdoms for the best health now.

As a person who dedicated his life to health and wellness, Dr. Art Argenio, known locally as Art the Chiropractor, has made Argenio Chiropractic the place to go in Indian River County to find relief. After making Treasure Coast his home for the past 19 years, he opened a state-of-the-art facility in Sebastian two years ago to bring his knowledgeable expertise to the local community.

Dr. Argenio has a long history of healing, receiving his Doctorate of Chiropractic degree in 1984. Since then, he has served the community as a Chiropractor, small-time athlete, fitness club owner and even a legislator serving on various health-care committees. He has learned through his years of experience that the benefits from quality Chiropractic care include a longer healthier life; becoming stronger and faster and having increased coordination, mobility and endurance. But not all the benefits are physical. Patients have also shown to have better concentration and memory from the positive changes in their health, and the overall improvement results in less drug dependency and lower medical bills.

His talents as a Chiropractor have helped people of all ages, from newborns to centenarians. He has seen and personally handled issues ranging from stiff necks to serious disorders. Over his years of helping people, he has made tens of thousands of adjustments, bringing relief to all who enter his professional office. With an in-office precision digital x-ray machine, he and his staff can quickly locate the source of the issue and work efficiently to bring the patient back to health.

Dr. Argenio has even taken his knowledge to the public, appearing on numerous television and radio shows, and speaking to numerous clubs and organizations about a variety of health and wellness topics. He works tirelessly to help people reach their greatest health potential.

Even with a busy schedule, Dr. Argenio practices what he preaches, and is a health and fitness enthusiast who enjoys running while fighting the age wave himself. As a result, he has become a source of information, and works to not only heal, but educate patients on how to make prudent and rational health-care decisions.

Even the website, found at www.ArtTheChiropractor.com has an abundance of informative articles, explaining in detail not only how effective chiropractic care is, but why it is one of the best health decision a person can make for themselves today.

As Art the Chiropractor says, "Your body is smart. It has an inborn wisdom to heal. It's my job to remove any interference to that, so you can have your best health now."

Argenio Chiropractic is located in Pelican Shops, at 9414 U.S. Highway 1 in Sebastian. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and by appointment on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. For more information, call (772) 228-8131 or go online to www.ArtTheChiropractor.com. # New youth group to start in Vero Beach

True Colors reaches out to LBGTQ teens

By Brittany Llorente
bllorente@hometownnewsol.com

Hil Laguna

INDIAN RIVER — For those who have grown up in the area and identify with the lesbian, gay, bi-sexual, transgender or questioning community, there are few places to voice your opinions, feel safe or meet new people.

When Hil Laguna moved from South Florida six months ago, she discovered the lack of places for those teens to go and have a good time and feel like they had an ally in their lives.

"Before moving to Vero Beach, I volunteered at an incredible nonprofit organization, Sunserve, in Fort Lauderdale," Ms. Laguna said. "While there, I had the awesome opportunity to facilitate two LBGTQ youth groups."

She described the groups she had in South Florida as loving and opening. Everyone was friendly to each other and they were free to be who they were.

"It was amazing to see so many LBGTQ youth in one place being so happy," she said.

After some encouragement and help, Ms. Laguna has started a group called True Colors of Indian River.

"I was looking around, not really thinking of starting a place, but then I came into Spark of Divine in Vero Beach and talked to the owner, Beth, and when I told her what I used to do, she said, 'Do you want to do that here?' and I immediately said yes," Ms. Laguna said.

She wants it to be a place where the LBGTQ youth can have fun, enjoy making new friends and have a safe place to hang out.

With more than 20 years of experience in working with youth, the True Colors teens will be supervised but also have a place to share their opinions.

"They can talk about different topics ranging from parents to friends, relationships to jobs, animals to dreams and everything in between," Ms. Laguna said.

She also encourages parents to participate or get involved with the group as a mentor or help out.

The group is open to all LBGTQ teens, ages 12 to 17 and their straight allies.

They will meet every Monday from 7- 9 p.m. at Spark of Divine, 1789 Old Dixie Highway, Vero Beach.

Their first meeting is Oct. 7.

sought out the slow down for more than 10 years.

The thing that made the difference recently was the support by state Rep. Debbie Mayfield, as well as the Sebastian River Area Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Robinson said.

At 40 miles per hour, the city was failing to capitalize on the day-trippers that travel through the town daily, far more than the tourists that stay in the hotels, as there aren't that many hotels in the area, she said.

By slowing down the speed, motorists have time to look at businesses and restaurants and notice where they can stop, and with the city highlighting the street parking spots, more people actually will stop, Mrs. Robinson said.

"It's another part of the puzzle," she said.

Studies have shown that the slow-down will only increase the time it takes to get to Walmart by 14 to 16 seconds.

"If you don't have an extra 14 to 16 seconds to get to Walmart, you have a problem," Mrs. Robinson said with a laugh.

Law enforcement have said the speed slowdown will not be an excuse to go out and create aggressive speed traps, but rather bringing attention to the new speeds.

Fiscal

A home valued at $150,000 after tax exemptions would cost a property owner $1,003.50.

In the municipalities of Fellsmere, Sebastian, Vero Beach and Orchid, the rate is set at $5.62 per $1,000 of taxable value. These cities provide some services to their own residents and do not require all the services the county offers.

A similar home there would be charged $843, or about 8 percent more than last year.

Indian River Shores provides even more services directly to their residents, so their property rate from the county is set at $3.64 per $1,000 of taxable property value.

A similar home there can expect a tax bill of $546, roughly a 5 percent increase from last year.

The Fellsmere city council also set their own property rates. City property owners will pay $5.62 for every $1,000 of taxable value. The new rate is set about 2 percent lower than the "roll back" rate, which is a rate council members could have chosen to set to receive the same amount of revenue as the 2012-13 year.

A homeowner in Fellsmere with house with a taxable value of $100,000 would pay $562 in property taxes.

The new Fellsmere budget is about $12.7 million, which is slightly more than $1 million more than last year's budget.

Fellsmere's neighboring city, Sebastian, has a newly approved budget of $21.8 million; about $4 million lower than last year.

The property tax rate was set at approximately $3.72 per $1,000 in taxable value, which is the same as last year.

A house with a taxable value of $150,000 would cost a property owner $558. The rate, coupled with a decline in taxable value of 0.61 percent, will likely result in slightly lower tax bills for residents, staff said.

The property tax rate for Vero Beach residents this year will be $2.03 per $1,000 of taxable value.

A homeowner in the district with a house valued at $150,000 after exemptions would pay $304.50 in property taxes.

The rate is slightly higher than the roll back rate, which means city staff expects a revenue surplus in the coming year. And the new general fund budget for the city of Vero Beach is about $19.4 million. That amount does not include the revenue expected from the electric utility or the water and sewer systems.

Other taxing districts also set their final numbers last month for the new budget year.

The new budget for the Indian River County School District is close to $275.4 million, a little more than $500,000 increase from last year. There were many decreases in the budget, but teacher salaries as mandated by the state brought the budget amount higher than last year.

The property tax rate was set at $8.12 per $1,000 of taxable property value. The rate includes a voter-approved percentage for operating cost increase. The property tax rate is lower than the rate adopted for the 2012-13 year, but higher than a roll back rate.

Some property owners could see a tax decrease. A property owner in the district with a home with $175,000 in taxable value would pay $1,420.30 in taxes, a 2.36 percent decrease, according to a report from district staff.

The Indian River County Hospital District's budget was set at $13.17 million and included administrative and program expenditures. The program expenditures, which include the hospital, mental health program, Visiting Nurses Association programs and much more, came to about $11.8 million of the budget.

cooling system, interior remodeling to comply with current safety codes and re-engineering the electric service to meet codes as well.

"And what will it be next year? Because there will be a what's next," Ms. Disney-Brombach said.

Staff members and school board members wear sweaters and jackets to work and some have portable heaters to keep them warm during the day, said Board Chairwoman Carol Johnson.

"Ms. Disney is correct, we might as well be opening the windows and grabbing the money and throwing it out," Mrs. Johnson said.

Scott Sanders, director of facilities, said the estimates for a new, larger building on pre-owned school district property would cost about $7.3 million.

The property discussed is adjacent to Storm Grove

Middle School, where the district owns nearly 150 acres of land, Mr. Sanders said.

The new facility would be larger, about 39,600 square feet versus 26,800 square feet, and designed to be simple, functional and multi-purposed, accommodating offices and training rooms for staff education.

The $7.3 million estimate comes from conversations with Proctor Construction, said Rene Terrilla, an architect that worked on the new Vero Beach Elementary School construction project.

The construction estimate alone has the cost of building at $150 per square foot, or $5.7 million, added onto that cost is $340,000 for an information technology center, $575,000 for architects, engineers and testing, and $75,000 for fiber optic connections.

Mr. Morrison said the $7.3 million was a liberal estimate, but he was more comfortable presenting a higher number than a lower figure and having to ask for an increase later down the line.

The funds for the building project would come from four potential sources, $4.87 million cash on hand, $1.45 million from the sale of district lands, including the former site of Osceola Magnet School in Vero Beach and the Pleasant Ridge property, and transfer of funding from the Vero Beach High School offsite chiller project, if necessary.

Using the cash on hand would not be detrimental to building and or renovating projects to any schools in the district, Mr. Morrison said.

Board member Claudia Jimenez was reluctant to say that a new administration building was a priority when other issues, such operating finances, are having problems.

Winners of weight loss surgery contest excited for the future

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Two weight loss surgery contest winners are preparing for positive lifelong changes to their eating habits.

Anna Vasquez, 30, of Port St. Lucie and Rachael Blizzard, 27, of Fort Pierce, were the winners of Sebastian River Medical Center's weight loss contest, carried out on Riverside Surgical and Weight Loss Center at Sebastian River Medical Center's Facebook page.

This is the second time the medical center has put on such a contest, said Angela Dickens, marketing and community relations director for the hospital.

Both women said they have been actively trying to get a handle on their weight for many years, but nothing was working long term.

"I always tried to be on top of my weight but never got under 210 pounds even with 25 hours of exercise a week," said Ms. Blizzard.

"I've dieted a lot during my life, and dieted successfully where I lost the weight, but they didn't last," Ms. Vasquez said.

The two women were chosen out of about 60 applicants to receive the free bariatric, or weight loss, surgery and so far Ms. Vasquez has received the surgery and the Ms. Blizzard is scheduled for surgery later this month.

Prior to surgery, weight loss patients at Sebastian River Medical Center go to education classes, have surgeon consultations, sessions with nutritionists and psychologists, among other things, said Cindy Rider, bariatric coordinator.

Pre-surgery and post-surgery there are individualized eating plans for program participants, Ms. Vasquez said.

"When I got the news that I won, it was very surreal," Ms. Blizzard said.

"I didn't know how to process it, it took about 24 hours," she said.

Other members of Ms. Blizzard's family have received the surgery in the past, so she is confident that she will be able to handle the lifestyle change as successfully as they have.

"I was just thinking, I'm 27 years old, I'm not married, have no kids and what am I going to be like in 10 years if I'm already this big," Ms. Blizzard said.

"I'm trying to prepare myself mentally that I will be able to have normal portions and feel full, and it's like, wow, I'm excited," she said.

Now two weeks out of her surgery, Ms. Vasquez is still excited about the opportunity given to her and is already planning to add to her new lifestyle with a progressive exercise routine.

"I had looked into surgery before, but my insurance didn't cover it," she said.

"I think weight loss surgery is good for people who need a little help with self-control to have long-term success, and because the surgery helps you have a smaller stomach, it can help people lose weight and keep it off successfully long term," Ms. Vasquez said.

By offering the free surgery to contest winners and having them blog online and record their progress with the community, the bariatric surgery program gets more exposure and more people can be educated about the options available for weight loss, Ms. Rider said.

Ms. Vasquez said even if she hadn't won the contest, Riverside Surgical and Weight Loss Center would be the place she would have gone to receive her surgery.

"They are the best," she said.

"Everyone is so nice, they bend over backward for you and they are so positive and supportive," Ms. Vasquez said.

Since her surgery, Ms. Vasquez said she has contacted staff with questions about things she was experiencing after surgery or how she was feeling.

"You can go to a plastic surgeon or other hospital to have this surgery, but Riverside has their very own section. All they do is weight loss surgery and they have their own surgical team," Ms. Vasquez said.

Because of their specific goals, they have the best

Rachael Blizzard

care and advice for people having weight loss surgery, she said.

"I couldn't have asked for more," Ms. Vasquez said. Weight loss surgery has been shown to help individuals with health issues such as type 2 diabetes and sleep apnea, among other diseases, according to the medical center's web site.

Riverside Surgical and Weight Loss Center is directed by Dr. Patrick Domokowski, who is one of the surgeons that perform the surgery. Dr. Jason Radecke is the second surgeon on staff and also donated his services for the contest.

The medical center recently received the Center of Excellence designation award from the American Society for Metabolic and Bariatric Surgery and the American College of Surgeons, said Ms. Dickens.

The designation allows the medical center to provide bariatric surgical care for recipients of Medicare and Medicaid plans, and is only awarded after a rigorous program review.

To read the blogs of the surgery winners, or to learn more about the program, visit www.srmcsurgical-weightloss.com.

Mora, director of county public works.

The petition outlines key environmental concerns about the consequences of the boat ramp project and is similar to a petition filed three years ago by the Pelican Island Audubon Society for the same project, said Mr. Baker, president of the society and biology professor emeritus at the University of Florida.

That petition never saw its day in court because the county dropped the permit application that led to the petition's filing, Mr. Baker said.

The boat ramp project includes dredging the channel, filling in some wetlands for a parking lot and paving the road, Mr. Mora said.

Mr. Baker said the primary objections the society has to the project include damaging the sea grasses, mangroves and fish nursery habitats.

In these days, when the health of the lagoon is on the forefront of the majority of conversation, why would anyone recommend starting a project that would take destroy one of the few places in the lagoon that still has an active sea grass bed, Mr. Baker said that making the channel deeper would also adversely affect the area because more boaters and bigger boats would pass through, damaging the aquatic preserve through higher traffic volume.

There are two permits that have yet to be issued for the boat ramp improvement project to move forward, or at least, they were the only two hurdles until the petition was filed, Mr. Mora said.

The project as it stands will impact the surrounding wetlands, but mitigation has been prepared to lessen the impact, and could actually have a positive effect on the area, Mr. Mora said.

Because Oslo Road is unpaved as it approaches the boat ramp and the lagoon, the rain causes all the sand, silt and other pollutants from the road to wash directly into the lagoon, he said.

With the paved road, the area will be improved to include ditches where the rainwater runoff will have a chance to be treated before impacting the lagoon, Mr. Mora said.

In addition, dredging the channel will just put the channel back to the depth it was originally created to be, allowing boaters that already use the boat ramp to have easier access into the water, he said.

"We want to remove about 1 foot of build-up, of muck, and re-establish the channel so boats don't get stuck there," Mr. Mora said. Mr. Baker said that making the channel deeper would also adversely affect the area because more boaters and bigger boats would pass through, damaging the aquatic preserve through higher traffic volume.

Indian River County has more boat ramps per capita than either Brevard or St. Lucie counties and if more boat ramps are desired, there are other locations that would suit just fine, Mr. Baker said.

"For 50 years Oslo has been used for small boats and kayaks and wading fishermen. And the road functions very well, people can park there already. Why mess it up?"

"Instead they want to eat up the mangroves and the grasses that serve as habitat for small snook that grow and are protected there," Mr. Baker said.

Once a judge is selected to hear the petition, both sides will present testimony and witnesses for their cases and the judge will decide whether or not the project should be moved forward, or halted, Mr. Mora said.

"We're really at a standstill," he said.

Canteen program expands into North part of county

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Salvation Army of Indian River County has announced that its Mobile Feeding Canteen Program has expanded into North Indian River County with the formation of the North County Hunger Relief Coalition.

In February 2013, Council Member Andrea Coy from Sebastian was approached by the Salvation Army for ideas on how to increase their service and presence in North Indian River County. Feeding the hungry jumped off the page as an immediate need that the Salvation Army was already serving in Vero Beach on Mondays and Fridays.

On Feb. 6, 2012, a meeting was convened by Council Member Coy at Sebastian City Hall to discuss the issue and possible solutions. Three nonprofits were present, The Salvation Army, By-the-River and the Ecumenical Council Food Pantry and Sebastian WalMart.

A second meeting was held on March 10, 2013, at Sebastian City Hall. The meeting was attended by the Salvation Army, By-the-River, the Ecumenical Council Food Pantry, and Council Member Coy.

The nonprofits still agreed that feeding the homeless and hungry was a major need in North Indian River County. The Salvation Army volunteered the use of their food truck on Wednesdays to serve this purpose. Wal-Mart Manager Mark Rodgers had previously agreed to Wednesdays and had offered to set up the food truck behind the Sebastian Wal-Mart. Council Member Coy offered to solicit other non-profits to participate as volunteers.

On April 3, a final meeting was held at Sebastian City Hall with all involved entities. It was agreed that they would begin by serving 150 hot meals every Wednesday beginning on April 24.

Nahir Hoffman was introduced to the group by Council Member Andrea Coy as the project coordinator.

Sal Neglia was able to secure the use of the St. Sebastian kitchen to cook the meals.

The purpose of the North County Hunger Relief Coalition, a coalition of nonprofit organizations, is to provide a platform to unite all North Indian River County nonprofits with a common mission of feeding the hungry in the area. It is recognized that there are many organizations that currently individually serve and assist those in need of supplemental food assistance.

The goal of NCHRC is to allow all the individual programs a forum and opportunity to combine resources, avoid duplication of services, and make the sum total of services and resources greater than its individual programs.

In order to sustain a project of this magnitude donations are needed to purchase food and supplies along with volunteers to help cook and deliver the food.

For more information about helping the North County Hunger Relief Coalition with donations or volunteers contact Andrea Coy at (772) 388-0961 or Nahir Hoffman at (797) 306-2341

Chamber offers leadership program

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Leadership Indian River County is a community leadership program offered by the Indian River County Chamber of Commerce starting in January 2014.

The seven-session training program will bring together a cross-section of the community, for a hands-on, multi-disciplinary study of our community. Participants will gain an introduction to the infrastructure, natural resources and current political issues of Indian River County.

The program is based on a model that incorporates nourishing and developing community leaders: building community knowledge, developing leadership skills, and gaining an understanding of community stewardship. The program will prepare participants for more active involvement in public and private sectors and civic responsibility creating a better informed and vigorous leadership with a greater understanding of county needs - now and in the future.

Participants will be selected on the basis of demonstrated leadership ability as well as evidence of community interest and commitment. Nominations may be submitted by individuals, area businesses and community organizations.

Tuition for the program is $825 per person, and a variety of scholarships are available. Scholarships are supported by Marine Bank &

Trust, United Way, New Vision Eye Center, HR Dynamics, and Leadership Project588.

For more information contact the Indian River County Chamber of Commerce at leadership@indianriverchamber.com.

New road islands are ridiculous

The new islands in the middle of U.S. 1 in Fort Pierce are ridiculous. To go one way, you have to go the other way. There are no left turns allowed, and gas prices are too high for all that turning around.

Dog owners, clean up

I'm all for cleaning up after your dog. I live in a community with a pet section, and I clean up after my dog. Not everyone does, though. When I take my dog out, she heads back to her own property to take care of business. All dog owners should be more careful.

Ask for advice

I think that the U.S. government should ask the Shiites and the Sunnis how to run a government. The idiots we have in office have no idea.

What is AT&T trying to do?

We people on fixed incomes cannot afford a double phone bill. We can't afford prescriptions and now, we can hardly afford a phone line that most of use for emergencies only. At this time, as hard as it is, why let this awful thing happen?

Beware of drugs, not smoke

The most recent proclamation banning smoking on hospital grounds is a farce. There is more danger inside the hospital with the drugs that are used. Patients should pay more attention to what they are given. They might be surprised.

What happened to jobs for Americans?

How come on every construction site I see, there are nothing but illegal aliens working? What about the jobs going to Americans? Our kids are starving, and we are paying illegals to work here. It needs to stop.

Automated phone systems

Whatever happened to the time you could call a business number and speak to someone? Now all you get is a machine telling you to press 1, 2 or sometimes up to 4 numbers. I have tried calling a local business, and with all the options given, I got none for the reason I wanted. I called the main office number and got the same thing. Do I need to make a trip to the office?

Cops should share cars

It is up to us, the people, to manage and elect those who best serve our purpose. It is therefore up to discussion, in this time of a sagging economy, how to best spend money we no longer have. It is, of course, to spend where necessary and eliminate that which we can't afford.

One observation is that police officers, by taking their police

The ins and outs of system files

Take a look around any computer's hard drive and you will notice hundreds, no, thousands of things that are known as "System files." These are files that your computer needs to operate. Delete, re-name or move them and your machine could start acting like Forrest Gump.

People are often surprised to find out just how many things there are in a typical computer that do not "belong to them."

Now, I know it's logical to think "hey, it's my computer; every file in it belongs to me." That may be true but most of the files on your computer really "belong" to the system. Meddle with them and you risk breaking your Windows.

Let me explain. Items on your hard drive are, essentially, files which are organized into groups called folders or directories. These files are either system files, user files or a combination system/user file.

COMPUTE THIS

Your operating system (Windows) is a program that relies on a plethora of files to function properly. Most of these files (system files) are so necessary that without them, Windows won't run at all. Many times system files have cryptic names and you have no idea what they are when you see their icon. The rule of thumb to follow is "unless you are absolutely sure what a file is, don't mess with it."

Sometimes, as luck would have it, system files may be named similarly to one of your own files. This can cause a problem if you're not careful because not everything on your computer is what you think it is. Always make absolutely sure a file is what you think it is before you delete or modify it.

An easy way to check a file is to right click it and then click (with the left button) "Properties" and then click "Details." This will allow you to take a quick peek at a file without opening it (or accidentally running it if it's a program file) to determine what it is. If it's a system file, chances are you won't understand what you are seeing in the details page and that's your clue; if you don't understand it, don't delete it.

If a file is "one of yours," you will recognize it right away in details. If you recognize it as not being a system file, you can do what you want with it.

"So, what about all of these things that I don't need? How do I get rid of them?" Well, the safest answer to that is to get rid of them "mentally." In other words ignore them. One of the skills that any good computerist develops is the ability to ignore all of the things that don't apply to the task at hand.

Some files, the ones that are half user files and half system files, are necessary for certain programs to run. If these files are modified, the operating system (Windows) will still run but the program that "owns them" may not.

How do you tell which are which? You don't need to. It all boils down to "if you are not absolutely clear what a file is, assume it's a system file and leave it alone!" And that's good advice.

Sean McCarthy fixes computers. He can be reached at (888) 752-9049 or help@ComputeThisOnline.com (No Hypens!)

vehicles home at the end of their shift, are not making the best use of our limited motor pool. I thought, like you, it is a deterrent to crime if you have a neighbor with his police vehicle in the driveway. It could be, but it is taking a vehicle that could be used by the next shift. It amounts to more than the gas, etc., on the bottom line.

I only know of one officer, who uses his vehicle this way. There is another area in which I have lived, where an officer has three vehicles parked in his driveway from three different cities.

So, let's share a ride.

Cell phone users should be fined

Why haven't officials banned the use of cell phones while driving?

Yesterday I had a woman on her cell phone cut me off as she pulled out onto a major road. I have a large van and there was no way she didn't see me coming.

There was a woman on her cell phone who was not paying that much attention to her driving. She kept drifting over into the other lanes. I'm sorry to say I didn't have any way to contact 911 to report either of these.

If you need to use your phone, pull over and stop to talk. It should be made a law, with a hefty fine, if not observed.

Poopy politics

Both politicians and diapers need to be changed often and for the same reasons.

Act like trash, pick up trash

Recently, several articles were written ranting about litter problems. We have many people committing criminal acts within our community. These people rob us, harm us, commit property damage, take advantage of us and give our community a bad name. I think it's time to pay it back.

The misdemeanor offenders get litter projects along with jail time. They wear fluorescent T-shirts that state "I Love My Community and I'm Paying Back." Everyone will see them and this if not a lesson learned at least it will benefit us.

The message it speaks is "Act like trash then pick up trash." I would much rather see our tax dollars pay for supervision of a program like this that truly benefits us as a whole.

Can't feel safe

There are so many things to worry about these days. There are so many crimes being committed by young and old alike. It's impossible to feel safe leaving your windows open or going for a walk in the evening time. It's as if we live in a time in which we must carry a stick or worse, a gun, to feel safe.

Memorials are a distraction

There are two memorials to accident deaths on the side of roads that I know of.

I know they are special to the friends and family, but they are also so beautiful that people driving by take a second and third look. People turn around in the street to go back and view it again. People stop on the side of the road and take pictures, etc.

All these things are very dangerous, and create an accident waiting to happen again.

I really don't think we need such elaborate memorials on the side of the roads.

I mean no disrespect to the dead or the friends and family who are hurting, but we don't need any more hurting due to another accident.

There are so many distractions for drivers now, that we don't need to build more.

What are our priorities?

When the teachers union brags about our education system, reflect on the statistic that Americans spend 4.7 hours per day watching TV, but only 17 percent of us can name at least three members of the U.S. Supreme Court. We know "Jersey Shore" and "Dancing with the Stars" but we know little about George Washington or Thomas Jefferson. How can teachers pretend to be proud of our public schools?

Enough with commercials

Today we are flooded with cable TV, Direct TV and Dish Network programming. These are old technology and old money-making schemes, and we are bombarded with commercial after commercial, with little entertainment, unlike the good old days, when each and every program had at least one sponsor, we now have as many as 10 or more 30-second annoying commercials.

Why not have these satellite programs on the new digital side channels of the local T.V. stations? That would be as close to ala carte programming as possible.

The religious and Latino channels are already enjoying the riches of local audiences, so why not CNN, MSNBC, Bravo, HBO, etc. Cable TV, Dish network and Direct TV are expensive for the amount of real entertainment.

The massive doses of commercials are negating the entire

Animal hospital re-opens, will host open house

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — Planet Pet Animal Hospital will celebrate its grand re-opening under new ownership with a community open house event on Saturday, Oct. 12, from 1- 4 p.m.

The Vero Beach veterinary practice, located at the corner of 45th Street and U.S. 1, changed hands in early August of this year and is now owned and operated by Charles Witte, DVM along with his wife, Jennifer.

Open house attendees will be offered complete tours of the facility and the opportunity to talk with the doctor and staff as well as enjoy food and refreshments.

Event sponsors such as Hill's and Iam's will be sampling their latest pet treats and there will be plenty of giveaways including reusable water bottles, grocery totes, coupons for pet medications and more. Planet Pet even carries a private label shampoo by Stratford and will be giving away trial sizes.

"We want to give current and new clients the chance to come and meet Dr. Witte, tour our facilities and get to know us in a casual and fun environment," Mrs. Witte said.

"We're really looking forward to opening our doors to the community, seeing familiar faces and meeting new ones too. We want everyone to feel welcome to drop by, have a bite to eat and pick up some freebies for their furry friends" said Dr. Witte.

The event is free and open to the public. Event sponsors include Hill's, Iam's, Zoetis, MWI, Stratford, Merial and Elanco.

Food is being provided by Planet Pet's next door neighbor, A Butcher Shoppe and a Bit More.

Planet Pet Animal Hospital is dedicated to the health and well-being of small animal pets. Owner and Veterinarian, Dr. Charles H. Witte, has been practicing since 1999.

Born and raised in Oklahoma, Dr. Witte attended both The University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma State University. Dr. Witte graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1993 and went on to attend Oklahoma State University College of Veterinary Medicine where he earned his Doctorate in 1999.

After completing a small animal internship at Gulf Coast Veterinary Referral Hospital in Sarasota, FL he went on to practice for the next six years at Fort Lauderdale's Wag'n Tails Animal Hospital. He later relocated to Ocala where he has practiced for the last seven years at the prestigious Dannelon Animal Hospital. His acquisition of Planet Pet Animal Hospital fulfills his aspirations of owning his own veterinary practice and he is pleased to call Vero Beach and Planet Pet home.

Planet Pet Animal Hospital is located at 2190 45th Street, Suite 103 in Vero Beach at the corner of 45th and U.S. 1.

working due to injuries sustained from a car accident.

Everyone has proclaimed that the "new system" of obtaining assistance from the state will be very user-friendly and easier in the long run for all involved. Well, I don't feel that way at all.

I applied for food stamps and temporary cash assistance due to the fact that I have no income and have a child and the child support that I do get is very sporadic. (I am thankful that I do receive it when I do.) I couldn't apply online and had to phone in. I had them send me the application in the mail and then when I received it, I faxed in my proof of income, mortgage, utilities and medical bills, and I did so the day after I received my letter from DCF. I used a friend's fax machine, because I couldn't afford to use a professional one that charged $1 a page, much less I don't have use of my car due to no insurance or an up-to-date registration.

I waited 15 days, like the lady had said, for expedited food stamps. I called many times after the 15 days were up, trying to get an answer only to be hung up on several times due to too many lines being used.

After 30 days of not hearing from them again, by mail, I went online, since they had an updated website for applicants and found that I "chase not to apply." I wanted to pull every last hair out of my head. I had to repeat the process all over again.

In between, I've had friends drive me to the Salvation Army and a few other small food banks so as to not starve. After applying for the expedited food stamps online, where they take your information and just believe it for now, kind of thing, I finally got some help, 35 days later, of $150 for one month, of expedited food stamps. I still had to fax in my proof paperwork again and this would be for the next six months. I could see online how much they already allotted to us and was quite excited that we would be able to eat every day, much less three times a day.

This time a friend took me to a professional fax and paid the $9 for my fax usage. I have been waiting 22 days for this months allotment of food stamps. I have called DCF three times and got through: once a lady told me that yes, my food stamp allotment was approved and it would be available in 24 hours.

The second time a lady said that she didn't know what the hold up was, that it looked like they were just processing it and I would have to wait for the social worker to approve it and they would send a letter.

For some reason, the system isn't working for my case even though I have no income and was diligent in getting all my proof of income and bills into the DCF office.

The third time I called, I asked if there was anything they were waiting on and was told no and I had to wait for my social worker to approve it. I was told I can't ask for my social worker by name for some reason and no one seems to know what's going on.

The website tells me how much is allotted to us and we can't get it. I don't understand. Why we are waiting so long? Especially when we were allotted the amount and all the T's were crossed and I's were dotted. We're hungry.

Ms. Reading pursued the training to enhance her effectiveness as the primary facilitator of Friends After Diagnosis, which frequently welcomes newly diagnosed patients who aren't sure where to turn next. Other meeting participants provide friendship, guidance, and support by sharing their experiences, and Reading - also a breast cancer survivor - works to guide group discussions.

Friends After Diagnosis meetings are open to all breast cancer patients past and present and any family, friends or caregivers they care to bring.

The group exists to ease the journey for those navigating everyday life after a diagnosis that exacts devastating physical and emotional tolls. The group meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month at the Indian River Medical Center Cancer Center from 2- 3:30 p.m., as well as the third Saturdays from 10-11 a.m. in the IRMC executive dining room adjacent to the cafeteria. Discussion meetings alternate with speaker meetings, at which experts give presentations on treatment and other coping resources available on the Treasure Coast and beyond. New Friends are always welcome.

Open house party at high school

John Carrol High School hosting party Oct. 18

For Hometown News
 NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — John Carroll High School is hosting an open house party complete with tours, a free tailgate party, complimentary admission to a home football game, and a chance to win free tuition.

The celebration will be Oct. 18 from 4-6 p.m. on campus. Prospective sixth through 11th graders, along with their families, are encouraged to take advantage of this creative and fun Open House event.

JCHS students, the school's best ambassadors, will be giving tours of the campus while introducing guests to the faculty and staff. There will be opportunities to ask questions regarding the state-of-the-art technology programs, college preparatory curriculum, tuition assistance, the impressive athletic department, and the placement exam.

At the conclusion of the tours, all prospective students and their families can enjoy free hamburgers, hot dogs, and the traditional tailgate specialties under the oak hammock by the football field. Guests can then enjoy complimentary admission to our football game versus Pine Crest, which begins at 7 p.m. At half-time JCHS will be giving away free tuition, a $7,000 value, to a prospective 8th grader who completed the tour.

John Carroll prides itself on giving students the foundation of a Catholic-Christian character combined with a quality education by providing the tools necessary to become morally strong and successful in their collegiate years and beyond. John Carroll offers an atmosphere in which students

Comfortable cuisine, conversation

Small diner has faithful patrons

By Jessica Creagan

SEBASTIAN — For good conversation, friendly service and excellent chow, look no further than JD's Grill and Coney Island in Sebastian.

The little restaurant is tucked into the inside corner of Roseland Plaza on U.S. 1, but the staff is anything but shy.

Even during the busiest hours of the day waitress Dawn Jupin has a friendly "hello" for every single customer who walks through the door, for regular and newbies, although for regulars it is usually accompanied by "Do you want your usual?"

The banter between the wait staff, customers and kitchen staff is amusing and entertaining during a quick breakfast or lunch break.

All you have to do is come in, find a seat and you are assured of finding something good to eat.

The menu is very reasonably priced, with the most expensive item on the menu checking in at just under $9 is the Motor City omelet, made with four extra-large eggs, ham, bacon, sausage, corn beef, green peppers, onions, tomatoes and Swiss and American cheeses.

For breakfast, the restaurant has the traditional combinations of eggs, bacon, ham, cheeses, pancakes and waffles, but for something a little different, try a Mexican breakfast wrap.

The large wrap, which can be made with a white, wheat or spinach tortilla is filled with scrambled eggs with chorizo, cheddar cheese, tomatoes, green peppers and onions and salsa and sour cream.

The delicious and generously-filled wrap is served straight from the stove with the cheese melted and heat rising off the plate, along with a side, either hash browns or home fries.

For a midday meal, there are just as many options, from salads, to soups to sandwiches, and of course, hot dogs.

There are 12 types of hot dogs listed on the menu, including the indubitable Coney Dog.

The Coney Dog is a hot dog smothered in chili and drizzled with onions and mustard, such an excellent combination for a tasty lunchtime treat that takes the mind back to fun times at state fairs and amusement parks.

Linda Dickerson of Micco often dines at JD's and thoroughly enjoys the camaraderie and the cuisine.

"I've never had anything here that wasn't good," Ms. Dickerson said.

Kid's meals are available for those 12 years old and younger.

Restaurant hours are 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

JD's Grill and Coney Island is located in the Roseland Plaza at 13600 U.S., Suite 7, Sebastian. For more information, call (772) 581-9137.

Week of 10-4-2013

ARIES - March 21/April 20

Aries, avoid making promises unless you intend to keep them. If you cannot commit your time or effort, then explain the situation rather than backing out later.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Others view you in an entirely different light than you view yourself, Taurus. Consider their perspectives and keep an open mind. It might just help you grow as a person.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Many ideas are running through your head, Gemini. But you have to stick with one idea and go with it. Though this may seem like trying to find a needle in a haystack, focus will pay off.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

Someone puts all of their faith in you this week, Cancer. Don't be nervous about living up to their expectations. Just operate the way you always do and things will work out.

LEO - July 23/Aug. 23

Leo, a number of things keep you occupied this week. The only difficulty will be narrowing down exactly what you want to do. Give this decision the attention it deserves.

VIRGO - Aug. 24/Sept. 22

Virgo, no matter how many times you voice your opinion, there seems to be one person who just doesn't seem to catch on to your line of thinking. Accept such differences of opinion.

LIBRA - Sept. 23/Oct. 23

Libra, sometimes you put blinders on to situations that make you uncomfortable. It is your way of coping. But this week you need to keep your eyes wide open.

SCORPIO - Oct. 24/Nov. 22

Spaghetti dinner raises money for nonprofit

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The inaugural Spaghetti Dinner fundraiser presented by the Advocacy Committee at SunUp Arc was a huge success with close to 200 attending, raising almost $2,200.

The event took place at SunUp ARC's west campus, with Tania Ortega-Cowan and Regina Tracy serving hungry attendees.

"I was so pleased to see a great turnout for the fundraiser," said Rep. Debbie Mayfield. "We have many people in need in our community and I am so grateful for the hard working people at SunUp ARC that provide resources for people who truly need support."

In 2010 SunUp ARC formed the Advocacy

Committee. Patricia Moody, Scott Connelly, Natalie Urquhart and Michelle Penly volunteered to take on this task. Since the committee was formed, they have been having meetings and attending events to bring about awareness to the community regarding the needs of people with disabilities.

Last March the Advocacy Committee went to Tallahassee to meet with other individuals from across Florida to engage in a statewide campaign to "End the R-word" in Florida. We are so happy to report that their quest was a success, with Governor Scott signing the bill in August to end the "R" word.

"We are all so proud of what the Advocacy Committee has accomplished

Bradley, SunUp ARC executive director.

The spaghetti dinner fundraiser was to help get the funds required to send the Advocacy Committee to Tallahassee again this March to continue their quest on educating the public on special needs individuals.

declaring their intentions.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov. 23/Dec. 21

Sagittarius, this week you will have to do a number of things on your own. Make the most of this situation, as it might just prove to be a good test of character.

CAPRICORN - Dec. 22/Jan. 20

A change of scenery could provide the change in perspective you need right now, Capricorn. The trouble is finding the right time to get away. Plan a weekend trip if you can manage it.

AQUARIUS - Jan. 21/Feb. 18

Aquarius, even though you may not relish the role, you often have to be the voice of reason. Express yourself clearly but take others' ideas into consideration as well.

PISCES - Feb. 19/March 20

Channel all of your creative ideas into one big project, Pisces. Once you have taken that initiative, the project will take off.

The perfect plants for fall

If you are looking for a great carefree plant to use in your garden, why not try some sedum. In one word I would describe these interesting plants as "perfect."

They require very little care from the gardener and when planted in small or large groupings, they look great.

Although not carried by all garden centers, Sedum can be found at many local garden centers. These plants generally look best when planted in small groupings in your garden. They will take center stage during the fall season as that is when you will experience the blooms that they have to offer.

Sedum is not all that picky as to where you plant them. The plants do prefer a well-drained soil but they will do fine even during our rainy season. They do very well in draught conditions as well. Now you know why they are the "perfect" plant. As an added bonus, they even do well in colder temperatures.

You want to try to keep these plants in an area that at least gets some direct sun as if they are in an area with too much shade, they will tend to get very leggy. It is a good idea to prune your plants back once a year, preferably during the summer, to allow the plants to grow bushier and this also helps them to spread out in your garden.

Sedum requires very little maintenance and the old blooms do not have to be removed as they often do with other plant varieties. Watering 2-3 times a week during the summer and only about twice a week during the winter is all that is required of these plants. You may fertilize with an all-purpose water-soluble fertilizer once every couple of months if you wish.

GARDEN NOOK

With the cooler weather just around the corner many of our favorite classic plants will soon be available at your local garden centers. One of my favorite classics is the Geranium. Annual Geraniums are very popular for their wide range of brilliant, colorful flowers plus their foliage is also very attractive.

The types and varieties of these colorful plants vary widely from cultivars that grow 6 inches high to some that grow to be several feet tall. Geraniums need a bright location with at least a couple of hours of direct sun in order to thrive. These wonderful plants also need to be planted in well-drained soil otherwise the plants will be prone to fungus infection and disease.

After planting your colorful treasures, you will want to water them abundantly the first few days, taking care to be sure they drain between watering. Water regularly thereafter still ensuring the plants drain and the soil to dry out between watering intervals. When you water your plants, try to avoid getting water on the leaves of the plant as this can lead to possible disease problems. Do not plant geraniums where they will receive their water from a sprinkler system.

Geraniums are heavy feeders and if not fertilized properly, their leaves may yellow and drop. There are several options you can use for fertilizer such as a slow release fertilizer or a water-soluble fertilizer. The slow release fertilizer will need less intervention on your part as some products such as Osmocote and Dynamite feed for as long as six months. Water-soluble fertilizers such as Miracle Gro provide a more immediate fix but will require more frequent feedings about every 2-3 weeks. The water-soluble feeding solutions are quite safe and there is little chance of burning your plants.

There are a couple of things you can do to prolong how many flowers your plants will produce. Probably the single most important solution is to pinch the spent flowers off the stems on a regular basis. This will ensure a season of beautiful color.

Pinching also has the advantage of helping to produce well-branched and full plants. A good rule of thumb when choosing your treasures is to pick plants that not only have abundant flowers but also have lots of tight buds. Look for dark green foliage with not a lot of yellow leaves or yellowing at the tips of the leaves.

Tournament to raise money for those with cancer, families

Every week, ordinary people tee it up on the PGA, LPGA, Champions and Web.com tours to have a little fun and to help out charities. Many of us cannot afford a few thousand dollars to play in a Tour Pro-Am. We, instead, have to settle for just dreaming of it.

Thanks to the 2013 Celebrities Fore Kids Golf Classic, you now have your chance. You may not get to play with Tiger or Phil or Ernie or Rory, but on Monday, Dec. 2, you can tee it up and play with a famous athlete or celebrity.

Champions Tour player and 1992 Senior U.S. Open Champion, Larry Laoretti and legendary musician and Bon Jovi drummer, Tico Torres are teaming up to host the 2013 Celebrities Fore Kids Golf Classic at the prestigious Bear's Club in Jupiter.

This year's event promises to be a great day for golf and for kids with cancer in the area. To say the list of celebrities and sports figures has some of the biggest names is big is an understatement. I could start a pretty good baseball team with the ball players who have participated in this event. Jim Palmer, and Jim Kaat would make a pretty solid front end of a starting rotation. Then I could put my all-time favorite ball player, Mike Schmidt at third. These guys may not play competitively on the diamond anymore, but they are quite serious when it comes to golf and helping out children.

If you're into hockey and have a favorite player, there is a chance you could tee it up with Hall of Famers

Clark Gillies or Bobby Orr.

From the links, 1969 Open Champion and 1970 U.S. Open Champion Tony Jacklin joins Dana Quigley, Larry Ziegler, Michelle McGann and Jackie Gallagher-Smith have helped out. It's also likely that Jack and Barbara Nicklaus will attend the awards dinner and participated in the live auction.

The event, which raises money for children with cancer on Florida's Treasure Coast, kicks off with a pre-tee cocktail party on Sunday, Dec. 1 at the Bear's Club, Jack's personal private club, where players will be paired with their celebrities. It's a great way to end the weekend and get ready for golf on Monday. You can hang out with the celebrities and enjoy an evening of relaxation.

Cancer is an emotionally and financially exhausting experience for many families. Celebrities Fore Kids goal and purpose is to offer financial as well as emotional and social support to children and families who have a family member going through treatment and who cannot otherwise obtain assistance. The charity's intent is to help with related daily living expenses which negatively impact the family's health, well-being and quality of life.

Celebrities For Kids, through its partnerships, provides financial assistance for: transportation to and from treatment centers; non-covered medical and prescription expenses; rent or mortgage payments; automobile payments and maintenance; gift cards for food, gas and clothing; daily living expenses such as phone, water and electric; and individual and/or family counseling.

In its 12-year existence, Celebrities For Kids, has raised well over $1.5 million. In addition, along with the Robert & Carol Weissman Cancer Center, the charity has provided assistance to more than 100 Treasure Coast families with adults who have cancer and are supporting their minor children through a most difficult time.

The Golf Classic begins with registration and buffet luncheon beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Monday. From there it's to the carts and the links for an 18-hole scramble beginning at noon followed by cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and an awards dinner. There will also be a live and silent auction featuring travel and vacation packages, golf certificates and memorabilia from the celebrities.

The Celebrities Fore Kids Golf Classic is a wonderful opportunity for anyone to help out children who need our assistance as they battle a terrible condition. In return, you get a truly memorable day with one of your sports or celebrity heroes. The best part is while enjoying your day you will be helping Celebrities Fore Kids assist many children and their families in the area.

Sponsorship packages start at just $150 with sponsor and play packages beginning at $1,250. If you'd prefer to just attend the luncheon, awards dinner or auction, there are packages available for those as well.

The field is limited to 20 groups, so please sign up as early as possible to ensure your place in the field. Corporate sponsorships are also available. To enter yourself or group, or for more information, call (772) 781-7943 or visit www.celebritiesforekids.org.

Horseback Poker Ride taking place in November

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Citizens for the St Sebastian Preserve will host the ninth annual Horseback Poker Ride and Camp-out on Nov. 9. This event is a fundraiser to help meet the recreational and conservation goals of the St Sebastian River Preserve State Park. Participants will ride a 10 mile trail, stopping to pick playing cards along the way. Prizes will be awarded for the best and worst Poker Hands as well as awards for oldest rider, youngest rider, oldest horse etc. All proceeds are donated to the Park.

Riders pay $20 for their first hand and $5 for each additional hand. The $20 fee includes lunch, door prizes and other awards. Camping is also available Nov. 8-10.

Pre-registration is requested for Poker Ride participants, but campers must register by Nov. 1. The event is held on the north-west portion of the State Park, alongside the Visitor Center. It is accessed via County Road 507 in Fellsmere, on the north border of the C-54 canal. You must have your own horse to participate in the Poker Ride. Please note that is now Florida Law that all children under 16 riding in a State Park must wear a helmet, exceptions will not be made. Riders must also show proof of negative Coggins.

The Citizens for the St Sebastian Preserve is recognized by the Florida Park Service as the Citizen Support Organization for the St Sebastian River Preserve State Park. A CSO serves as a volunteer organization to help meet their Park's goals, both physical and financial.

During this time of budget cuts, your State Park needs you more than ever. The Citizens for the St Sebastian Preserve, thanks to funds raised by the Horseback Poker Rides supplies the port-a-pottie appreciated by horseman and hikers alike on the south side Ranch Camp, has purchased monitoring and research equipment for Scrub Jay and Red Cockaded Woodpecker research, built more horse stalls at the Horsemen's Camp, provided supplies and food to Park Service Fire Crews, and more. Just as important is the CCSP's job in providing advice and guidance to the Park Staff on the needs and concerns of the general public in regards to Park issues.

Besides the financial and volunteer support it provides the Park, the CCSP gives the public a direct line to the Park Staff. It is vitally important to those who use the Park and are interested in its' future, be they hikers, equestrians, kayakers, neighbors etc., to be a part of the CSO.

All members of the community; hikers, bikers, riders, kayakers, birders, neighbors and all lovers of nature are invited to stop by the Visitor's Center on the day of the Poker Ride from 10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Rangers and CSO members will be hand on to answer questions to members of the public interested in learning more about becoming members of the Citizens for the St Sebastian Preserve. Bring the family and find out more about your State Park, its CSO and how you can help preserve this amazing resource for us all.

For more information and to get registration forms for the Poker Ride visit www.nbbd.com/npr/cpa or contact Patti Fuchs at (772) 643-4925 or email treasurecoastrailriders@gmail.com

Vero Beach resident to compete in pageant

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — Betsy Horn, the winner of the 2013 Ms. Senior Florida Pageant, held at Vero Beach Performing Arts Center in March, is going on to the Ms. Senior America Pageant on Oct. 20-25 in Atlantic City, N.J.

Ms. Horn will vie for the national honor in four categories that are designed to display the contestant's inner beauty as well as outer poise. Contestants aged 60 and over, are judged on an interview, inner beauty, evening gown and talent.

Regency Park, sponsor of the Florida event, is stepping up as sponsor again for the 2014 Ms. Senior Florida Pageant, which will be held in Vero Beach at the same location. Other local sponsors include Aloha Home Care, Minute-man Press, VNA of the Treasure Coast, Hometown News, 97.1 Ocean FM, Aaron's Hearing Center, Ocean Drive Plastic Surgery Center and Senior Life of Florida. The Ms.

Senior Florida Pageant is currently accepting applications for contestants.

"We are proud to sponsor this event that celebrates senior women in Florida that represent community activists from all over the Sunshine State and truly spread a light of joy in the lives of others," said Tim Smick, president and CEO for locally owned and operated Harbor Retirement Associates who manage Regency Park.

Regency Park, an independent senior living community, located in Vero Beach, is committed to making each day a special experience.

Residents enjoy a stress-free lifestyle, framed by lush grounds and island inspired architecture. As one of the most exclusive retirement communities in the country, the professional staff strives to provide an array of activities and opportunities for friendship that provide life enriching experiences. Regency Park offers spacious apartments or villas in varying floor plans. Maintenance and weekly housekeeping are included, along with an active social calendar to help residents plan their own social events and participate in community outings.

Center seeks food drive collection sites

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Harvest Food & Outreach Center is looking for local businesses, organizations and churches to serve as collection sites for its Hunger-Free Holidays Food Drive through Dec. 21. All donations will be used to stock the shelves of Harvest's Emergency Food Pantry to help those that are hungry and hurting to provide them with food and hope during this holiday season.

Harvest experiences the greatest need during the summer months and holiday season when children are on school break. The holiday season is a particularly tough time for families in need and Harvest is reaching out to the community to assist us in making sure that families have enough food on their tables during their holiday celebration.

Harvest Food & Outreach Center is also offering regularly scheduled tours of its central Indian River County campus, located at 2746 U.S. 1 in Vero Beach, beginning Oct. 17 and every Thursday following through May 29, from 11:30-12:30. Reservations are required and can be made by calling (772) 563-8385 or email donna@harvestfood-outreach.org. Lunch will be provided.

Harvest Food & Outreach Center, founded in 2003 by Austin and Ginny Hunt in Indian River County, provides a holistic, multi-component approach that provides a hand up to those living at or under the 200 percent federal poverty level. Harvest's unique model offers a comprehensive three-tiered approach to lifting people out of poverty through: 1) a Hunger Relief Program that includes an Emergency Food Box and Cost Share Grocery Program, 2) a Crisis Center that stabilizes people in crisis through counseling and active referrals to services, and 3) Education and Employment Opportunity Programs that address the source of the problem and provides long term solutions for those in need toward self-sufficiency.

To learn how you can help make this holiday season hunger-free and to get a Harvest Food Drive Kit, call (772) 564-9365 or email programs@harvestfood-outreach.org.

Fishing the Kissimmee River

My ol' friend and fishing buddy, David Lowery, and I decided to try something a little different: fish the Kissimmee River. We both had fished the river before (and did catch some bass), but that was several years ago.

The Kissimmee River crosses Route 60, about 15 miles west of Yeehaw Junction. There are two boat ramps to launch from immediately after crossing the bridge. The first ramp is a little easier to launch from because it has deeper water for your boat. The second ramp is down the down, past the first ramp and easy to access, just not as deep.

Well, we got our boat in the water, life jackets on, everything secured, headed south, start looking for the lily pads and started fishing. It was a pleasant day (as is any day on the water). It seemed as if the air was a little cooler, the humidity was down and there was no rain.

Both sides of the river produced about the same number of fish, and the size of the fish were the same (nothing big), but you had something pulling on the other end of the line, and that's what it's all about.

FISHING TALES

Bait wise, we used worms, senkos, spinner baits, and crank baits, all colors and sizes. They seemed to bite better on the bait that had some green mixed in with the regular color.

In a three mile stretch that we fished, we probably saw three other boats that were fishing.

Unfortunately, the day did not end like it started. Around noon, all hell broke loose!

We were drifting along the outside of the lily pads when an air boat came close to us and then cut right in front of us to where we were fishing. The air boat was following the lily pads all along the shore line, weaving in and out of the pads, making certain that the fish would be gone for us.

Now, I enjoy riding in air boats, but I can't understand how grown folks continue doing what they do when they are on the water.

In years past, I (and others) have had this type of water craft come as close to me as the same distance when you're casting for bass. Now, that's not enjoyable.

Air boats: please keep us in mind. We enjoy our fishing as much as you enjoy your water-craft. The water belongs to all of us. Let all of us enjoy it. Courtesy goes a long way. Most air-boaters understand the meaning of courtesy and we fisherman appreciate those folks.

Thank you for understanding.

Have fun, stay safe, enjoy, and "Go Catch A Big'un."

Simply beautiful

Cliff Partlow/staff photographer

Jay Williams, Vero Beach Museum of Art Curator of Exhibitions and Collections, explains the concept of the new exhibit called Simply Beautiful: Photographs from National Geographic to Lisa Angell, left and Willie Miller Friday afternoon. The exhibit, in the Schumann and Titelman Gallery, is the first exhibit at the museum to encourage visitors to take pictures of the art. An after school photo class for students is planned.
