Stay Safe In Summer Heat

With summer approaching and the temperatures rising please be aware of the need for caution when participating in physical activities outdoors.

There is a heat index flag system to help assist you in the decision making process. It is as follows: white flag-80 degrees and under-unrestricted physical activity may be carried out; green flag-80-84.9 degrees-unrestricted physical activity may be carried out; yellow flag-85-87.9 degrees-physical activity is advised only for personnel who have been working out in similar weather for a minimum of 10 days; red flag-88-88.9 degrees-physical activity is advised for personnel who have been working out in similar heat for 12 weeks or more; black flag-90 plus degrees-vigorous outdoor activity is prohibited.

The flags are flown at the flag pole in front of the Gym, Building #1391, with updates provided three to four times a day. You can also call the Gym at 270-5451 to find out the heat flag index.

Mullen Tapped For Joint Chiefs Chair

From American Forces Press Service

Defense Secretary Robert M. Gates announced June 8 that he will recommend that President Bush nominate Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Mike Mullen to replace Marine Gen. Peter Pace as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In a Pentagon news conference, Gates said he also will recommend Marine Gen. James E. Cartwright for the position of vice chairman. Cartwright is the commander of U.S. Strategic Command. Navy Adm. Edmund P. Giambastiani Jr., the current vice chairman, announced his decision to retire last week.

"I have become well acquainted with Admiral Mullen over the last six months and believe he has the strategic insight, experience and integrity to lead America's armed forces," Gates said.

Gates said he intended to renominate Pace and Giambastiani but after consulting with senators of both parties came to the following conclusions:

"Because General Pace has served as chairman and vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the last six years, the focus of his confirmation process would have been on the past rather than the future," Gates said.

He said the confirmation process would have the possibility of being quite contentious.

"I am no stranger to contentious confirmations, and I do not shrink from them," Gates said. "However, I have decided at this moment in our history the nation, our men and women in uniform, and General Pace himself would not be well-served by a divisive ordeal in selecting the next chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Pace will continue to serve as chairman until his term ends Sept. 30. He is the first Marine to hold the position.

Pace, a 1967 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, served as a rifle platoon leader in Vietnam and commanded at all levels of the Marine Corps. He was serving as the commander of U.S. Southern Command when nominated to be the vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 2001. He took office weeks after the 2001 terrorist attacks in New York and Washington.

In 2005, he was nominated to be the chairman. The chairman serves as the principle military advisor to the president, secretary of defense and the National Security Council.

Mullen is a 1968 graduate of the Naval Academy. He is surface-warfare qualified and has commanded three ships: USS Noxabee (AOG 56), USS Goldsborough (DDG 20) and USS Yorktown (CG 48). As a flag officer he commanded the George Washington Battle Group and served as the commander of U.S. 2nd Fleet/NATO Striking Fleet Atlantic.

CDS 24 Leaves On Humanitarian Mission

By Lt. Andrew Biesterveld CDS 24 PAO

Mayport-based Destroyer Squadron (DESRON) 24 departed for the hospital ship USNS Comfort on June 11 to lead one of the ship's most complex and highest visibility missions in its 20-year history.

The mission is planned as part of U.S. Southern Command Partnership of the Americas. U.S. Southern Command is headed by Adm. Jim Stravridis.

This deployment is modeled in part on last year's USNS Mercy deployment to southeast Asia and the western Pacific that delivered substantial medical and dental support to a significant number of people in remote locations.

"Comfort's mission is to provide the region a mobile, flexible, and rapidly responsive afloat medical capability for a number of missions and training opportunities in Central America, South America and the Caribbean Sea region," said Capt. Robert E. Kapcio, Commander, DESRON 24 and mission commander for the numerous and multi-faceted detachments embarking USNS Comfort.

One of the nation's go-to ships in emergencies such as Hurricane Katrina, the Comfort will embark on a four-month humanitarian assistance mission of 12 countries in Central and South America, and the Caribbean.

The mission was announced by Pres. Bush prior to his trip to Latin America in March as part of his America's Initiative. While deployed USNS Comfort will be under operational control of Mayport based-U.S. Naval Forces Southern Command (NAVSOC) and tactical control of DESRON 24. The Navy is working with numerous governmental and non-governmental agencies, as well as foreign governments to plan this mission. Comfort will depart from Norfolk, Va., where it is picking up the remainder of its approximately 800-person complement in mid-June for its first mission stop in Belize.

The wide range of participants in the Comfort mission include U.S. Navy SEABEES from 22 NCR, Fleet Forces Band, SH-60S helicopter detachment from HSC-28, Fleet Forces Public Affairs Center, a Mobile Security detachment, civilian mariners from Military Sealift Command, Project Hope, Operation Smile, Project Handclasp, and many others. Additionally, personnel from the U.S. Air Force, U.S. Coast Guard, and the Canadian military are assisting.

After the decommissioning of the USS John F. Kennedy and the associated Carrier Strike Group Six staff, DESRON 24, formerly the Surface Warfare element of Carrier Strike Group Six, was tapped to serve as the command element for this unique mission.

DESRON 24 personnel have led the detailed planning of this massive, multi-national, and inter-organizational effort since

CNO Nixes CPO Degree Mandate

From Naval Education and Training Command and Master Chief Petty Officer of the Navy Public Affairs

Recognizing that current operational tempo and support for the global war on terrorism have made it challenging for some Sailors to complete their rating-related associate degree, Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Mike Mullen has rescinded the requirement for chief petty officers to have their associate degree to be eligible for advancement to senior chief.

"Times have changed since we developed the requirement two years ago," said Mullen. "We still view education as exceptionally valuable for our senior enlisted force. But we realize that in light of the challenges Sailors face in today's dynamic security environment, not everyone has the same opportunity to pursue an associate degree."

Nearly nine months of analysis resulted in a set of statistics

CNO and the master chief petty officer of the Navy determined too detrimental to the career opportunities of a significant number of chief petty officers. If the policy were to remain in effect, fully 35 percent of the chiefs eligible for advancement in fiscal year 2011 would be at extreme risk of not meeting the requirement.

"That 35 percent represented our most sea-intensive and GWOT ratings," said Master Chief Petty Officer of the Navy (SW/FMF) Joe R. Campa Jr. "This places them at an unacceptable disadvantage in competing for advancement. Now, more than ever, it is important that we advance our people based on leadership and their commitment to the success of the men and women they lead."

This policy revision shifts the focus from education as a requirement for advancement

A Day Never To Forget

-Photo by MC2 Leah Stiles Jacksonville Councilwoman Elaine Brown presents a proclamation honoring the Sailors who died on D-Day, June 6, 1944, to Capt. John O'Neil, USN (Ret), commander of the First Coast Commandery of the U.S. Naval Order. The U.S. Naval Order is spearheading a drive to erect a monument to the Navy on Utah Beach in Normandy, France.

Captain's Column

Congratulations to the Security Department's Kennel for receiving Navy Region Southeast's Kennel of the Quarter for the second quarter in a row. These Sailors work hard with their dogs everyday to keep the base safe. Great job!

The USO and MWR did a great job on the summer Kick Off party by the pool. Thanks to Military Bank of America, NFCU, Base Services, Mike Davidson Ford, MWR and all the USO volunteers who came out to support the Sailors and the families. A special thanks to the volunteers that performed in the dunk tank and MWR and Public Works for getting the pool open in time for the holiday weekend.

Individual Augmentee (IA) assignments in support of the Global War on Terrorism are an important role many of our Sailors on this base have filled.

Capt. Charles King

The process for filling these assignments is changing.

Navy Personnel Command will be placing IA assignments in negotiations for PCS orders later this year. This will lessen the short notice IA assignments to give Sailors and families more time to get prepared. The CNO continues the policy that every Sailor E-4 to O-7 should expect to do an IA in every rank. With CNO's announcement that he is moving to the Chairman of the JCS, I would not expect this policy to change.

As part of the Operation Security program, please remember to shred all documents that contain personal and official information to keep them out of the wrong hands. Something that might not seem important to you may be golden puzzle piece for a criminal or terrorist. Security is a team effort, but it's an individual responsibility.

The summer heat is here. Housing residents and all of us who live off station need to be aware of water consumption when watering lawns.

The St John's River Water Management District has restrictions in place due to severe draught conditions. No watering between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and no more than two days per week. Please keep your watering in check.

Speaking of heating up, don't forget to maintain your vehicle and keep a check on its fluids. Too many just "turn the key and go" and that practice will eventually leave you stranded.

Also be aware of the need for caution when participating in physical activities outdoors. There is a heat index flag system to help assist you in the decision making process.

It is as follows: white flag-80 degrees and under-unrestricted physical activity may be carried out; green flag-80-84.9 degrees-unrestricted physical activity may be carried out; yellow flag-85-87.9 degrees-physical activity is advised only for personnel who have been working out in similar weather for a minium of 10 days; red flag-88-88.9 degrees-physical activity is advised for personnel who have been working out in similar heat for 12 weeks or more; black flag-90 plus degrees-vigorous outdoor activity is prohibited.

The flags are flown at the flag pole in front of the Gym, Bldg. 1391, with updates provided three to four times a day. You can also call the Gym at 270-5451 to find out the heat flag index.

The Navy/Marine Corps Relief Society has moved to Bldg. 1363. You can receive assistance by dropping by or by calling 270-5418. Make them your first resource and not your last resort. There are too many scam artists willing to help out there. Don't fall into greedy hands.

It's not too early to begin studying for the next exam. The dates for the next exam are E-6, Sept. 6; E-5, Sept. 13 and E-4, Sept. 20. Take advantage of the study time to advance and put more money in your pocket.

The first turtle nest of the 2007 season has arrived on the station. Sea Turtle program is very important to the station.

The Game Warden and volunteers spend countless hours making sure the nests are protected so that as many turtles as possible can make it back to sea. If you walk on the beach, please be aware that you are sharing it with those eggs and if you see someone or something disturbing a nest area, contact one of the life guards or any security department police officer for further assistance.

Thanks again to Base Services and all those that pitch in for keeping everything looking sharp, and keep those suggestions coming to charles.p.king@navy.mil.

Homefront in Focus

By Beth Wiruth

Military Spouse Support Contributor

We live in an amazing age. Technology has changed every aspect of our lives. I recently replaced my dryer and, would you believe, even my clothes dryer has a computer. Technology has changed our communication and relationships. Because of technology military spouses enjoy unprecedented communication with our deployed sailors as well as family members and friends. Heck, even my telephone service is via the internet.

All this technology opens another resource and connection opportunity for military spouses - online forums. Before I jump into this topic I want to say that for most of my experience as a Navy spouse I have avoided online forums like the plague! I held a healthy disdain for online forums and connection sites. I must now admit that, with certain cautions, online forums can be a valuable source of support for many military spouses.

Online forums, sometimes referred to as bulletin boards, can be a source of information, support, and friendship. For those who may, like me, be late in jumping onto the online forum bandwagon, online forums are internet based communication bulletin boards. They are not limited to military spouses, there are forums for every imaginable interest group, from fan sites to pregnancy to surgical procedures to, yes, military spouses. Even within military spouse forums there is a great deal of diversity, there is an online group for aircraft carriers based at a specific base, or submarine wives or infantry or tanker wives.

I stumbled onto this world researching another topic. I joined one forum hoping to gain information on a particular area that interested me and found that I discovered a community had developed among the "regulars" on this board. And, for many, community is the key word. What starts as a simple "post" (a post is when you type a comment or question that is "posted" on the site for others to read, answer or comment) about PCS orders can lead to information on the process of moving, information about housing, schools, experiences at the new installation, and, very frequently - a waiting friend upon your arrival.

Erin posted a comment about her frustration with childcare options at her base. Lo, and behold, another member of the "forum" was a certified childcare provider from the same base who lived less than 1/2 mile from Erin. These two ladies became quick friends. Nancy posted a quick, "anyone here from San Diego." Out of that post came an exchange of information, resources, friendship and yes, outings to the San Diego Zoo and Sea World where these members met. Where do you find these forums? A quick search of the internet can be very helpful and here are a few places to start. Military Spouse Support Network (military-spousesupport.net), CinChouse (www.cinchouse.com) Navy Knowledge Online (www.nko.navy.mil), Military One Source (www.militaryonesource.com) My Army Life, Too (www.myarmylifetoo.com) are just a few to get you started. Other places to look are in Yahoo and Hotmail groups, MySpace and MSN's Spaces also has special interest group forums but I found those less supportive.

There are a few things to bear in mind when participating in these groups. Common sense internet security should be observed. Do not give out your full name, full address or other private information. OPSEC (Operational Security) is very important. Please do not give particulars about your service member, their unit or unit/command movement. When meeting in person with others from these groups meet in public places several times before meeting in someone's home. Be sure to let family or friends know who you are meeting and when/where you are meeting them. One final caution: avoid the temptation to exchange "virtual friendships" for real relationships at your current location.

Online forums can expand our world, enhance our quality of life and bring rich, rewarding relationships. See you online!

ATG Advancement High

By Lt Brigitte Aungier
ATG Mayport

The recent advancement cycle resulted in six new senior chief petty officers at Afloat Training Group (ATG) Mayport.

Three recent transfers also advanced to senior chief petty officer, making ATG Mayport advancement rates significantly higher than last year.

High advancement rates are attributed to the superior performance, leadership, and mentoring at sea by the Afloat Instructors at ATG Mayport.

Shore duty at ATG Mayport is unique because instructors earn sea pay and their sea counter is activated for training missions on ships.

Chief petty officers are required to be "at-sea" subject matter experts for their area of expertise, directly contributing to warfare area proficiency in the fleet. Each instructor has the opportunity to teach shipboard training teams and is a mentor to the deck plate leadership.

Shore duty at ATG Mayport allows individuals to use their leadership at sea while maintaining current warfare area knowledge, resulting in instructors being highly competitive for advancement.

Gettysburg Returns From SUSTEX II

By Lt.j.g. Andrew Bonderud

USS Gettysburg PAO

USS Gettysburg (CG 64) recently returned from its second Sustainment Exercise with the USS Enterprise Carrier Strike Group, a final, 10-day period of intense preparation before their deployment next month.

During the week and a half, Gettysburg conducted various types of training, including Visit, Board, Search and Seizure (VBSS), Tomahawk strike scenarios, and air defense exercises.

Upon conclusion of the final exercise battle problem, Gettysburg returned to homeport, where Sailors began the first of two pre-deployment leave periods.

Gettysburg's VBSS team conducted two separate boardings of the USNS Prevail, acting as a contact of interest.

While the VBSS teams have conducted extensive training on their own, this was their toughest evaluation to date. Operating in a virtual environment, the team boarded the vessel, searched it for illicit cargo, and detained suspects of interest.

During their final debrief, the team learned that they had earned the highest possible score of "T1" for their superb performance.

Gettysburg's tomahawk team also trained hard and often during the Sustainment Sail.

During multiple, simulated, emergent taskings, Gettysburg's strike team was required to analyze their assignment, plan their missions, and launch a virtual attack with little notice.

Each time, the team executed all requirements on time and proved their readiness for whatever lies ahead of them.

Finally, Gettysburg participated in round-the-clock air defense training for many days.

Because Gettysburg will be the Strike Group's Air Defense Commander during the upcoming deployment, it was of utmost importance that the Combat Information Center

(CIC) teams took advantage of this last opportunity to train with the other units.

Most important for them was the "Final Battle Problem," conducted over the last two days of the Sustainment Sail.

Gettysburg's warfighters had to prepare for attacks from air, surface, and subsurface opposing forces. At the call of "FINEX, FINEX, FINEX," the entire Sustainment Exercise was concluded, and the ship began its return to homeport.

Gettysburg Sailors are now enjoying the fruits of their labor: well-deserved rest and relaxation.

While half the crew has departed on leave, the other half has collapsed to three sections of duty, working one duty day, one half day, and receiving one day off out of three.

Gettysburg will continue with the schedule throughout the entire standdown period.

Taylor Remembers Past While Building Future

By Ensign Megan A Seavey

USS Taylor PAO

USS Taylor (FFG 50) had the honor of committing brothers-in-arms to the sea while underway for SCC-12 operations.

Taylor committed eight prior Sailors and officers while steaming towards the exercise group that would meet and spend the week off the coast of the Bahamas in support of training future submarine captains in tactics and procedures.

Taylor also held its inaugural USS Stark Memorial ceremony to remember the 37 Sailors and officers who died on board the ship after being attacked by Iranian missiles in May 1987. Cmdr. Kurush F. Morris gave a speech and held a moment of silence for all those who were injured or killed in the attack while a memorial cake was distributed to the crew.

As Taylor's crew said goodbye to their brethren, they welcomed aboard the future of the Navy, hosting five Naval Academy 3rd Class Midshipmen throughout the training period.

The midshipmen got a chance to go head to head with officers and enlisted as the ship practiced man overboard drills and evasion tactics.

Taylor worked with CDS 24 Staff, USS Stout (DDG 55) and USS Elrod (FFG 55), during several challenging and lengthy miniwars, practicing multiship screen maneuvers and high value unit protection. This training program gives ships and submarine captains the opportunity to conduct battle tactics and maneuvers that are otherwise simulated during routine training periods and drills.

As the battle scenarios came to a close, Taylor returned to homeport and said farewell to the midshipmen. A lengthy SRA period is up next for Taylor to prepare for its upcoming training and deployment cycle.

McInerney Remembers Fallen Heroes

By Lt.j.g. Lauren Schneider
USS McInerney PAO

While in port at Boston, Mass., for Dorchester Days, a festival commemorating the founding of Dorchester, Mass., in the early 1600s, McInerney was honored to attend a reception and parade in honor of hometown veterans and fallen heroes.

Arriving in Boston Harbor and manning the rails in their whites, McInerney came to Boston very much looking forward to all the events in store for it and its crew during their highly anticipated port visit. McInerney was honored upon arrival and embraced by all those who came to visit and tour its decks.

McInerney Sailors attended the Chief Marshall's Banquet for the Dorchester Day Parade. The guests of honor at the banquet were the Chief Marshalls, including Brian Fountaine, a soldier who lost both legs in battle; Shane Burke, who lost one leg and was severely burned; Chris Saunders, who lost his hearing; Daniel Londono and Edgardo Zayas, both soldiers killed in action and were posthumously honored.

The reception was held on June 1, and the parade was on June 4. McInerney had wonderful turnouts for both events and all Sailors who attended the events had a memorable time.

It was a sobering event in terms of putting a face on the casualties of battle but also filled with optimism and hope that all efforts fielded by the fallen remembered those nights was in support of a much bigger mission, that of world peace.

The reception was attended by 30 McInerney personnel at Florian Hall. Several moving speeches about sacrifice, courage, and the American spirit were delivered by those being honored.

Interaction between crew members, local Dorchester Day supporters, and other guests provided for a sociable evening with the military acting as a common thread among all those present.

"I had a great time. It is always interesting to see how the military connects so many people and leaning about others' stories in the services is pretty inspiring, especially the gentlemen we honored tonight. I'm glad McInerney was invited, it was a nice opportunity," stated Ensign Jon Hirsch.

Despite a chilly overcast weather two days later, the parade went on as planned with a spirited representation from McInerney.

Arriving via trolley, 40 Sailors dressed in their summer whites and led by the Color Guard marched down the route.

"We got a great response going down the route," said marcher Lt.j.g. Tom Sulzer of USS McInerney. "It was fun to see kids waving at you and all the spectators were so happy to have McInerney in town. There was a great turnout even though the weather wasn't so favorable. It was a proud day for many people."

McInerney Sailors will participate in a variety of activities, including a community relations project, color guard at a Red Sox-Yankees game and marching in the Dorchester Day parade. McInerney recently completed a successful six-month Counter-Narco Terrorism deployment to the Caribbean and Eastern Pacific, seizing more than $500,000,000 worth of contraband.

McInerney Color Guard Takes Fenway By Storm

By Lt.j.g. Lauren Schneider
USS McInerney PAO

During a port visit to Boston, Mass., in support of the Dorchester Day festivities, USS McInerney (FFG 8) fielded three Color Guard teams for the surrounding events, including stepping onto the Fenway Park field.

The Color Guard diligently rehearsed and practiced their steps enroute so they would be able to put their best foot forward in Boston. The most visible detail had the honor of doing the detail for the June 1 Yankees vs Red Sox game at Fenway Park.

"It was an awesome experience to actually be on the Field at Fenway. I never thought I would make it on the field, ever. The sold out crowd was great and supportive. This was an incredible opportunity and I'm so glad I was able to be a part of it," remarked Torpedoman's Mate 3rd Class Kennon Kruse.

Details also made appearances at the dedication ceremony of newly constructed Hero's Square, which was built to commemorate a local soldier killed in action in Iraq last year, and the Dorchester Day parade where numerous groups, including McInerney, marched.

USS Phil Sea Thanks Moms

By Ensign Gavin Whittle
USS Philippine Sea PAO

USS Philippine Sea recently honored its uniformed mother Sailors, along with mothers, and grandmothers, in a Junior Enlisted Partnership Program-sponsored luncheon.

Members of the crew served the mothers who dined with Phil Sea Commanding Officer, Capt. Kim Parker, and Executive Officer, Lt. Cmdr. Rich McDaniel, along with Command Master Chief Christopher Thompson.

"Our shipmates, who are also mothers and Sailors, exemplify one of the many important facets of the 'diamond' that makes up the diversity in our Navy," said Parker.

"It was a very nice gesture. It is difficult to be a single parent and on sea duty, so it feels nice to be appreciated," said Sonar Technician Surface 3rd Class Abi Gallimore, the youngest mother on board USS Philippine Sea.

The oldest mother on board, Navy Counselor 1st Class Johnette Burnett said "The gift of motherhood is a responsibility I cherish. The other mothers and I appreciate the support and recognition the ship showed us."

Ship's Serviceman Seaman Samuel Freeman, president of the Junior Enlisted partnership program, said, "We feel that the mothers of Philippine Sea deserved to be recognized and the members of JEPP thought it would be great to recognize the mothers on board Philippine Sea."

North Atlantic Council Military Committee Holds Sea Day Aboard USS Roosevelt

By Ensign Bill Schute
USS Roosevelt PAO

USS Roosevelt (DDG 80) welcomed on board Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (SECGEN), Jaap De Hoop Scheffer of the Netherlands, and American Gen. John Craddock, Supreme Allied Commander Europe (SACEUR), for Standing NATO Maritime Group Two's (SNMG2) North Atlantic Council/Military Committee Sea Day (NAC/MC) on May 23.

USS Roosevelt also welcomed Italian Vice Adm. Roberto Cesserati, Commander Component Command Headquarters Naples, Canadian Gen. Raymond Henault, Chairman of the NATO Military Committee, Italian Adm. Paolo La Rosa, Chief of Navy General Staff, Italian Adm. Giuseppe Lertora, Chief of Italian Navy Fleet, Italian Adm. Giampaolo Di Paolo, Chief of Defense General Staff, numerous NATO Ambassadors, and around 50 members of the press.

Naval vessels from the United States, Italy, Ukraine, Turkey, Greece, Spain and the United Kingdom put on a display of various evolutions the group has been performing over the last several months of their deployment in support of Operation Active Endeavor (OAE).

Highlights from the day included close formation precision maneuvering, an underway refueling demonstration, various fly-bys from different aircraft, an emergency blow of Italian submarine ITS Scire, boarding exercises, and a sail past of all the ships in the force. All the day's events were precisely executed and demonstrated the versatility and interoperability between NATO maritime forces.

Roosevelt and SNMG2's involvement with OAE, however, was the main focus of NAC/MC day. Cesserati strived to clearly demonstrate the value and worth of the operation to NATO and its civilian supporters.

Naples, Cesserati oversees operations to deter terrorism in the Mediterranean and contribute to the peace, stability and security of the region.

OAE requires the participation of a multi-national mix of warships, submarines and aircrafts. Without the cooperation of NATO nations this important operation would not be possible and it would have no value to the safety of the Mediterranean.

OAE is one of many international efforts taking place that focuses on maritime domain awareness as an enabler to combat the Global War on Terrorism.

NAC/MC day clearly demonstrated the success Roosevelt and SNMG2 have in this effort.

The eventful day concluded with an on board press conference featuring the SECGEN, SACEUR, Cesserati, Henault, and Rear Adm. Michael Groothusen (SNMG2).

Most questions were aimed at the value of NATO to Partnership for Peace and Mediterranean Dialogue countries as well as the effectiveness of OAE.

The distinguished guests emphasized the importance of both NATO and OAE to the Global War on Terrorism and the safety of maritime shipping in the Mediterranean.

Moreover, they placed particular emphasis on the safety of Eastern European countries, NATO operations in Afghanistan, and deterring against future terrorist attacks that may spawn from Northern Africa and the Middle East.

The SECGEN also noted that NATO will continue to reach out to more countries and engage them in common purpose dialogue.

He said that it was an accomplishment for NATO to have the Ukrainian navy vessel Ternopil participating in the day's events.

The press conference concluded a day full of highlights and achievements, and all the distinguished guests not only thanked SNMG2, Roosevelt, and its crew for an incredible day at sea, but also for their service to NATO and their respective countries.

It took every Sailor's effort on board Roosevelt to get the ship prepared for the NAC/MC Day 2007, and Roosevelt's Commanding Officer, Cmdr. John Carter said he was extremely proud of his entire crew for their accomplishment.

NS Mayport Releases 2006 Water Quality Report

From Naval Facilities Engineering Command Southeast
 The Naval Facilities Engineering Command (NAVFAC) Southeast, Water Utilities Division, NAS Jacksonville, Florida, is your water utility service provider. We're very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the excellent water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water.

Our water source is three deep wells which draw from the Floridan Aquifer. In 2004, the Department of Environmental Protection performed a Source Water Assessment on our system. These assessments were conducted to provide information about any potential sources of contamination in the vicinity of our wells. The assessment results are available on the FDEP Source Water Assessment and Protection Program website at www.dep.state.fl.us/swapp. Our treatment of your water supply includes aeration for odor control and chlorination to properly disinfect. I'm pleased to report that our drinking water meets federal and state requirements. For further information or questions concerning this report or NAVFAC Southeast Water Utility Division that serves you, it is requested: Navy on-base housing residents first contact their Station Housing Office and activity employees should first contact their safety or environmental offices. All questions will be answered through your activity or directly with the customer. In addition, Navy personnel who live in private residences can also contact NAVFAC Southeast for general questions on water quality or to understand the information provided in other utility CCRs. To contact your water utility, please call NAVFAC Southeast Water Utilities, at (904) 542-6202. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please make that call. NAVFAC Southeast routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws and regulations. Except where indicated otherwise, this table shows the results of our monitoring for the period January 1st to December 31st 2006. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Therefore, some of our data, though representative, is more than one year old.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
Maximum Residual Disinfection Level (MRDL) - The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is a convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
Not Applicable (N/A) - No value limit or restriction has been applied to this particular parameter.

Parts per billion (ppb) - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
Parts per million (ppm) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.
Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water. The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
 (A) Microbial contaminants,

Lead (tap water) (ppb)	9/2004 & 11/2004	N	8	1 of 70 sites	0	15	Corrosion of household plumbing systems, erosion of natural deposits

In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:
Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Fowler Assumes Command Of U.S. Naval Academy

By MC3 Chris Lussier
U.S. Naval Academy Public Affairs

Vice Adm. Jeffrey L. Fowler relieved Vice Adm. Rodney P. Rempt as Superintendent of the United States Naval Academy during a change of command ceremony held in Alumni Hall on June 8.

Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Mike Mullen praised Rempt's accomplishments during his four years at the Naval Academy, commending his focus on developing midshipmen as combat leaders of character.

"As a Naval Academy grad, I want to thank you for all that you have done for my alma mater, the naval services, and the nation," Mullen said. "Throughout the turmoil of change, you never lost sight of what the American people entrusted you to do: to morally, mentally, and physically develop young men and women who will lead."

Rempt, a surface warfare officer and a 1966 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, became the 59th superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy in August 2003.

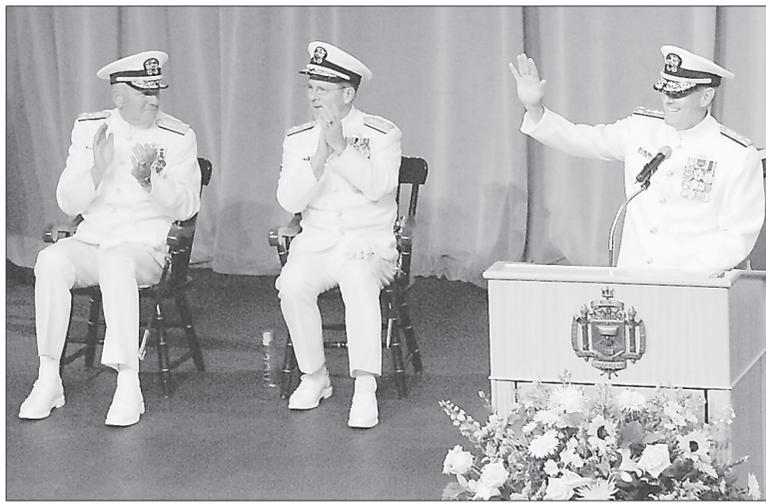

"I am eternally indebted to the finest faculty in the country," said Rempt. "Pam [Rempt] and I are going to miss you all, but we will especially miss the midshipmen."

Rempt read his orders and ordered his flag hauled down before relinquishing command to Fowler, who most recently served as director, Naval Europe Plans and Operations; deputy 6th Fleet; commander Submarines, Allied Naval Forces South; commander, Submarine Group 8/Task Force 69/Task Force 164.

Fowler, a career submariner and 1978 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, has served in a variety of command positions afloat and ashore, including submarine tactics instructor at Naval Submarine Training Center, and commander Submarine Squadron 3, deploying to the Atlantic, Pacific, Indian and Arctic oceans, and the Persian Gulf.

"I am honored and humbled to be selected as the superintendent of the Naval Academy," said Fowler. "I am here to serve with you to carry out our mission as we take care of our midshipmen and this wonderful institution."

Water

such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

(B) Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

(C) Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.

(D) Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

(E) Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water

Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

MCLs are set at very stringent levels: to understand the possible health effects described for many regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. In order to maintain a safe and dependable water supply we sometimes need to make improvements that will benefit all of our customers. These improvements are sometimes reflected as rate structure adjustments. Thank you for understanding.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Once again, for further information or questions concerning this report or NAVFAC Southeast Water Utility Division that serves you, it is requested: Navy on-base housing residents first contact their Station Housing Office and activity employees should first contact their safety or environmental offices. To contact your water utility, please call NAVFAC Southeast, Water Utilities, at (904) 542-6202.

"We at NAVFAC Southeast work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap," said Wally Holdstein, Water/Wastewater Utilities. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

FRC-SE Mayport Nominated For SECDEF Maintenance Award

By CWO3 Stephen Waldrop

Fleet Readiness Center Southeast, Mayport PAO

The Chief of Naval Operations announced May 21 that Fleet Readiness Center Southeast, Mayport, is one of two Navy field level nominees for this year's 2007 Secretary of Defense Maintenance Award.

FRC-SE Mayport will represent the small unit command which is comprised of 25 to 300 personnel and will go on to a final selection that will be held Nov 15 in Orlando.

The ultimate Phoenix Award winner will be selected from similar inputs from all services in the small, medium, or large unit level winners and will be named as the "Best of the Best".

The SECDEF Maintenance Award annually recognizes outstanding field-level maintenance units for their effort to extended service life given to equipment and weapons systems by sustained quality maintenance and the rejuvenation of equipment through extraordinary maintenance programs.

"Throughout the past year, FRC-SE Mayport has made a profound and lasting contribution to the nation's war fighting capabilities, said Cmdr. Graham Guiler, officer in charge.

This accomplished, professional, and cohesive team of military and civilian personnel has provided superior intermediate level maintenance support by successfully adapting AIRSpeed practices, further increasing efficiency and providing cost-wise readiness to the Fleet.

FRC-SE Mayport and the former NADEP Jacksonville have sustained an I-Level/ Depot Level Partnership Program called the "Enhanced Maintenance Program (EMP)" whereby depot level Artisans interdict Beyond Capability Maintenance (BCM) and return depot level requirements to intermediate level standards. Additionally, they conduct training enabling FRC-SE personnel to improve their skills far beyond the level normally associated with standard on-the-job training.

The EMP has achieved a cost avoidance of $2,924,366 in the fiscal year 2006 alone. FRC-SE Mayport's commitment to NAVRIIP, AIRSpeed and other process improvement programs via Fleet Logistic conferences and critical item logistics reviews has saved the Navy an overall $12,000,000 cost savings.

The SECDEF Maintenance Award also includes command readiness of their personnel and civic involvement throughout the year. This same level of commitment to quality maintenance and cost savings efforts is also applied to the personnel assigned there.

Outstanding milestones are: awarded the FY-2005 and 2006 COMFLTFORCOM Retention

Excellence Award, volunteered 1230 hours to the Adopt-a-School program at Neptune Beach Elementary and Nease High School, volunteered 370 hours to the HABIJAX project, and countless hours to the Boy and Girl Scouts of America and Salvation Army.

The men and women at FRC-SE Mayport are proud of their community and is proven in the exceptional level of community service support provided.

to E8, to education as an important consideration in selection for advancement. According to Campa the revision is also tied to the CNO's endorsement of chiefs as deckplate leaders.

"I strongly believe this policy revision is an indicator of where the CNO wants us focused as a chief's mess - leading and developing Sailors," he said.

Campa emphasized that revising this policy should not be viewed as the Navy backing away from its commitment to education and added, "The right emphasis on education will be placed in selection board precepts and will remain a contributing factor in selection for advancement. Our commitment to education must be measured by the access and opportunity we provide to our Sailors to pursue off duty education. We must work to create those opportunities."

The Navy has a robust system of educational initiatives designed to support Sailors as they pursue their careers, including distance learning available in multiple formats almost anywhere around the globe.

Some of the programs include:

The Advanced Education Voucher (AEV) program is designed to provide educational assistance to senior enlisted personnel as the pursue Navy-relevant baccalaureate and graduate degrees.

The Navy College Program supports Sailors through Navy College Offices, Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES) Examination Program, the College Level Examination Program, the DANTES Subject Standardized Tests program, Tuition Assistance, Navy College Program Afloat College Education and the Navy College Program Distance Learning Partnerships.

For additional information on advanced education programs, the best place to start is the local Navy College Office or online at <https://navycollege.navy.mil>.

January of this year.

While this is not a typical mission for a destroyer squadron, the process of integrating numerous assigned detachments and organizations into a single cohesive unit, developing and executing plans in highly dynamic environments, and ensuring the timely and accurate flow of information are some core functions of any destroyer squadron and is what Mayport's DESRON 24 will bring to this mission.

"It's exciting preparing for a deployment of this scale and watching how everything is coming together," said Lt. Cmdr. Rob Speight, acting chief staff officer of DESRON 24. "Coordination is key when there are this many moving parts and countries to visit."

The USNS Comfort is a national asset designed to serve as a floating emergency room, capable of treating massive numbers of combat wounds and performing an impressive array of medical procedures to Soldiers and Sailors evacuated from the front lines.

While the vessel deployed to New York after the 2001 terrorist attacks and to New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina, the 1,000 bed vessel has seen limited service in the Global War on Terror because the Military has been able to maintain advanced medical centers in Iraq and Afghanistan.

For this mission, the ship has been outfitted to provide routine medical services on land, ranging from vaccinations and eye care to dental checkups and minor surgeries. It has also received major communications and material upgrades that make the Comfort a much more versatile platform for the 21st century Navy.

The Comfort will visit each of 12 countries for about a week, establishing multiple medical treatment centers in each country.

The goal of this deployment is to leave the people of Central and South America and the Caribbean with a lasting, positive impression of the United States by providing high quality, and, in some cases, life-changing care.

The Comfort's mission is technically a training mission - training American military and civilian personnel to provide humanitarian assistance and disaster relief in a hands-on environment.

The host nations are encouraged to take part in the medical treatment and will also benefit from the training.

In the end, Comfort will have given real-world experience to hundreds of American medical professionals, while providing training and care to tens of thousands of people of our partner nations, certain to have a lasting impact on the people and communities involved.

"This mission is going to improve the way the U.S. is viewed by our neighbors in Central and South America. It will be very rewarding to apply the resources of Comfort to an area where they are truly needed," said Lt. Javier Gonzalez, Operations officer.

CNO To Produce Regular Podcasts

By Chief of Naval Operations Public Affairs

Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Mike Mullen will continue his "ongoing conversation" with Sailors, their families and the American public by producing regular podcasts.

Available for download on the Navy's flagship website, www.navy.mil, as well as by subscription through most podcasting software, the podcasts will serve as a means for the CNO to communicate directly on a wide variety of issues.

Mullen - an iPod owner himself - appreciates the convenience of the technology and wants to use it to talk about things in a more informal and frequent basis, according to Mullen spokesman MCCA (SW) Dave Rea.

The podcasts will vary in format.

Rea said the CNO plans to record his podcasts weekly, schedule permitting.

"The great thing about this technology is that it doesn't really require a lot of time or resources," Rea said. "All you need is the ability to record the audio at a high enough quality and the software to share it. It gives all of us...the opportunity to stay better connected to leadership and to hear firsthand about the things affecting us."

New 'GI Film Festival' Awards Patriotic Films

From Staff
Ever heard of Sundance Film Festival or Cannes? How about the GI Film Festival? The first GI Film festival was held on Memorial Day weekend 2007 at the Ronald Reagan Building and International Trade Center in Washington, D.C.

Created to showcase films that tell the stories of the U.S. Armed Forces and to honor their work, the event included film screenings and prizes for category winners.

Founder's Choice Award - PATRIOT ACT, Directed by Jeffrey Ross: Inspired by the passing of U.S.O. perennial Bob Hope, Friars Club roast-master Jeffrey Ross takes comedian Drew Carey up on an invitation to join the U.S.O. in their ongoing mission - delivering punchlines on the front lines.

Best Feature Documentary - SPEED AND ANGELS, Directed by Peyton Wilson, Produced by Francesco Chierici: Speed and Angels is the true life story about two navy officers, Meagan and Jay, as they chase their life-long dreams to become fighter pilots. It follows them during the most dangerous parts of their training and as they go to war, where the realities of being a fighter pilot test their limits.

Best Narrative Feature - DIVERGENCE, Co-Directed by Patrick Donnelly and Meg Sudlik: A wounded soldier returns from Iraq having lost faith in the war. He finds solace with a beautiful and mysterious woman in a wintry seaside town. Knowing he could be sent back, they make a decision that will impact the rest of their lives.

Best Documentary Short - SHAKEY'S HILL, Directed by Norman Lloyd: In 1970, one cameraman follows a battalion of American soldiers into the Cambodian jungle. His footage and interviews capture the taking of a substantial weapons/supplies cache used by the North Vietnamese Army during the Vietnam War. This operation was considered one of the most successful missions of American forces during the war.

Best Narrative Short - OLD GLORY, Directed by James McEachin: Old Glory is a 22-minute film short for the soldier, veteran and patriot in us all. James McEachin customarily salutes America with another dose of extraordinary patriotism in his directorial debut.

"We were absolutely amazed by the quality of film submissions we received in our first year," said GI Film Festival President Brandon Millett. "All of our filmmakers deserve a tremendous amount of credit for honoring our men and women in uniform with their creative work."

Overall, the GI Film Festival featured 22 film screenings, two panel discussions, two VIP receptions, and special appearances by actors Gary Sinise, R. Lee Ermye, James McEachin, and Dale Dye; directors Ron Maxwell, John Dahl and Jonathan Flora; musicians Pat Boone, Michael Peterson, Valor, and Angela Lashley; executive producers Lou and Scott Reda; comedian Jeffrey Ross; fitness guru Billy Blanks; publisher Dr. Ted Baehr, and General and Mrs. Richard B. Myers. The festival earned press coverage from Fox News, WUSA-9, WRC-4, The Pentagon Channel, The Associated Press, The Washington Post, The Washington Times, and a number of other media outlets.

"There is no doubt given the enthusiastic response we received this year that we struck a chord with the GI Film Festival," continued Millett. "We look forward to building on our successes next year and in the years to come."

The GI Film Festival was sponsored by: Tri-West, Accenture, Fortune Brands, SAIC, Aria Trattoria, WUSA-9, WMAL, The History Channel, Military.com, The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Vietnam Veterans of America, among other organizations.

Disaster Muster Tool Helps During Hurricane Season

By MC2 Trevor Andersen
Navy Personnel Command Communications Office

Hurricane season officially began June 1 and the Navy has some tools to make sure Sailors, Navy civilians, and families are accounted for in a disaster.

The Disaster Muster Tool (DMT) pulls muster information from multiple sources and is designed to conduct a central accounting of the affected area, said Capt. Hank Vitali, the Director of the Navy Personnel Command (NPC) crisis-action team.

"We're not trying to change the way the Navy conducts business. The Navy has always had to conduct a muster," said Vitali. "The thing that is interesting is the fact that we are now going after our GS (civilian employee) population and our dependant population as well."

The DMT was developed after Hurricane Katrina and has been used in muster exercises since then, including HURREX (hurricane exercise) and domestic-incident muster exercises in fleet concentration areas. The goal of the exercise is to quickly account for all Navy personnel and their families, including civilian employees.

The number for the Customer Service Center is 1-800-U-ASK-NPC.
