Be Prepared For Hurricane Season

By Paige Gnann
The Mirror Editor

Strong winds and flooding rains from Tropical Storm Beryl this weekend are good reminders for Naval Station Mayport Sailors and families to get their strategies in place for this hurricane season, according to NS Mayport Emergency Manager Steve Millican. Although hurricane season officially runs from June 1 to Nov. 30, there have already been two named storms in May. "I think the lesson we need to impress on people is that they really need to be prepared," Millican said. "[Beryl] was spinning off the coast and then all of a sudden it got organized and turned into a tropical storm. If this had increased to a Category One [hurricane], would you have been ready? Can you be ready in less than 24 hours? Joplin only had 20 minutes to prepare [for tornadoes]." Joplin, Missouri was hit May 2011 with a catastrophic tornado in which more than 150 people lost their lives. Weather systems like tropical storms bring with them high winds and rains, but can also produce tornados that can cause even more damage. "If you don't have a plan in place, if you don't have [emergency] kits in place, then you need to get them ready," Millican said. The Emergency Management Office produces a digital Hazard Information Handbook that outlines plans and procedures to make in case of a natural or man-made disaster.

Cmdr. William Walsh relieved Capt. Clayton Conley as commanding officer, Helicopter Maritime Strike Squadron 40 (HSM-40) on May 24 during a change of command ceremony in the HSM-40 hangar. Conley served as the commanding officer of HSM-40 from April 2010 to May 2012. HSM-40 is the Navy's East Coast MH-60R and single-site SH-60B Fleet Replacement Squadron. The command's mission is to provide readiness training to fleet replacement pilots and fleet replacement aircrewmembers. During Conley's tour, HSM-40 transitioned to a dual Type/Model/Series squadron flying MH-60R and SH-60B helicopters. HSM-40 was awarded the 2010 and 2011 Cmdr.

Theodore G. Ellyson Aviator Production Excellence Award for demonstrating superior efficiency in meeting fleet requirements for pilots and aircrewmembers within the CNO-approved syllabus time to train. HSM-40 also surpassed the 100,000 Class "A" mishap-free flight hour milestone during Conley's tenure. Conley will report to Helicopter Maritime Strike Wing U.S. Atlantic Fleet for duties as the Deputy Commodore. Walsh's previous assignment was on the OPNAV Staff serving as the SH-60B/MH-60R Requirements Officer for the Director of Naval Air Warfare. Walsh was the plankowner commanding officer during his first command tour at HSM-40.

Mayport 'Gator Girl' Reports For Duty

By Paige Gnann
The Mirror editor

Growing up just a couple of miles down the way from the Appalachicola River in Blountstown, Florida, Angel Boily knows a few things about gators. She's swam with them and even been chased by a couple of them. Now she has become the fourth female ever contracted by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) to trap them.

The wife of an USS Taylor officer, Boily officially joined the small community of nuisance alligator trappers last month after receiving training with Statewide Nuisance Alligator Program (SNAP). Through SNAP, FWC contracts with private individuals to remove specific nuisance alligators. There are five additional nuisance alligator trappers in Duval County; two in St. Johns; one in Nassau and one in Baker. Julie Harter of Hillsborough County was the first female trapper hired in 2003, according to FWC. With her team of "Gator Girls," the 5-foot, 3-inch mother of four has already had her first trap, a four-footer that she said was a good starting size. A good thing considering that one of her team members is her 17-year-old daughter Bridget. "She loves it," Boily said. "She's ready to go get another one. She and I have fun. She's my navigator." Boily has also recruited another Navy spouse, Serena Williford, to assist her. Boily's team members hold alligator agent licenses and work under her trapping license.

"She jumped on the chance," said Boily said. "She's a thrill seeker too. We're not ordinary sit at home kind of people. We like to get out and get our hands dirty. Alligator hunting is not boring." The trappers remove an alligator after it is deemed a nuisance by FWC and they receive authorization from SNAP or FWC. Generally, an alligator may be considered a nuisance if it is at least four feet in length and is believed to pose a threat to people, pets or property. Nuisance alligators are harvested and not relocated, according to FWC. Boily has been around and worked with animals most of her life. And like a good southern girl, learned how to shoot a gun around the age of 10 when her uncle gave her a "little .22 [rifle]." "I just started shooting targets with it," she said. By the time she reached her teen years, she was out hunting deer with her friends." "I grew up on a little farm," she said. "I always had chicken, goats and cows." As she got older, she began working with Big Bend Wildlife Sanctuary in Altha, Florida. Under the guidance of Big Bend founder Betsy Knight, Boily said she learned how to work with reptiles, such as alligators, and other exotic and domestic animals. Boily worked at the sanctuary for around three years before moving to Valdosta, Ga., and joining the team of animal care specialists at Wild Adventures Theme Park working specifically with the "hoofstock" in the wildlife area. It was during this time that Boily met her husband, Ensign Justin Boily, and eventually moved with him and the Navy to Naval Station Mayport. Last year, Boily said that she was surfing FWC's information is updated. More information will be posted in The Mirror as we get into the season. NOW IS THE TIME TO PREPARE.

Speaking of weather...hydrate, hydrate. Working out or running under this Florida sun and humidity can lead to dehydration before you know it. Pay attention to the heat index warning flags and I will say again, stay hydrated!

Welcome back is in order for more than 250 Sailors stationed on board USS The Sullivans (DDG 68) with their arrival last week from their seven-month deployment conducting maritime operations in the Mediterranean.

While deployed, the ship participated in a wide range of operations and took part in several exercises with NATO allies in support of maritime security.

Some of the ship's port visits included stops in Turkey, Portugal, Spain, Greece and Croatia. Congratulations for the ten new dads on board who for the first time, held their babies.

I cannot tell you enough how rewarding it is to see one of our ships return, and see the families on the pier who held the fort down for their Sailors' who "stood the watch "at sea. Thanks to everyone who had a hand in orchestrating a superb homecoming.

Big thanks to Lt. Mike Simmons and his EODMU Six Det team who assisted the Fernandina Police Department last week and combed a section of the beach for unexploded ordnance.

In the past month, EOD responded to Fernandina Beach for two separate responses involving unexploded ordnance items found by an individual combing the beach with a metal detector. Of the two items found, one was pre-WWI and the other was determined to be from the Vietnam era. Both items found were rendered harmless. Its community involvement like this that often goes unnoticed. Thanks for the helping hand, and well done!

Thanks and well deserved recognition goes out to our base services department for all that they do in helping to keep the base looking sharp. Your work DOES NOT go unnoticed, and my thanks go out to all of you.

Mark your calendars...On June 4, Naval Station Mayport will hold a commemorative ceremony recognizing the 70th anniversary of the Battle of Midway onboard our own USS DeWert (FFG 45). The ceremony will include a wreath laying and 21-gun salute.

The Battle of Midway (4-7 June 1942), fought near the Central Pacific island of Midway, is considered the decisive battle of the war in the Pacific. Before this battle, the Japanese were on the offensive, capturing territory throughout Asia and the Pacific. By their attack, the Japanese had planned to capture Midway to use as an advance base, as well as to entrap and destroy the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Because of communication intelligence successes, the U.S. Pacific Fleet surprised the Japanese forces, sinking four Japanese carriers that had attacked Pearl Harbor only six months before.

After Midway, the Americans and their Allies took the offensive in the Pacific. Details on the start time of the ceremony will be forthcoming.

Transferring? The summer months are the busiest move season of the year as hundreds of thousands of service members receive orders to new assignments across the nation and worldwide.

NAVSUP Global Logistics Support (GLS) advises those transferring to book their moves early. The period of May 15 through August 31 is the annual peak move season.

For those of you planning a move, you should give your Household Goods offices a minimum of three weeks lead time to initiate an effective, smoother move experience.

GLS warns that service members who are faced with trying to move during this bottleneck period might find themselves with fewer options if they wait too long to book a move date. They further suggest that families be flexible with their moving dates, plan ahead, and recognize that now is the time to get rid of unwanted items to reduce their shipment's weight.

Service members have two options for moving their household goods. They can choose a government arranged move, in which a contractor packs and ships their household goods, or they may perform a Personally Procured Move (PPM) formerly known as a "DITY" move, where the customer arranges to rent a truck or trailer, or uses their own vehicle to move their items.

For more information on either option and to start the move process, go to www.move.mil. For questions or concerns about moving, customers may e-mail householdgoods@navy.mil for assistance or contact their local personal property shipping office.

Keep in mind that no problem big or small cannot be settled with help. We have that help in a wide variety at our own Fleet and Family Support Center. From financial to mental health counseling, we cover all bases. Please know, and let your families know, that confidential help is in place for everyone. Too often we see Sailors not taking advantage of the help we offer. WE ARE A FAMILY and each one of you are vital to our team.

Thanks to each of you for bringing your hard work and professionalism each day through our gates. e safe, and keep sending those suggestions to the CO's suggestion box or email them at douglas.cochrane@navy.mil.

Summer Activities For High School Students

Judy Cromartie School Liaison Officer

With school over for the 2011-2012 school year in less than a week, it is important for high school students to be aware of some important tasks they must complete over the summer months. Even graduating seniors have several tasks they must complete before starting college in the fall. Check out these important reminders!

Graduating Seniors:
 •Make sure you have completed the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) application and received a response from colleges. Bright Futures funds will not be released in the fall without this. This is a new BF eligibility rule. Go to www.fafsa.ed.gov to apply.

•Amend your Bright Futures application at www.floridastudentfinancialaid.org to indicate the college you actually plan to attend.

•If you plan to play sports in college, make sure your high school sends to the NCAA Clearinghouse this summer your final transcript which confirms your high school graduation.

Rising 9-12th Graders:
 •Research colleges over the summer. Who offers a degree program you are interested in? What are the application deadlines? What does the college's Freshman Profile look like (GPA, test scores)? At www.ACT.org check out their college planning checklist for Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior years. Other great college planning resources include www.facts.org, www.campustours.com, and www.collegeboard.com.

•Still need higher ACT or SAT scores for college admissions, graduation, post secondary readiness or Bright Futures? Try these free websites for test prep www.majortests.com, www.SoarAtHome.org, www.March2Success.com

•Research Bright Futures eligibility requirements at <http://www.floridastudentfinancialaid.org/ssfad/bf/>

•Start doing community service work. Bright Futures now requires community service for all three levels of their scholarships. Students promoted to ninth grade can start earning community service hours. Check out the district guidelines online at http://www.duvalschools.org/static/aboutdcps/departments/acadprog/guidance_services/downloads/Community%20Service%2012-11.pdf. The verification form for completed hours is available at <http://www.duvalschools.org/static/aboutdcps/depart->

Relationship Tune-ups Keep Marriages Running

Lt. Peter Dietz Surface Force Ministry Center

June is one of the most popular months for weddings so I thought this might be a good time to talk about relationships. Whether you are getting ready to be married or have been married for several years, relationships can always benefit from taking a pause from the daily routines and evaluate where you are and where you want to be. Just as we give our cars a tune-up periodically, it is also a great idea to give our relationships a tune-up on a regular basis.

A common stressor for relationships revolves around money. The easiest approach for tackling this issue is to have a budget with goals that both spouses agree with. Being in the military offers many free resources to help with that: commands have financial specialists to help and there are also great resources at Fleet and Family Support Program and Navy-Marine Corps Relief Society. Many churches also offer more extensive programs like Financial Peace University that are designed to help families with budgets and spending habits.

Romance is one of the most important parts of a healthy marriage and it is much more fun to work on than budgets. Hearing a couple share how they just don't love each other anymore is not an unfamiliar complaint heard by marriage counselors. It might happen after having children who take up so much of our time and become the center of attention, or people just falling into more self-centered habits rather than focusing on the needs and wants of the other. It is always a good time to re-light the spark of passion and romance or to throw on another log onto a dimming fire in a couple's relationship.

Having date-nights or spending a weekend away, even if it is at the Navy Lodge on base, are great routines to be in, but even more so, it is important for couples to know what each other wants and needs from their spouse. What are the things that you loved most about your spouse when you first met? What were the things that you did that your spouse found most attractive and special? Have you stopped doing those things? Maybe it would be good to ramp them up again!

A couple of other things to consider as you work on your relationship.

The first is social media. If you have old boy/girl-friends or ex-spouses as friends on Facebook or similar sites, get rid of them! Having an ex as a friend on Facebook can only lead to trouble and lead to trust related issues. Another big problem for men and a growing number of women is pornography. If you are viewing porn you are most likely weakening your relationship. This is a much harder thing to fix than 'unfriending' on Facebook. There are many resources to help with this as well and your Chaplain can help get you back on a healthy track.

Spring is the season of love so re-light your passion for each other!

NECC Forms Coastal Riverine Force Reserve Squadron At NS Mayport

From Navy Expeditionary Combat Command Public Affairs

Navy Expeditionary Combat Command (NECC) is establishing a new command, the Coastal Riverine Force (CORIVFOR), a merger of Riverine Group 1 and the Maritime Expeditionary Security Force (MESF), June 1.

CORIVFOR will perform core maritime expeditionary security missions in the green and brown waters bridging the gap between traditional Navy blue water operations and land-based forces, spanning the capabilities that currently reside with the riverine and expeditionary security force.

"We are combining maritime expeditionary and riverine forces to preserve a range of capabilities in brown, blue and green water environments," said Capt. James C. Hamblet, commodore of Maritime Expeditionary Security Group (MESG) 2. "Although Coastal Riverine Force will predominantly perform force protection type missions, when required it will be capable of conducting offensive operations which will enhance mission effectiveness throughout the force."

CORIVFOR will be composed of active and Reserve component unit capable of defending high value assets against a determined enemy and, when ordered, conducting offensive combat operations. Capable of conducting 24-hour operations, CORIVFOR will provide port and harbor security, offshore protection for maritime infrastructure and Military Sealift Command ships operating in coastal waterways. When necessary elements of this force will provide offensive combat capabilities. CORIVFOR will utilize a mix of maritime expeditionary security and riverine equipment with plans to procure additional craft in the future.

CORIVFOR will be comprised of two Echelon IV groups, Coastal Riverine Group (CORIVGRU) 1 homeported in Imperial Beach, Calif. with squadrons located in San Diego at the Naval Amphibious Base. CORIVGRU 2 will be homeported in Portsmouth, Va. with active squadrons located at Norfolk Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth, Joint Expeditionary Base Little Creek-Fort Story (JEBLC-FS), Va., a forward deployed detachment in Bahrain, and reserve squadrons located in Newport, R.I. and NS Mayport.

"By combining capabilities we will be able to provide a more effective way of expanding maritime security both inland and on coastal waterways," said Hamblet.

The establishment of Coastal Riverine Force will take place June 1 at JEBLC-FS for CORIVGRU 2 and Imperial Beach, Calif. for CORIVGRU 1. The force's initial operating capability is slated for October 2012 and the CORIVFOR will reach Full Operational Capability in Oct. 2014.

All current and scheduled routine deployments will continue as normal. Hamblet will become the first commodore of CORIVGRU 2. Capt. Eric Moss, commodore of Maritime Expeditionary Security Group (MESG)

1, will command CORIVGRU 1.

CORIVFOR is a component of NECC and provides flexible responsive maritime security forces capable of performing high level security.

Welcome Home USS The Sullivans

Ship's Serviceman 3rd Class Robert Gomez, assigned to the Arleigh Burke-class guided missile destroyer USS The Sullivans (DDG 68), sees his newborn daughter for the first time during a homecoming celebration at Naval Station Mayport. The Sullivans completed a seven-month deployment after participating in several exercises with NATO allies in support of maritime security.

By Ensign Paul Moe

Families and friends welcomed back the guided-missile destroyer USS The Sullivans (DDG 59) at Naval Station Mayport on May 22 following completion of a successful seven-month deployment to the Mediterranean.

"I am extremely pleased and proud of the incredible performance of every Sailor aboard The Sullivans during this demanding deployment," said Cmdr. Samuel De Castro, The Sullivan's executive officer. "I believe I speak for each member of the crew when I say that we are excited to be home with our families, friends and the greater Mayport Naval Station."

The Sullivans and its crew of nearly 300 Sailors conducted a wide range of operations, including ballistic missile defense, and intelligence operations. Additionally, the ship and her crew participated in multinational exercises with NATO allies and partner nations in support of theater security cooperation and tactical operations.

"While deployed to the 6th Fleet area of operations, USS The Sullivans consistently demonstrated unmatched operational excellence and mission accomplishment while conducting ballistic missile defense operations, multinational anti-submarine exercises, intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance support," said Capt. John Esposito, Deputy Commandore of Destroyer Squadron 60 and acting commanding officer of The Sullivans

The officers and crew enjoyed several port visits in the Mediterranean, including Italy, Portugal, Spain, Croatia, Greece, Israel, Turkey, and Cyprus while continuing the U.S.

Navy's longstanding tradition of ambassadorship. During the ship's visit to Lisbon, Portugal USS The Sullivans hosted ambassadors and guests on behalf of VADM Frank Pandolfe, Commander 6th Fleet, on the evening of Nov. 22.

During the reception, distinguished guests mingled with Officers and Enlisted Sailors from The Sullivans' crew, who were also giving tours of the ship for those interested in seeing the U.S. Navy's Ballistic Missile Defense assets up close.

Many of the guests had never been on a warship of The Sullivans' caliber, and remarked how impressive she and her crew looked that evening.

For those crewmembers in attendance, it was a chance to interact with many different cultures including Portugal, Poland, Bulgaria, the UAE, France, Luxembourg, Slovenia, Hungary, Romania, and Norway at the reception.

NCIS Teaches Road Safety At CDC

-Photos by Paige Gnann

Master-at-Arms 2nd Class Jennifer Jutkofsky of NCIS Mayport goes over lessons learned with the children from the Child Development Center during a bike rodeo on May 25. The bike rodeo was designed to teach the children road safety, including recognizing traffic signs and wearing helmets when riding a bike.

"Traffic" stops as it comes to a stop sign at the NCIS bike rodeo.

Jutkofsky reminds the children that green is "go" on a traffic light.

Jutkofsky and NCIS Agent Sabrina Friday hand out stickers to the children at the end of the bike rodeo.

Mayport Speaks At Finegan Career Day

NEX Rewards Good Grades

From NEXCOM

The Navy Exchange wants to help its customers pay for their children's college education through its A-OK Student Reward Program. Four times per school year, four students will be the recipients of a $5,000, $3,000 $2,000 or $1,000 U.S. savings bond, denominations at maturity. The next drawing will be held at the end of May 2012.

Any eligible full-time student that has a B-grade point average equivalent or better, as determined by their school system, may enter the drawing. Eligible students include dependent children of active duty military members, reservists and military retirees enrolled in first through 12th grade. Dependent children without an individual Dependent Identification Card must be accompanied by their sponsor to submit their entry. Each student may enter only once each grading period and must re-enter with each qualifying report card.

To enter the drawing, stop by any NEX with a current report card and have a NEX associate verify the minimum grade average. Then fill out an entry card and obtain an A-OK ID, which entitles the student to discount coupons for NEX products and services.

The Navy Exchange Service Command (NEXCOM) has been offering students a chance to win a savings bond through its A-OK Student Reward Program since 1997. Since the program began, NEXCOM has awarded $504,000 in savings bonds with the help of its generous vendor partners.

TV-DTS Lab Increases Sailor Morale At Sea

By Tommy Lamb

NSSA SATCOM Branch Manager, Code 283

Norfolk Ship Support Activity's (NSSA) Television Direct to Sailors (TV-DTS) Lab and Subject Matter Experts (SME) provides bi-monthly training to Sailors in the Fleet on the TV-DTS system. Participants attend a week long course to hone their satellite system skills.

The TV-DTS is a Satellite Communication System that is mounted on the deck of a ship. It continuously tracks and maintains synchronization to a satellite in space maintaining the on board TV stations.

"This training provides the technicians on the ship with the information to maintain and troubleshoot the system. If the system goes down they will then have the knowledge available to find what is wrong and be able to repair it," said Freddie Bell, NSSA Electronics Technician, TV-DTS

Instructor, Code 283.

The NSSA TV-DTS Lab provides the only training in the Fleet, it aids NSSA SMEs when providing distance support, and is used as a test bed for Fleet component testing.

The lab plays a huge part in preparing Fleet technicians and RMC SMEs in ensuring TV viewing is restored in case of a black-out or other technical difficulties. Failure to compensate for the ship pitching, rolling and turning will cause the system to lose synchronization with the satellite in space and the TV screens will go blank.

NSSA's Satellite Communications Lab has a fully capable TV-DTS system. There is a TV-DTS antenna mounted on Building LF-18's roof that is synchronized to the satellite and a maintenance antenna in the TV-DTS Lab. The Lab was designed for maximum hands-on training. The students that traveled from faraway places receive real-life scenarios for practice casualties. "We have Sailors who come from local ships, Mayport, and as far away as Japan," said Bell.

NSSA Instructors actually install pre-faulted components into the fully operational system and allow the students to troubleshoot and correct casualties. Team SATCOM holds bi-monthly scheduled classes averaging eight students per class that train Fleet Sailors, RMC Technicians and Military Sealift Command personnel.

NSSA SMEs also use the TV-DTS Lab when providing distance support to the Fleet. During distance support, the SMEs simulate the casualty in the lab in the same manner as on the ship.

Recently, USS Klakring (FFG 42) had a problem with the TV-DTS antenna tracking. The NSSA SME was able to simulate the casualty symptom in the lab and then provide step by step procedures to restore operations.

The ability of a SME to successfully provide distance support is a force multiplier and significantly saves maintenance travel funds. A force multiplier can best be explained by one SME that can provide several Distance Support efforts to several ships during a period, vice the same SME providing one on-site technical assistance to one ship during the same period.

The TV-DTS Lab is an excellent test bed for Fleet component testing and saves scarce Fleet maintenance dollars. On a regular basis, Sailors bring their suspected faulty components to the TV-DTS Lab to confirm faults. This ensures that the Fleet will order the correct component the first time.

Sailors on a ship supporting the Bold Alligator Exercise troubleshoot their casualty and identified an Inertial Measurement Unit (IMU) as being faulty. While at sea, the ship arranged for a small boat to pick up the NSSA Lab's IMU to confirm the identified fault before expending the funding. The ship returned the IMU back to the TV-DTS Lab to complete the assist.

NSSA Commanding Officer, Capt. Bill Galinis, advocates that NSSA should seek opportunities to provide proactive leadership. Team SATCOM has demonstrated a proactive leadership with the TV-DTS Lab.

Anticipating the need to fill the ISEA gap in support, Ray Durant, Electronics Technician, Code 283, was assigned to lead Team SATCOM's SME's in seeking opportunities to improve the NSSA TV-DTS support to the Fleet. Some of the improvements to the program consist of enhancing the training, updating the lab to match Fleet components, and coordinating with Naval Media Center to also provide training on other equipment associated with TV-DTS.

Providing television for Sailors while at sea is an important part of keeping the crews morale up. By giving crews something familiar to watch from back home can make a Sailor's day much less stressful. For this very reason the military has made several forms of entertainment available.

"The Armed Forces Radio and Television System provide three channels, entertainment, news, and sports 24 hours a day seven days a week. There are also three radio stations associated with it as well," said Bell.

To date, hundreds of Fleet technicians have been trained by the SATCOM Branch in the maintenance and operation of TV-DTS, which directly impacts positively on the Fleet's morale at sea.

No Dumping Markers Remind Residents That Stormwater System Drains To River

By Scott Dombrowsky
NS Mayport Environmental

Blue markers have recently begun showing up around stormwater drains throughout the Station. These aluminum markers that state "No Dumping * Drains to River" are being installed as part of a continuing public education effort with the goal to remind people that water and other substances that go down our storm drains flow directly to the creeks and rivers that surround us on nearly every side.

At Naval Station Mayport we have two very different "sewer" systems. Liquids that enter the SANITARY sewer system, typically through sinks, toilets, and floor drains, flow to the Station's wastewater treatment plant. There they are treated in a series of processes to disinfect the flow and remove contaminants. Even so, we must be careful not to place materials into the sanitary system that could clog pipes or disrupt the processes at the wastewater treatment plant.

Markers remind residents not to dump waste into NS Mayport's stormwater system.

Conversely, liquids and materials entering the STORM sewer system receive little to no treatment prior to discharge. The storm sewer system is designed to efficiently carry rain water off of our roadways and from around structures to prevent flooding. The only treatment that stormwater may receive is if it is absorbed into the soil or taken up by plants that grow in storm ponds or ditches. However, most of the stormwater sewer lines are comprised of steel culverts and concrete lined ditches that speeds the flow of stormwater to the river and do not treat or "clean" water pollution. There are hundreds of stormwater inlets in parking lots, in streets, and between buildings here at Naval Station Mayport. It is best to assume that any drain you see in outdoor areas flows to the storm sewer system.

Because of the nature of stormwater system designs, our personal practices have a significant effect on water quality in the St. Johns River and other nearby water bodies. Whatever you drip, drop, sweep or blow into storm drains or even just onto streets, piers and parking lots will most likely ultimately end up in the river. While most people are probably aware of the adverse effects of oil and chemicals on fish and other aquatic species, people should also be aware of the adverse effects of such substances as soapy water, soil, grass clippings, cigarette butts, and litter. Naval Station has processes for getting rid of all types of wastes. Sweeping them into streets and storm drains isn't one of them.

When you see the new storm drain markers like the one pictured in this article around the Station, remember that whether marked or not, storm drains are for stormwater only and streets are not disposal sites. If you notice substances being dumped to the storm sewer system, you are encouraged to notify the Environmental Division at 270-6781.

Free Banners For Returning Service Members

Sign-a-Rama, a local, small business has a great offer to support returning troops! Offer details:

1. This a free banner provided to a spouse or parent or child of an individual service member returning from combat duty. One free banner per household, please. Orders are placed by the family, by calling (904) 272-8333, or emailing me at herb@jaxsignarama.com with the subject line "banner for my loved one"

Banners are only for returning combat troops and unfortunately, are not available for troops assigned to NSB Kings wanted them to know there's nothing a woman can't do."

"My friends say I'm crazy," Boily said. "[My husband] thinks it's great. He knows I love it and that I wanted it."

Persons with concerns about an alligator should call FWC's toll-free Nuisance Alligator Hotline at 1-866-FWC-GATOR (866-392-4286). Generally, an alligator may be deemed a nuisance if it is at least four feet in length and the caller believes it poses a threat to people, pets or property.

Veterans Farm Needs Your Support

Veterans Farm is a farm in Jacksonville that strives to help disabled combat veterans get back into society through the use of horticulture therapy. Veterans work on the farm and develop skills to help them overcome their physical, mental, and employment problems. We grow datil peppers and blueberries that carry our Veteran's Farm label. Wal-Mart is having a "Get on the Shelf" contest, similar to American Idol. If we win, Veteran's Farm products will be on Wal-Mart shelves all over the country. The more products we sell, the more veterans you will help. Our mission is to win this contest, and get our products on their shelves. PLEASE text "4970" to 383838 to VOTE! For more information please visit www.getontheshelf.com

You Could Win A 1948 Pontiac Torpedo!

Do you like old antique cars? The American Legion Riders Chapter 283 has proudly offered a 1948 Pontiac Torpedo car in a raffle drawing to be held on June 1 at 8 pm. NAS Jax USO and Mayport USO now have Donation Tickets available for purchase! The tickets are only $10. Stop by your USO center today! All sales are cash only at the centers or at Post 283.

There is a computer resource center available to all service members with email, Internet and word processing. Fax, copy and free notary service is also available.

Watch TV or a movie from the video library. Service members can also enjoy video games or use the sports equipment.

There is a full kitchen, showers, a quiet reading room and a meeting room available at the USO. The USO is available for meetings, support groups, receptions, parties and pre-deployment briefs.

There is a computer resource center available to all service members with email, Internet and word processing. Fax, copy and free notary service is also available.

For more information about activities or meeting availabilities, call 246-3481 or stop by the center at 2560 Mayport Road.

hunter: another word for conservationist

Hunters do more to conserve habitat than any other group. And they have achieved great things for wildlife and wild places by supporting conservation organizations like Ducks Unlimited. Because of their support, Ducks Unlimited has conserved more than 12 million acres of habitat across the continent. Come share our vision of skies filled with waterfowl today, tomorrow, and forever.
