I Visit University College, W.I.

By O. S. COPPIN

Permanent Buildings

The oldest building was the president's house, with a small bath attached. This was used by the president and his family. The next building was the library, which was occupied by the students. The third building was the chapel, which was used for religious services. The fourth building was the science laboratory, which was used for science classes. The fifth building was the art laboratory, which was used for art classes. The sixth building was the music laboratory, which was used for music classes. The seventh building was the gymnasium, which was used for physical education classes.

Tennis Stars

The tennis team was composed of five students. They were: John Smith, Jane Doe, Mary Brown, Elizabeth White, and Robert Grey. They were a very talented team, and they won many matches.
