Q.C. Girls' Careers Limited Needlessly

Specialist Teachers Urgently Required

In her report yesterday at the Queen's College Speech and Prize Giving Day, Mrs. Randall said the teachers of the High School were doing an excellent job of work in the fields of Music, Art and Languages, but that girls were not being encouraged to carry out their work in these fields sufficiently.

Mrs. Randall made a plea for girls to take up careers in these subjects, as they would be of great benefit to society. She also urged girls to consider careers outside the home, as these were equally important.

Mrs. Randall said that there were a number of girls who had shown great promise in these fields, but that they had not been given the opportunity to develop their talents.

She also spoke of the importance of education and the need to provide more opportunities for girls to pursue their interests.

The report was well received by the girls, who were encouraged to take up careers in these fields.

Mrs. Randall ended her speech by saying that she hoped the girls would take advantage of the opportunities available to them and make the most of their talents.
