An 18-year-old Dunnellon man was charged Thursday, June 16, with lewd and lascivious battery on a child younger than 16, but older than 12 years old Thursday,

June 16, when Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputies served a warrant issued by the Dunnellon Police Department.

According to the arrest report, Cody Alan Cooke said he met the victim through Facebook a year and half ago.

On May 9, the girl told authorities she and Cooke had consensual sex three to four months ago in the woods behind Dunnellon Middle School (Nine Island Cove), which is within the city limits, the report stated.

The report stated the victim told her relative that she and Cooke were going to hang out at the McDonald's

Rising in rank

For Jacob Gonzalez, his career with the Dunnellon Police Department has witnessed a steady rise through the ranks and well-deserved accolades and recognition from peers and the community.

He can add two more to his list of achievements.

Gonzalez, a Dunnellon High graduate, recently passed both his written and oral boards, earning the promotion to sergeant.

"The opportunities have come; I wasn't expecting it to be this quick," he said of reaching the rank of sergeant. "I've definitely proven myself. I'd say working with Chief (Joanne) Black has helped and, in the short time, working with Lt. (Sue) Webb has helped too."

Gonzalez, who had been acting sergeant since 2010, said he looks forward to the challenge, knowing his co-workers will help in the transition.

"They're a great group of people; they follow me, I have no problems," he explained. "They've been supportive of the promotion. I've actually had the opportunity of training each officer individually."

"This position carries a lot of responsibility, which Chief Black has been preparing me for. I'd like to thank her and the city of Dunnellon for giving me this opportunity."

Black, who has worked with Gonzalez since he joined the department, said she's proud of his accomplishments and rise through the ranks. Most importantly, she said, is his growth as a person.

"Sergeant is a very demanding position," she explained. "It's the backbone of the department, because there is so much responsibility. I believe he's ready for the challenge; I've really seen him grow so much as a person since he's first come here."

In addition to the newest stripe on his uniform, Gonzalez earned another impressive distinction.

The almost 6-year veteran of the Dunnellon Police Department was named the inaugural Bill Rutherford Award winner at the Impaired Driving Education and Victims Services (IDEAVS) second annual DUI Law Enforcement Appreciation and Volunteer Recognition Dinner.

As part of the criteria for consideration was the amount of DUI arrests were made and their community involvement. During 2010, Gonzalez made 14 arrests for DUIs and was heavily involved in a variety of community activities, including the Special Olympics Torch Run.

"It meant a great deal to me, because I dedicated myself last year to preventing and arresting as many DUI suspects as I could," he explained. "I have worked a few DUI crashes in the city of Dunnellon. I've also spoke to victims or family mem-

YANKEETOWN — The town of Yankeetown and the Withlacoochee Area Residents are separately asking a judge to overturn the Levy County Commission's approval of a conditional special exception permit for the proposed Tarmac King Road mining project near Inglis.

Yankeetown is petitioning for a writ of certiorari, basically a review of the commissioners' decision to grant the exception, while the Withlacoochee group is asking for an injunction on the grounds the approval is inconsistent with the county's own Comprehensive Plan on environmentally sensitive lands.

A hearing has been set on the Yankeetown petition for July 20 by 8th Judicial Circuit Judge Robert Rountree Jr. No date has been set for the WAR suit.

The County Commission voted 3-1 to approve a special exception permit May 17, allowing mining of hard limerock on 2,757 acres of a 4,750-acre site for 110 years. The rock will be mined to depths of 120 feet by blasting and water-dredging. About 6 million tons of rock per year will be removed, leaving behind more than 20 lakes surrounded by berms.

The public hearing and approval came even though the proposal has yet to receive a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers. The mining company applied for the permit in 2007 and the Corps is expected to release a draft Environmental Impact Statement later this year.

In the petition, Yankeetown claims the county commission violated its own ordinances:

- that require all federal, state and local permits be obtained before

Good deed helps owls

MICHEL NORTHEA

For the Riverland News

Country Club Estates resident Jim Van Gilder knows how to talk to owls.

It's a talent he mastered when he found their nest on the ground near his home in April.

Wanting the best outcome for the young birds still in the nest, he contacted an owl rescue group and they suggested he build a platform and move the nest to the platform.

So Van Gilder went to work and quickly built a 12-foot-high platform to accommodate the nest.

The theory was that the mother of the young great horned owls would find her offspring and resume caring for them.

And that's what happened during the first night the nest was back in the air. Van Gilder and his wife, Carol, could hear the young shrieck for their mother and her answering sounds.

Once the mother found her offspring, the father came back, too.

"During the day, one of the parents was always there," Van Gilder said referring to the relocated nest.

The owl's presence didn't keep Van Gilder from climbing a ladder to get a first-hand peak into the nest. One time he saw a half-eaten snake. Another time it was a squirrel the young ones were demolishing.

With the great horned owl, the bird has the ability to take prey two or three times bigger than themselves.

Van Gilder got used to hearing the owls talk to each other with their "eh-eh-eh-eh" and "hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo" until one of the owls left the nest.

An owl will leave the nest to "roam" around some when it is 6 to 7 weeks old. It isn't until the young one is almost 10 weeks old before they fly well. Even when they first leave the nest as "branchers" – because they are roaming from branch to branch in preparation for flying – they are fed for another week or two by the parents before they are weaned.

Although one of the two owlets jumped out on what Van Gilder said he thought was the right time, one didn't. Owls have the ability to lay eggs a week apart, Van Gilder learned. He suspects the one that left the nest earlier was the older of the two.

Still, when the second owl started moving around the branches, Van Gilder realized he wasn't moving far or as progressing as fast as his sibling had in its development, so he made another phone call to the owl rescue group.

He was concerned the owl had injured a wing when the nest fell.

The owl rescue people offered assurances that the owl was fine. Had it not been, the owls themselves would have killed the one with the defect, he was told.

Noticing the owl hopping around on the ground days later, Van Gilder decided to place a ladder against one of the trees in hopes the owl would fly from one of the rungs. Van Gilder then saw the bird climbing up a few rungs of the ladder.

Early one morning, Van Gilder heard the mother owl clicking the beak of her young one.

"It seems she was trying to get it to move," Van Gilder said.

It must have worked,

because the last young one is gone from the nest.

The Van Gilders may never see the young ones again. Juvenile great horned owls may travel as far as 150 miles before they find a new home.

However, the parents the Van Gilders may see again. The owls don't build their own nest, but take over an unoccupied nest. Once they use a nest, they often return to the same nest for as many as eight years.

Van Gilder plans on leaving up the platform and the nest to see what happens next year.

In the meantime, he and Carol are empty nesters — again.

'Operation Dry Water' slated this weekend

Special to the Riverland News

Last year, 17 people died from boating accidents related to alcohol and drug use in Florida.

"Alcohol- and drug-related boating accidents are preventable," said Capt. Tom Shipp, of the FWC's Boating and Waterways Section. "Even one death is too many."

That is why law enforcement agencies around the state and country are participating in "Operation Dry Water" this weekend. This nationwide public-education effort is designed to prevent alcohol-related accidents and fatalities. FWC officers, along with local law enforcement and the U.S. Coast Guard, will crack down on boating under the influence (BUI) violations.

"While our officers always look for BUIs," Shipp said, "this weekend, they are making a special effort to stop this dangerous activity."

2009 was the inaugural year for this effort, and the program's effectiveness made repeating it worthwhile. Last year, agencies in all 50 states and six U.S. territories participated, interacting with more than 60,000 boaters and taking 322 impaired operators off the water before they could kill or injure themselves or someone else. The FWC alone arrested 12 boaters for BUI.

"We know that increased officer effort reduces boating accidents and saves lives. Saving lives is what 'Operation Dry Water' is really all about," Shipp said.

The FWC reminds boaters to be careful this weekend. Boaters who have had too much to drink or who are impaired by drugs are a great danger to the boating public.

"Being under the influence of alcohol or drugs impairs a boat operator's vision and reaction time," Shipp said. "Sun, wind, fatigue and other conditions can intensify the effects alcohol or drugs have on a boater."

Intoxicated boaters are also susceptible to injuries or falling overboard because of impaired coordination and balance.

"If you're caught boating under the influence, you may be fined and jailed, your boat may be seized, and you could lose your boating privileges," Shipp said. "But most importantly, you are risking your life, the lives of your passengers and the lives of other people out on the water."

The FWC reminds boaters that they are responsible for making decisions that keep themselves and others safe.

"We want everyone to have a great time and stay safe on the water," Shipp said. "Carelessly choosing to operate a boat while impaired is a decision that can result in a tragic ending to an otherwise wonderful day on the water."

The shop is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. The store takes cash only. It also plans on hosting Kids Night on Tuesdays. For more information about Kids Night, call (352) 229-7916.

She said throughout the summer months, she'll be manning the store. When school starts in August, her mom will take over daily duties so Popp can focus on her studies. However, on the weekends, she'll return to serve up the frozen treats.

Of course, Popp said she's nervous about her first business venture.

"I don't know how well we'll do," she explained. "I have to worry about how customers react to the place."

If business is strong, Popp said, plans would be to add 16 additional flavors of ice cream and perhaps add a bakery so they can offer more homemade treats. Not only does Flavors offer the traditional ice cream cones or dishes of it, but they offer shakes and banana splits.

"Our prices are pretty good," Popp said, adding coffee and muffins are also available.

The vibrant teen isn't worried about not being able to enjoy the summer with her friends. She said her mom has offered to give her a weekend off here and there to catch a break.

"My dedication is to my business," she explained. "My friends actually think me running my own business is pretty cool."

Just as cool as the treats she's serving customers.

Sheriff's office seeks re-accredited status

Special to the Riverland News

OCALA — A team of assessors from the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation (CFA) will arrive July 21 (at MCSO Central Operations) to examine specific aspects of the Marion County Sheriff's Office policies and procedures, management, operations and support services, Sheriff Ed Dean announced.

Since the agency is already nationally accredited through the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA), it only has to comply with 84 additional Florida-based standards in order to receive state re-accredited status. A copy of the standards is available through the Performance Imperative's Unit at (352) 369-6831.

For more information regarding CFA or for persons wishing to offer written comments about the Marion County Sheriff's Office's ability to meet the standards of accreditation, write: CFA, 3504 Lake Lynda Drive, Suite 380, Orlando, FL, 32817.

The Accreditation Program Manager for the Marion County Sheriff's Office is Lt. Jeff Owens. He said the assessment team is composed of law enforcement practitioners from similar agencies. The assessors will review written materials; interview individuals; and visit offices and other places where compliance can be witnessed. The CFA Assessment is comprised of Team Leader Chief Ron Cave of the Florida Department of Environmental Protection and team members Marc Beaulieu of the Oviedo Police Department and Nicholas Haupt of the Boca Raton Police Department.

Once the Commission's assessors complete their review of the agency, they report back to the full Commission, which will then decide if the agency is to receive re-accredited status. The Marion County Sheriff's Office's re-accreditation is for three years. Verification by the team that the Marion County Sheriff's Office meets the Commission's standards is part of a voluntary process to gain or maintain accreditation — a highly prized recognition of law enforcement professional excellence, Sheriff Ed Dean said.

Gonzalez said the agency's role in educating the public about the severity of such offenses is important, as noted by a part of the criteria.

"We try to prevent them before they even occur, by speaking to local schools, giving promotional material to the bars and tell people what the consequences of driving under the influence are."

In addition to educational aspect, the Dunnellon Police Department has also ramped up its checkpoints or its participation in area checkpoints. In 2010, Dunnellon conducted five DUI checkpoints and participated in another three outside of city limits.

Black, who nominated Gonzalez for the distinction, said she knew he had a chance to win, but also realized the competition was tough.

"It's an honor for him and our agency," she said.

"We take it upon ourselves to spread the word, so that Marion County knows that recklessness is not tolerated on our roadways," said Anita Kinsler, Chairman of IDEAVS. "We will remain dedicated to the many families whose lives are affected, and provide them the support they need to pick up the pieces."

During the appreciation dinner the following law enforcement professionals were acknowledged for their efforts to minimize DUI in our community:

Representing Marion County Sheriff's Office — Gary Miller, Micah Moore, Alan Jones, Yobanny Valdez, Crystal Sollazzo, Steve Simpson, Nicholas Frost and Peter Casey.

Representing Ocala Police Department — William Joedicke, Dan Wright and Ryan Holland.

Representing Florida Highway Patrol — Shaun Lattinville.

During 2010, the above law enforcement pros arrested a total of 424 people for driving under the influence.

This nonprofit organization is constantly working with local law enforcement in identifying impaired drivers on our neighborhood streets.

"Our volunteers are moms, dads, sisters, brothers, aunts, uncles, cousins and concerned citizens, who work diligently to educate our community," said Kinsler.

GUEST COLUMN

Recent letter to the editor contained inaccuracies

There has been so many letters to the editor in reference to red-light cameras in Dunnellon. Every person has the right to voice their opinion, which we, as a city have always encouraged.

I read one of the recent letters submitted, and I noticed several incorrect statements and would like to provide the citizens of Dunnellon with the correct information.

On June 10, six officers, not eight officers, were scheduled for traffic court and the officers decided to ride together in order to save fuel and four vehicles were driven to the courthouse. One officer left immediately after court in order to return to the city and another officer went to the state attorney's office to file for an arrest warrant on a case they were working.

During traffic court, each officer testified on each violation that they reviewed. The city attorney is not present to represent the city during these court proceedings unless needed, which would be an additional cost to the city.

Joanne Black
Chief of Police

I can assure the citizens that while these officers were in Ocala at traffic court, the streets of Dunnellon had continuous police presence as the chief of police was working the road and handling calls for service. Another officer was scheduled for duty in the afternoon and was available to provide assistance if needed.

The department is in need of additional officers, but the Dunnellon Police Department always provides the best professional service to the citizens of Dunnellon and its visitors.

When the court proceedings begin, the Hearing Officer advised every one of their options and what fines could be assessed. This provides the people a better understanding of what is to be expected if the violation is not dismissed.

The Hearing Officer called several names and their citations were dismissed prior to the beginning of the court proceedings. Only two of the names that were called were from the Dunnellon city limits and the rest lived in Georgia, Morriston, north of the Dunnellon city limits, Ocala and Chiefland, to name a few.

Some of the violations were dismissed at the request of American Traffic Solutions (ATS) due to the citation being sent to the owner even after the owner paid the fine for the Notice of Violation, and some of the other citations were dismissed because the officer that issued the citation no longer works at the police department.

We do not have a policy in place to dismiss all city resident violations, if the officer observes a violation the violation is accepted and ATS will issue a Notice of Violation to the owner.

If you receive a Notice of Violation and you were not the driver, you have the opportunity to complete an affidavit and you must indicate who the driver was during the violation. Once ATS receives the affidavit, the Notice of Violation is removed from the owners name and issued to the driver.

Remember, there is only a 30-day window for the Notice of Violation fine to be paid, after the 30 days the Notice of Violation is changed to a Uniform Traffic Citation and the fine is increased.

If someone receives a Notice of Violation, we suggest that you review the still pictures and video of the violation, the website is listed on the violation notice. After reviewing the video and pictures, if you feel that you did not violate any traffic laws, you do have the right to request a court hearing at which time a court date will be scheduled. While in court you have the right to be heard in court.

Support of Lori Shettleroe, Dunnellon Police Department employee

I would like to thank Norm Gazaille and Haydee Seidel from Norm's Clean Cut for supporting one of our employees while she continues her fight against cancer. Lori began to lose her hair at a rapid pace and the officers decided to shave their heads to show Lori that she was not alone. Norm and Haydee opened their doors and shaved anyone who wanted to support Lori without cost as long as they donated the cost of the haircut to Lori.

Officer Miley, Officer Arnold, Officer German, Officer Yox and Sgt. Gonzalez along with Julio Granados and Shawn Houle from Superior bank, Gregg Spafford from Green Light Dunnellon Communications and Jeff Bryan of Riverland News met at Norm's Clean Cut and one by one their heads were shaved. Lori who was present at the time appreciated everyone's support and had the opportunity to shave several of the men's head. She said that she felt honored to belong to such a great community who always seems to take care of their own.

All the guys had a great time and enjoyed watching Lori smile and laugh as their hair fell to the ground.

Lori received so many hugs and kisses that she felt like a superstar. Lori will always be a shining star in our eyes.

Lori has recently been in and out of the hospital and her vehicle is unable to be repaired, therefore an account has been opened in Lori's name at Superior bank for anyone who would like to donate to assist with medical bills and for a replacement vehicle.

The police department has ordered and will be selling gel bracelets for Lung Cancer Awareness for a donation and all proceeds will benefit Lori. The bracelets can be picked up at the police department, Abigail's and Superior bank.

Thank you for all your support,
Chief Joanne M. Black

Greenlight comes to Rainbow Springs

Greenlight Communications is installing fiber-optic cable at Rainbow Springs. Greenlight Communications is a utility owned and operated by the city of Dunnellon. As a utility, they have the right to access all right of ways in the community.

The Association has no authority over the utility companies or the right of ways. The Association did attempt to communicate with Greenlight and to give the members ample warning prior to the start of the project in the community.

We have not received any communications regarding the installation of fiber optics in the community. We did realize that at some point in time this process would take place. If you have

There I was laughing as Jacob Gonzalez lost his hair. Aaron German wasn't so sure about how this was unfolding, so Jacob and I did what any red-blooded American male would do in this situation. We bullied him into it, told him it was just hair and it would grow back.

After Norm Gazaille and Haydee Seidel at Norm's Barbershop had plowed their way through most of the male officers at the Dunnellon Police Department and Julio Granados and Shawn Houle from Superior Bank, my number was up and there was no escaping it.

I handed the camera off, glanced in the direction of Bruce "Robbie" Arnold and asked Norm to pass the clippers off to him.

Funny, I consider Robbie to be a friend. However, even this Marine was taking way too much pleasure in buzzing my locks off. Thankfully, Norm finished the job. I'm not quite sure if allowing Robbie to finish the job, what message he would have engraved into my noggin.

Needless to say, there was quite a bit of hair on the floor once the job was nearly complete. There was constant laughter as the phrase, "Let's see what he's going to look like when he's older."

There sure was a lot of laughter.

Most importantly was the ear-to-ear smile on the face of Lori Shettleroe, a 20-year employee of the city of Dunnellon. If you missed last week's edition of the Riverland News, then you missed out on the exact reason several guys gathered to buzz their heads.

Lori is fighting lung cancer. She faces a daunting task in her road to recovery.

Most importantly, she needs our help, the community's help.

Lori is without a vehicle, dependent on friends to drive her to and from her medical appointments on a weekly basis. If you or someone you know is selling a re-

TIME TO SMILE

Two for two

One more strike and I am out. My last two Do-It-Yourself (DIY) projects have been a disaster.

When will I ever learn? I think that is my problem.

My lust for learning is what gets me in trouble. I am a happy girl when I learn how to use a new tool or get to take something apart. I won't be getting any Girl Scout badge for the mess I got myself into this time.

My dishwasher died. You wouldn't think that would matter to someone who never cooks. Somehow my sink still ends up with a lot of glasses, spoons and bowls.

I popped into our local Sears and ordered a no frills washer. The bells and whistles only mean one more thing that will break in the future. Why pay extra for something I will never use? Satisfied with my purchase I headed home.

Normally at this point I would call my "dear brother Tim." He has the unfortunate skill of being talented in everything (electronics, carpentry, tiling, plumbing, music, etc.)

My "dear brother Tim" is the handiest of the handy. I didn't want to bother him for this simple project. I have watched enough HGTV to know you turn off the water source and unhook the hoses. How hard can it be to uninstall the old dishwasher?

It was twilight when I began. This was my first mistake. I have no lights in my kitchen. They need to be replaced and is on the to-do list for my "dear brother Tim."

I looked under the sink for the valves that need to be shut off. There are three valves that don't have valve caps. Ding, ding, ding! This is the warning signal I dismissed.

I pulled out all the junk and found five valve caps. The valve cap is what allows you to move the valve. Okay, five caps and only three valves. Huh? Can someone turn that bell off I can't think.

I turned off two valves. The third one wouldn't budge. This is the one that goes to the dishwasher. This sucker wasn't going to move. Huh, maybe it isn't supposed to turn? WRONG!

I pulled the dishwasher out and unplugged it. I placed a small bowl under the first hose that I disconnected. A trickle of water came out. That's a good sign, right?

The second hose was harder to get off. Using my wrench I got that small spray of water in the face that you see on every sitcom. One more turn and it was a volcano of scalding hot water.

Instead of grabbing the hose and facing it into the sink I ran like a girl screaming. Idiot, idiot, idiot. At this point you should hear the sound of me banging my head against the wall!

I had no clue where the main shut off valve was. I called my neighbor Jack. He came running over and told me to look outside the house. By now I am the only entrant and, therefore, the winner of a wet T-shirt contest (a la my pink bathrobe).

Thankfully, Jack was a gentleman and he did not tell me I looked like a drowned rat. Jack had out-of-state company arrive earlier that day, so I didn't want to give him a plumbing job.

I broke down and called my "dear brother Tim." Mr. Fixit fixed it! I dragged the mop and began cleaning the flood.

This ordeal won't deter me from trying another DIY project. I need to install a new ceiling fan and some light fixtures.

Electrical work, how hard can that be?

What could possibly go wrong?

Did you just hear that bell go off or was that a ringing in my ear?

any problems with the installation around your property, I recommend you contact the mayor's office or the business manager's office of the city of Dunnellon.

You will find after the orange paint arrives in your neighborhood, that early one morning a project crew will arrive digging holes, stretching out orange conduits and all the activity of a construction site.

I recommend you not to get too excited because by six o'clock the holes will be filled in and the crews will be doing a final cleanup. The next day you will find a crew repairing sod and doing finishing touches. At this point in time, water any sod that was disturbed. If you have a specific problem, you should then report it to the city of Dunnellon.

I have been questioned whether it is mandatory to use this service. It is not. The service will be competing with other communication utilities that serve the area. Let's hope this project goes with minimal problems for residents.

Paper has improved; story was informative

I grew up in a small New England town that had a weekly newspaper, and have been a subscriber of the Riverland News since moving here 12 years ago.

I just wanted to let you know that I think the paper has improved so much over the past 12 years. This week's story about Greenlight was especially well written and most informative.

Mr. Bryan seems to be doing a good job of staying on top of local events and news and is able to clearly convey what he finds out.

Former lawmaker's article straight to the point

My husband and I are registered Democrats but have voted for honorable and qualified Republicans in the past. We were totally blown away by Nancy Argentino's write-up in Sunday's Citrus County Chronicle. What a to-the-point, straight from the shoulder observation on what is wrong with today's politics, or more accurately, politicians.

We have been impressed by Nancy's good works since our move from Pennsylvania to Florida many years ago and can honestly say she is a true asset to the Republican Party and our country. We'd like to see her go much farther in politics and, perhaps, become our first honest, qualified female president in the future.

Keep up the good work Nancy! We need more honest people like you in government and run out of office those politicians who do nothing more than promote themselves and forget that they are put in office to do the work of the people, not line their pockets and pay back those who contributed to their campaigns.

Sincerely,
Patricia C. Hess

Let's get this straight

RE: Liberals need to get their facts straight, June 16 letter

The June 16 letter sought to re-support the contention that President Obama is pro-Muslim, anti-Israel and anti-American. Several facts were offered to support these contentions, and I will assume they were gleaned from right-leaning sources. My points were challenged as factually incorrect. Let's examine the facts offered and see if they are accurate, fair and balanced.

Obama was pronounced pro-Muslim based on a sentence in his book, "The Audacity of Hope", which reads "I will stand with the Muslims should the political winds shift in an ugly direction." The sentence is taken out of context and altered from the original sentence. The actual sentence relates to immigrants who are U.S. citizens and reads: "They have been reminded that the history of immigration in this country has a dark underbelly; they need specific assurances that their citizenship really means something, that America has learned the right lessons from the Japanese internments during World War II, and that I will stand with them should the political winds shift in an ugly direction." The word "Muslim" does not appear in the sentence or even in the paragraph.

Obama was pronounced anti-Israel for making Netanyahu wait "for hours."

One account of the March 2010 Obama and Netanyahu meeting appeared in the Telegraph. Prior to that meeting it was clear that President Obama had long wanted Israel to place a moratorium on building new settlements to facilitate a start to peace negotiations.

Obama met with Netanyahu and immediately gave him a list of 13 demands to quell current U.S.-Israeli disagreements, including the settlement issue. The article states "When the Israeli prime minister stalled, Mr. Obama rose from his seat declaring, 'I'm going to the residential wing to have dinner with Michelle and the girls.'"

Obama stated: "I'm still around" and "Let me know if there is anything new."

Netanyahu then met with his aides there in the White House for a little over an hour to consider a response. Obama and Netanyahu met again that evening and did not reach any agreement, resulting in no photo op or joint statement.

Additionally, the Israeli decision to pursue construction of a contentious settlement in East Jerusalem was sprung by Netanyahu shortly before the meeting drawing the president's ire.

The article also noted, "It is not the first time that Mr. Netanyahu has been involved in a dinner-time snub, although he is arguably more used to delivering, rather than receiving, them."

The issue of the condition of U.S. support for Israel is far too complex to discuss here, but let's note that Israel signed the Geneva Convention.

Article 49 forbids an occupying nation from moving its civilian population permanently into occupied lands – something Israel has been doing for more than 40 years, providing some historical validation for Obama's position.

In August 2010, the U.S. agreed to an Israeli purchase of 20 F-35's costing $2.75 billion dollars, which will be paid with U.S. military grants to Israel. Obama's Fiscal Year 2011 budget requested $3 billion in military aid to Israel, continuing our $3 billion per year in military aid to Israel. I see Obama's actions as pro-peace and not anti-Israel, and I am pretty sure Netanyahu will not be returning the aid or the F-35's.

It is not valid to compare a domestic border issue like Mexico with the international border issue of Israel and the Palestinians. The Mexican border issue orbits around the resolution of illegal immigration and drug trafficking. The unresolved Israeli-Palestinian border issue remains a long-standing potential threat to peace in the Middle East and the world.

I think we are in no imminent danger of invasion by Mexico. Since the end of World War II and our ascent to becoming the leading world power, our foreign policy became inexorably entrenched in global affairs and will continue to be necessary due to a world being shrunk by communications, technology, economics, energy and ecological concerns.

America has assumed a global leadership position we cannot abrogate.

Finally, it does not make sense to brand President Obama anti-American on any level. His April 6, 2009, speech to the Turkish Parliament is a good illustration of his foreign policy stance. The president's remarks espoused repairing our long-standing relationship with Turkey, a democratic ally in the Middle East; seeking peace and security for Israel and Palestine; resolving the current worldwide economic crisis; fighting extremism; and curtailing the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

The president stated that "no one nation can confront these challenges alone, and all nations have a stake in overcoming them."

The speech did acknowledge our legacies of slavery, the treatment of Native Americans, the prison at Guantanamo Bay; and our post-9/11 use of torture.

Surely, one must agree these are part of our history and not proud legacies.

liable vehicle at an inexpensive cost, please contact the city or police department and let them know.

While I've only been in Dunnellon for a short time, one thing is for sure: When it comes to one of the town's own people, residents band together to help pick those in need up. This one of those times when someone needs our help.

If you don't personally know Lori, you're missing out. She's that person that if you're having a bad day, can lift your spirits. Though, she's been knocked down so to speak. She's still positive about her ordeal.

She's a fighter.

I say we all get in her corner and help her fight back.

Now, you might not be able to contribute much, but if you want to have some fun while helping her out, Norm and his co-worker are willing to assist. They've said that anyone wanting a buzz cut or a very short cut, no matter if you're man or woman, they'll do it as long as you contribute to Lori's fund.

So I say, shave those locks off. After all, it's summertime and it's hot out there, and it'll grow back.

Open Letter to the Community

Over the last several weeks, there has been a good deal of information shared in the community regarding the affiliation of Family Care Specialists (FCS) with Ocala Health System. As medical director, I want to clarify precisely why my colleagues and I chose to become a part of Ocala Health late last year. Today, after six months of our affiliation, we are proud to be contributing to its position as the leading healthcare provider for the residents of greater Marion County.

We are affiliated with Ocala Health because of the quality of care that is consistently delivered at every touch point throughout the system. It's that simple. While my fellow physicians and I observe first-hand the exceptional treatment our patients are receiving at Ocala Regional Medical Center and West Marion Community Hospital, it is reassuring to know that publicly reported data available on the Hospital Compare website (www.hospitalcompare.hhs.gov) is reflecting that high caliber of care.

According to the most recent Hospital Compare Survey of Patients' Hospital Experiences (3Q09 – 2Q10), Ocala Regional Medical Center and West Marion Community Hospital lead in nine out of ten categories that measure patient experience according to key quality topics. From how well nurses and doctors communicate, to pain management and room cleanliness, to quietness at night and responsiveness of staff, patients rank Ocala Health number one.

In addition, the survey results further strengthen my belief that Ocala Health is the region's leading healthcare provider for more complex conditions including pneumonia, heart failure, heart attack, chest pain, and surgical care. In fact, Ocala Health surpasses averages reported statewide and nationally.

At Family Care Specialists, we recommend with confidence the services of Ocala Regional Medical Center and West Marion Community Hospital. Quality care was a driving force in our efforts initially to join Ocala Health and continues to be today, as we work together in treating patients and their families.

I encourage you to take a moment to visit the Hospital Compare website. Review the core measure and patient satisfaction scores for area hospitals as reported by the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services. You do have choices. Publicly reported information like this can help you as a patient and consumer make the most informed decisions about healthcare for you and your loved ones.

Yours in good health,

At Ocala Health System, quality healthcare matters.

We know that there is a real difference in the quality of care provided by area hospitals – and that it matters. So when you select a healthcare provider to treat you or a loved one, choose one that is committed to quality care ... and one that consistently delivers on that quality care – Ocala Health.

Ocala Health ranks highest in all four key quality measures.

Our advanced approach to quality patient care is confirmed in the most recent survey results posted on Hospital Compare (www.hospitalcompare.hhs.gov), a site created by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and the Hospital Quality Alliance (HQA). Providing public access to these results makes it easier for patients and their families to make informed healthcare decisions.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report

Rainbow Springs Utilities, L.C.

PWS 6422679

We're very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the excellent water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. Our water source is ground water from 3 wells. The wells draw from the Floridan Aquifer. The water is disinfected by injecting chlorine gas and held for a detention time of 640 minutes before entering the water distribution system.

We are pleased to report that our drinking water meets all federal and state requirements.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Rainbow Springs Utilities, L.C. at 352-489-9153. We encourage our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please contact the utility office Monday through Friday, between the hours of 7:00am to 3:30pm.

Rainbow Springs Utilities, L.C., routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws, rules, and regulations. Except where indicated otherwise, this report is based on the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st 2010. Data obtained before January 1, 2010, and presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with the laws, rules, and regulations.

In the table below you may find unfamiliar terms and abbreviations. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal or MCLG: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfection Level or MRDL: Means a level of a disinfectant added for water treatment that may not be exceeded at the consumer's tap without an unacceptable possibility of adverse effects.

Maximum Residual Disinfection Level Goal or MRDLG: Equals 0.6 ppm disinfectant.

Action Level (AL): The concentration of a contaminant that, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system must follow.

Initial Distribution System Evaluation (IDSE): An important part of the Stage 2 Disinfection Byproducts Rule (DBPR). The IDSE is a one-time study conducted by water systems to identify distribution system locations with high concentrations of trihalomethanes (THMs) and haloacetic acids (HAAs). Water systems will use results from the IDSE, in conjunction with their Stage 1 DBPR compliance monitoring data, to select compliance monitoring locations for the Stage 2 DBPR.

Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum residual disinfectant level goal or MRDLG: The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Million fibers per liter (MFL): measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10 micrometers.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU): measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity is excess of 5NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

"ND" means not detected and indicates that the substance was not found by laboratory analysis.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter ( $\mu\text{g/l}$ ): one part by weight of analyte to 1 billion parts by weight of the water sample.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l): one part by weight of analyte to 1 million parts by weight of the water sample.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) or Picograms per liter (picograms/l): one part by weight of analyte to 1 quadrillion parts by weight of the water sample.

Parts per trillion (ppt) or Nanograms per liter (nanograms/l): one part by weight of analyte to 1 trillion parts by weight of the water sample.

Picocurie per liter (pCi/L): measure of the radioactivity in water.

Treatment Technique (TT): A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Stage 1 Disinfectants and Disinfection By-Products

For bromate, chloramines, or chlorine, the level detected is the highest running annual average (RAA), computed quarterly, of monthly averages of all samples collected. For haloacetic acids or THM, the level detected is the highest RAA, computed quarterly, of quarterly averages of all samples collected if the system is monitoring quarterly or is the average of all samples taken during the year if the system monitors less frequently than quarterly. Range of Results is the range of individual sample results (lowest to highest) for all monitoring locations, including Initial Distribution System Evaluation (IDSE) results as well as Stage 1 compliance results.

Disinfectant or Contaminant and Unit of Measurement	Dates of Sampling (mo./yr.)	MCL or MRDL Violation Y/N	Level Detected *	Range of Results	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Rainbow Springs Utilities, LC is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you should ask your water provider. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

(A) Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

(B) Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

(C) Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.

(D) Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

(E) Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations, which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which must provide the same protection for public health.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. In order to maintain a safe and dependable water supply, we sometimes need to make improvements that will benefit all of our customers. These improvements are sometimes reflected as rate structure adjustments. Thank you for understanding.

In 2009 the Department of Environmental Protection performed a Source Water Assessment on our system. The assessment was conducted to provide information about any potential sources of contamination in the vicinity of our wells (or surface water intakes). There is one potential source of contamination identified for this system with a moderate susceptibility level. The assessment results are available on the FDEP Source Water Assessment and Protection Program website at www.dep.state.fl.us/swapp/ or they can be obtained by calling Rainbow Springs Utilities. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

District begins recruitment for executive director position

Special to the Riverland News

The Southwest Florida Water Management District has begun a nationwide search for a new executive director today following the resignation of David L. Moore last month.

The District's Governing Board accepted Moore's resignation on Friday and appointed the District's General Counsel William S. Bilenky to serve as interim executive director, while authorizing District Human Resources staff to begin the recruitment process for a new executive director immediately.

The executive director functions as the chief executive officer of the District, which includes daily direction and operating responsibility for more than 700 full-time staff members, the District's $280 million budget and all organization assets. The executive director is also responsible for recommending and implementing policies adopted by the District's 13-member Governing Board.

The executive director will be appointed by the District's Governing Board. However, the appointment is subject to approval by the Governor and confirmation by the Florida Senate upon employment.

The position is posted on the District's website at WaterMatters.org/jobs. The deadline to apply is Friday, July 15 at 5 p.m.

The Hearing Officer will hear from the officer then you will have the opportunity to tell your side of the story and the Hearing Officer will make a determination on your case.

the application for a special exception is made; and

- that the project is located in environmentally sensitive lands — a coastal zone and a coastal high hazard area, and contains listed species, both of which are protected from mining.

Yankeeetown Mayor

Dawn Clary said the town filed the suit because of concern about the impact the mine will have on water wells and for another important reason.

"I think Yankeeetown is a very, very environmentally sensitive area and we are just a town of environmentalists," she said.

Clary said some residents are still concerned by Tarmac's refusal to perform a dye test on the groundwater to see if the flow of groundwater would go from the mines to wells used by residents.

"You never really know until you do the test," she said.

"We do live kind of on the edge here," she continued. "We're in a very hard spot and we went through a lot for our water plant."

The town dedicated a new water plant about two years ago.

The Withlacoochee group said 121 of its members live in Levy County and make use of its natural resources. The suit states:

- Surrounding lands "could be adversely impacted by the long-term impacts of the proposed Tarmac mine," including wildlife and wetlands;

n Residents could suffer adverse effects to the Comprehensive Plan, including health and safety, and environmental or natural resources which exceed the interest held by all county residents:

- Residents' ability to engage in educational, scientific, recreational and advocacy activities would be harmed by the county's failure to comply with its Comprehensive Plan for the Withlacoochee ecosystem;

- It fails to protect the "Florida Outstanding Waters" of the nearby Waccasassa Preserve State Park — a national natural landmark, as required by the environmentally sensitive lands policy element;

- It could endanger the nearby 945,000-acre Big Bend Seagrass Aquatic Preserve, the sealife within, and commercial seafood harvesting.

streets of Dunnellon. We have received numerous positive comments about the use of the red-light cameras and would like to see a reduction of red-light violations.

Since the installation of the red-light cameras, there have been more than 6,600 violations issued.

Recently, our department responded to a traffic crash at the corner of Southwest 180th and County Road 484, which is in the city limits, where the driver of a Ford vehicle ran the red light while making a right turn onto C.R. 484.

The vehicle pulled into the path of the motorcycle; the rider did not have time to react and collided into the left rear quarter panel of the vehicle. The rider was thrown off their motorcycle and was later transported to Shands Hospital for extensive leg injuries. The motorcycle was totaled. The driver of the Ford vehicle admitted fault for the crash.

Whether making a right-hand turn or driving straight through, or whether there is a red-light camera in place, please drive defensively and follow all rules of the road. Together we will make our streets even safer for all to enjoy.

lot, however, when Cooke picked her up, they instead went to the Woods where they had sexual intercourse.

According to the arrest report, during an initial interview May 10 with Cooke, he said he picked up the victim at a relatives house to hang out in the McDonald's parking lot approximately five months ago. Cooke stated he felt uncomfortable there because he was not attracted to the victim and drove her home before anybody arrived at the McDonald's parking lot, the report stated.

Cook advised that he never had sexual intercourse when asked by Cpl. Jacob Gonzalez, the report stated, but that he did kiss her on the cheek while returning her to her residence. During the interview, Cooke consented to a polygraph exam.

On June 8, Cooke arrived at the Ocala Police Department to take a polygraph, the report stated. Sgt. Chaz Maier of the Ocala Police Department conducted the exam, while Office Shane Yox of the Dunnellon Police Department waited outside, the report stated.

According to the report, Sgt. Maier advised that Cooke was showing signs of deception toward the question regarding having sexual intercourse with the victim.

On June 10, authorities contacted Cooke in reference to scheduling an interview June 11 at the Dunnellon Police Department, the report stated, in which Cooke agreed to meet with officers regarding the case. According to the report, Cooke missed the assigned interview and when contacted advised authorities he could not make it because his grandfather was not "doing well." He did tell authorities he could meet June 12, the report stated.

During their meeting June 12, Cook stated he did not have sexual intercourse with the victim, the report stated, adding he did not know why the polygraph would show that he was showing deception when asked about having sexual intercourse with the victim.

Cooke was taken to the Citrus County Jail. His bond was set at $20,000.

Tiger standout signs to play football at Waldorf College

Delgado ready for transition to Iowa school

JEFF BRYAN
Riverland News

Steven Delgado, a two-way threat for the Dunnellen High School football team the past two years, recently signed a national letter of intent to play football at Waldorf College in Forest City, Iowa.

Waldorf competes in the Mid-States Football Association, an NAIA affiliated conference, slated to begin its 17th MSFA gridiron season with 16 schools in four Midwestern states.

Waldorf was one of two schools seeking Delgado's services for football, he explained, adding he had five offers to wrestle at the collegiate level. A two-time state qualifier in wrestling, he opted to pursue his life-long dream of playing football at the next level, because he preferred to not cut weight.

"Since I was a little kid I've been wanting to play college football," he said. "I'm definitely going to take advantage of (the opportunity.)"

Delgado said Waldorf was the best attraction for him, because of head coach Greg Youngblood, who will be entering his sixth season this August when Delgado arrives on campus.

"He's really into the program; he wants to get to know you as a person," Delgado explained. "It's not about getting you there just to play, he wants to know you as a person."

"Obviously, watching him on film, we like his athleticism," explained Youngblood, whose team finished 3-8 in 2010. "He's a guy who could develop and play at a high level. Academically, we felt he could do well here. That's all criteria we look for. We definitely felt like he was worth having in our program."

As to where Delgado will fit in with Waldorf's program, Youngblood said that will have to wait until camp opens in August. Offensively, Delgado amassed more than 700 total yards from scrimmage and scored seven touchdowns a year ago. On the defensive side of the ball, he had 43 tackles and three interceptions.

"We'll see how that evolves," he explained. "He did a couple of things out of the backfield we liked, he can run and he can also catch the ball coming out of the back field or as slot type player. Where he fits for us will depend on the personnel we have, how he fits into our scheme. We adjust our scheme to the people we have around us. He's that kind of guy that has that flexibility. We certainly like the ball in his hands, we believe he can develop to be a good playmaker."

Delgado said he'd prefer to play defense as opposed to offense, but he said the team comes first.

"I'd rather play safety," said Delgado, who had 43 tackles and three interceptions during his senior campaign. "I've always loved hitting people. You always get more action and a chance to be in every play. Whatever helps the team, I'm willing to do it."

However, playing in the brutal Midwestern fall weather will be a new experience.

"I'm from New Jersey, I've been around the snow," he explained. "I've never had to play in it, it's definitely going to be a new experience. I'm excited about it."

Fagan calls freshman campaign at UF 'disappointment'

JEFF BRYAN
Riverland News

Success came easy for Kasey Fagan during her four-year stint at Dunnellen High School.

Fagan and the Lady Tigers won, a lot, whether it was lopsided victories or nail-biters such as their second straight Class 4A Championship, a 3-1 win over Naples. In addition to the back-to-back state titles, Dunnellen clinched the No. 1 ranking and national title in the ESPN Rise poll.

Accolades piled up for Fagan, the star of the team. She was the Gatorade State Player of the Year twice, winning national honors, attending the ESPY Awards Ceremony in Hollywood.

Her freshman campaign as a member of the University of Florida softball team was anything but easy for talent-laden Fagan. Even though she started all 68 games at third base for the Lady Gators, who eventually reached the Women's College World Series championship game, Fagan admitted she struggled to adjust to the college game.

"My first season was a bit of a disappointment from an individual standpoint," ex-

Brombacher from its power-packed lineup.

In addition to Fagan, the Lady Gators will have Michelle Moultrie and Brittany Schutte, both of whom were selected for Team USA, back in the lineup.

"During the offseason I'm going to work on everything," she said. "There's not just one thing I can pinpoint. I'm working on getting faster, stronger, and just better physically and mentally."

Having reached the pinnacle of her prep career, reaching the College World Series and playing for a national championship was "honestly ...without a doubt the best time of my life," she said.

"The feeling I got walking into that sold-out stadium, and the adrenaline that hits you as soon as the first pitch is thrown — there are no words. It was an experience I'll never forget," she recalled.

Returning will certainly be a challenge next year after losing the aforementioned seniors, but Fagan knows the talent will be there for a run at the College World Series. The Lady Gators return a solid corps of experienced players; however, will add a top-notch recruiting class led by Fagan's sister, Sami, the Gatorade State Player of the Year for the Lady Tigers.

"To return to the WCWS will be tough, especially with our great senior class leaving, but with the incoming freshman

there are some really talented ladies and I'm sure we'll be fine in every aspect of the game," Fagan explained. "I am so excited to have Sami playing with me this coming year.

Partly because I just miss my sister, and partly because I know how much she's going to contribute to our team."

Having developed a devout fan base during her career at Dunnellen, Fagan said she received plenty of encouragement from those folks.

"I do get e-mails, messages on Facebook, texts, calls, voice-mails from everyone back in Dunnellen," she proudly noted. "So I know that they're watching and rooting for us, and I'm so thankful for that!"

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Be careful: What appears to be a solid financial opportunity might have some hidden risks attached. A hazy personal matter needs to be cleared up.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) It's a good time to strengthen ties with family and friends. You might feel unsure about a recent workplace decision, but time will prove you did the right thing.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Just when you thought your relationship was comfortable and even predictable, your partner or spouse could spring a potentially life-changing surprise on you.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your usually generous self is overshadowed by your equally strong suspicious nature. You might be judging things too harshly. Keep an open mind.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Love and romance dominate the week. Married Aquarians enjoy domestic harmony, while singles could soon be welcoming overtures from loving Leos.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An old health problem recurs, but it is soon dealt with, leaving you eager to get back into the swing of things. A favorable travel period starts this week.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an independent spirit that resists being told what to do. But you're also wise enough to appreciate good advice.

Birds may reject a birdhouse placed near food or water, as these attract creatures like raccoons or rats that will eat birds and their eggs. Claw marks on the house's surface or nesting material pulled from the entrance will show these predators are around and can easily reach the birdhouse.

Try mounting the house away from food and on a metal pole, rather than on a tree trunk or hanging it on a branch. Smear the pole with a petroleum jelly/hot pepper mixture and spread sharp gravel around the base to discourage intruders.
