Drivers get a holiday gift; low gas prices

BY MICHAEL D. BATES
Citrus County Chronicle

Gas prices continue to decline, just in time for the droves of Floridians hitting the road this week. Floridians will find the lowest Thanksgiving gas prices in two years, according to AAA-The Auto Club Group. Prices dropped another 7 cents last week. At $2.50 per gallon, Sunday's average price in Florida is the the lowest since January, and only 6 cents more than the lowest price this year ($2.44).

GasBuddy shows prices Monday in Citrus

County ranging from $2.49 to $2.53. AAA forecasts about 2.8 million Floridians will travel this week for Thanksgiving. Of those, 2.5 million will drive. By that time, the average price for gasoline is expected to be less than last year's holiday, which was $2.47 per gallon. "Americans can be thankful for strong oil production and supplies, which have set the table for some of the lowest gas prices of the year," said AAA spokesman Mark Jenkins. "The state average should carve off another 5 cents before Thanksgiving.

Summerfield woman charge with first degree murder of inmate

MEDIA RELEASE
MCSO

Marion County Sheriff's Office Major Crimes Detective John Lightle arrested Jeniffer Lane Patrick, 24, and charged her with First Degree murder in the overdose death of fellow Marion County Jail inmate Lorraine Gardner, 22, Patrick snuck a combination of heroin and fentanyl into jail by hiding the narcotics in her vagina. She then provided it to Inmate Gardner, who overdosed and died soon after ingesting the narcotics.

On Friday, Sept. 7, Patrick was booked into the Marion County Jail for multiple drug-related charges. She was strip searched and body scanned for any signs of contraband and then placed in a cell with several other women, including inmate Gardner.

According to surveillance video of the cell, Patrick handed a small object (presumably narcotics) to Gardner. Gardner put the substance to her face and then began to show signs of physical distress. Ultimately, she became unresponsive and jail staff and medics made multiple attempts to resuscitate her, which were unsuccessful. Gardner was pronounced deceased and her death was later ruled as a result of Combined Drug Toxicity (heroin, fentanyl and valeryl fentanyl) by the Medical Examiner.

During his investigation, Detective Lightle discovered that Patrick had snuck the drugs into the jail. Surveillance video showed a baggie of narcotics fall from Patrick's pants while she was being transported for a second contraband check after Gardner's death. Upon reviewing the phone calls between Patrick and her boyfriend, Scott Derringer, made after Gardner's death, Unified Drug Enforcement Strike Team drug agents uncovered multiple incriminating statements made by both subjects in reference to the introduction of contraband and the murder.

Due to his involvement in this case, Derringer was charged with Solicitation to Possess

Happy Thanksgiving!

My wife, Carmen, and I wish all of you a happy Thanksgiving! I hope that when everyone sits down at the dinner table for your annual feast, whether that table is at a local homeless shelter or in your own home, please count your blessings.

If you have more blessings than you can count, then bless someone else.

If you have more food than you can eat, then feed someone else.

If you bless someone, it's the same as blessing your Creator and then God in turn blesses you. God's blessings cannot be contained. Those blessings cannot be held within your chest.

God's blessings are those little lights that must shine. That little light must not be hidden under a bushel basket.

God's blessings are little lights in the sense that everyone can receive them whether the table at which you feast is your own or whether it belongs to a church or a charity.

Again, please have a happy Thanksgiving and pray in thankfulness.

Kitty on the outside or a tree frog on the inside

Out to Pastor
Rev. James Snyder

I thought, which is a dangerous activity for me, that I had pulled one over on the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. It is a rare occasion when I actually do something like this.

At my age, I assume I could get away with something. I guess I am just not old enough.

Several weeks ago, I happened to look out the back window and saw a kitty walking across our backyard. A little idea sneaked into my head. Maybe I could get some kitty treats and feed the kitty.

It is not that my wife does not like kitties; she just does not like them on our property. No way she would ever, and I mean ever, condone some kitty living on our property. However, my thought was, what if she does not know?

I have always heard that what your wife doesn't know can't hurt you. So, I put together a very sneaky plan.

I went and got a dish for the kitty as well as a bag of kitty food. I really thought I could pull this off.

On the back porch, I put the dish and filled it with kitty food. I pushed it to the side so that you could not see it from the window. I am not an expert when it comes to sneaky, I'm still an amateur.

Later that evening I happened to look out the window and there it was. A tiger like kitty had found the dish and was feasting upon the food. I knew I had to take things slow. I did not want to scare off the kitty.

I kept this up for several days, quite proud of myself that I was not caught yet. I thought there was a chance I wouldn't get caught and I was living on that chance.

It was on a Thursday evening and I was looking out the porch door, watching the kitty eat when I heard somebody say, "What are you staring at?"

Immediately I recognized the voice and had to be very careful so that I did not trip up on anything.

"I'm just enjoying the backyard scenery. It looks so lovely in the evening shadows."

I sighed very deeply hoping I had escaped being found out.

Eventually I was getting to the point where I could open the door very carefully and the kitty would not get scared and run away. I was not able to pet it yet, but that was in my plans.

Then one night something else happened that pleased me deeply. A second kitty joined the back-porch kitty diner. I really was ecstatic, but I had to keep myself calm because I did not want to give my secret away.

Around our house, keeping secrets does not really last long.

Everything was going fine until one night the kitty came to the porch glass door and started meowing. The knucklehead that I am, I meowed back.

At that precise moment, my wife happened to walk into the kitchen area where the glass porch door was. She heard me meow and said, "There better not be a kitty on our porch!"

Before I could respond, she came up to the door and there was the kitty meowing at her.

"I don't want any old cat on our back porch."

I wanted to reply, but I didn't.

"I hope you're not feeding it!"

Do I need to call a lawyer?

At that moment, she went up to the door to open it so that she could shoo the cat away and there on the inside of the door was the biggest tree frog I have ever seen. When she saw that, she screamed, the kitty ran, and the frog jumped inside our house.

It has been a long time since I have seen the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage dancing.

It was all I could do from laughing hysterically. I tried to control it, but you know how that works. The more I tried to restrain my laughter the louder it got.

Where is my cellphone when I need it?

She ran, got a broom, came back and swept the frog outside. I haven't seen that frog since.

So, being in a sense of hilarious insanity, I said, and I almost regret saying it, "Which do you want? The kitty or the frog?"

She looked at me holding her broom in a very dangerous way and finally she broke down laughing.

Life is full of choices. Some of our choices are not of our choosing. Sometimes it is choosing the better of the worse.

Since then we have had two kitties come to our back porch every evening to enjoy the kitty food that I put out there in the kitty dish. I have not seen the frog, but I sure have been thinking about that frog ever since.

"What are you smiling at?"

"Nothing, I'm just having a happy moment."

"It better not have anything to do with that tree frog."

Thinking about this I was reminded of what David said. "Blessed is the man whom thou chooseth, and causet to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple" (Psalm 65:4).

It is not important if you are a kitty or a frog only that God has chosen you. Live in that glory every day.

Take time to be thankful. Stores are closed for Thanksgiving on Pun Alley

Today, the day after Thanksgiving, is always a frenzied activity of shopping for supposed bargains at many different stores, starting from early morning to late in the day. But now many stores opened yesterday making Thanksgiving into just another holiday shopping day. Monday continues with supposed online bargains for those who haven't yet obtained enough and those who were smart enough not to fight crowds. This whole stressful shopping holiday weekend gives us less time to be thankful for our blessings and what we have. Take some time today for a little Pun Alley Thanksgiving humor.

It's A Sign

A small business owner was dismayed when a brand new corporate chain much like his own opened up next door and erected a sign which read BEST BLACK FRIDAY DEALS. He was horrified when another competitor opened up on his right, and announced its arrival with a larger sign, reading LOWEST BLACK FRIDAY PRICES. The small business owner panicked, until he got an idea. He put the biggest sign of all over his own shop; it read MAIN ENTRANCE.

Remote Control

"Cash, check or charge?" the clerk asked after folding items the woman wished to purchase. As she fumbled for her wallet the clerk noticed a remote control for a television set in her purse.

"Do you always carry your TV remote?" the clerk asked. "No," she replied. "But my husband refused to come shopping with me, so I figured this was the most evil thing I could do to him."

Five and Ten

The shoplifter at the lingerie shop gave police the slip.

Even time has no meaning at all to a lot of women shoppers on Black Friday. The wife left early in the morning and announced to her husband, "I'm going shopping. I'll be back in about $750.00 or so." Glenn's wife loves bargains. What a great shopper. One time she went out window shopping and came home with seven windows.

The teenage girl approached the sales clerk in the dress shop with a large bag. "My mother likes this outfit. May I exchange it?"

Nowadays if someone pays in cash you get suspicious; you figure his credit is no good.

"This hat," she explained to her husband, "cost me nothing. It was marked down from $20 to $10, so I bought it with the $10 I saved.

People are funny; they spend money they don't have to impress people they don't like.

Black Friday is a scam. You should be mad they overcharge you 364 days a year.

If she used her library card the way she uses her credit cards she'd be the most brilliant woman in America. I went into a general store. They wouldn't let me buy anything specific.

I'll be celebrating Black Friday in my traditional way by completely ignoring it.

The Reward

A lady lost her handbag in the bustle of shopping at the mall. It was found by an honest little boy and returned to her. Looking in her purse, she commented, "Hmmm.... That's funny. When I lost my bag there was a $20 bill in it. Now there are twenty $1 bills."

The boy quickly replied, "That's right, lady. I knew you wouldn't give me $20 for a reward."

Silver Transformer

A family from the forest was visiting a huge mall in Orlando the first time in their lives.

The father and son were strolling around while the wife shopped. They were amazed by almost everything they saw, but especially by two shiny silver walls that could move apart and then slide back together again.

The boy asked, "Paw, what's that?"

The father responded, "Son, I dunno. I ain't never seen nothin' like that in my whole life."

While the boy and his father were watching, an ugly fat woman waddled up to the moving walls and pressed a button. The walls opened and the woman entered between them into a small room. The walls closed and the boy and his father watched the small circular number above the walls light up sequentially.

They continued to watch until it reached a high number and then the numbers began to light in the reverse order. Then the walls opened up again and a gorgeous, voluptuous 24 year-old blond woman stepped out.

The father, not taking his eyes off the young woman, said quietly to his son, "Boy, go git your Momma!"

The good thief

She left her wallet, containing $160, at a Walmart store in Clinton, Arkansas. She returned and retrieved the wallet but found that a thief had removed the cash. But the crook turned out to be "a good thief" and, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens, a few days later anonymously dropped off an envelope at the police station. It contained the stolen cash and a note addressed: "To the lady that left her wallet at Walmart." It read, in part, "please forgive me as I always strive to have integrity, and that day I failed miserably."

A hairy story

A six-month old baby girl in Japan has become something of an international celebrity after her mother posted photos of her sporting a full head of "lush" black hair. The Association of Mature American Citizens reports that "Baby Chanco," as the infant is known, has some 150,000 followers on Instagram. Her hair has been growing so fast and thick since her birth that her Mom has been taking her to a beauty parlor for frequent haircuts.

Fly me to the moon

Here's a gift for newlyweds that is truly out of this world: a titanium plaque etched with their names that will orbit the earth in space for a hundred or more years. The AMAC says the Warp Space Company of Japan offers to launch the personalized commemorative wedding plaques into space for $270 each.

Interested? Email them for more information.

She doesn't scare Texas A&M graduate Makenzie Noland showed off her unusual graduation pictures on her Facebook page recently. The AMAC says the photos show that she is ready, willing and able to use her newly acquired Wildlife & Fisheries Sciences degree to land her dream job at a zoo.

They show her in cap-and-down romping with Big Tex, a nearly 14-foot alligator. She calls the gator "one of my best friends" at the local wildlife sanctuary where she has been interning.

It is time to say 'no' to colds and flu – or at least try

Well, we can at least try! Cold weather predicts the start of flu season. Did you know why? Well it seems that low temperatures and vapor pressure reduce the size of virus-containing droplets traveling through the air. When the droplets shrink, they can remain airborne longer than in higher temperatures. So, when a sick person coughs or sneezes, releasing the virus, it is more likely to stay in the air and be inhaled by someone else.

Fall's cooler weather does not mean you should hibernate but it should remind you to get your yearly flu vaccination and also make sure you are immunized against pneumonia. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) up to 85% of flu-related deaths and 70% of hospitalizations occur in people ages 65 and older. Flu can worsen other medical conditions or lead to complications like bronchitis, sinus infections and pneumonia.

The seasonal flu standard vaccine for adults younger than 65, offers effective protection, however for those over 65 and older there is a high-dose vaccine (Fluzone) which is four times stronger and induces a higher antibody response than the standard dose.

If you do get the flu symptoms of fever, body aches, headache, sore throat, cough and runny nose, contact your health care provider right away even if you have been immunized. Antiviral medications can lessen symptoms, lower complication risk and shorten the length of time you are sick. The drugs are beneficial when taken within the first two days of symptoms.

The CDC recommends that adults ages 65 and older get two pneumonia vaccines PCV13 (Prevnar 13) and PPSV23 (Pneumovax). Unlike flu vaccines, the pneumonia vaccinations are usually given just once. These vaccines are effective at preventing severe disease, hospitalizations, and death.

The most common causes of pneumonia are viral or bacterial infections, often as a complication of a lingering cold, the flu or bronchitis. When body defenses are weakened by illness, old age, a recent bout of flu, or impaired immunity, the bacteria can work their way into the lungs and multiply to cause pneumonia.

Once treatment is started, uncomplicated pneumonia can clear up within one to two weeks. Fatigue and a mild cough can linger for a month or more, so it may take longer to regain strength and feel well again. This is definitely more time and effort than it would take to get vaccinated!

So try preventing infections by avoiding close contact with sick people. Wash your hands often with soap and water or an alcohol-based sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol. Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth and clean and disinfect surfaces using products that kill germs. Antibacterial soaps are of no value and should not be used.

Ocala's Biggest Holiday Office Party is Dec. 7

Golden Ocala Golf & Equestrian Club is inviting members and guests to join staff, family and friends for 'Ocala's Biggest Holiday Office Party,' otherwise known as OBHOP. The winter-inspired, cocktail-attired event will take place Friday, Dec. 7, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., at the 77,000-square-foot community clubhouse at 4090 NW 84th Court.

Tickets are $55 per person and include a cash bar, buffet, hot cocoa and cider bar, wine tasting, photo booth, DJ, dancing, fortuneteller and a visit with Santa

A portion of the proceeds for OBHOP will be donated to the Don Harrison Foundation, a nonprofit organization that supports local charities through fundraising and volunteer activities. The 501(c) (3) was formed in memory of a former decorated Marine who resided in Ocala and embodied the essence of charity. He is honored via a golf tournament at Golden Ocala every March, as he was a member and resident of the 1,200-plus-acre community.

Additionally, Golden Ocala will collect gifts and/or personal items for the Arnette House during OBHOP. The nonprofit organization provides various forms of therapy to families in Marion, Lake, Sumter, Citrus and Hernando counties in memory of a North Central Florida teen who died of a drug overdose in 1979. The Arnette House's wish list includes wallets for boys and small purses for girls, unisex, no-show socks (black or white), cologne sets (Axe and Old Spice) for boys and body sprays/lotions for girls (Cherry Blossom, Sweet Pea, etc.), sleep pants (small and medium for boys; medium and large for girls), skateboards for boys and adult coloring books with pencils for girls.

Also, Bicycle playing cards, Uno cards, $5 to $25 gift cards from Old Navy, Walmart, Aeropostale, Hollister, American Eagle, Plato's Closet and others.

This year, OBHOP will also include a First Responders Culinary Combat on the clubhouse patio, during which executive chef Rick Alabaugh is scheduled to provide local firefighters, police officers and more with a secret ingredient. Participants will then use that ingredient to make a main course meal to be judged by attendees based on taste.

These main course meals will be made in addition to chef Alabaugh's extensive buffet menu of salad, cheese, soup, carving and dessert stations. Salads range from classic Greek, to Asian cashew chicken, to caprese, to hearts of romaine and more, while cheese ranges from cheddar, to smoke Gruyere, to port salute and more. Soups are listed as chicken tortilla and lentil sausage fennel, while entrees include garlic and thyme-rubbed prime rib and honey bourbon-glazed pork loin. Mini pastries, blackberry cobbler and vanilla bean ice cream top off the dessert area.

Tickets are required for this exclusive evening. To RSVP on or before Friday, Nov. 30, as well as obtain tickets and more information, call Golden Ocala at 352-629-6229.

Golden Ocala is a 1,200-plus-acre destination of championship golf and tennis, a world-class equestrian center, luxury living and much more — packaged into a one-of-a-kind gated community and located among the rolling hills of North Central Florida, otherwise known as Horse

Country. With a variety of elite memberships and exclusive benefits, Golden Ocala is known as a premier venue for all occasions. It is located at 4090 NW 84th Court in Ocala. Call 352-629-6229. Online at GoldenOcala.com.

Dunn's strengthening Coastal Communities Act moves in the House

Bipartisan legislation introduced by congressman Neal Dunn, FL-02, addressing issues with the Coastal Barrier Resources maps will be voted on in the House this week.

The Strengthening Coastal Communities Act of 2018 makes technical corrections to the Coastal Barrier Resources maps that are adversely affecting areas in Bay and Gulf counties.

The Coastal Barrier Resources Act was signed into law in 1982 and works to preserve our nation's barrier islands by barring federal funds and financial assistance from being used there, which therefore disincentivizes development.

Dr. Dunn's legislation maintains these protections for our nation's barrier islands, while simply providing for more precise digital maps to distinguish the CBRA zones.

Co-sponsors of the legislation include Reps Thomas Rooney, FL-17, and Lisa Blunt Rochester, DE-At Large).

The legislation is also supported by the National Audubon Society.

CENTER FOR VISION AND VALUES

Losing sight of the Great War

The anniversary of the end of the Great War—despite President Donald Trump visiting pan-European ceremonies in France—passed almost unnoticed in the United States. This is noteworthy because 4,000,000 Americans were mobilized for the war and about 2,000,000 shipped to Europe, where 50,585 were killed in combat and another 200,000 suffered wounds. Another 100,000 American military personnel died from complications suffered by wounds and influenza. American combat deaths in World War I rank third only behind the American Civil War and the Second World War.

Indicative that Americans may be losing the historical significance of this war is that it's the only major war in U.S. history not commemorated with a memorial in Washington, D.C. Certainly, the Great War had more significance in Europe because not only did the body count soar into the tens of millions but also major historical shifts took place in Russia, Germany, and across Eastern Europe. Nevertheless, for Americans, involvement not only made this the "first" world war but also marked our inaugural experience involving significant military intervention.

Time inexorably fades memories. For the elderly, or approaching elderly, among post-World War II baby boom generation the Great War was our grandfathers' or great grandfathers' war. For Americans under 40, it's as distant as the Civil War was for baby boomers at the same age. Accordingly, in popular culture, the Great War doesn't carry the panache of the Korean War, with 1950s blockbuster movies like Bridges of Toko-ri starring William Holden and Pork Chop Hill featuring Gregory Peck. By comparison, movies produced about the war in Vietnam generated entire college classes studying the social significance of movies from The Ugly American starring Marlon Brando to Apocalypse Now (same star), a genre of Sylvester Stallone Rambo movies, and Pennsylvania's own reflective The Deer Hunter. World War I has Paths of Glory, a 1950s Stanley Kubrick epic starring Kurt Douglas and Adolfe Menjou bemoaning war's futility, the 1941

Vacation looms ahead

I'm going on vacation for most of December. I wouldn't say that if I believed anyone knows where I live. Just understand that I'm washing my hands of the paper until Christmas.

Anyone who has complaints about the Citizen or Messenger, remember that Christmas is the time to be jolly, so keep it to yourselves until New Year's Day and then resolve to be more forgiving for the rest of the year.

I haven't visited my hometown in about two years, and I don't know if I will this time or not because it depresses me. There is the old saying, "You can never go home again." I say, "Who would ever want to?"

However, the states of Oklahoma and Texas finally go together to replace a 100-year-old bridge across the Red River at Carpenter's Bluff. For those 100 years, the bridge was the only way to cross the river for hundreds of people who lived in Liberty Bottom. The bridge was built (I think) by the MK&T Railroad. It was a scary old bridge about a half-mile long and open only to one-way traffic.

The old Carpenter's Bluff Bridge is an iron bridge of an overhead truss design with a wood floor wide enough for horses, wagons, and Model Ts on the vehicular and a railroad track on the other. Each board creaked and rattled as we drove across in our old 1959 Buick with the big fins.

Freight trains used the bridge in the 1960s, and about every two weeks, engineers drove trains across that old bridge that linked the two states. After crossing into Oklahoma, the tracks must have sunk into the sandy loam soil because I don't remember where they laid between the bridge until just before they entered my hometown, which was on a long, arcing curve.

There was an old woman in town whose monthly check went to the owner of a country store. The store owner, in turn, sold the old woman beer, liquor, and wine while her Social Security check lasted. After that, she drank vanilla flavor and sometimes, she strained Mennen's Skin Bracer through white bread and drank what was called, "Green Lizard."

Well, at one point during one month, she ran out of money and credit at the grocery store and being of a not-so-sound mind, she heard the train whistle and got the idea that she would collect on her life insurance and buy herself something to drink. She laid down in front of the train as it entered the town. Unfortunately for her, a passerby saw what was happening and pulled the old woman from the path of the train and saved her life, thereby depriving her of the life insurance.

Maybe even more unfortunate was the town because after the railroad company removed the 100-plus railroad cars, it also took up the tracks.

That was the last train to stop in or even come near my hometown, which was just as unfortunate for

THE RICH LOWRY COLUMN No, Trump is not diminished

Midterm losses typically humble a sitting president of the United States, but Donald Trump is beyond humbling.

He is the most unbowed president ever to lose a house of Congress. Anyone who thought Trump would be taken down a notch, even by a more stinging electoral rebuke, doesn't know the man. He will remain the ringmaster of American politics until the day, presumably in January 2021 or 2025, when he gets on Marine One for the last time.

He made the midterms about him, because, really, what else would he make them about? Trump will never lose his interest in airtime, or the ratings. He boasted at a rally that, thanks to him, interest in the midterms was running higher than ever. And he was right.

Even if Democrats had a larger victory, on the scale of the Republican sweep in 1994, it would be impossible to imagine Trump getting upstaged.

His 90-minute post-election Q&A in the East Room of the White House was expansive, combative, boastful, gripping, outlandish, conciliatory, amusing -- and unlike any postelection news conference we've ever seen (even without Trump mentioning, by the by, that he was firing his attorney general).

The press loved every minute of it, practically begging him to keep going. The perverse symbiotic relationship between Trump and the media, so key to the success of both, is alive and well.

According to Trump, the election wasn't a "thumpin'" or "shellacking" -- George W. Bush's and Barack Obama's words for their own setbacks -- it was a personal victory that had been blighted by some Republicans not sufficiently embracing him. He proceeded to mock by name fellow Republicans who had lost, in another presidential first.

Trump has legitimate bragging rights: The Republican showing in the Senate was strong. His political base is still there for him, and in many key statewide races, there for the candidate he endorsed and stumped for. His rallies are still a hot ticket. He now has a cadre of allies, like newly elected Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis, whom he basically created.

Alienating traditional Republican voters in the suburbs, of course, comes with a real cost. For one thing, it hands Democrats a constituency spread throughout the country, as demonstrated by the GOP carnage in widely dispersed House races.

But, for Trump's purposes, the

3 more horses test positive for West Nile virus

Even though weather is turning cooler outside, residents should continue to take precautions against mosquitoes when outdoors. Three Marion County horses tested positive for West Nile virus recently, meaning the mosquito-borne virus is active in the community.

West Nile virus is a disease that can spread to people and animals through the bite of an infected mosquito. People typically develop symptoms two to 14 days after they are bitten. There is no specific treatment for West Nile virus, and most mild infections are typically overcome with little or no medical intervention within a few weeks. Eighty percent of people infected show no symptoms, and up to 20 percent can show mild symptoms, such as body aches, vomiting and nausea. About one in 150 people infected develop serious illness, with symptoms such as neck stiffness, paralysis, vision loss and tremors; neurological effects may be permanent, and severe illness can lead to death.

Marion County has been under a mosquito-borne illness advisory since May and remains under one due to ongoing mosquito activity. The advisory was originally issued due to an uptick in Eastern equine encephalitis (EEE) virus. EEE cases have decreased in recent months, and West Nile virus cases have increased statewide.

The state issues advisories to inform residents that they face an increased risk of diseases spreading to humans from mosquitoes through mosquito bites. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, people most at risk for infection with mosquito-borne virus include those who work outside or spend time doing outdoor recreational activities because of added exposure to potentially infected mosquitoes.

"Take preventative actions when you are outdoors to avoid exposure to mosquitoes," said Florida Department of Health in Marion County Health Officer Mark Lander. "Drain standing water around your home or property, cover your skin with clothing or repellent and speak with your veterinarian about what vaccinations may be available for your animals."

The department continues to conduct statewide surveillance for mosquito-borne illnesses, including West Nile virus, Eastern equine encephalitis, St. Louis encephalitis, malaria, chikungunya and dengue. For more information, visit www.floridahealth.gov/%5C/diseases-and-conditions/mosquito-borne-diseases.

“Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald”

At the Movies
Bob Garver

The “Fantastic Beasts” series exists as a way for J.K. Rowling to build on the extremely lucrative Wizarding World franchise without continuing to shove Harry Potter down our throats. Taking place in the 1920’s, the prequel series follows magical animal expert Newt Scamander (Eddie Redmayne) as he tries to go about caring for the wondrous creatures without getting sucked into a major conflict in the wizarding community. But no matter how hard he tries, trouble always seems to find him. In 2016’s “Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them,” he accidentally stumbled upon a plot to infiltrate the U.S. wizard government by evil European wizard Grindelwald (Johnny Depp). Grindelwald was arrested at the end of that film, but the opening moments of “The Crimes of Grindelwald” see him escape back to Europe so he can ... commit crimes. Everybody wants a piece of Newt Scamander. The British Ministry of Magic, where his brother Theseus (Callum Turner) works, wants him to take on a position with them, dangling badly-needed travel papers as bait. His old friends Jacob (Dan Fogler) and Queenie (Alison Sudol) play the role of intrusive houseguests. And Albus Dumbledore (Jude Law) wants him to go to Paris to make a move against Grindelwald without the Ministry’s consent. Newt initially refuses until he learns that his American love interest Tina (Katherine Waterston) is also in Paris, and he desperately wants to reconnect with her ever since she cut off communication after a newspaper article mistakenly identified him as the fiancé of Leta Lestrange (Zoe Kravitz), who is in fact engaged to Theseus, but is also his former girlfriend. Grindelwald, for his part, is rebuilding his empire. He still has the loyalty of about half the wizards in Europe, and he’s still in the ear of the extremely powerful, yet internally tormented Credence Barebone (Ezra Miller). Credence survived his apparent death in the first movie, and has since fled to Europe where he’s been working at a sideshow with his cursed friend Nagini (Claudia Kim) while he looks for answers about his family history. Grindelwald wants to use Credence to kill Dumbledore and Dumbledore needs people like Newt to stop Grindelwald because they are unable to personally harm each other due to a bond in their shared past (officially it’s a spell, but there’s an unspoken emotional component as well). Thus they need to find loopholes in order to move against one another. The film is really heavy on plot, with little room for fun along the way. I miss the sections of these movies where the characters just babbled about, say, wizard candy for several minutes. We don’t even get much of the Fantastic Beasts this time around, outside of a scene where Newt goes home for a minute or two before being interrupted. I guess my favorite creature in the movie is a sort of lion/dragon hybrid, but they’re all so irrelevant that it’s hard to get excited about any of them, as the film has to throw more characters and exposition at us that I’ll have forgotten by the time the next movie rolls around. That’s this movie’s lot, it wants to set up things that will be exciting and clever in future installments, but at the expense of being bloated and overwritten itself, thus decreasing interest in those future installments and the franchise as a whole. There’s magic to be found in “Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald.” The sets, costumes, special effects, and actors are all up to the standards of the Wizarding World. But it’s the overstuffed script by J.K. Rowling herself that makes this an ultimately bland entry. I’ll see the future films, of course, but this franchise needs to turn itself around on the next film or else the whole series is going to get written off as a creative misfire. Grade: C “Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald” is rated PG-13 for some sequences of fantasy action. Its running time is 134 minutes. Contact Bob Garver at rrg251@nyu.edu.

Mike Wolfe, Frank Fritz, and their team will return to Florida in January and they are interested in hunting for treasure in this area. Mike and Frank are the hosts and pickers for the TV series American Pickers, a documentary series that explores the world of antique “picking” on History. The show follows the pair as they hunt for America’s most valuable antiques. They are always excited to find sizable, unique collections and learn the interesting stories behind them. As they hit the back roads from coast to coast, Mike and Frank are on a mission to recycle and rescue forgotten relics. Along the way, the Pickers want to meet characters with remarkable and exceptional items. The pair hopes to give historically significant objects a new lease on life, while learning a thing or two about America’s past along the way.

Mike and Frank have seen a lot of rusty gold over the years and are always looking to discover something they’ve never seen before. They are ready to find extraordinary items and hear fascinating tales about them. American Pickers is looking for leads and would love to explore hidden treasures in the area. If you or someone you know has a large, private collection or accumulation of antiques that the Pickers can spend the better part of the day looking through, send your name, phone number, location and description of the collection with photos to americanpickers@cinetflix.com or call 855-OLD-RUST (653-7878).

Rest up from Thanksgiving because December is a busy month

Oak Run
Laura Smith

Oak Run celebrates with Holiday Parties, Troubadours, Tree Trimming.

Dear readers, if you are still napping from too much turkey (it is a food that is supposed to make you sleepy), it is time to wake up and check out the activities. If you can't find anything to charge you up, then I guess you should just go back to your nap and miss all the fun. Dec. 1 is a busy one and I can't wait. We have the Troubadours, tree trim and goodies at Palm Grove, doors open at 1 p.m. and concert at 1:30 p.m. John, my photographer and I will head to Art Club luncheon, take a couple pictures and then Palm Grove. The first Cabaret show is in evening. Another evening that sounds like fun, is Showcase with holiday music. During the season there will be a Memory Tree in Palm Grove. (see details in article). Woodside neighbors are having a party on Wednesday the 5th. Questions call Henry and Lillian Hanscom, our busy Oak Runners. Please don't miss the article from Diane Church, regarding sleeping bags for the homeless, esp. children. It breaks your heart when you find they are looking for vinyl table cloths to be used as ground covering, for when they sleep. Please, open your hearts and help Diane in this great mission. I think you will enjoy the holidays big time if you give first! I guess, Oak Runners know how to give. The Hospice fund raiser totaled over $20,000 for Legacy House. The following words touched me as I thought of this wonderful season approaching: "Faith makes all things possible. Love makes all things easy. Hope makes all things work." Anonymous. By the way dear friends, Joe and I became great-grandparents. We are actually "step" but that is okay. I know we won't hear the end of what a beautiful baby she is, from our son-in-law. I am sure I will see you around during the holidays. Peace, love and joy. Laura

Mary Busha
Cherrywood

A successful Cherrywood Craft Show and Sale

Twenty crafts men and women from Cherrywood and beyond filled the Clubhouse main hall on Saturday, Nov. 17. From woodworkers to candle makers, from photographers to knitters, from basket weavers to greeting card makers, and many other crafters in between, Christmas shoppers and others enjoyed the countless handmade gift options available that day.

The fall craft sale ran from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and there was never a dull moment. Besides the vendors, browsers and shoppers were able, for a nominal fee, to purchase lunch items and purchase raffle tickets for a variety of door prizes.

The Crochet and Knitting Club once again offered a bake sale and raffled off a handmade blanket and matching doll. Carol Torri was the winner of the afghan and doll. Proceeds from the bake sale and raffle which amounted to $225 will go to purchase supplies for the club for future donations of handmade articles by the ladies. The craft table of handmade items by the club made $237, which will go to benefit our local Interfaith Food Bank.

In addition, Cherrywood resident and organizer Sarah Blair made an extra gift basket containing items amounting to approximately $200. Lee Riley was the winner of this basket.

Sandee Spencer was in charge of the lunch items for the day, with help from Michele and Lee Riley, Sandee's husband, and her daughter Cheryl.

Two craft shows are held each year here at Cherrywood. So, crafters, replenish your supplies and gear up for next spring's show!

You know you're getting old ...

My husband, Bob, and I, and our rescue dog, Missy, took an 8-day driving vacation to Fort Worth last week, therefore no article last week. We went to visit a son and his family. While Mom and Dad were out, Bob and I stayed with our 11-year-old Texan granddaughter who loves to play games. I'm a game lover too. Bob, not so much, but we did talk him into playing with us.

One of the games was "Five Second Rule: Just Spit It Out!" I never before realized how fast five seconds can go by until I tried naming three items depending on the category on the cards I drew. One of mine was to name three famous cowboys. Somehow I was able to spit out Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, and Hopalong Cassidy before my five seconds were up, but just barely.

My granddaughter gave me a quizzical look and then said, "Who are they?" Before I could answer, she stated, "I would have said Romo, Elliot, and Prescott!" And then I gave her a quizzical look, until I realized she was naming three famous Dallas Cowboys. Talk about a generation gap. How about two generations?!?

I was impressed, however, that she knew her football.

Are You Ready?

Thankfully, I'm not going to have to offer tips to prepare for hurricanes any longer, since the official hurricane season is coming to a close at the end of this month. Now the question applies to something that's just around the corner, Christmas. In fact, it's a mere month and a couple of days away.

So, are you ready? I'm certainly not. It seems the occasion pounces out of nowhere. It was just October, wasn't it? And now the Christmas season and all it entails is upon us.

Cherrywood Travel is offering a couple of ways to help you prepare, both in the way of shopping and of getting into the spirit of the holiday. On Wednesday, December 12, they are sponsoring a shopping trip to the Tampa Premium Outlets. The fee for the ride down and back is $39. Lunch will be on your own.

The Show Palace Dinner Theatre in Hudson, Florida, is hosting a Christmas Special on Thursday, December 20. The holiday gala boasts dazzling costumes, dance numbers, and a wonderful holiday song list. According to producers, this Christmas show sells out every year. The price for this trip is $97. Christmas at Cherrywood

The Cherrywood Christmas Open House Party is scheduled for Friday, December 7. The event will run from 6:30-9:30 at the Clubhouse.

Those attending are asked to bring a Christmas dessert or a savory snack to share. Egg nog, holiday punch, and lemonade will also be served.

Besides festive foods and fun fellowship, participants will enjoy door prizes, a 50/50 raffle, and a Chinese Auction. Those desiring to take part in the Auction should bring a new wrapped gift ($10 value) and let Jennifer know, in advance, that you will be participating.

Toys for Tots at Cherrywood

"Toys for Tots" collects new and unwrapped toys for children ages infant to 13 years to be distributed throughout communities to children who might not otherwise receive toys at Christmas. This program, sponsored by the Marine Corps Reserve, has been in operation since 1947.

A large labeled box is set up at the Clubhouse for collecting our gifts of toys. In addition, monetary donations can be made through their website at www.toysfortots.org where it states that over 97% of donations go directly to the mission of providing toys, books, and other gifts to less fortunate children. The 3% spent on support principally covers fundraising expenses. "Not one donated dollar goes to salaries or any other manpower costs," say their officials.

To date, through Toys for Tots, over 500 million toys have been distributed to over 251 million children. They believe that every child deserves a little Christmas. It appears this organization is staying true to its

Oak Run Women's Golf Association

Several of our girls recently enjoyed a fun day of golf at the Continental Golf and Country Club Invitational.

Our Bump Day at The Preserve at Spruce Creek was the first day of cool, brisk, breezy weather that we've had in many, many months.

It was a most enjoyable day of golf!

It's amazing to hear the assortment of names some of the girls give to their golf balls.

A friendly reminder to all current, social and past members: the deadline for signing up and turning in payment for our Christmas/Holiday Party is Nov. 29.

This annual event is being held at The Citrus Hills Golf and Country Club on Dec. 13.

We are blown away by your generosity each year. Red and I, along with Ingrid and Andrew Crane, have been doing this Hoofin' fundraiser for many years now.

Veronica and Gary Andrews, Helen Route, Marian and John Mowen, Val and Steve Stazak, Flo and Ed Feltman, Ted Stazak and Kevin Wilder for pitching in. Love you and Oak Run. God Bless, Damien and team.

Travel

The following report is a good example of the great trips your ORHA Travel Committee provides for our resident's year-in and year-out.

Read the brochures, look in the Citizen every week for announcements and check the Travel bulletin boards at the Orchid Club and the Palm Grove.

Call our trip hosts, join with neighbors and enjoy your life in Oak Run.

On Sunday, Nov 11 a bus full of 40 Oak Runners went to the Alhambra Dinner Theater near Jacksonville to see the musical "1776." This production is based on the events at the Continental Congress in 1776 that led to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Samuel Adams and Benjamin Franklin are shown as leaders of the effort to defy the King of England. This often rowdy and humorous but accurate depiction of the effort made for a great evening. The theater is set up almost like theater-in-the-round and every table had a remarkable view of the stage from tiered levels. Everyone had a great time and appreciated our trip hosts Bob and Cindy Kocher.

2019 Around the Corner

Not only do five seconds go by fast, but so do days, weeks, and months. Someone way back when told me that the older I get, it will seem like time speeds up. I couldn't agree more. Didn't we just begin 2018?

With that said, the social committee at Cherrywood is planning their New Year's Eve Party to begin in 2019.

Tickets, which are $6 per resident, are available in the office the last week of this month.

Finger foods will be served from 8:30-9:30 p.m. Music, provided by the Jody Beggs Band, will begin at 9 p.m. Residents are encouraged to bring your favorite mid-night-toasting beverage to bring in the New Year.

Parting Words

"Let us remember that, as much has been given us, much will be expected from us, and that true homage comes from the heart as well as from the lips, and shows itself in deeds." Theodore Roosevelt (1858-1919)

"When I started counting my blessings, my whole life turned around." Willie Nelson (1933-)

"Remember God's bounty in the year. String the pearls of His favor. Hide the dark parts, except so far as they are breaking out in light! Give this one day to thanks, to joy, to gratitude!"

movie Sergeant York with Gary Cooper in the starring role, and the 1965 semi-epic Blue Max focused on a fictitious German air ace depicted by George Peppard.

Indeed, the Great War's significance in American history, while subtle, is nevertheless real. Socially, its impact on roles of women and African-Americans in American society was enormous. With millions of men leaving home, women stepped into jobs in manufacturing and agriculture. American women also deployed to Europe where they served as doctors, nurses, ambulance drivers, and translators. This expanded role for women arguably played a part in passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920 granting female suffrage.

For the first time in American history, African-Americans played a numerically significant role in war. Despite generally accepted notions of white supremacy, 400,000 black soldiers served in the Great War, albeit in almost entirely segregated units. Many returned home determined to end Jim Crow. While the role African-Americans played in the Second World War proved more significant, the black soldiers who came back to America, particularly the southern states, were more determined and active in defying the established order despite the post-war explosion in the Ku Klux Klan as the nation's largest "fraternal" organization numbering over five million by 1926.

Involvement in the Great War changed government policies by expanding the federal domain during the Woodrow Wilson administration, along with the concept many Americans had of the nation's larger role on the world stage. It also prepared the public for the large growth Washington's social programs and economic regulatory power during the Great Depression; something that set the stage for harnessing industry to support the "Arsenal of Democracy" fundamental to victory in the Second World War.

Additionally, because of U.S. involvement in the Great War, in the years that followed the American public became more attuned to the rise of dictators in Italy, Russia, and Germany, along with the militarized Japanese empire's expansion into Asia. These events fostered a significant public debate during the late 1930s over whether the United States should be involved in the affairs of Europe and Asia before it was settled by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

While America's role in the Great War went without much notice other than highly charged media declarations over President Trump's interaction with European leaders commemorating the event, the fact remains that across the nation the significance of November 11, 1918 went largely unacknowledged on November 11, 2018.

Simply put, World War I doesn't resonate with Americans to the same degree as more recent conflicts. That's worth the cautionary note that a people ignorant of their past defile their present and risk destroying their future.

—Dr. Earl Tilford is a military historian and fellow for the Middle East & terrorism with The Center for Vision & Values at Grove City College.

GOP's strength in Florida, Ohio and Iowa suggests that, all things being equal, key pieces of his 2016 electoral map are still ripe for the picking in 2020.

Losing the House is a blow, not so much because it stalls Trump's congressional agenda (there wasn't going to be much of one), but because he now has an adversary with subpoena power.

Investigative conflict looms. The subject matter will be most unwelcome to Trump, including his tax returns and his businesses. The fight won't be. It will be high-stakes combat of the sort that he thrives on, the more intense, perilous and dramatic, the better. Because he will be at the center of it.

Trump's genius at keeping our interest is undimmed, whether we are appalled, energized or entertained. He's so far avoided a fate worse than electoral setbacks — getting tuned out.

Feast of economic good news to gobble in time for Thanksgiving

Just in time for Thanksgiving, today's release of the region's employment numbers offers plenty of economic good news to feast on.

While the October unemployment rate in the CareerSource Citrus Levy Marion region was unchanged over the month at 3.7, it was down nearly a full percentage point compared to the same time last year.

The labor force was 202,179, representing a slight expansion of 316 over the month, the number of those working increased by 309 to 194,611 while the number of unemployed remained virtually unchanged at 7,568, an increase of just 7.

But it is the comparison to October 2017 that shows the strength of the region's economic recovery, according to Kathleen Woodring, CareerSource CLM's executive vice president.

Over the year, the region's labor force expanded by 4,204, the number of workers increased by 5,759 and the number of jobless dropped by 1,555.

According to today's release of the October employment summary by the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity, Levy County continues to hold the lowest jobless rate in the region at 3.3 percent, Marion County's rate is unchanged at 3.6 percent, and Citrus County's rate is also unchanged from the previous month at 4.3 percent. Florida's not seasonally adjusted jobless rate - a measure that matches the way local rates are calculated - remains at 3.0 percent, a decrease of 0.9 percentage point over the year.

Citrus County's labor force grew by 228 to 48,591, the number of employed rose by 224 to 46,486 and the number of unemployed remained virtually unchanged, increasing by 4 to 2,105. Compared to October 2017, when the jobless rate was 5.2 percent, that's an increase of 1,268 in the number of those with jobs and a decrease of 387 unemployed.

Levy County's labor force expanded by 88 to 17,265, the number of those with jobs increased by 482 to 16,702, and the number of unemployed edged up by 6 to 563. That's an over-the-year increase of 240 employed and drop of 101 unemployed when the rate was 3.9 percent.

Marion County's labor force experienced no change over the month, remaining at 136,323; the number of those with jobs rose by 3 to 131,423 and the number of unemployed fell by 3 to 4,900. Compared to October 2017, when the jobless rate was 4.5 percent, there were 4,251 more employed and 1,067 fewer unemployed.

Nonfarm employment in the Ocala metropolitan statistical area was 105,600, an increase of 800 jobs over the month and 4,000 more than a year ago, for a 3.9 percent annual job growth gain. Nonagricultural employment in the Homosassa Springs MSA, which covers all of Citrus County, was 34,000, an increase of 300 jobs compared to September and 1,000 more over the year, for a 3 percent growth rate.

Woodring said the report highlights several positives for the region:

■ The Homosassa Springs MSA had the fastest annual job growth rate compared to all metro areas in the state in state government at 6.7 percent, adding 300 new jobs.

■ The Ocala MSA continued to hold the second fastest annual job growth rate compared to all metro areas in the state in education and health services, at 5.9 percent, adding 1,100 jobs.

■ The Ocala MSA tied for second fastest annual job growth rate in trade, transportation and utilities at 3.9 percent. An increase of 900 new jobs.

■ The Ocala MSA had the state's third fastest annual job growth rate in leisure and hospitality at 8.1 percent, a gain of 1,000 new jobs.

All grew faster in the Ocala metro area than statewide over the year, as did manufacturing at 6% (+500 jobs) and professional and business services at 4.4% (+400 jobs). Mining, logging and construction, at 4.3 percent (+300 jobs) also gained over the year.

MCSO closes 1982 murder case

Marion County Sheriff's Office Major Crimes detectives have closed the 1982 homicide case of Rosie Hill (DOB: 01/13/1962) after serial killer Samuel Little (AKA Samuel McDowell) confessed to her murder.

Little, 78, is currently serving three life sentences without the possibility of parole for the violent deaths of three California women he murdered in the 1980s.

Since his incarceration, Little has provided information on more than 90 murders that he's committed during his travels across the nation, including Rosie Hill in Ocala.

On Monday, Aug. 16, 1982, at approximately 6 p.m., Rosie Hill's remains were discovered in a wooded area off County Road 326 in the vicinity of a hog pen.

Hill

During the investigation, it was determined that Rosie was either strangled or suffocated by her attacker.

Several witnesses came forward saying that Rosie left a bar with an unknown male and was not seen again. The witnesses gave a description of the suspect and his vehicle, which matched Little's.

In December 1982, Little was arrested for the attempted murder, aggravated assault and rape of two prostitutes in Pascagoula, Mississippi.

MCSO detectives interviewed Little there and he claimed that he did not know Rosie and he invoked his right to an attorney. MCSO detectives did not have enough evidence at the time to charge Little with Rosie's murder and ultimately, he was never charged in the Pascagoula case.

In 1983, Little was arrested and ultimately acquitted, in Alachua County for the homicide of Patricia Mounts. After his acquittal, Little continued his killing spree and ended up in the state of California, where he was arrested in 2012 for three homicides that occurred in the late 1980s.

As a result of the California trials, Samuel Little received three life sentences and in 2013, several law enforcement agencies from around the country, including the MCSO, met to discuss unsolved murders, specifically those involving females in the 70s and 80s.

On Oct. 9, MCSO Major Crimes Detective Sergeant Michael Mongeluzzo traveled to the Wise County Jail in Decatur, Texas, where Little was incarcerated.

During their interview, Little confessed to killing Rosie Hill and dumping her body.

Additionally, Little told Sgt. Mongeluzzo that he killed Rosie because God put him on this earth to do it.

Due to his three life sentences and recent indictment in the state of Texas for murder, MCSO and the State Attorney's Office for the Fifth Judicial District will not be pursuing murder charges against Little in the death of Rosie Hill.

Little was recently extradited from California, and has been charged with the 1994 murder of Denise Christie Brothers that occurred in Odessa, Texas.

He is currently being held in the Ector County Jail in Odessa.

Sardo arrested for having sex with a pony

Marion County Sheriff's Office (MCSO) Major Crimes Detective

Sardo

Steve Juliano arrested 21-year old Citra resident Nicholas Anthony Sardo, 21, for having sex with a miniature male pony named Jackie G.

Several witnesses came forward and reported this activity, and Sardo confessed to the crime.

On Oct. 16, a witness came forward and reported to Detective Juliano that she had witnessed Sardo having sex with Jackie G in a pasture on a family member's property three days earlier.

Another witness came forward saying she saw it as well, and she approached Sardo about what she had seen.

Sardo immediately admitted to her that he had sex with the horse and also gave the same admission to Detective Juliano.

Miniature male pony, Jackie G.

Sardo added that he had sex with the horse four times during the course of a week, and that he used a condom each time because he didn't want to get a disease from the horse.

Additionally, Sardo told Detective Juliano that he knew he was wrong for what he did and that he was a sick man. Sardo was arrested and charged with four counts of Bestiality/Sexual Contact with an Animal, and he's currently being held in the Marion County Jail.

One of Sardo's family members is the owner of the horse and the horse is currently under their care.

Stipulations of Sardo's future contact with the horse could be determined by a judge in the near future.

"Love is the answer. But while you're waiting for the answer, sex raises some pretty good questions."

Hospice of Marion County names new CEO

After a decade at the helm of the county's only not-for-profit hospice, Mary Ellen Poe is retiring from Hospice of Marion County Dec. 7. After a national search, Rick Bourne was selected by the board of directors as her replacement and begins his position as CEO December 3.

Hailing from Minnesota, Bourne brings a 30-plus-year career in healthcare, including 20 years in post-acute and end-of-life care. He has served as President/CEO of four home health care organizations in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Montana. During his tenure, he served multiple counties, oversaw hundreds of employees and managed large budgets.

"His experience, as well as his innovative approach, is certain to be an asset to the growth of HMC," board president Diana Holder said. "Rick is very community-minded and plans to become active in service organizations, meeting and collaborating with local leaders. This willingness to become part of our community was a key element in our selection."

During his onsite interview, Bourne was impressed with the reputation and integrity HMC has earned, as well as the warm reception he received during an intense multi-day interview process with board members and staff executives. "I am honored to be joining an outstanding organization such as Hospice of Marion County," he said after his selection. "I look forward to collaborating with the board of directors, leadership team, staff and all the communities of Marion County to continue to provide excellent end of life and ancillary services for all those with needs."

Mission-focused, he brings experience in developing vision and strategic plans, while coordinating efforts with senior leaders to align efforts and achieve goals. Stepping into her role, Bourne has the unqualified support of Poe.

"I am so proud to have served as CEO of Hospice of Marion County and celebrating its 35th anniversary," Poe said. "The changes in health care over the last 10 years have been significant but we've been in lockstep with guidelines, regulations and innovations all along the way, and are well-positioned for the future. I have every confidence that Rick will have a positive impact on the organization, the employees and the community, continuing the great tradition laid down by our founders and my predecessor." Poe and her husband Norm enjoy living in Marion County and intend to remain active in the community.

About Hospice of Marion County (HMC): A not-for-profit locally operated hospice, HMC has provided compassionate end-of-life care for patients and their families since 1983. Patients may receive services in their own home, assisted living facility, nursing home or in one of our three hospice houses. A comprehensive hospice model, HMC is the county's third largest health care company and earned Deemed Status designation from the Joint Commission, the national gold standard for quality health care.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Keep your feelings to yourself as you work through an awkward circumstance. Complaining is useless, and also unwise since your words could come back to haunt you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A sudden flash of Bovine practicality shows you how you might be able to turn your artistic pursuits into a profitable venture. A spouse or partner offers some sage advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Be prepared with several "Plan Bs" that you might have to use as backups just in case you encounter some troublesome complications with your carefully constructed schedule.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You might think you'll never have a free moment again with the demands of the workplace piling on. Cheer up. The pressure eases as holiday time nears. An old friend brings good news.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Your Leonine pride might make it difficult to offer an apology to a co-worker you unintentionally offended. But a quick and sincere "I'm sorry" could prevent problems down the line.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good time to tackle those backed-up chores that have kept you from moving into other and potentially more worthwhile projects. A personal matter needs your attention.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You usually have no problem rushing to the defense of someone you perceive as being treated unjustly. But perceptions could be deceiving this week. Check the facts before you act.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Before you point fingers at who might be to blame for the unexpected change in your plans, take a few moments to reflect on how this turn of events might be a blessing in disguise.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You seek out advice in the first part of the week. But be careful not to let counsel from others overshadow your own sense of perception. Things become clearer by the week's end.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The trusted colleagues you relied on earlier continue to offer support with your project. But you take more control, and by the week's end, you should be in full command.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Rely on your practical side while exploring investment possibilities. Caution is still your watchword in these matters. Your social life takes a gratifying turn by the week's end.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An already confusing situation appears to grow murkier during the first part of the week. But it all starts to clear by the week's end. Plan to spend the weekend with someone special.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a passion for life that inspires others to follow your example. You could be a motivational speaker.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
