

CBBC Seminar Series: The Future of Air Travel in the Caribbean

Benjamin Leon, Vice-President Commercial (Ag), at Caribbean Airlines led a CBBC seminar about the current challenges facing the Caribbean air industry and the future trends which are emerging. The event looked in detail at the particular logistical and management challenges which Caribbean Airlines faced in setting up a new operation following the close of BWIA at the beginning of this year. It also identified what the airline has achieved, in terms of delivery of on-time arrival and baggage handling to standards far higher than those generally achieved by other major global airlines, and the likelihood that the airline will meet the financial forecasts in its business plan.

The group discussed the potential to increase the number of multi-destination holidays in the Caribbean thereby increasing the demand for inter-regional airlift and bringing new customers to tourism industries across the region.

Caribbean Airlines noted that it has recently launched a dual destination programme with the Trinidad and Tobago and Guyana inbound tourism associations, and will be working with other regional associations to encourage multi-destination holidays.

The airline also discussed how in the future a single regional airline, properly resourced and structured, might compete and partner more effectively with international carriers while delivering a more efficient service than the current mix of loss making national airlines.

The event was chaired by the Chairman of the Caribbean Council, John Bowers, Bowers Consulting.

Cuba Initiative Film Screening: ¡SALUD!, 25 September 2007, 6pm

¡SALUD! is a thought-provoking documentary which highlights the Cuban health system and its successes, and looks at examples of the work which Cuban health professionals are currently carrying out around the world with particular focus on the Gambia, South Africa, Central America, and Venezuela. The documentary confronts vital issues about the continuing absence of accessible healthcare in the developing world, in spite of huge global wealth, and shows the inspiring efforts Cuba is making to provide access to healthcare where it can; both by training foreign doctors in Cuba and by sending teams of doctors to practise abroad.

The film will be introduced by one of its Executive Producers, Peter Bourne, who is also Chairman of the Board for Medical Education Cooperation with Cuba (MEDICC). The film will be followed by an informal reception kindly sponsored by Havana Club.

If you would like to attend the film screening, please contact Daisy Kenward Daisy.Kenward@Caribbean-council.org for more information and to register.

Spanish Hotel Investors Come to the Table with Caribbean Tourism Industry

Spanish hotel interests have steadily expanded their presence beyond successful ventures in Mexico, the Dominican Republic, and Cuba, and are now investing across the English speaking Caribbean. Recognising the role Spanish investors are now playing in the development of Caribbean tourism, Peter Odle, President of the Caribbean Hotel Association (CHA), and the Hon. Edison Briesen, Vice Chairman of the Caribbean Tourism Organization (CTO), led a delegation from the Caribbean hotel and tourism sector that met Mallorca on September 14th with the Presidents of the main Spanish hotel chains operating in the Caribbean. The meeting was facilitated by Enrique De Marchena, President-Elect of CHA.

Global competitiveness, Spanish investment, the United States passport requirement, and global warming and the areas in which strategic alliance might be created between the two industries were amongst the issues discussed at the meeting that was attended by around thirty of Spain's most powerful hotel investors, including Sol Meliá, Grupo Iberostar and Barceló Enterprises.

Amongst those participating was the Director of the Caribbean Council, David Jessop, in his role as European policy adviser to CHA.

The Caribbean-Britain Business Council has a special negotiated rate for Allied Membership of the CHA. The standard rate is £450.00 per annum but CBBC members can sign up for £100.00 per year. For further details about this member benefit please contact Stephanie Whittle Stephanie.whittle@caribbean-council.org.
