Unemployment up slightly

By Cecilia Spears
Staff Writer
cspears@chipleypaper.com

UNEMPLOYMENT BY THE NUMBERS

County	Nov. 2011	Oct. 2011	Nov. 2010
Bay	9.9	9.5	11.7
Calhoun	8.1	7.8	9.7
Franklin	7.8	7.5	9.3
Gulf	9.8	9.6	11.8
Holmes	8.0	7.6	9.0
Jackson	8.2	7.9	9.0
Walton	7.3	7.5	8.9
Washington	10.7	10.3	12.7

The new unemployment figures are in, and there's a slight increase in unemployment in Washington and Holmes counties in comparison to the steady declines that have been occurring over the year.

Holmes County is up to 8 percent for the month of November, in comparison to the 7.6 percent for the month of October. It is an increase of .4 percent, but in comparison to November 2010's 9 percent, it is 1 percent lower.

Washington County is up to 10.7 percent for November, an increase of .4 percent from October's 10.3 percent. Compared to November 2010, which was 12.7 percent, this November is 2 percent lower.

Statewide, Florida's unemployment fell to its lowest mark in 31 months in November, but 10 percent of the workforce remained jobless, state labor officials said Friday.

The November numbers reflected a decrease of four-tenths of a percentage point from October's revised 10.4 percent unemployment figure. Although November's 10 percent was the state's lowest since May 2009, it remained well above the national average of 8.6 percent unemployment.

The report issued by the newly named Department of Economic Opportunity was largely good news for Florida's Republican Gov. Rick Scott. The self-described "jobs governor" said 120,000 new jobs have been added in Florida since he took office in January and that unemployment has fallen by 2 percentage points in the last 11 months. However, 926,000 Floridians are still trying to find a job.

"Florida is moving in the right direction," said Scott, who returned Thursday from a weeklong trip to Israel that politicians officially described as trade missions, adding that his policies of streamlining government and eliminating regulations that he believes burden businesses are working.

Friday's report showed that 12,300 government jobs, federal, state and local, have been eliminated in Florida this year, although that represents just 1.1 percent of the total in that sector. However, many of the counties with the lowest unemployment were those with relatively high proportions of government jobs.

Investigation of shooting deaths continues

Husband found body outside friend's home

By Chris Olwell and S. Brady Calhoun
Florida Freedom Newspapers

VERNON — The Washington County Sheriff's Office released new details Monday about the circumstances that led to the deaths of two people Sunday morning.

Deputies have been interviewing family members and friends of Shannon Bellew, 36, and Cain Abel Ellis, 27, as well as anyone else who might have come in contact with them in the hours before both were shot and killed Sunday between Vernon and Bonifay.

Rick Bellew, Shannon Bellew's husband, told deputies he had arrived home from a business trip about midnight Saturday and went to Ellis' home at 2152 Pleasant Hill Road to see if Shannon was there, but she wasn't. Shannon Bellew and Ellis had a long-term friendship, according to a release from the WCSO, and had spent the evening before they died driving around in Ellis' vehicle and stopping at friends' homes. They were last seen alive around midnight, according to authorities.

Rick Bellew discovered his wife's body about 8:15 a.m. Sunday in the yard of Ellis' home at 2152 Pleasant Hill Road. Rick Bellew made contact with Ellis before finding his wife dead and contacted the sheriff's office, who arrived on the scene about 10 minutes later. Bellew told deputies Ellis might have been armed, and the Bay County Sheriff's Office SWAT team responded.

SWAT team members responded to a report of an armed man barricaded inside his home and attempted to negotiate, but they never made contact with Ellis, said BCSO Maj. Tommy Ford. Using an armored vehicle equipped with a ramming device that extends from the front, SWAT was able to assess the situation before entering the home, Ford said.

"I wouldn't say safe, but it gave us a better vantage point to assess the situation," Ford said.

Once inside the home, deputies found Ellis dead from what investigators believe was a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Bellew was mother to two young boys and stepmother to a teenager, according to one neighbor, who asked not to be named. The neighbor described Bellew's slaying as shocking and sad especially this close to Christmas.

"These are our neighbors," Ellis' neighbor said. "I do have a lot of concern about things happening so close to us and yet not knowing."

"She was a young mother raising a family here," the neighbor said. "I just don't understand what could have happened that would have gotten them to the point of having this happen. That leaves a lot of questions as to what was going on."

The Medical Examiner's Office was expected to perform autopsies on Ellis and Bellew today. Washington County Sheriff Bobby Haddock declined an interview request Sunday evening, and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement is processing evidence found at the scene as the investigation continues.

JOBS

The trade, transportation and utilities sector has added the most jobs in Florida this year with 35,900. Another 32,700 have been added in private education and health services.

Scott campaigned on creating some 700,000 new jobs over a seven-year period, assuming he'd win re-election in 2014. Since taking office in January, the Republican governor has seen nearly 107,000 new jobs created in the private sector while government jobs continue to go away at all levels.

Monroe County (Key West) reported the lowest unemployment rate, with 6.4 percent of its workforce sidelined, while Hendry County in southwest Florida had the highest at 15.1 percent.

Thirty-two Florida counties reported double-digit unemployment in November.

By law, Florida is a closed primary state and as such, the PPP is a partisan election for registered Republicans only. Only registered Republicans may request a vote-by-mail ballot for this election. There are no democratic candidates, minor party candidates or amendments on the ballot.

For eligible voters who did not previously request a ballot, they are still available upon request by calling the elections' office at 850-547-1107, by submitting the request in writing or by using the on-line request form on www.holmeselections.com. Voters are encouraged to confirm their mailing address when ordering a vote-by-mail ballot. Requests are fulfilled immediately, with ballots being mailed daily. The deadline to request a ballot to be mailed is Wednesday, January 25, 2012.

Voted ballots must be returned to the elections' office by 7:00 p.m. election day, January 31, 2012. Our Diet Has Changed Over The Years

HAPPY CORNER
Hazel Wells Tison

When whoever makes these decisions determined that in the school lunch program, pizza could be called a vegetable, I thought about how our diet and food habits have changed since I was a child. I had never heard of pizza. We didn't know how to pronounce such a thing. As our children were preteens we began to hear of pizza, but the only kind we ever tasted came in a box with the crust mix which we rolled out and opened the can of sauce and spread it on.

It was something the kids could make themselves. The idea that the two tablespoons of tomato sauce one gets from a slice of bread called pizza, counts as a vegetable is ludicrous. But that, along with hamburgers, chicken nuggets, french fries and a carbonated drink make up a meal several times a week for kids today.

I had never had a hamburger until I was a preteen when Perry worked for the Lloyds at Panama City Beach in their little café associated with the beach cabins which they rented. In fact, eating in a café was almost unheard of to me then, and fast food such as McDonald's, came into existence after our children were born. We only ate there when we were traveling or maybe when we went to the beach, but mostly then we carried a picnic made at home.

As a child, our diet mostly consisted of vegetables. In fact, Daddy used to urge us, even make us, eat some bread, along with whatever else we were having in order, I suppose, to stretch the servings of the main course. When I say bread, I mean corn bread which was made from corn meal made from corn that had been home grown, dried in the crib, hand shucked and then shelled on a hand turned corn sheller. We had a small one in our corn crib that we used to shell enough dry corn to feed the chickens, but for larger amounts such as going to the mill, we went down the lane to Grandpa's house and used his sheller which was bigger.

The other bread which we didn't call bread was called biscuits. Every morning, after my mama built a fire in the wood stove and put water on to boil for coffee and grits, she made a pan full of biscuits which I have never been able to duplicate. With that she cooked cured pork which we just called meat, ham, or smoked sausage from the smoke house. That was pretty much the meat we consumed that day unless we had fish which we usually had on Friday. One would have thought that we were Catholic since there were so many children and we ate fish on Friday. Frequently in the winter, we also ate raw oysters. Mama would fry a few for sister Minnie who wouldn't eat them raw or make oyster stew for all of us when the supply dwindled to too few for anything else.

On Sunday, we usually had fried chicken which we raised (free range), or beef steak from the town market, pounded with the steak beater, floured and fried in hog lard. In the winter, we ate more meat, the fresh pork which we raised and butchered. But meat was not a part of our daily diet. In fact, when I took home economics in the ninth and tenth grades, one assignment was to make up menus for a week. We only had to include meat for two of the days as that was the recommendation for a healthy diet.

Then, there was gravy. We were talking about this at my Sunday School class luncheon this week. At our home, the dripping from the breakfast meat with a little water added was gravy; some call it red-eye gravy. A bowl of that stayed in the safe all the time. It went on the grits or rice or hot biscuits which we had for breakfast every day. (No store bought cereal) My Aunt Mable from Tennessee called that grease gravy. Then there was milk gravy which we would have for supper sometimes when the left overs from lunch were insufficient to feed the "multitude" as Mama sometimes referred to her cooking chores. Or, we might have tomato gravy for the same purpose. Our neighbor, Verdie Hewett used to make egg gravy using the old English pronunciation "aig." She called that "pore folks gravy." In addition, gravy from fried chicken or beefsteak, referred to as brown gravy was for putting on mashed potatoes.

I thought about how our diet and food habits have changed since I was a child. I had never heard of pizza. We didn't know how to pronounce such a thing. As our children were preteens we began to hear of pizza, but the only kind we ever tasted came in a box with the crust mix which we rolled out and opened the can of sauce and spread it on.

Madaline Steverson McFatter said her Mama made fish gravy using canned tomatoes. Our mama made what she called fish gravy which was the drippings in the pan with the leaving of the coating meal browned. No water was added.

At home we really didn't need a plan or a menu. During the summer, we ate peas, field peas which some call black eyes,(My Tennessee aunt called them cow peas.) cream style corn and or corn on the cob, fried okra, boiled okra, and sliced fresh tomatoes with possibly a peach cobbler. In the spring we ate green beans with new potatoes, yellow squash sauted' with onion and cooked till they were brownish which I never liked until I learned to cook them myself with lots of onion. Sliced cucumbers were our salad. Rarely, we also would have fresh English peas. During fall and winter we would have: turnips, collards and mustard greens with cured ham or fresh pork, and baked sweet potatoes were our diet staples. We always had corn bread made with nothing but salt and water into mama's hand-sized pones was baked in the old black baker with plenty of grease as only a wood fired stove can make it. Home churned butter from our cows was always on the table for the bread or sweet potatoes. But if we got too generous with the butter, we would earn a frown from Daddy.

Green salad which is so popular today was not a part of our diet. We ate raw turnips, raw sweet potatoes, and any fruit we raised such as peaches, pears, plums, satsumas, scuppernongs, watermelons, and cantaloupes.

Today, nutritionists are emphasizing that we eat less meat and more vegetables and fruits. Properly cooked vegetables contain as many if not more nutrients as raw, they say they would certainly not recommend as much fat as we consumed in our earlier diets, but I suppose the amount of outdoor exercise we got made it O.K.

When I was growing up, French fries was not a part of our vocabulary. Since our potatoes were small home grown, if we fried them they were sliced thinly and fried more like potato chips, though we never had the store bought kind.

When I look at the number of morbidly obese young people today, I wonder how many French fries they ate to get like that.

I wonder if they know how long it will take for their knees to give out carrying that weight. I wonder how long their heart can take the strain. I am glad our First Lady is using her influence to try to stop the increase in obesity rates by training our young children in healthy eating habits. We didn't eat healthily by choice. We ate what was available.

Today's young people do the same. We must do more to train not only the children, but the parents as well.

Have a Healthy Eating Holiday! Merry Christmas!

PET TALK

South American Camelid Basics

Imagine a plateau high in the Andes Mountains covered by nothing but South American camelids and shrubbery. Over the past twenty years, this picture has changed as some South American camelids have found new homes in the United States living very different lives than their predecessors.

The domesticated South American camelids – alpacas and llamas – are sprouting up on farms across the United States. Their intelligence and docile nature make them easy pets for agricultural settings.

Dr. Juan Romano, associate professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences (CVM), says that South American camelid interest has increased over the years prompting new South American camelid curriculum for veterinary students.

"Alpacas and llamas are the two most common types of South American camelids in Texas," Romano said. "Llamas are larger than alpacas with thicker wool. Alpacas' wool is fine, making it more suitable for sweaters and special suits. Alpacas also have ears that stick straight up, while llamas have ears that fold over like bananas."

Romano says the low-maintenance nature of alpacas and llamas make them viable animals for those with limited agriculture and animal raising experience.

Romano adds that they also make great companion animals, because of their protective nature and their cat-like personality.

"In 2007, the Texas government allowed camelids to be used for livestock purposes, so we saw an influx of South American camelids farm growth then," Romano said. "Today, Texas is one of the most populated states with South American camelids, especially Alpacas."

Prior to starting a South American camelid farm, it is advisable to speak with a veterinarian and do your research. Initial investment varies. South American camelids farm basic requirements are a simple shelter, fencing, forage, clean water, and fiber.

"Eventhough the initial investment may seem feasible, right now it is hard to fund a ranch in the United States, because our prices are not competitive with South American ranches cost of production," Romano expressed. "It is important to do your research and understand the market before you invest in a farm."

It is also important to remember South American camelids' natural habitat before starting a new environment for them. Alpacas and llamas originated from the high altitudes of the Andes of Chile, Peru, and Bolivia. They were limited to grasslands of shrubbery and weather that is very dry and cold. It is important to try to keep them in an environment their bodies are accustomed to. If not, you can supply their environment with fans, shelter, etc.

"The Texas heat is an issue for alpacas and llamas," Romano explained. "Some regions of Texas are at sea level and it is also very humid. Farmers should supply sprinklers, fans, and shade to avoid heat distress in their animals. Shearing once a year in the spring also helps alleviate heat distress."

South American camelids are familiar with a shrubbery landscape for food. Romano suggests supplying them with adequatequality fiber found from forage. Owners in the United States tend to overfeedSouth American camelids, because they are used to such limited low quality food sources. Avoid overfeeding to reduce additional health problems.

With expected lifespans of up to 25 years, South American camelids can be a trusted farm companion. Their intellect and obedient nature make them enjoyable pets. However, it is best to do your research prior to investing in a South American camelid as they are not natural inhabitants in the United States landscape. If you have any additional questions about South American camelids, contact Large Animal Clinical Sciences at the CVM at 979-845-9127 or online at vetmed.tamu.edu.

BONIFAY — Live Oak Assembly of God's Winter Celebration on Dec. 17 was a success. Children, as well as adults, enjoyed the games such as a "snowball" toss, fishing through the ice, snowmen, 'smores and other numerous activities. The night culminated with the youth group, Broken Strings from Elba, presenting an hour-long Blue Grass Style concert. The drive-thru light display presenting the real story of Christmas was a featured highlight. Those who love the feeling of an old fashion Christmas are invited to attend the light display, which will continue until the second week in January.

BONIFAY — The Caring Group of Holmes County made a visit to Dogwood Inn, treating residents to Christmas music from a live band, Santa Claus and gifts.

The Caring Group are volunteers who give time and money to assist the elderly of Holmes County.

The volunteers consist of Donna Melvon, Annette Boston, Alice Jacobs, Martha Brown, Mary Ann Leavens, Francis Howell and Jan Morris, and are sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Bonifay.

"We do nothing but help take care of the elderly," said volunteer Boston. "On the holidays we have parties for them, make things festive, provide them with entertainment."

Boston said it is important that they stay active and involved.

"They mainly just like to have someone to come visit them," she said. "They really enjoy it."

She said that they plan on having a booth set up during the Bonifay Down Home Downtown Festival in March and wanted to thank First Methodist Church for their generous contributions.

"The church has helped us many times and helped us with the gifts this year," she said.

Entertainment was provided by Pastor Dan Godwin of the Bonifay First Baptist Church and his wife, Lisa; and Phil and Jan Flater came as Mr. and Mrs. Claus.

"It is not often that an individual has an opportunity to really make a difference in someone's life and the Chipola Regional Workforce Board has given me this opportunity."

CRWDB Board Chair Darrin Wall of Chipley said, "The board of directors is excited and proud that our own Kenny Griffin received the Florida Workforce Development Association Leadership Ambassador Award. Kenny was selected as the winner for the entire state because of the leadership skills he exhibits to execute successful programs that help our clients get jobs." Where's the line to see Jesus

My favorite Christmas songs for many years have been: "Go Tell It On The Mountain", "Little Drummer Boy" and "Mary Did You Know?" I like "Go Tell It On The Mountain"

FROM THE HEART

because if it were not for Christ who came and was born to die to take my sins on Him, and if He had not came out of the grave victoriously, my life would be nothing. The great news is that this great hope, joy and peace I have in Him, can be had by everyone, and I enjoy telling it. "Little Drummer Boy" has always been at the top of my list of favorites, though I'm sure some would not consider it a Biblical Christmas song, it speaks volumes to me along with another favorite of mine "Mary Did You Know?" They both remind me, that as He has done since the beginning of time, He takes that which people may see as insignificant, when given to Him, and uses it in mighty ways for His glory. This is where I find myself, a vessel in the Master Potter's hands.

This year I have a new song to add to that list. Judy sent me a link to a "Godtube" sight the other day, and I just can't get away from how powerful the message in this song is. You can hear it at www.wheresthelinetoseejesus.com. Here is the story behind the song, as told by Steve Haupt: "While at the mall last year, my 4 year old grandson saw kids lined up excitedly to see Santa Claus. Having been taught as a toddler that Christmas is the holiday that Christians celebrate the birth of God's son, with the innocence of a child, he asked his mom, 'Where's the line to see Jesus? If Christmas is Jesus' birthday, why don't we see Him more?' As his grandpa, I was so happy that little Spencer understood the meaning of Christmas at such a tender age, and then the words for a song were jotted down in just a few minutes. The song was inspired by my grandson, and the message was inspired by my Savior. Out of the mouths of babes come profound truths that many adults cannot understand. Hopefully Spencer's observation and our song will cause people to reflect on the love of Jesus, and the certainty that one day we will all stand in line to see Jesus. Merry Christmas everyone."

Please allow me to share some of the Lyrics of the song with you. The first verse says, "Christmas time was approaching. Snow was starting to fall. Shoppers choosing their presents. People filling the mall. Children waiting for Santa. With excitement and glee a little boy tugged my sweater, looked up and asked me." Which takes you to the chorus that I love, "Where's the line to see Jesus? Is He here at the store? If Christmas time is His birthday, why don't we see Him more? Where's the line to see Jesus? He was born for me. Santa Claus brought me presents, but Christ gave His life for me."

The last verse brings the real message of Christmas right before our eyes, as they sing "In the blink of an eye, at the sound of His trump't, we'll all stand in line at His throne. Every knee shall bow down. Every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord." and then that great chorus is sung, "Where's the line to see Jesus? Is He here at the store? If Christmas time is His birthday, why don't we see Him more? Where's the line to see Jesus? He was born for me. Santa Claus brought me presents, But Christ gave His life for me."

This I hope you know. Jesus is the only reason any of us have to celebrate Christmas. If it were not for Him, this would be a gloomy, awful world. But with Him as your Savior, it will always be a Merry Christmas! "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" (John 3:16 NKJV). Happy Birthday Jesus!

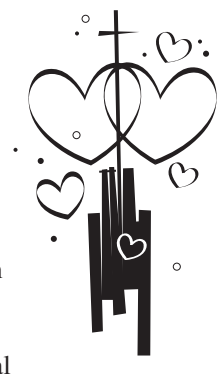
Unconditional Love

To love someone unconditionally means that one's love is absolute and is without limits. Human emotions are such that we usually distance ourselves from those with unpleasant attitudes or behaviors, so at times loving someone regardless of their actions or feelings toward us is extremely difficult. An example of this could be a married couple - they may be so much in love on their wedding day, but later get a divorce because they no longer care for each other. Unconditional love is a blessing from our Heavenly Father and involves forgiveness, understanding, wisdom, and praying for our loved ones. A parent's love for their children, or a child's love for their parents can be unconditional, and God's love for His chosen people is also unconditional. The Bible tells us that there is nothing in all creation that will ever be able to separate us from the love of God, which is ours through Christ Jesus our Lord.



Live a life of love, just as Christ loved us and gave Himself up for us as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.

Unzicker receives degree

GRACEVILLE — Todd Alan Unzicker earned his Bachelors of Arts in Ministry Studies with Cum Laude from The Baptist College of Florida (BCF) in Graceville. BCF President Thomas A. Kinchen bestowed degrees on graduating seniors during commencement services held Friday, Dec. 9, 2011.

Following graduation, Unzicker plans to pursue a Masters of Divinity from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest. Unzicker and his wife, Ashley along with their two children (Georgia and Jonathan) plan to make Christ known in the nations.

The Baptist College of Florida is an agency of the Florida Baptist Convention and is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to offer certificates and associate, baccalaureate and graduate degrees in the areas of ministry, biblical studies, leadership and Christian counseling, missions, Christian education, elementary education, English, history and social studies, business leadership, music, contemporary worship ministry, Christian studies, and music education.

Merry is as merry celebrates

Although I may look a little stodgy on the outside with a few gray hairs blossoming on the top, I still know how to celebrate, and this is the time of the year to do that sort of thing. I love a good Christmas celebration.

For the last few years, I have never had to check my calendar to know when it is time to celebrate the Christmas season. It seems that the Thanksgiving turkey always gives rise to what I shall refer to as the Holiday Turkey. No sooner is my Thanksgiving turkey resting snugly inside of me when the Holiday Turkeys begin their assault on Christmas.

Do not let this get out, but I love it.

Some people are quite offended when these Holiday Turkeys begin their assault on Christmas. I would be insulted if they did not. I expect them to attack anything to do with Christmas. It just goes to show that the Christmas story has not lost its offense.

Those of us who celebrate the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ embrace this time of the year with a great deal of joy and praise. After all, we are celebrating the fact that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners. What better message to celebrate at this time of year when most people are having a difficult time.

Don't get me wrong here. I believe in celebrating Jesus Christ every day. There is something special about setting aside one day out of the year to recognize his birth. I do not worship the manger nor do I venerate the three wise men. I do, however, appreciate the fact that Jesus Christ came into this world and it certainly is my privilege once a year to celebrate His birthday. I know He was not born on December 25, but it is the thought that counts.

Even those who do celebrate Christmas sometimes celebrate the wrong thing. People who do not have much money spend themselves poor getting Christmas presents for their family, and then they spend the rest of the year trying to pay off those purchases. That is a nice gesture but that is not the reason for the season. Instead of spending money this year for your family, why not spend a little time with them. That will do more good than something you buy in the store that will be obsolete by the time they open it Christmas morning.

Then there are those who take this time of the year to do nothing but party, party, party. By party, I mean getting so inebriated they have no idea what they are doing or saying. Many people will die during the celebration of Christ's birth because of some intoxicated driver.

This is not the reason for the season.

You can always tell the quality of a person by what they celebrate and how they celebrate. Of course, the Holiday Turkeys will accuse me right here of being judgmental. Perhaps they are right.

What is wrong with a little bit of being judgmental?

Why is it we can be judgmental in every area of our life except those areas that are matters of life and death.

My doctor is so judgmental that sometimes I would like to punch him in the nose. What right does he have to tell me that I have something wrong with me? Well, he's the doctor. How many people have shortened their life by not listening to their judgmental doctor?

Some alcohol-saturated person will challenge me and say, "You have no right telling me what to do. I'm going to have a good time. Don't you judge me." Then they get smashed, jump in their car and end up killing some young family coming home from a Christmas party.

That certainly is not the reason for the season.

The Christmas season is not the season to get so drunk you do not know what you are doing that you hurt other people, and it is not the season to spend yourself into the poor house for the next year or so.

The Christmas season is the season to celebrate God's answer to man's incurable dilemma. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16 KJV). The answer to all of man's problem is Jesus Christ.

The Christmas season is the season to join with family and neighbor and sing of God's amazing Grace. Go ahead. Deck your halls with Holly but in the midst of it all, give God the glory in the highest. This is the season for our streets to echo with the joyous celebration of Christ coming into this world.

Then there are those who object.

I have a proposition for all of the Holiday Turkeys who object to me celebrating Christmas or trying to call it something other than what it really is.

You do not have to celebrate the Christmas season; just allow me to celebrate it in a way that I see fit. Then, I will not celebrate April 1 or Halloween but will allow you to celebrate your holidays anyway you want to. I think that is fair. It is a two-for-one deal I am not sure anybody could ever pass up.

Celebrate your holiday, and I will celebrate the Christmas season and wish all my friends a very Merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

BCF Recognizes Seniors

Graduating seniors, along with friends and family members, gathered in the R.G. Lee Chapel on the Graceville campus of The Baptist College of Florida on Wednesday, Nov. 30 for Senior Honor's Day. This day represents the culmination of hard work and determination for many graduates as they were recognized for having achieved academic honors.

Senior Class President John Paul Linton led the service beginning with a time of worship, praise and prayer. Senior Class Vice President Ryan Stinson introduced the class project and presented BCF President Thomas A. Kinchen with a light bulb, one of many the graduating class is providing to give more light to the campus and underscore the Christian mandate of being a light in a dark world.

Kinchen graciously thanked the senior class before delivering a powerful message about forgetting. The President encouraged the class to forget past sins, hurt feelings, failures, disappointments, and even successes. He reminded the graduates that it should always be their goal to remain focused on what the Lord is doing in them and through them while looking ahead and not behind.

Senior Vice President R.C. Hammack recognized honor graduates as Kinchen congratulated each student and presented them with their honor stoles. Hammack then announced the names of students receiving special certificates for having the highest grade point average in their field of study.

The service concluded with Linton leading the BCF College Choir and congregation in a moving praise service and closing prayer.

For more information on how to continue your education and be among those graduating, please call at 800-328-2660 ext. 460, or visit www.baptistcollege.edu.

clamb@chipleypaper.com

Lineup announced for the 34th annual shootout

On Dec. 14, NASCAR announced its most talented lineup for the Shootout in Daytona. The Shootout is the opening event that will launch Speedweeks at the Daytona International Speedway on Feb. 18. The race is set to start at 7:10 p.m. on Fox, and MRN will broadcast the race live.

Eligibility is based on the following qualifications:

The driver has to have been active in the Sprint Cup Series in 2011.

The driver has to be ranked in the top 25 in the 2011 NASCAR Sprint Cup Series.

If not ranked in the top 25, to driver has to be a previous winner at Daytona, including the Daytona 500, Coke Zero 400 or any of the previous Shootout events.

"By taking the top 25 competitors in last year's driver points and combining that with former race winners at Daytona, you have all the ingredients for an extremely deep talented field of drivers for the 2012 Shootout," said Robin Pemberton, NASCAR vice president of the competition. "When you take a look at the roster of drivers that this entails, I have to believe this is one of the most competitive fields that have ever been assembled for this event."

The Shootout will be 75 laps run in two sequences, the first being 20 laps and the second being 50 laps, for a total distance of 187.5 miles. The teams will be allowed a 20-minute pit stop in between the two sequences, when they will be able to make any adjustments needed. The only adjustments that will not be allowed will be the changing of springs, shock absorbers and rear-ends. All work preformed on the cars must be done on pit road or in the garage.

Drivers in the Shootout will be as follows:

Other drivers who made the Shootout lineup on other criteria such as winning Daytona 500, Coke Zero 400, or the Shootout Race in previous years are:

Bill Elliott, Geoff Bodine, Derrike Cope, Michael Waltrip, Jamie McMurrary, Trevor Bayne, Terry Labonte, and Ken Schrader.

The starting positions will be determined at the Shootout Draw Party at 8 p.m. Feb. 17 on the SPEED stage in the Midway, outside Turn 4.

HOLMES COUNTY JROTC

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES-ADVERTISER

On Dec. 1, the Holmes County High School JROTC kicked off this year's service learning project. Service learning is an annual project in which all who participate can learn and develop through an organized service experience within the community. For the past two years, we have done a food and clothing drive. A service learning project is performed as a circle. We start by picking a project and planning what we will do. Then, we gather the supplies and equipment we will need for this project. Then we execute the project. Lastly, we have specific paper work we do that ties up the loose ends and finishes the project. During this year's project, we sent food and clothing to the thrift store on U.S. 90. There, the food is packed into boxes and given to families in need during the holidays. The clothing is also packed into boxes and given to families in need. The clothing that is not used is sold in the store, and the money made then goes to a good cause. On Dec. 14, we wrapped up our project by going to the thrift store and delivering the food and clothing.
