BONIFAY — Holmes County Chamber of Commerce members gathered for their monthly breakfast to share the latest news on March 28, which was hosted by Doctors Memorial Hospital this month.

“We’re excited about our upcoming Golf Scramble and Golf Ball Drop, which will be held on April 12 at the Dogwood Lakes Golf Club,” said DMH Patient and Public Relations Director Brenda Blitch. “We do two major fundraisers a year; the golf tournament and the Haunted Hospital. The first Haunted Hospital brought in enough to help purchase a $10,000 software program to help our employees become familiar and trained with our policies.” She said that all the money raised goes back into bettering the hospital and encouraged everyone to attend the golf tournament. “The Golf Ball Drop is so very interesting to watch,” said Blitch. “They take this dump truck full of golf balls and drop it on a single hole and the first one in the hole wins an automatic $500. Tickets are $10 for seven and you don’t have to be present to win.”

DMH celebrated their 5th Anniversary with a Customer Appreciation Day on April 1.

“We’ll have a Customer Appreciation Day with free lunch, screenings and a tour of the hospital,” said

Mayor of Panama City Beach visits Bonifay

By CECILIA SPEARS

BONIFAY — Panama City Beach Mayor Gayle Oberst paid a visit to the Bonifay Kiwanis Club as a guest speaker at their March 27 meeting.

“With the road becoming a four-lane, their driveway essentially will be our driveway and with only 45 miles and two red lights separating us, we’re practically becoming neighbors,” said Roger Brooks, program coordinator for Bonifay Kiwanis Club.

Oberst agreed with Brooks, saying that a large majority of their visitors come through Bonifay and the expansion and improvements in Panama City Beach also affected the Bonifay area as well because of the four-lane expansion project to State Road 79.

“The new airport is doing well, and we may be getting another low-cost carrier with Delta,” Oberst said. “Our address is Panama City Beach, not just Panama City. Pier Park was finished in 2008, and they do have a Pier Park West, and they are planning on selling that."

She said there was groundbreaking ceremony held just north of that property where they expect another shopping center to be erected and will include stores such as Dick's Sporting Goods, Rooms to Go, Logan's Steakhouse, Chili's and a Fresh Market or World Market.

"We've opened yet another Super Walmart, but it is not replacing the other Walmart (it is in addition to), as well as a new Shoney's at Pier Park; and that means thousands of new jobs for this area," Oberst said. "Aaron Bessant Park is a beautiful park located next to Pier Park and through the Tourist Development Council and the benefits from BP due to the Oil Spill we were able to redo that area. The new stage is big enough for some professional acts to come in."

She said on April 5 there would be a performance held there by the Panama City Pop Orchestra then later on there would be a jazz festival and performances by Martin Theater.

"We're trying to bring some culture to the beach," she said. "We're adding 58 more bathrooms to Pier Park, and when I mentioned this while waiting in line to the women's restroom and got a standing ovation."

Oberst said there would also be an upcoming festival sight, which will be parking during events and three soccer fields when it wasn't in use.

"There's a 3,000-acre conservation park with nature trails and boardwalks free to the public that came from efforts with every environmental conservation agency in Florida to stop putting reused water into the Bay," she said. "We've used Department of Transportation grants to pave nine miles outside the parks. We're transforming Front Beach Road to include a mass transient lane and underground utilities."

They've completed three streets and one section of Front Beach Road, according to Oberst.

"We've completed the place in front of Pineapple Willie's," she said. "It is beautiful with places to walk and sit and wander it leisure. This is an exciting development for our area."

She also thanked Bonifay for being an area that helps traffic arrive in Panama City Beach.

"Since you're helping us get traffic to us we've had over 200,000 visit our area last weekend alone," Oberst said. "Things are going very well for Spring Break, we've only had one casualty who drank himself to death. We've increased our protection efforts, there's more security, and they're more strict."

She said that Back Beach Road has been enabled with fiber optics at all the lights to help alleviate congestion.

"There's a room with a wall of televisions featuring every light on Back Beach Road," she said. "They're constantly being monitored, and those lights can be tripped if they need to alleviate congestion. We're also six-laning more of Back Beach Road, which increased traffic capacity by 25 percent."

Oberst also said that Panama City Beach is growing fast.

"We've almost doubled our population since the last census," she said. "For the first time Bay County and Panama City Beach got together to make our ordinances the same and developed a mutual aide agreement, which allows arrests to expand into each of our areas and increases our security."

She said that Bed Tax is now at 5 cents to the dollar and managed by the Tourist Development Council, a Bay County Agency, to renourish the beach and market to outside areas that they are a "fun, family beach."

"The TDC did a great job with the oil spill," Oberst said. "We talked about no oil on the beach and that people could keep coming out to a safe clean beach when the scare was at its highest."

She said that things are looking very well for Panama City Beach.

"The economy is looking good for us," she said. "Now if only we could get the national economy under control."

215 clients in one way or another and we've got a hard fight before us as we've approached the 40th anniversary since abortion was legalized. We've lost over 55 million babies to abortion during this time, 1.2 to 1.4 million babies are aborted every year in the United States and in our state alone we lose 224 babies a day to the 69 abortion clinics we have."

Rockburn said it is because of these statistics that it is up to local organizations such as the West Florida Baptist Association to provide free services so young people don't feel forced to abort because of rejection or lack of assistance.

New brochure provides guide for butterfly-friendly gardening

Special to Times-Advertiser

GAINESVILLE — A new free brochure published by the Florida Museum of Natural History provides tips for enhancing landscapes with native plants specifically for butterflies.

The brochure, "Monarchs & Milkweeds," features photos of common butterfly larvae and their host plants as well as five species of milkweeds native to the southeast United States.

"Any nature enthusiast can use the brochure to identify caterpillars, which gardeners sometimes kill simply because they munch on leaves," said Jaret Daniels, lepidopterist and assistant professor in the Florida Museum's McGuire Center for Lepidoptera and Biodiversity.

Daniels said the brochure should be useful to a variety of people, from school groups to garden clubs to professional landscapers at zoos and botanical gardens. The brochures are available at the museum, but interested parties may also contact Daniels at jdaniels@flmnh.ufl.edu.

"The Florida Museum developed the brochure with assistance from the Xerces Society for Invertebrate Conservation and Butterfly Conservation Initiative. The printing was funded by the F.A.O. Schwarz Family Foundation, Florida Biodiversity Foundation, Xerces Society for Invertebrate Conservation and the McGuire Center," Daniels said.

The museum is at 3215 Hull Road just east of Southwest 34th Street in the University of Florida Cultural Plaza in Gainesville. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Chamber: State economy expanding at 'modest pace'

Special to the Times-Advertiser
Florida Chamber of Commerce

TALLAHASSEE — According to the most recent economic data, Florida's economy continued to expand at a modest pace during the month of January 2013.

The state's unemployment rate dropped from 7.9 percent in December 2012 to 7.8 percent in January 2013 — a decrease of 0.1 percentage points over-the-month. Accelerating job growth confirms that Florida's labor market is improving heading into 2013. Florida employers added 15,400 non-agricultural jobs during the month — a solid payroll employment change when compared to previous months.

The number of unemployed individuals decreased by 5,000 over the month, bringing the number of unemployed Floridians to 740,000. Both employment gains and a reduction in the number of unemployed Floridians contributed to the falling jobless rate. While this indicates that the labor market is recovering, the pace of recovery still remains gradual in nature.

New housing permits increased by 22 percent from December 2012 to January 2013, indicating the housing recovery remains intact despite fears regarding sequestration and a higher payroll tax rate. While new housing permits are typically volatile from month-to-month, the overall trend for Florida's housing market is positive. The increasing activity in housing bodes well for Florida's economic recovery, as almost 50 percent of the state's employment loss since the Great Recession directly results from the contraction in the construction industry. As home prices increase across the state, expect overall economic activity to grow as a result of new home construction and increased consumer spending.

During March, Florida's consumer confidence index increased slightly to 74 from a reading of 73 in February. Consumer confidence takes into account residents' financial situations and outlook for the economy. The long-run trend in consumer confidence has been positive since the time series bottomed out in mid-2008. Despite the gains in consumer confidence, the index is still below the pre-recession levels, which typically ranged from 80-95. The recent rally in U.S.

equities prices has gained attention in recent weeks and is an encouraging sign for the economic outlook. In February 2013, U.S. employers added 236,000 new jobs as the unemployment rate ticked down to 7.7 percent from 7.9 percent in the month of January.

This report was above expectations, and suggests continued recovery of the national economy. Despite positive economic data, future growth will largely depend on the trajectory of Federal Reserve policy as well as risks from the global economy.

The Federal Reserve appears to be continuing their asset purchases, known as quantitative easing, until they see strong evidence of a "significant improvement in the labor market outlook."

Wells family history runs full circle

In the first "Perry's Prattler" for March, your writer reached back into February for a story he had planned to write. As April arrives, the impression is to again look back to the preceding month for a column topic.

Etched in my mind is the fact that my grandmother, Hannah Malinda Brock Wells, was born on March 2, 1878 in Washington County. She died May 9, 1960. She and my grandfather, James Thomas Wells, are buried at Bethel Primitive Baptist Church Cemetery.

The Prattler does not remember not having the paternal grandparents closely associated, and an active influence in the events and affairs of our own household. Our daddy, Hugh Thomas Wells, was their youngest of four sons, and the only one who, upon marrying, remained on the farm. He merely moved "up the hill" from his parents and continued farming.

This relationship never changed as the grandparents, and our parents, made this location their home throughout their entire lifetime.

My grandmother made this statement each year as her birthday arrived: "Well, if I can just make it through March, I can make it the rest of the year."

This worked well for her until she reached age 82 in March of 1960 and died in June of that year. As the report goes, she simply "lay down" for an afternoon nap while in the home of her daughter, Virginia (Jenny) Wells Hinson and husband, James Arthur Hinson and never woke up.

Grandma Wells was an influential and helpful person in her neighborhood. In today's modern terminology, she would have been labeled a "survivor." She knew how to skip and save, but she did so in order to administer assistance to others that she knew to be in need. I am not sure that figs, nor fig preserves, have been proven to possess any medicinal qualities, but the old timers in my early life seemed to believe that they did. Hannah Wells harvested every fig from the prolific trees that were nourished and protected on the old home place for many years. Sometime the fruit was cooked to a preserve state in the family wash pot. Most of the time, the product was sweetened with home made sugar cane syrup as granulated, store bought white sugar, was a scarce commodity in most all farm households.

These treasured figs were kept in the proper temperature to assure freshness throughout the year. When a neighbor came to her door, advising: "Cousin Hannah, I have a very sick child and he is begging for 'figazerves!' Can you help me?" The answer was always "yes" without hesitation and no demand for payment or promise to repay "in kind" for the item as a later date.

My grandmother was always good for one or more bantam fryers from her flock that ran the range of the home place. She shared these chickens for frying or stewing hens for baking dressing, especially when there was a sick person in the community who needed special food. I have read that chicken soup definitely has healing qualities for those with certain maladies.

This lady claimed the gift of treating "thrush" in children. One theory that this ability is limited to those ladies whose fathers died prior to their birth. This did not apply to my grandmother as she definitely lived many years along with her father, Thomas Jefferson Brock.

The ritual of treating "thrush" had to be done in secret, according to legend. Hannah Wells simply took the child by the hand, stepped outside her kitchen door in the dark and did whatever she had been taught to do and soon returned inside. As I recall, her "treatments" were always effective.

A few weeks ago, the topic of Aurora Borealis (Great Northern Lights) was mentioned. This phenomenon was observed by our family in the early 1940s. Our grandparents joined in the trek of a host of people who were walking northward thinking we would come to the source of the lights within a short distance. I wrote of telling Kim Osborne of this story recently when she, and others, were here on a genealogy search. She was happy to know that the great grandmother she never knew, Laura Nelson Ellis, joined in that momentous walk.

At the Farm Bureau Spaghetti Supper, held in February, Leola Craven Brock, came to our table to tell of her enjoyment of the story. She related the experience of her parents, Bill Craven and Bobby Tobias Craven, taking all the children on a northward drive from their Poplar Head Community home in the early 1970s after seeing the mysterious lights. She reports they expected to see the source of the light once reaching Highway 280. The group turned back after peaking the hill near the Jim Clemmons home, without learning the source of the lights.

On March 25, an email came to the News Office, addressed to the Prattler from a Vernon native. He told of his family's experience of seeing the "lights" from their Vernon home, also in the 1940s. The writer was Baylye Gwynne May, now living in Orlando, the son of Delbert May and Helen Dalton May, both from prominent Vernon pioneer families.

May, a retired U.S. Navy man, reports crossing the arctic circle in Alaska, Norway and Finland and traveled the seven continents and was able to tell his comrades in those foreign lands that he had seen the "Great Northern Lights (Aurora Borealis) from my Vernon, Florida home on Roache Avenue (formerly Broad Street), across the open lot south of the building that Curt Roach operated an oyster bar and pool hall and where Marvin and Vera Owens ran a grocery store." Later, Irvin Roche opened the Vernon Theater on this space and operated it for many years.

History seems to run full circle and I am happy to have covered a portion of it today.

See you all next week.

Bonifay city cemetery is alive with color

Through the years I've heard many comments about the beauty of Bonifay's cemetery. At this time of year when the azaleas are in full bloom, it is especially pretty. Located on the northwest side of the town on a rolling hill, the view from all directions is refreshing. Looking north, a stand of native red bud's bright pink blooms delight the eye. To the south a tiered planting separates the cemetery proper from the surrounding woodlands. On the west side bright shades of hot pink azaleas delineate the white and black portions of the burial grounds, harking back to yesteryear when strict separation of the races was the law of the land. The cemetery was designated when the city was chartered and the streets laid out by Mr. Banfil, although he is not buried there himself. His grave is off Banfil Ave just west of the old L&N Train Depot location.

Many folks give Bonifay Garden Club credit for the fine condition of the cemetery, but it is actually cared for by the city of Bonifay under the direction of a committee appointed by the city council. However, the beautification projects which account for the beauty of the place is the protégé of the Garden Club. The late Mrs. Brooks (Marie Armstrong) Padgett is credited with starting the on-going project to beautify and keep up the city's burial grounds. Her mother, Mrs. Susan Armstrong, had taken a personal interest in the cemetery. Since the early 1950's the committee that was formed under Mrs. Padgett's leadership

HAPPY CORNER
Hazel Wells Tison

always includes at least one Garden Club member. In cooperation with the city council and a crew paid by the city the place has been kept beautiful with the help of donations from the families whose loved ones are buried there. Others I can recall who have been involved in the improvement and upkeep of the cemetery are Mrs. Harvey (Palmer) Spears, Mrs. Ben (Mary Wilcox) Swindle, Mrs. R.H. (Sarah Green) Segrest, Mrs. George (Ann) Howell, Mrs. Alex (Mozell Miller) Shepherd, Mrs. Clifford (Annie Lee Brock) Williams, Mrs. Ernest Cox, Mrs. Parker Grant, Mrs. Pat (Marion Creel) Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Maston (Eula Lee Ross) Barden and too many others to name, most of them deceased.

The current committee is composed of Mrs. Wilhemina (Wilcox) Belser, Mrs. Tom (Vonzie Brooks)

Jenkins, Mrs. Willard (Joan Hand) Steverson, Mrs. Tom (Velma Jenkins) Stubbs, Mrs. Ed (Susan Treadwell) Pittman, Mr. Kenneth Yates, and City Councilman Roger Brooks make up the committee. Mrs. J.W. (Edna Bellot) McDonald is an immediate past member. They have recently purchased and installed new gates at the entrance to the cemetery, which is on the east side. The stone enclosure with decorative iron gates featuring 5 flag standards guard the east entrance. James Sellers was instrumental in finding a source for the metal gates and the decorative stone. Roger Brooks located the flags.

Through the years the driveway has been lined with crepe myrtle. Beds of knockout roses and white decorative panels separate the entry and exit lanes. A carrollian tower marks the skyline to the northeast. It has recently been refurbished with paint and a new metal roof, a project of Mr. Yates.

When I was teaching 8th grade at Bonifay Middle School, visiting the nearby city cemetery was an end-of-the-year activity. It is just the right distance to the school to make the walk there and back within a period of class time. At first the students thought it a little weird to visit a cemetery, but then they really "got into it." They were assigned to find an epitaph or two or look for Civil War veterans, or other veterans. Some asked about the circumstances of the death of a brother and sister who died on the same day. I was able to give them sketchy details of the drowning that occurred in Pate Pond of a Miller brother and sister. Visiting the cemetery turned out to be a really good activity as much history is contained there.

Today, it is still a beautiful and serene place to visit even if you don't have family there. You are also urged to make a donation to the cemetery fund, especially if it's the burial place of family members. Tax deductible donations may be sent to the City of Bonifay Cemetery Fund or given to any committee member.

Letters to the EDITOR

Dear Editor,
I am responding to the article about the Holmes County Road Department. The County Commissioners had a special session on March 20th to discuss concerns they had, but the only thing I got out of the article was the two new County Commissioners not liking the way the Holmes County Road Department (District 3) did their job.

I do believe when Holmes County got all that rain it was the Holmes County Road Department that went out in the middle of the night and in the pouring rain to close all the flooded roads and to remove the fallen trees. I live on a dirt road that

Dear Editor,
On February 22, I was released from Walter Reed National Military Medical Center. It was a happy day. I had been at Walter Reed since July 6, 2012. during that time, I received hundreds of cards from people across the Panhandle, and I have been the beneficiary of the prayers of thousands more. I hope you will allow me to express my gratitude is being maintained by district 3 and have no complaints. The road is being graded like it is suppose to be and they keep the trees trimmed back so the view is clear around the curve at all times.

They have to realize these men have to put up with some of Holmes County residents cussing them out when they maintain the roads because they believe they own that road when in reality it belongs to the county. Another part of the article that really got me was the issue of three Road Department employees being related. What does that have to do with anything especially when they are only related by marriage not blood.

and to say thank you through this letter:
Walter Reed is a wondrous place albeit for horrible reasons. The doctors, nurses and therapists there are the very best. Moreover, the many non-profit organizations who are dedicated to our wounded warriors insure that whatever our soldiers need is provided. God bless them all.

They're not even related in the way the article stated. Get your facts straight before you address it before the other Commissioners to make it an issue. Being related does not have anything to do with their job performance and should not be an issue. The Holmes County Road Department employees do not get the praise they deserve from the residents of Holmes County or even the County Commissioners.

Keep up the hard work and thank you to the Holmes County Road Department for all you do to maintain the roads in Holmes County!

Professor Erin Kimberle, University of South Florida's lead researcher, and U.S. Sen. Bill Nelson speak before touring the building known as the "White House" at the now-closed Arthur G. Dozier School for Boys in Marianna on March 27.

Senator seeks money to investigate reform school

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — U.S. Sen. Bill Nelson said on March 27 that he's pursuing funding from a $3 million federal grant program to help identify buried remains at a defunct boys' reform school in the Florida Panhandle.

The grant money is meant for exhuming bodies and identifying them through DNA, the Democratic senator told reporters.

Nelson said he was contacted by a brother of a boy who died at the former Arthur G. Dozier School for Boys in Marianna. The senator said he knew the school well as a boy because his family would pass it as they drove to see relatives in the Panhandle. "It was kind of known, 'You don't want to be sent to the boys' reform school,'" he said.

Former students have alleged that physical and sexual abuse — and even wrongful deaths — occurred at the school. It opened in 1900 and closed in 2011. A building known as the "White House" was notorious for beatings.

University of South Florida anthropologists have previously said they found at least 50 gravesites on the grounds and suspect there may be as many as 100. They say additional research likely will turn up more gravesites. The Department of Justice refers to the grant as "Using DNA Technology to Identify the Missing." The deadline for applications is May 6, according to the department's website. Two to four awards are expected to be given.

Also Wednesday, Nelson said he was asking for an investigation into the federal "Hardest Hit" program, aimed at assisting unemployed and underemployed homeowners.

Money from the program was to be used to help pay some mortgage payments or make a delinquent loan current. The senator said Florida received $1 billion in 2010 but has used only about 15.7 percent of it so far.

Stephen P. Auger, executive director of Florida Housing Financing Corporation, responded in a letter to Nelson released to news outlets that "more than $230.5 million in Florida's (Hardest Hit fund) dollars has been committed on behalf of 9,052 homeowners."

That equates to a 38 percent approval of completed applications, he wrote. "Our staff is working tirelessly to put this federal assistance into the hands of homeowners who qualify for and need it," Auger wrote.

Nelson, serving his third term in the Senate, also said Wednesday he had "no intention to run" for governor against Republican incumbent Rick Scott.

'HIDE AND SEEK FOR ADULTS'

TDC discusses adding geocaching to county activities

By RANDAL SEYLER

rseyler@chippelypaper.com

CHIPLEY — Described as "hide and seek for adults," geocaching might be an activity that could bring more visitors to Washington County.

Tourism Development Council member Scott Sweeney introduced the sport of geocaching to the rest of the TDC members during the council's March 25 meeting at the Washington County Chamber of Commerce in Chipley.

"I was looking for ways to bring people into the area that don't cost an arm and a leg to do," Sweeney said. As the Park Manager of Falling Waters State Park, Sweeney is familiar with geocaching — the state park already has three geocaching sites located within its boundaries.

Sweeney said last week there was a family from Indiana geocaching at Falling Waters State Park. In fact, the waterfall at the park is featured on the website, earthcache.org, Sweeney added.

Geocaching is a real-world, outdoor treasure hunting game using GPS-enabled devices, according to the website, geocaching.com. Participants navigate to a specific set of GPS coordinates and then attempt to find a hidden container called a "geocache" at that location.

Once the geocache is found, the seeker signs a logbook showing that the site was located. The containers also sometimes contain prizes, but geocachers are asked to replace what they take with a similarly suitable prize.

The geocaching website suggests travel and tourism professionals create a GeoTour of their region.

"It's easy to put your destination on the map for millions to discover," according to geocaching.com. "You already have the raw materials. You know the friendly neighbors, the best places to eat, and that one special spot that people should never miss on their visit. The question is: how do you entice the travelers and tourists of the world to discover your destination?"

Sweeney said geocaches can be located anywhere — places of historical interest, places of beauty, or even at events, such as the Watermelon Festival.

"Washington County is a great place to geocache," Sweeney said. He said that if there were 100 geocache sites in the county, then the TDC could award something like a lapel pin to seekers who find a certain percentage of the sites. "We can get pins for just pennies, and we can ask for $2 or $3 for them in return."

People are already geocaching in Washington County, but if the TDC were to develop a GeoTour, that could drive searchers to specific places, such as Hard Labor Creek or the Washington County Historical Museum.

"We could have a list of sites, then have our booth at the Watermelon Festival be the last stop," Council member Ted Everett said.

"A GeoTour lets our community of millions know you're open for business with a story to tell, interesting locations, and family-friendly activities," according to the geocaching website. "These unique tours bring locations to life through a series of engaging geocaches placed within a specific area or along a route."

The geocaching community is five million strong and growing, according to geocaching.com. "Armed with smartphones or dedicated GPS devices, geocachers are always searching for their next 'find.'"

The impact of GeoTour is completely measureable, according to the website. Monitoring allows for tracking the number of Passports and Geocoins deployed and the number of geocaching "logs" entered by visitors on Geocaching.com.

"Why don't you spearhead this?" Everett asked Sweeney. "Let's try and do something with the Watermelon Festival."

"I think this can really have a positive impact," Sweeney said. "There are so many neat things to do in Washington County, people are going to say, 'why didn't we come here sooner?'"

Hooked on Outdoors

If you had been standing on the eastern shore of present-day Florida around St. Augustine on March 3, 1513, you would have witnessed three sailing ships bringing men ashore: The Santiago, the San Cristobal and the Santa Maria de Consolacion.

On one of these ships was the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon, the first European ever to set foot on Florida soil. Thinking he had discovered an island,

Outdoor Life

Scott Lindsey
captainlindsey@ knology.net

he named it La Florida in recognition of the verdant landscape and because it was the Easter season, which the Spaniards called Pascua Florida (Festival of Flowers).

The precise location of this landing has been in dispute for many years. Some historians believe it was around St. Augustine. Others believe it was farther south near a small harbor today called Ponce de Leon Inlet.

After remaining ashore for about five days they turned south for further exploration. On the way south they encountered a strong current that was later named the Gulf Stream. They sailed south and eventually crossed through the Keys and headed back north reaching the mainland around May 23rd.

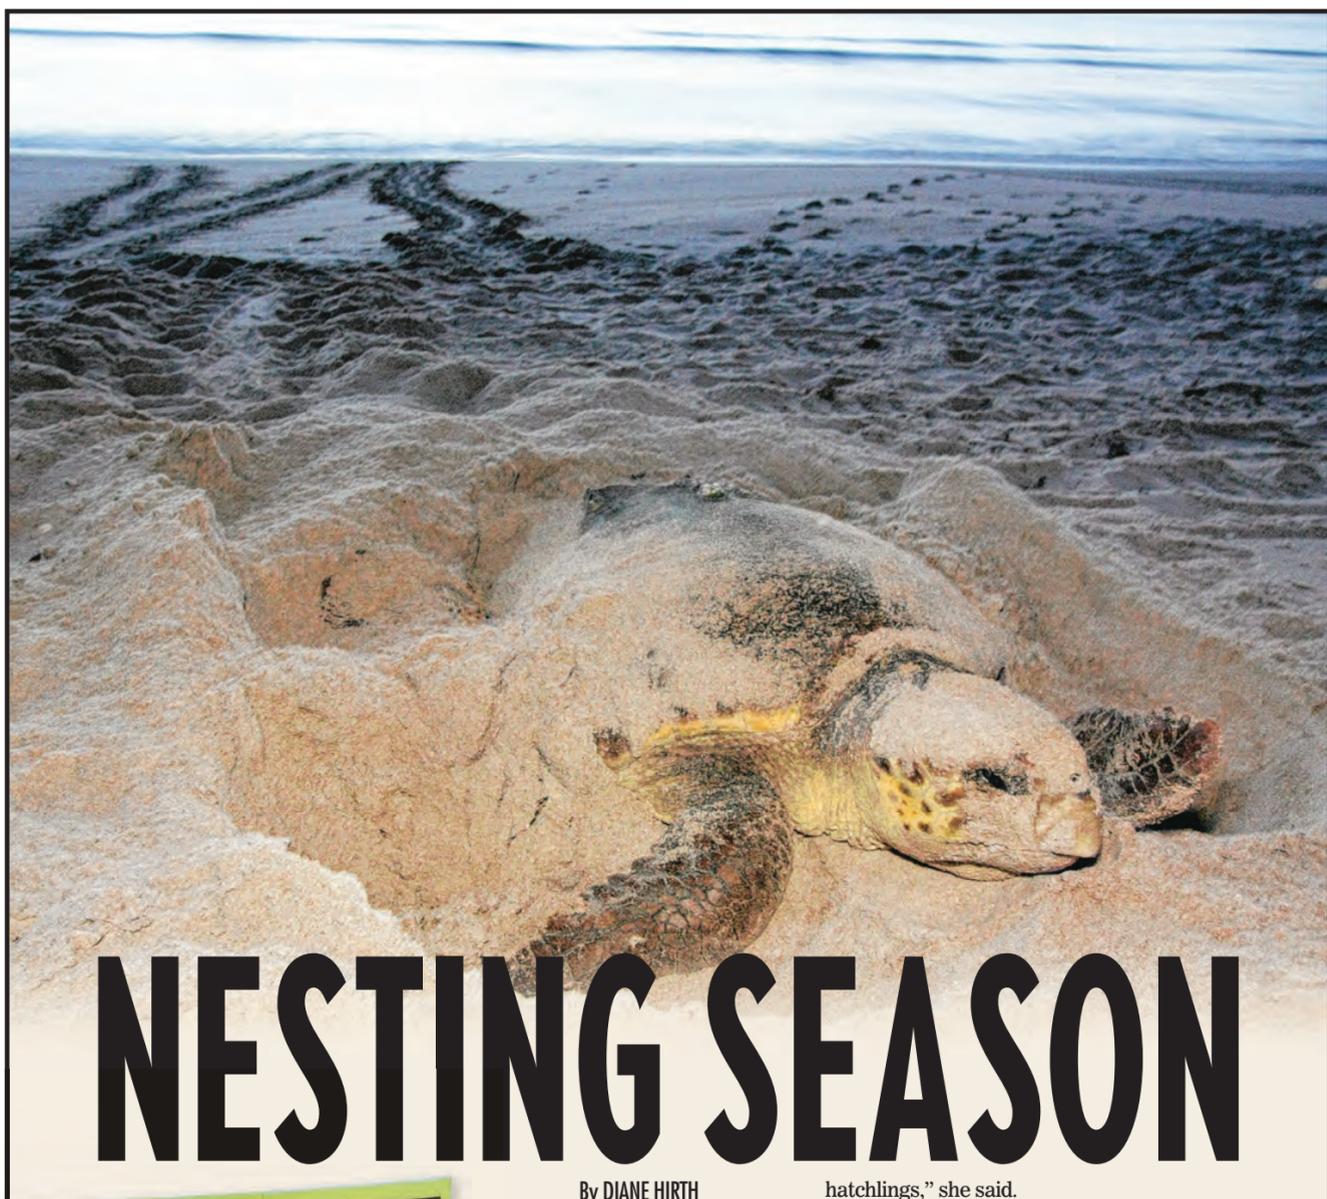

Anchoring in what was thought to be present-day Charlotte Harbor, things soon went sour with the local inhabitants, the Calusa Indians. These people were to be his undoing.

Returning again to the same general vicinity in Florida in 1521, he again had a run in with Calusa Indians and was shot in the thigh with an arrow poisoned with the sap of the Manchineel tree. He returned to Cuba abandoning any hopes of forming a settlement in Florida. Soon after he died of his wounds from the arrow.

In his voyages through the keys he discovered an island he named Dry Tortugas. The island was covered with turtles and had no fresh water. Thus the name Dry Tortugas.

Ask most anyone who Ponce de Leon was and they will tell you he was an explorer looking for the Fountain of Youth. This is hardly the truth. He was looking for gold and land to claim. These Spanish explorers were brutal people that would run over or kill anyone that stood in their way.

He was a man of his time and no matter the reason he was here, he discovered Florida 500 years ago this April 3, and we can credit him with giving it its beautiful name.

NESTING SEASON

By DIANE HIRTH

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation
Commission

Marine-turtle nesting season began in March on Florida beaches from Brevard through Broward counties, although two leatherbacks laying their eggs in late February got a head start. May 1 marks the official start in other coastal counties.

This year, Florida's nesting sea turtles face specific challenges because of the aftereffects of Hurricane Sandy, which slammed the Atlantic Coast last October, and Tropical Storm Debby, which hit the Gulf Coast in June 2012.

"The impact of two strong storms last year and the resulting beach renourishment and repairs have altered many Florida beaches where sea turtles nest," said Dr. Robbin Trindell, who is responsible for sea turtle management at the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission. "Changes in the coastal landscape, such as a shallower strip of sandy beach or an unnatural profile, can make it more challenging for sea turtles to successfully lay their eggs and produce hatchlings," she said.

"Still, we are hoping for a strong sea turtle nesting season, and we ask beachfront property owners and coastal towns and cities to keep nesting beaches free of potential hazards to increase the chance of successful nesting in the wake of such major storms."

The FWC reminds beachgoers it is illegal to disturb sea turtles, their nests or hatchlings. The loggerhead is listed as a federally threatened species, and the leatherback and green turtle are federally endangered species. State law restricts beach renourishment and repairs on structures such as seawalls during nesting season, which continues through October.

Coastal residents and visitors can help ensure successful nesting of threatened and endangered sea turtles by:

- Ensuring beach-repair work is completed before nesting turtles arrive;
- Removing all equipment, beach furniture and other potential obstructions from the beach at night, when nesting females and hatchlings need to move unimpeded across the sand;
- Managing artificial light at night by turning off lights when not in use, closing curtains and shades, and shielding lights needed for human safety so no light is visible from the beach.

4 counties open Monday to gag grouper recreational harvest

By AMANDA NALLEY

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation
Commission

State waters off the coast of Franklin, Wakulla, Jefferson and Taylor counties will open to recreational harvest of gag grouper starting Monday.

This regional season will remain open through June 30, with the first day of the closure being July 1. The season also includes all waters of Apalachicola Bay and Indian Pass, including those in Gulf County, and all waters of the Steinhatchee River, including those in Dixie County.

Gag grouper caught in state waters — from shore to 9 nautical miles off — off the four counties may not be taken ashore in areas that are closed to harvest. For example, a gag grouper caught April 1 in state waters off Jefferson County cannot be taken ashore in Dixie County, excluding the Steinhatchee River.

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission set this regional season at its February Commission meeting to provide fishing opportunities for private recreational anglers when gag grouper are closer to shore and can be accessed by smaller boats. The overall fishing effort for gag grouper is low in these counties because it is the least densely populated region of Florida's Gulf Coast. The FWC also established this spring season to balance the economic and social needs of the region with the conservation needs of gag grouper.

In the remainder of Gulf of Mexico state waters, fishermen will be able to keep gag grouper from July 1 through Dec. 3. State waters off Franklin, Wakulla, Jefferson and Taylor counties will not be open during the July-through-December season.

The season in federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico also opens July 1 and will close when the annual catch target is projected to be met, which is expected to be sometime between Nov. 11 and Dec. 3.

Gag grouper caught in state waters outside of the four-county region and in federal waters may be taken ashore in Franklin, Wakulla, Jefferson and Taylor counties during the federal season or the July-through-December state season. However, boats with gag grouper aboard might not stop in state waters off the four-county region and must have gear stowed while traveling through it to shore.

The FWC is working with Florida's anglers to rebuild gag grouper populations in the Gulf of Mexico so they reach strong, sustainable levels.

The gag grouper recreational harvest minimum size and bag limits are 22 inches total length and two gag grouper per person. No more than four of any species of grouper may be kept.

Holmes County Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament a success

By JULIA BULLINGTON

Holmes County Chamber of Commerce

This year's sixth annual Holmes County Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament was March 8 at the Dogwood Lakes Golf Club.

The weather was great, and all the players were in high spirits. A little chill in the air but plenty of sunshine made the course shine even brighter green than normal. Lots of new teams and new faces mixed with our faithful crew of loyal supporters.

We had volunteers from First Federal Bank of Florida, Sandy Spear and Celena Medley, who worked with Kim Castriotta from the American Cancer Society to register all the players and make them pull out their checkbooks. Judge Russ Cole and Bill Bullington sat on hole 11 all day waiting on someone to claim that $10,000 hole in one prize. Brenda Blich and Jennifer Cloud from Doctors Memorial Hospital rounded up all the teams to get their team portraits and sold chances to get on the green.

Bettie Slay from Bettie's Country Realty, Debbie Wells from Wells Law Firm and JoAnn Foxworth from the Fig Tree B & B set up and hauled in and tallied up and everything else under the sun that needed to be done.

Chuck and Connie Mason, the owners of Dogwood Lakes Golf Club, can put on one great golf tournament. The course looked great, with two drive-ways full of carts charged and ready to take off and all the teams sorted as fairly as can be done. Rules were at the ready, prayers were all said and everyone was off to have a great day of fun and fellowship. Then it was back to the clubhouse for a wonderful lunch and all the awards.

This year's Chamber President Jon Sims, of Sims Signs, wants to thank all those who participated in the tournament and hopes all will join us again next year. Jon wants to send a very special thank you to all of our volunteers and board members who worked so hard and wants everyone to know how much we appreciate our corporate sponsors: Bonifay Nursing and Rehab, Community South Credit Union, Doctors Memorial Hospital, First Federal Bank of Florida, LKQ of West Florida, One South Bank, West Florida Electric Cooperative and of course the Holmes County Board of County Commissioners, the Holmes County Economic Development Commission and the Holmes County Tourist Development Council. Without each of these supporters, our mission would be impossible.

Holmes County's Walker ready to shine on big stage

By JASON SHOOT

747-5069 | @PCNHJasonShoot
jshoot@pcnh.com

BONIFAY — Chris Walker will find himself in unfamiliar environments in coming weeks, but he can rest assured he is right where he belongs.

Weeks after leading Holmes County to a Class 1A state championship in boys basketball, Walker will showcase his talents for the world in a pair of nationally televised games in Chicago and Brooklyn, N.Y.

Walker, an explosive 6-foot-10 forward, will play for the East in the McDonald's All-American Game today, April 3, in Chicago's United Center (ESPN, 8:30 p.m.).

Ten days later, he'll suit up for the East in the Jordan Brand Classic on April 13 at the Barclays Center in Brooklyn (ESPN2, 6 p.m. CDT). The two games are the premier all-star events in the country for high school basketball players.

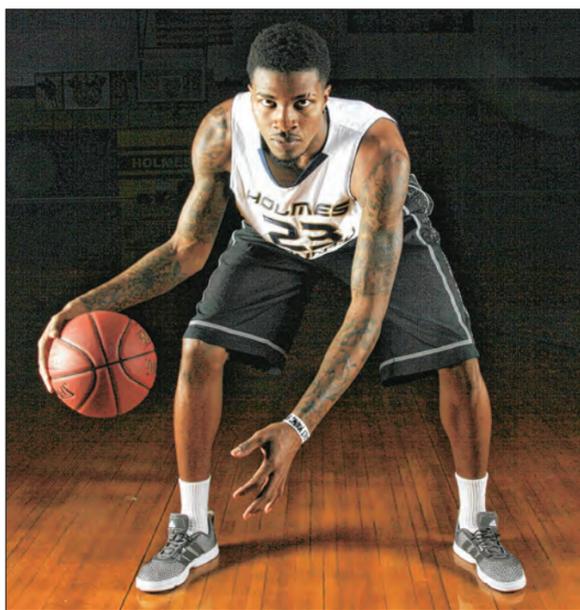

The McDonald's All-American Game dates back 36 years and throughout its illustrious history has featured luminaries like Magic Johnson, Michael Jordan, LeBron James and countless others who went on to be NBA All-Stars and Hall-of-Famers. The Jordan Brand Classic has existed for 12 years, and many of the NBA's best players, such as Chris Paul, Kevin Durant and Blake Griffin, appeared in the game and provided the nation an early glimpse into their blossoming talents.

"It was a dream of mine in middle school, and now I've got that chance," Walker said. "To be in that mix of names is really exciting. I'm ready for this and to go out there and compete and have fun."

And maybe throw down a dunk or two for the cameras' sake?

"Oh, I'm gonna get some dunks," Walker said.

Walker will play with fellow Florida commit Kasey Hill in the McDonald's game. East teammates will include other top recruits such as Andrew Wiggins and Noah Vonleh, two players considered among the Top 10 prospects in the country. They will compete against a West team featuring Jabari Parker, the Duke recruit regarded by many to be the No. 1 prospect nationally.

Walker and Hill teamed together during AAU ball last summer and will pair up in Gainesville next season. But they will be at odds during the Jordan Brand Classic with Hill playing for the West.

"I've never played against him," Walker said. "Kasey's good, man. He's like a Derrick Rose. He can shoot, he's fast, he's athletic. Playing with him is easy. Just go up and get easy lob passes."

Walker, 18, is too young to remember Jordan's dominance of the NBA in the late 1980s and throughout the '90s. He's a part of a new generation looking up to today's stars, like James and Durant.

"Michael Jordan is the best player," Walker began.

"Well, wait. I don't know what to think about that. I mean, LeBron, man. I feel like LeBron is just getting started. I think LeBron's the best. He's athletic, he can dribble, he's a passer."

Perhaps Jordan can pitch his case if he attends the game in his namesake at the Barclays Center, the sparkling-new billion-dollar home to the NBA's Brooklyn Nets. Walker's trip to the United Center will take him to the home of three of Jordan's six NBA titles with the Chicago Bulls.

"I've never played in anything like that," Walker said of the two arenas. "I'll just go out there, compete, have fun and just enjoy it."

Walker said he's still appreciating the state championship with the Blue Devils.

"It shows colleges I'm a winner and know what it takes," Walker said. "It looks good on a resume, too."

If the caliber of talent that has crossed through these two all-star games is any indication, Walker won't be filling out one of those any time soon.

THE CENTURY MARK, PDL'S RECORD PICKS AND OTHER HALIFAX CLASSIC FACTS

By BRAD MILNER

747-5065 | @PCHNBradMilner
bmilner@pcnh.com

The West boys have never scored more than 100 points in the previous eight years of the Halifax All-Star Classic.

That information was relayed to East coach Matt Anderson, who is at Graceville and has gained a reputation of instilling tough defense in his teams. Fellow East coach Steve Welch of Malone also prides himself on defense, something he learned while playing at his alma mater when Anderson was an assistant coach.

Anderson said the East will look to continue the trend of keeping the West under 100 when the teams convene for the game on Saturday at the Billy Harrison Field House on the campus of Gulf Coast State College. The boys tip off at 1 p.m. The girls open the festivities at 11 a.m.

Anderson said there would be only one reason why the West scores 100.

"If it happens, I'll blame Steve," he joked.

The inability to forge beyond the century mark is only one fact associated with the high school showcase. Here are some other facts and figures from the Halifax All-Star Classic, which began in 2005:

- The East boys lead the series 5-3 with two straight wins. The East has scored 100 or more three times, including a record 114 in a 15-point triumph in 2011. It also scored 102 in 2005 and 100 in 2009.

- The West girls lead the series 6-2 and have scored 100 or more points twice. The West scored a then-record 112 in a 39-point win in 2009. The 39-point margin remains a record on both sides.

- The girls series has tightened in the past three years with the average margin of victory three points. No winning team has scored more than 70 in the three-year span, and the East tallied a record-low 53 in 2011.

- Heather Hingson is the third girls coach on the East from Chipley.

It ties the mark with Bay (George Hamilton) and Mosley (Steven Canfield) for most representation by coaches of a school. However, Chipley holds the distinction of sending three different coaches to the Halifax Classic, with Rickey McCullough in the inaugural game and Tracey Dudley in 2009.

- Anderson and Welch are making second appearances as coaches. Anderson represented Bay in 2005, and Welch coached last year. They are tied with Marianna's Travis Blanton and Port St. Joe's Derek Kurnitsky for most coaching appearances on the boys side.

- Of the 22 schools comprising the East player pool from The News Herald's coverage area — excluding a 23rd in North Bay Haven, which doesn't have a senior class until the fall — there hasn't been a boys player chosen from Liberty County, Poplar Springs or Sneads. There has yet to be a girl chosen from Altha, Blountstown, Franklin County or Vernon.

- Ponce de Leon leads all girls selections with 15, including two this year. Mosley had 13 picks and Graceville 10. Bay, Chipley, Marianna and Rutherford are tied for the top with 11 selections in the boys game, while Port St. Joe is second with 10.

- There have been five sweeps. The West swept the games in 2006, '08 and '10. The East secured two wins in the same year in '07 and '12.

- Rutherford's Jon Wade set the boys and overall scoring record with 30 points for the East in last year's 96-76 triumph. It eclipsed the 28 points Lori Fletcher scored for the West in 2009. That figure remains the girls record. Chipley's Nikki Jackson holds the East girls mark with 26 points set in 2005.

- Three East boys, Wade, Carter Grubbs and Karlos Franklin, have scored 20 or more points. Five East girls, Jackson, Geami Britt, Shari Steele, Tanesha Middleton and Erika Johnson, have put up at least 20 points.

Prep ROUNDUP

From Staff Reports

Rutherford 9, Citrus 3

OCALA — Rutherford rallied from a three-run deficit to defeat Citrus 9-3 to win the Big Sun Classic prep baseball tournament on March 28.

The Rams (13-5) used two suicide squeeze bunts by Andrew Mask and Zach Davis to score three runs in the sixth and move ahead 4-3. Rutherford put the game out of reach with five runs in the seventh. Davis was 3 for 4 with two RBIs, Nick Nelson doubled and every starter had one of the Rams' 11 hits.

Mask was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Heath Holmes. Mask held Citrus hitless and had four strikeouts and one walk in 2 2/3 innings. Holmes gave up four hits and three runs, two earned, all coming in the fifth inning to give Citrus a 3-1 lead.

Rutherford defeated schools from larger classifications, including handing Land O'Lakes a first loss, in winning the tournament.

"We played a team out of Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville and then the Citrus group, so it was good to see different styles of teams," Rutherford coach Jon Hudson said. "They tested us in every way, we had to get bunts down, do hit and runs, play more small ball and I think that really helped us."

Walton 2, Port St. Joe 0

PORT ST. JOE — Tucker Smith, Drew Lacour, Tyler Worley, Chase Wilder, Will Ramsey and Ricky Pennington led Port St. Joe's offense in the win over Graceville. Bryce Godwin took the win. Ethan Sander took the loss against Walton, while Wilder, Troy Williams, Cole Cryderman, Devon Strickland and Jarquis Davis each had hits for the Tiger Sharks (8-11).

Vernon 5, Wewahitchka 4

VERNON — Rashard Ranie was 2 for 4 with a triple, run scored and two RBIs, Jay Shiver 2 for 4 with an RBI and he also took the loss for the Gators (5-6).

North BayHaven 8, Chipley 5

CHIPLEY — Cameron

Moncrief was the winning pitcher and also was 3 for 3 for the Buccaneers (5-10).

Mosley 13, St. Pete Catholic 3

DUNEDIN — Mosley blew the game open with seven runs in the fourth and ended the game an inning later by the run rule in the Dunedin Spring Break Classic. Bowen McGuffin was 3 for 4 with a double, triple and two RBIs, Dylan Brown 2 for 3 with an RBI and Logan Quimuyog had three RBIs for the Dolphins. Andrew Deramo struck out eight and walked two for the win.

SOFTBALL South Walton 4, Port St. Joe 2

Hundreds gathered so that children of all ages could hunt for eggs, get a chance for a large Easter basket, bicycle and to listen to music at this year's Westville Eggstravaganza. Below, with over 23,000 eggs to hunt every child went away with a bountiful catch of colorful treats.

Westville Eggstravaganza a success

Staff Report

WESTVILLE — Hundreds gathered for this year's Westville Eggstravaganza as seven churches collaborated an eggxtreme outreach with an Easter egg hunt consisting of 23,000 eggs and a raffle for 30 bicycles and over 30 large Easter baskets held on March 30 at D.D. Eldridge Park in Westville.

"These churches and their pastors have prayed over these bicycles and they've prayed over these baskets and they've prayed for this event today," said West Pittman Baptist Church Pastor Eddie Eaton. "We are glad that you all are here to help us celebrate Easter together."

"We've got the fire department to blow their siren and when they blows that means go," said Eaton advised the parents and children just before assigning each age group a field to hunt eggs. "I think our record so far is just a little under seven minutes, so we're going to see if we can beat that."

Those seven churches holding the event are Beulah Anna Baptist Church, Evergreen Baptist Church, Hickory Hill Baptist Church, Leonia Baptist Church, Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church, New Hope Baptist Church and West Pittman Baptist Church.

Volunteers from seven churches helped register parents and children for the chance to win one of over 30 bicycles and/or 30 large Easter baskets.

6th annual Robotics Contest

Fourteen robots and their student inventors gathered in Marianna March 21 to compete in the sixth annual robotics contest sponsored by the Chipola Regional Workforce Development Board and Opportunity Florida. The contest challenged teams of students to design, build and operate a robot to outscore their opponents in head to head completion.

Tech No Bot from Holmes County High School defeated Wolverines from Chipley High School 65-10 in the final round to take the championship. Cottdale High's Avengers defeated the Bulldogs 50-45 of Liberty County to capture third place.

Students were challenged to design and build a robot that could move various size balls into scoring areas as well as lift balls into a scoring tube. Teams played four round robin matches that determined the seeding in a single elimination tournament.

Tech No Logic also took first place in the Log Book competition as well as the Top Gun Award for scoring the most points in a single match. In the Log Book competition teams submitted logbooks that were graded and then the top teams were also interviewed by judges to determine the final rankings.

The contest was started by the CRWDB and Opportunity Florida to give area educators an extra tool to use as they help youth learn how to think critically, problem solve and work as a team.

Richard Williams, Executive Director of the CRWDB, said the contest is a fun way for students to expand their classroom knowledge.

"This contest gives students a chance to put lessons learned in the classroom to use in a way that offers them many challenges they have to overcome," Williams said. "It is amazing to see teams between rounds working on their robots and actually applying skills necessary to do well in any occupation that requires knowledge in math, science, technology and engineering."

The CRWDB provides oversight and implementation of workforce development programs in Calhoun, Holmes, Jackson, Liberty and Washington County. The board also works with local educational institutions, economic development organizations and local employers to promote our goal of having a highly skilled and competitive workforce.

I've got Easter on my mind

I am not one to boast, at least not about myself unless someone is listening, but I do give some time to exercising the little gray cells in my mind. Many people, no names given, spend most of their time yapping, while people like me spend their time napping. While napping, I am also exercising my mind. Some people exercise their mind by doing crossword puzzles. I tried this, but every once in a while I'll think of the right word, and then that word makes me think of something else and that makes me think of something else altogether, and pretty soon I'm off on one of my little mind trips. One thing about these little mind trips of mine: They do not cost very much and when I come to, I am quite refreshed. One danger about my little mind trips is that sometimes I am not alone when I am tripping out. This can be quite dangerous to my health. Last week, for example, I was driving across town and happened to engage in one of my little mind trips. It must have been a good one because I was thoroughly enjoying my trip, and then I began to hear in the background a variety of words that did not seem connected nor did they make sense. These words did not have anything whatsoever to do with the little trip I was on at the time. Then the words started to fall into some kind of an order: Are... You... Listening... To... What... I'm... Saying?

At first, they did not seem connected, and to be truthful, it rather upset me because these words were interrupting a very nice mind trip I was on at the time. I hate it when I am interrupted by such nonsense. For some reason I happened to glance over to my right and was shocked to discover that the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage was sitting in the passenger seat. At first, I thought I was hallucinating. However, she was looking back at me! I stared at her for a minute and then demanded, "What are you doing in my car?"

She gave me one of those looks indicating I was in serious trouble. Then it dawned on me. We were going across town to go shopping. For some reason I had tuned everything out and slipped into a wonderful mind trip. Well, for the rest of the trip I was listening to a voice but that voice was not in my head; it was in my ears. Both of them. I had to leave my little mind trip for another occasion when I was by myself. I must confess that when I get on one of those mind trips of mine I lose sense of everything around me. I have a very active mind; of course, my wife says I have a very active imagination. I am not sure the difference, and I am not about to ask her, either. Some mysteries in life should be just that. A mystery. One mind trip that I get on to about this time a year is Easter. Lately I have had Easter on my mind. I know the word "Easter," is not a very politically correct word today. But then I am not running for office; in fact, I am running away from politics as much as possible. I like the word Easter.

In some places, they are changing the Easter Bunny to the Spring Bunny and the Easter Egg Hunt to the Spring Egg Hunt. This is supposed to be more PC tolerable. After all, it is important that we should be PC in everything we do. Those people who object to the word "Easter," I wonder if they really know where it came from. To some the Easter Bunny has some kind of a religious connotation. Personally, I never discovered what denomination the Easter Bunny is a member of. Where does the Easter Bunny attend church? The First Church of the Easter Egg Hunt?

It has become a popular thing not to tolerate religion in our country. Well, let me correct that. We tolerate all religions except Christianity. It is too bad the people who cannot tolerate Christianity are unable to read. I think it is sad this generation is not able to read anymore, because if they were, they might read some of the history of this country and discover it was founded on Christian principles. Imagine that!

I can understand why people are confused about Easter with the Easter Bunny and the Easter Egg. Most are confused about how the Easter Bunny can lay Easter Eggs. They are only familiar with Bugs Bunny and everybody knows he cannot lay an egg. So, where do these mysterious Easter Eggs come from?

Laying all that nonsense aside, and that is all it is, Easter has some very wonderful memories for me. Say what they will, nothing they say can undermine the wonderful thoughts I have about Easter. I like what the apostle Paul says, "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures" (1 Corinthians 15:3-4 KJV).

The songwriter was right when he said, "Because He lives, I can face tomorrow."
