Council discusses traffic troubles

By CECILIA SPEARS

BONIFAY — Bonifay resident Thomas Boswell came before the Bonifay City Council on Monday with various issues, including congested traffic caused by the recent construction at all railroad crossings but State Road 79.

"This work being done on the railroads is a headache," Boswell said. "Shutting down all of the streets except one is quite a hassle."

Police Chief Chris Wells agreed.

"We've become quite dis-

"We've become quite displeased with their services. We've tried getting up with whoever is in charge, but every time we call, it seems to be someone else and they're not available."

pleased with their services," Wells said. "Originally they were supposed to leave the crossing on Moody and 79 to alleviate traffic congestion, but before you knew it, they shut down Moody too. We've tried getting up with whoever is in charge, but every time we call, it seems to be someone else and they're not available."

Council Member Roger Brooks assured the council most of the roads were reopened, and though a few will be closed again for additional work, it won't be as extensive.

Another issue Boswell presented to the council was late water bills.

"I've heard talk that the water bills have the tendency to come in late and that there's a 10 percent penalty for payments turned in past the 15th of every month," Boswell said. "This doesn't seem fair if the bills aren't arriving until as late as the 10th. People should have at least 10 days to pay their bill after receiving a notice, especially those of us who are on a fixed income and might not have the money by time the bill arrives."

Capital City advisers speak on investing

By CECILIA SPEARS
547-9414 | @WCN_HCT
cspears@chipleypaper.com

BONIFAY — Ben Welter with Capital City Investments and Ben Bowersox with Capital City Trust were at the Bonifay Kiwanis Club's April 17 meeting to talk about the importance of good investments and sound advice.

Before introducing Welter to speak, event coordinator Roger Brooks gave an update on the upcoming Horse Show at Panama City Beach.

He said there had been concerns whether the event still would happen this year, and he assured everyone the show would be at Frank Brown Park, though the dates have not been set. For more information, he said, call Todd Fisher at 914-9030.

"The first thing you think of when thinking of a having a financial adviser is someone who wants you to invest in something," Welter said. "I'm here to dispel that myth. Our hallmark is that we protect our clients, whether it's your money, your family, your investments."

Protection comes in the form of advising against paying unnecessary taxes, retirement plans, insurance policies, handling estates and so on, he said.

"We protect your money, and we protect your good night's rest by knowing your money is protected," Welter said. "Doesn't matter if it's planning for your retirement or planning for a college education."

Welter said the first action residents should take is finding a good financial adviser.

CHIPLEY — Ernest Wayne Dupree was told he only had six months to live, and his wish of reviving his pickup truck to its former glory was realized through the efforts of Emerald Coast Hospice's Dream Foundation, Washington-Holmes Technical Center and countless donations from across the community.

The restored pickup truck was presented to him in a heartwarming ceremony on Wednesday, April 17, at WHTC.

"This means a lot to me," Dupree said. "It's very overwhelming just to see what I was driving before and what I get now. A year

In other business, the council approved replacing the Bonifay Police Department's air conditioning unit for $4,191.50.

"The air went out last week, and we got someone to check out the unit," Wells said. "The voltage meter is supposed to read that it pulls an average voltage of 15 to 18, but this was pulling out a voltage of 32, and we were told it was just a matter of time before it burned itself out. Summer's coming up, and it would be nice to have it fixed or replaced."

The council also agreed to look into Council Member Andrew Granger's request for any necessary repairs to Banfill Avenue near East Side Park and East Moore Avenue.

The Bonifay City Council will meet at 6 p.m. May 6 at the Bonifay City Hall.

Ben Welter, adviser, Capital City Investments

"If they aren't a good listener or they only want to know about your money, then it might be time to find yourself a new financial adviser."

"You need one that not only asks good questions but is also a good listener," he said. "If they aren't a good listener or they only want to know about your money, then it might be time to find yourself a new financial adviser. The worst thing you could do is get a plan that you can't follow through with, and the only way that a good financial adviser is going to see this is if they are interested in you and your investments. And investments far out-reach just money; it's your faith, family and health."

He was asked if gold is a good investment.

"I know there's been a lot of advertisement about investing in gold, but I've got to tell you that is a very bad idea," Welter said. "Gold is down by 30 percent in the market, and historically, gold has never been a very good investment. Gold can never really keep pace with inflation."

He said the best way to reduce risk when investing is to diversify and invest in many little things instead of betting it all on one gamble.

"Also make sure that you have a financial adviser with a wide open platform," Welter said. "That opens the doors to a wide variety of investments that may suit you and your needs the best."

According to his profile, this is Bowersox's first year with Capital City Trust Company. He came from a Fortune 500 firm where he held a position in business development focusing on client relationships. Before that, he served the Navy as an aviator and naval officer with multiple deployments during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

"As far as investments go, we don't make them, create them or sell them, we just manage them," Bowersox said. "We help secure your investment and your legacy. We assist you not just today, but you and your family in the long run and can even be a shield from creditors."

A lot of what financial advisers do is managing assets, property and estates so should someone pass away, his estate would be managed the way he wished.

"Some want certain amounts to go to some people and not others or to a charitable organization of their choice, such as the Kiwanis Club," Bowersox said. "Others don't want the lump sum to go to their heirs, so it would be divided into monthly payments or is invested into education. There's a large variety of ways your assets and estate can be secure and executed the way you wish even after your passing."

He said an advantage to his company is that it is in nearby Tallahassee.

"We're not in Wall Street or Orlando, we're in Tallahassee, right next door," Bowersox said. "We feed your animals and maintain your property while you're away. The highlight is that we go beyond asset management."

form of a letter of what their dream is and how it will increase their quality of life. We've yet to turn down an application."

For example, Brown said, one patient wanted a computer because she was bed-bound.

"We even created a Facebook account for her so that she could stay connected to friends and family," Brown said. "One wished for her son to be home for Christmas, and another wanted a pinball machine. Wishes come in all shapes and sizes."

The process of granting these wishes, Brown said, is to go to local agencies and resources.

"In this case, we contacted the Washington-Holmes Technical Center, and it just expanded from there," Brown said. "They've gone above and beyond in helping Mr. Dupree's dream come to life."

WHTC Automotive Collision and Repair Instructor Jerry Harrell gave most of the credit to his students.

"When they found out it was for a man who didn't have long to live, they were more than enthusiastic to help," Harrell said. "They were in here with every spare moment they had working hard and doing their best to make sure that this vehicle was put together in prime condition. I'm very proud of my students and their eagerness to help those in need."

Dupree said Mitchell Sight & Sound would be donating and installing a sound system for the truck.

"The Washington-Holmes Technical Center did a wonderful job," Dupree said. "This truck is my life and only transportation. I also want to say that without my fiancé, Vanessa Hawkins, this dream would've never got started — she's my heart."

Area receives double dose of dreaded pollen

After a busy weekend, and allowing the deadline to approach for submitting articles, my computer refused to cooperate when trying to transmit last week's article.

Thanks to Cathrine Lamb of the WCN staff for retyping the material in time to meet the deadline. I will allow myself the privilege of using the "Setting It Straight" feature of the paper and explain that the correct names mentioned in one sentence is Trudell Brock Worthington and her father, Sam Brock. I fully accept responsibility for these errors, plus any others, in the April 17 column.

Space and time last week did not allow me to mention Kenneth Finch as the purchaser of a Washington County Heritage Book at one of the largest assimilations of "flea market" vendors in the town. Numerous exhibits were set up at the old Gulf Oil Distributors on U.S. 90 East, extending over to the last location for Greyhound Bus Lines bus service in Chipley.

I knew that Kenneth had purchased other books, including one that he placed in the Wells Cabin, now located in the Pioneer Settlement, just west of Blountstown. Kenneth is a direct descendant in the William Dallas Finch pioneer family, who had ties to this old home. The story of this historic family, written by another family member, Ruth Finch Creamer, appears on page 208 of the above mentioned book.

Kenneth is chairman of the committee which plans and promotes the annual Finch Reunion. Your writer has had an open invitation to attend, and sell books, at these gatherings dating back seven years ago. Many copies have been sold at this annual event.

When Kenneth's wife asked him last Saturday, "Who are you buying this one for?" he answered, "This one is mine!" He then told me that my Feb. 13 article, reporting the death of J.C. Griffin, one of primer movers in the long established Griffin Family Reunion (held each May at Gap Pond Freewill Baptist Church) was the first he had heard of his kinsman's passing. He thanked me warmly for including that item of news in "Perry's Prattle." The above items could be construed as more "commercial messages" to "Perry's Prattle" and the Heritage Book.

It would also be an excellent opportunity to report that Hubert Cumbie again told me at Rev. Houston Obert's visitation, that he is a regular reader of the "Prattle" and particularly enjoyed the terminology and the old sayings of those past on. My immediate guess is that he must have remembered some of the "home made" words my dad, Hugh Wells, used throughout his lifetime.

This self-made, 1946 snapshot of the recruit Perry Wells was made by dropping a coin in the slot in a booth designed for that purpose and conveniently located near military bases.

For Hubert's benefit, my father used the word "jubous" as far back as I can remember. When I began to question it, to myself of course, it was determined that the context in which he was applying the word, explained to me that the correct word was "dubious."

In my early life, the old timer used the expression that they had caught "fresh cold" to explain that they had experienced a relapse of a cold. My father took that statement one step farther, saying, "I believe that I have taken more cold from myself."

Along this line, it seems that I know of a host of folk who have been suffering from colds, congestion, coughs and a variety of miseries associated with this season of year.

Someone has suggested that this area has experienced two episodes of pollen this year. It seems that we had an early indication of Spring which brought on the dreaded pollen. Then more cold weather came before a second Spring time approached inundating the landscape with more pollen. Obviously many, including me, received a double dose of the substance that adversely affects the sinus.

After a round of known home remedies, I finally consented to a doctor visit, took two antibiotics and still felt listless for two or more weeks.

After much improvement, and while walking to our mailbox, possibly still feeling sorry for myself and thinking: "This must be the worst siege of cold miseries that I have ever experienced." Then the memory of January, February, March and April 1946 came to mind, when at the age of 18, this writer was taking basic training in Ft. Bragg, N.C., after braving some extreme cold and most undesirable weather while processing through Camp Blanding, Fla., and Ft. McPherson, Ga.

The story of the sale of the thousands of acres comprising Camp Blanding was in the news recently, while undergoing my discomforts. My memory of that place is the buildings being heated by coal burning furnaces, resulting in choking smoke, smog and cinders coming from the mammoth smoke stacks. The weather was even worse in Georgia after arriving there in a cold, cold train ride which possibly brought on more exposure and worsened the cold and congestion.

Ft. Bragg had snow on the ground when we arrived there and where I first dared go on sick call. I recall emptying my Lucky Strike Cigarettes package holder and filling it with Vicks Cough Drops, which seemed to save my life and allowed me to finish basic training.

Being assigned to Ft. Lewis in Washington after basic in a cool, crisp and clean environment in the Pacific Northwest, seemed to be the remedy to clear all recruits of sickness incurred in weeks of the induction process. The conclusion was reached that the miseries at the tender age of 18 were even worse that those just experienced at the age of 85.

The Heritage of Washington County Books are still available from me at $64.20 in Chipley and $72 when mailed. Call 638-1016 or e-mail: perry1000@bellsouth.net.

See you all next week with a story on my 1944 Vernon High School Class Reunion on April 20, exactly 69 years since graduating.

Doolittle Raiders hold final reunion

When my sister-in-law, Teena, the widow of my late brother Clyde Wells, said she wanted to take Jack to the see the Doolittle Tokyo Raiders and I was invited to go along, I had to do a little background study on the Raiders. Jimmy Doolittle was a familiar name, and I knew it had to do with aircraft and World War II.

Because preparations for the secret flight and bombing mission of the Doolittle Raiders took place at what was then known as Eglin Field, that area has been the site of the reunion of the surviving men for 71 years. When Okaloosa Walton Jr. College was begun 50 years ago in April 1963, the name Raiders became their school mascot, symbolized by a fox. This is a reference to the careful planning and cunning adaptations that were used to carry out the highly secret mission of the then Army Air Corp. Participants were chosen by volunteering for a "dangerous secret mission." They did not know the target destination until the planes were loaded on the ship and the raid on Japan mainland was underway.

Sixteen B-25 twin engine bombers that had been secretly retrofitted by removing all expendable equipment to allow room for each plane to carry extra fuel, 10 five-gallon rubber containers for manual fuel addition. Guns were removed, and broom sticks painted to look like guns were placed in the turrets.

The plan was to launch from the aircraft carrier,

USS Hornet, bomb mainland Japan, and fly on to land in China. The plans changed when the carrier encountered a fishing boat which Doolittle thought might have alerted Japanese officials of their presence, so he ordered the attack to begin immediately, 600 miles farther from their anticipated launch. This would still allow them to reach their target zone if no errors in navigation or evasive measures occurred.

More information on this raid that changed the course of WWII can be found on the web page www.DoolittleTokyoRaiders.com.

Last week marked the 71st annual reunion of the Doolittle Tokyo Raiders, and only three of them remain. Lt. Col. Richard E. Cole, Lt. Col. Edward J. Saylor, and Staff Sgt. David J. Thatcher were all at the ceremony held at what is now Northwest Florida State College. All three of them, all in their 90s, were at this, their final reunion. Also on the stage was Col. Bud Day, Presidential Medal of Honor recipient, who was incarcerated in the Viet Nam prison with Bob Dole. The ceremony not only honored the Tokyo Raiders but also celebrated the 50th anniversary of the college and dedicated the permanent exhibit commemorating the heroic efforts of the Tokyo Raiders. It was held in the state-of-the-art arena on the campus of the college. The permanent exhibit is located in the lobby.

Lt. Col Saylor spoke for the group and presented five $2,500 scholarships from the Doolittle Raiders Foundation to current students of NWFS. He spoke briefly urging the students to use the attributes of dependability, innovation and success exhibited by the Raiders.

Since Esteena Krye Wells has served for 18 years on the Board of Trustees or The Foundation Board for the college, we were able to have VIP seats. What an honor to be in the presence of such heroes representing a turning point in WWII when Japan was advancing across the Pacific. The Tokyo Raid changed the dynamics of the war, forcing Japan to defend its homeland. It gave America a badly needed morale boost. Its influence on the course of the war was not realized until later.

After the ceremony, we visited the Armaments Museum on Eglin AFB, where all kinds of air craft and weapons are housed for public viewing. The three raiders were appearing there later for autograph signing.

We ate a late lunch at Nick's on Highway 20 beside Choctawhatchee Bay east of Niveville. Trey Nick, the proprietor, is a third-generation family member to operate a restaurant on the site. His grandfather and his father were there before him. His family also operates a restaurant in the Blue Water Bay Subdivision near the Mid-Bay Bridge. Although other dishes are on the menu, who would pass up an opportunity to eat seafood directly from the bay? Trey Nick owns his own boat and catches much of the shrimp, oysters and fish he serves. The others are bought from local fishermen. Bob Dole is one of the celebrity clientele who frequent this unpretentious establishment where world class seafood is the order of the day. It's just a short drive for excellent food and fast service. Thanks, Teena, for a good day!

Letter to the EDITOR

Dear Editor,
We had some major water and sewage problems at our home in the Bonifay city limits. Unfortunately, this occurred over the weekend. We had most of the water and sewage backing up in the home and needed the city of Bonifay to help us locate these lines and stop the flow into the home. We called the only number found anywhere, and it just rang off the hook. No answering machine and no emergency service number was available. We contacted Mr. Cloud, our mayor, at his home for assistance when unable to reach Mr. Merrell. Thankfully, Mr. Cloud had a contact number for Mr. Merrell. Mr. Merrell was able to send a crew right on out to help us.

I am sorry that I had to contact them over the weekend for help and that it was an inconvenience to them.

But I greatly appreciate the assistance in this matter.

We still do not know why the City of Bonifay Water and Sewage Department does not have an emergency number. But we hope that they will get one and at least list it on the monthly bill so this does not happen to anyone else that may be in the same or similar position.

Again, thank you to Mr. Cloud and Mr. Merrell and the crew that assisted us.

Thirsty Turtle fined for unlicensed alcohol sales

From Staff Reports

CHIPLEY — The Washington County Sheriff's Office, in collaboration with Florida Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco, reported thousands of dollars in fines have been assessed against a Washington County business for unlicensed sale and service of liquor.

According to a sheriff's office news release, investigators received information that the Thirsty Turtle Tavern in Caryville was illegally selling liquor to customers.

During an inspection, investigators discovered advertisements for the sell of liquor displayed. In addition, bottles of liquor, wine and Jello shots were found at the business.

The establishment was assessed $4,000 in fines. Failure to pay the fines could result in the revocation of the Thirsty Turtle Tavern's license.

The WCSO asks that anyone with information on illegal activity contact them at 638-TIPS (8477) or tips@wcco.us.

Hooked on Outdoors

There are generally two indicators of spring's arrival, the budding of pecan trees and a little bird that goes unnoticed flying all over town.

Pecan trees usually are the last to leaf out of all the trees we have in this area. They began showing signs of leafing out two weeks ago. After watching these trees for years and hearing all the other indicators of when spring is going to arrive, I believe the lowly pecan tree is the last word when it comes to cold weather. When they start putting on leaves winter is over.

Not far behind is a bird that flies all the way here from South America just to spend the summer. Before the Europeans came to these shores and built houses with chimneys they would live in hollow trees.

These are not your typical birds that you see at your feeder or perched on a tree limb or power line. They instead live only in chimneys. You never will see one sitting on the ground or in a tree. When they feel the need for rest they return to their chimney. They build their nests in chimneys and raise their families in chimneys.

They are called chimney swifts. There are several swifts in the United States, but the chimney swift calls the eastern part home during the summer. In October, when northern birds such as robins and cedar waxwings head south the chimney swift also heads south, to South America.

In Alabama we called them chimney sweeps because people thought they swept the chimneys clean. When I was growing up all the houses had big tall chimneys and the little black birds would circle their chosen chimneys and drop in just as it got dark.

They would build a nest of sticks and saliva and attach it to the side of the brick the chimneys were constructed of. Today most people cover their chimneys to keep these birds out. This is a shame because they eat more insects in a summer than that truck you see spitting out poison can kill in three.

So the next time in your busy day you hear a chattering overhead take a few minutes to look up and watch one of nature's premier insect catchers at work. You will usually see from three to 10 of these birds following each other and chattering their little heads off.

FWC to permanently waive license requirement for harvest of nonnative, invasive species

By AMANDA NALLEY

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission on Wednesday at its meeting near Tallahassee discussed waiving the commercial and recreational bag limit and the recreational license requirement for divers harvesting lionfish using certain gear.

In August 2012, the FWC put a temporary rule in place that waived the recreational fishing license requirement when targeting lionfish with a hand-held net, pole spear, Hawaiian sling or any other spearing device designed and marketed exclusively for lionfish. This temporary rule change also removed any bag limits when recreationally or commercially harvesting lionfish. Before the change, recreational anglers could not catch more than 100 pounds of lionfish without being required to have a commercial license.

The temporary rule change expires Aug. 3.

The Commissioners will finalize the license waiver and the bag limit removal at their June meeting in Lakeland.

Lionfish are a nonnative, invasive species that negatively impact Florida's native saltwater fish and wildlife. Currently, the most effective method of removing lionfish from Florida waters is by spearing or using a hand-held net. Removing the license requirements and bag limits will increase lionfish harvest opportunities.

FWC updates permit guidelines as gopher tortoises start springtime maneuvers

By DIANE HIRTH

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission approved revisions to its gopher tortoise permitting guidelines April 18 at its meeting near Tallahassee. The guidelines are based on stakeholder input and designed to be consistent with the updated Gopher Tortoise Management Plan approved in September 2012.

Updated permitting

ON THE WEB

For more on gopher tortoises, go to MyFWC.com/GopherTortoise.

guidelines provide adequate financial planning for the long-term management of gopher tortoise recipient sites, stipulations for the capture of tortoises for relocation when using a backhoe, and criteria to define when to suspend, revoke or not renew an authorized gopher tortoise agent permit.

This action comes during the time of year when gopher tortoises begin their springtime maneuvers through Florida's open canopy forests and sandy areas. Tortoises are on the move in search of fresh greenery to eat after emerging from winter dormancy in their deep burrows.

"Ever since the 2007 approval of the original Gopher Tortoise Management Plan, the FWC has worked closely with stakeholders to improve and revise both the gopher tortoise permitting guidelines and the management plan," said Deborah Burr, the FWC's gopher tortoise management plan coordinator. "Conservation of gopher tortoises and their burrows that shelter other species is our long-term goal, so they always will be part of Florida's landscape."

Gopher tortoises live in all of Florida's 67 counties, preferring high, dry, sandy places such as longleaf pine forests, oak sandhills, pine flatwoods and coastal flatlands and dunes. Their burrows can be recognized by the half-moon shape of the entrance, which curves at the top.

The gopher tortoise is listed as a state threatened species, and it is against the law to harm gopher tortoises, their burrows or eggs. Generally, it is best to leave a gopher tortoise undisturbed, unless you need to move it off a highway. Then it should be placed immediately on the other side of the road and pointed in the same direction it was traveling.

Chipley falls to Jay 8-6 in district championship

CHIPLEY — The Jay Royals defeated the Chipley Lady Tigers 8-6 to win the Class 1A Rural District 2 Softball District championship Thursday night in Chipley.

The Tigers were first to score, when Sara Kaye Compton's hit deep to right field brought home Broylee Pooser, who had hit on a single when she was second to bat in the 2nd inning.

The Royals surged ahead in the bottom of the second, turning a 1-0 deficit to a 4-1 lead, beginning with Camile Driver's score on a Chipley error. Destiny Herring crossed home a few minutes later on Harley Tagert's single. Chassity McCranie returned home on Michaela Stewart's line drive single, then Tagert added a 4th run off of Ashlyn Geck's double.

Driver scored on a pitcher error in the bottom of the third to give the Royals a 5-1 lead, but Chipley rallied in the top of the fourth, beginning with Mallory Dean's leadoff triple, which Dean brought home on Sarah Gilbert's RBI to second. Gilbert crossed home plate following Kari Waldrip's line drive across third base.

Kara Bush hit one deep into outfield with the bases loaded. The ball was nabbed by a Royals outfielder at the fence, but not before Waldrip and Bush scampered back to home to tie things up 5-5.

The tie was short lived, however, as Stewart and Olivia Wright both added runs for Jay in the bottom of the fourth, giving the Royals an edge they would not relinquish.

Paige Carter added Chipley's final score in the 5th, scoring after Sara Kaye Compton walked after being struck by a pitch.

The Royals' Taylor Moore added the final run of the game, capitalizing on her lead-off single then coming home on Bayleigh Upton's line drive single.

Jay will host a region semifinal game while Chipley will play at the District 1-1A championships, to be held May 7-11 at Vero Beach Sports Village.

CHIPLEY — Chipley's Lady Tigers trounced the Northview Chiefs 7-1 on Tuesday in the second round of the Class 1A Rural District 2 Softball District Tournament, in Chipley.

Chipley went on to face the Jay Royals on Thursday in the district championship game, also played at Chipley High School.

Jay defeated Baker 6-1 Tuesday in Chipley to move on to the district championship game.

The Chiefs finished their year with a 14-1 regular season.

Northview pitcher Misty Doran threw fast and hard, but seemed to have trouble keeping the Lady Tigers on home plate.

Chipley pitcher Mallory Dean tossed six scoreless innings, with the Northview squad only getting on the scoreboard in the bottom of the seventh when Angel Lathan made it home following a scramble on an unsuccessful bunt by Ariel Holland.

The rest of the evening belonged to the Tigers. Chipley's Sarah Gilbert scored in the first inning on a double by Lexi Helms.

In the third inning, Chipley's Sara Kaye Compton walked after being struck by an errant pitch, then a deep centerfield drive by Sarah Gilbert moved Compton to third and Gilbert to second.

Doran struck out Kari Waldrip, but Chipley's Kara Bush scored two RBIs with a single to centerfield bumping the Lady Tigers' lead up to 3-0.

Doran walked Braylee Pooser in the fourth inning, then Pooser ran home on Dean's double.

On the next pitch, Compton walks after being hit, again, then steals second when a pitch goes astray while Gilbert is at bat.

Later that same inning, Waldrip's single RBI brings Compton home to make it 5-0.

Kendal Daniels knocked one over the fence in the sixth inning for the only home run of the game, giving the Tigers a 6-0 edge over the Chiefs.

The Tigers scored again in the top of the seventh, when with the bases loaded, Gilbert's hit deep to right field was nabbed by a Chief outfielder, but it was enough for Paige Carter to steal home.

Help for stuttering DVD available at Holmes County Public Library

Special to the Times-Advertiser

BONIFAY — Books and DVDs produced by the 66-year-old nonprofit Stuttering Foundation are available free at the Holmes County Public Library.

Parents eagerly anticipate the moment when their child first begins to talk. But for some parents, it is a time of anxiety because their child struggles to get words out.

As many as five percent of preschool children nationwide have repetitions and prolongations of sounds severe enough to be of concern to their parents.

The DVD in English and Spanish, "Stuttering and Your Child: Help for Parents," helps parents detect stuttering and take action toward helping their child and is available at most public libraries. Some libraries have an older video format.

Produced by the nonprofit Stuttering Foundation, the film describes what kinds of stuttering young children may exhibit, how parents can help at home, and the role of a speech pathologist in evaluating and treating children who stutter.

"Stuttering remains a mystery to most people. Watching a young child struggle to speak can be devastating. This DVD is designed to reassure parents and families that many preschoolers stutter, that they can be helped, and how parents can play a vital role in this process."

— Jane Fraser
president of the Stuttering Foundation

gist in evaluating and treating children who stutter.

"Stuttering typically begins between the ages of two and five," says Barry Guitar, Ph.D., professor and chair of Communication Sciences at the University of Vermont in Burlington.

"It may begin gradually or suddenly, and many of these children outgrow their disfluencies naturally. However, if a child continues to stutter for several months, or appears to be frustrated by it, parents should seek assistance."

Guitar appears in the DVD with other nationally recognized experts in stuttering: Peter Ramig, Ph.D., of the University of Colorado at Boulder, Diane Hill, M.A., of Northwestern University, Patricia Zebrowski, Ph.D., of the University of Iowa, and Kristin Chmela, M.A., also of Northwestern University.

These experts address common concerns that parents have about their child, such as how to help the child at home and whether to seek the advice of a speech pathologist.

Strategies parents can use to help reduce stuttering are given throughout the DVD and include reducing the number of questions they ask the child, focusing on taking turns during conversations, and making time to read or talk with the child in a relaxed manner.

"Parents are relieved to discover that they are not alone and that other parents share their concerns," says speech pathologist Kristin Chmela.

"Stuttering remains a mystery to most people," notes Jane

Fraser, president of the Stuttering Foundation. "Watching a young child struggle to speak can be devastating. This DVD is designed to reassure parents and families that many preschoolers stutter, that they can be helped, and how parents can play a vital role in this process."

A library that will shelve them can contact the Foundation at 1-800-992-9392, e-mail info@stutteringhelp.org, or visit www.stutteringhelp.org or www.tartarmudez.org.

7 TIPS FOR TALKING WITH YOUR CHILD

1. Speak with your child in an unhurried way, pausing frequently.
2. Reduce the number of questions you ask your child.
3. Use your facial expressions and other body language to convey to your child that you are listening to the content of her message and not to how she's talking.
4. Set aside a few minutes at a regular time each day when you can give your undivided attention to your child.
5. Help all members of the family learn to take turns talking and listening.
6. Observe the way you interact with your child.
7. Above all, convey that you accept your child as he is.

RELAY, RAIN OR SHINE

Holmes County cancer relay marches on

BONIFAY — The day was dark with bone-chilling rain, but that didn't dampen the spirits or determination of dozens of participants, teams, volunteers and survivors who braved the weather to participate in this year's Relay For Life of Bonifay's main event on Friday.

"Cancer doesn't sleep and doesn't care about rain, so we're willing to fight cancer rain or shine," said event chairwoman DeAnna Oldham. "We've received a tremendous amount of support from the community, and it is amazing that we've had such a good turnout even with the weather being as it is."

Even with the frigid conditions and continual rain, almost a dozen tents were erected by dozens of volunteers while entertainment continued, with almost two dozen cancer survivors and almost 100 total participants.

"It is beyond amazing at the level of support that has been shown this evening," said Kim Castriotta with the Florida Division of the American Cancer Society. "It was so moving and so emotional to see this level of support and dedication from such a wonderful community like this. Words fail to describe how beautiful it is."

FFA, garden club teach behind-the-scenes agriculture

Special to the News

Donna Keith, ag teacher and Future Farmers Association advisor at Vernon High School, attended the March Vernon Garden Club meeting and asked the club to become a community partner with the FFA, which was approved by a unanimous vote.

The first joint project was for the club to financially and physically support FFA members in a project of teaching first-graders about agriculture at Vernon Elementary School.

Six teams of FFA members and Garden Club members went to the elementary school on six days and made presentation to two classes of first-graders each day.

Those presentations were "Farmers Love the Land," by Amber Riley, Samantha Church and Nicole Middlemass; "Peanuts to Peanut Butter," by Dixie Mainor and C.J. Priest; "The Exploding Cheeseburger," by Sy Seley, Clayton Riley and Jordan Basarab; "The Adventure of Cob's Potato," by Lynn Barnes, Stephanie Gipson and Jimmy Stray; "Beefy Bingo" by Taylor Stone, Tony Dodd and James Walsingham; and "Pyramid Power" by Trystan Jackson and Dalton Gibson.

Through these presentations, the FFA members were able to teach the VES first-graders about agriculture and why food would not be available if it weren't for farmers, and also that food does not just magically appear in the supermarkets.

Vernon Garden Club members who assisted the students were Connie Bland, Peggy Adams, Margaret Chesnut, Rhonda Dickinson, Pam Cates, Patsy Morris and Regena Carnley.

Troop 39 Scouts work at state park

Special to Extra

Boy Scout Troop 39 of Chipley began work on a service project at Falling Waters State Park, cleaning up, re-designing and improving the existing "Butterfly Garden" that is located along the path that leads to the waterfall. The work is part of LIFE scout Nickolas Butler's Eagle project. Work began with clearing out the weeds that have grown up over time and construction on a new raised boardwalk to make access and maintaining the site easier. Fellow scouts and volunteers pitched in to get things started. Supplies for the project are coming from on hand materials at the park as well as materials donated to the park by Townsend's Building Supply in Chipley.

No known cure for the Yakety-Yak syndrome

A few months back I was so sick I had to go see the doctor. That alone indicates the condition was rather serious. I do not like going to the doctor because you have to sit in the waiting room with sick people. I never know what contagious diseases are lurking in the shadows of that doctor's waiting room.

Out to Pastor

My condition progressed to the point where the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage told me to go to the doctor or else. I never want to deal with her "or else." I have lived as long as I have lived and have enjoyed the health that I do have because I have not found out her "or else."

Since I do not have health insurance, every time I go to the doctor it comes out of my own pocket. Recently my pockets have not been very deep. Regardless of how shallow my pockets may be, doctors know how to penetrate to the very depths of my pockets with their special scalpel.

The result of my visit to the doctors was that I had double pneumonia and bronchitis. Simply put, I was sick. He gave me a prescription to fill and then said I should spend at least the next two weeks in bed resting.

I was in such a state of mind that it sounded like a good idea to me. Of course, I made him write it out as a prescription so I could show it to my wife so she would believe me that I'm in bed because I'm sick not because I'm trying to avoid my chores.

The first couple of days I spent in bed hardly conscious of anything around me. I am not sure if I ate during those days are not. I have no recollection of anything conscious during those days.

By the beginning of the second week, I was strong enough to get out of bed, put on my bathrobe and get back in bed and rest. It was not long before I could actually put on the bathrobe, go out into the living room, sit down in my easy chair and watch TV.

I have never watched as much TV as I did during those several weeks of recuperation. I am not saying there is anything wrong with TV, just that there is not that much right with TV anymore. I did not know how bad TV was until I watched it for about two weeks. During this time I was too sick to read and so settled down to watching TV, that is between naps.

I would set a program and leaned back and within two winks of my left eye I was sound asleep. When I say sound asleep, I mean my sleeping was very sound, I did not know what was going on around me. Occasionally I would pierce the world of consciousness and see what was on TV. Then I would fall back into the delightful world of unconsciousness.

After a few days of this, I was able to stay in the conscious world a little bit longer and consequently I was watching TV a little bit longer. The thing I found about TV is that TV dominated by chatterboxes.

My ears were beginning to have its fill of chatter. I do not believe my ears were created to handle such a steady stream of incoherent verbiage. All day long, my ears were bombarded by noise coming from the mouths of people who had no idea what they were saying. I say that because, if they knew what they were saying and were hearing what I was hearing, I do not think they would be saying it so people could hear.

The TV world has been taken over by a hostile terrorist group known as talk shows. Does everybody in the world have a talk show? I have never seen or heard so much talking all of my life. After all, there are only 26 letters in the alphabet, how can people come up with so many words?

The airwaves are filled with news talk shows, celebrity talk shows, cooking talk shows, sports talk shows, religious talk shows, talk shows of every variety you could think of and some you would not even think of. When I say variety, I am referring to the title of the talk show. Once you get beyond the title, everything is the same.

The only skill one needs to have for a talk show is, open your mouth and let verbiage flow uncontrollably and the more incoherent the better.

Between sneezing and blowing my nose and coughing uncontrollably, I watched some of these shows. Who in the world is watching these shows? Somebody must be. The only reason I was watching them was that I was so sick I could not do anything else. Maybe that is their audience.

When I got to the place that I could read without my eyes watering too much, I read what the Bible has to say on the subject. "And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you" (1 Thessalonians 4:11 KJV).

I have come to a somber conclusion; more people talk than listen, which is why the world is in the state it is in. I call it the Yakety-Yak syndrome of which there is no known cure.
