Zephyrhills/Dade City Edition

Urban leaving seat on Zephyrhills council

By Zack Peterson
zpeterson@cnewspubs.com

It was 45 minutes to work and 45 minutes back.

Since taking a job in Hernando County last year, Tim Urban would spend 90 minutes a day on the road, a grind that he has decided to give up. Urban, 44, is planning a move to Hernando, meaning he will have to surrender his seat on the Zephyrhills City Council.

It all started last November when Urban took the job in Hernando County. The former assistant principal at Zephyrhills High took a job as manager of professional development for Hernando County Schools. Then came the long commutes back and forth, forcing Urban to stretch his resources between two counties.

Finally, Urban choose between the two, knowing he couldn't continue on with both.

"For about a year and a half, I was a council member," Urban said. "I represented the people of Zephyrhills when it came to setting policy and when it came to approving programs for the city."

Tim Urban's last day on the Zephyrhills City Council is July 1.

However, Urban felt it was necessary to live in the Hernando County community for his new position because of "the nature of the work."

As the manger of professional development for Hernando County, Urban will oversee training in the education system there.

"I enjoy my new position; it's going to be a new challenge," Urban said. "It was a tough decision, but it's going to be a new chapter in my life."

Urban's resignation will take effect July 1. The city will hold a special election to replace him.

Budget may drain last of county-run pools

Pasco residents suffering through the summer's heat will likely have fewer locations to cool off, if budget projections are correct.

Pasco County budget director Mike Nurrenbrock said the county will be able to avoid major layoffs and closing any of its libraries, but must stop operating the last two public pools to do so. The remaining facilities are at the Land O' Lakes Recreation Complex on Collier Parkway and at Veterans Memorial Park in Hudson.

The county's Parks and Recreation Department's director Rick Buckman said the decision to recommend the closings was a hard one.

"We stopped operating two pools last year and here are the last two," Buckman said. "We don't want to close the pools, but we've learned more people use the parks instead of the pools. We'd rather close facilities that aren't used as much."

Last year's budget would have forced the county to close Hercules Aquatic Center in Zephyrhills if it had not been transferred over to the Zephyrhills Police Athletic League (ZPAL). Financial concerns made the county reverse the deal and the facility at 38110 CR 54 in Zephyrhills has remained closed since January.

Pasco is giving the property over to the school district, which owned the land in the 1980s.

"We are looking into what the best options are for (the land)," said Chris Williams, the school districts' director of planning. "We could operate it as a pool for the high school swim teams, but the savings there won't offset the operating costs."

The Grove Park Pool in New Port Richey was also closed last year.

The remaining two pools made about $39,000 each year, but cost about $328,000 to operate. The decision was made easier for Buckman and the department as the remaining two facilities need about $100,000 worth of repairs. The parks department has lost more than 30

Changing this world

Packing meals for the hungry a big hit at Wesley Chapel Toyota

By B.C. Manion
bcmansion@cnewspubs.com

It was hot and loud, but no one was complaining.

Indeed, hundreds of hands — in all shapes and sizes — were busy packing rice, soy powder, dried vegetables and dried vitamins into small plastic bags, destined to feed hungry people in other parts of the world.

The volunteers, estimated at more than 200, took part in a Change This World meal-packaging event coordinated by Wesley Chapel Toyota.

Those helping out on Sunday, June 26, included dealership employees, vendors and customers as well as area residents and volunteers from community groups, schools, churches and local businesses.

Change This World is a non-profit organization based in Orlando that aims to provide meals to those who are malnourished or dying of starvation. It partners with groups across the United States to package meals that are distributed around the world.

Eric Johnson, director of corporate and community relations for Wesley Chapel Toyota, was ecstatic about the turnout.

"There are lots of things that people can do on a Sunday afternoon, but they chose to come here," Johnson said. "We have a lot of families here, working together. A lot of community groups. They know they're going to make a difference."

The event's goal was to pack 40,000 meals, and when Johnson announced the group had reached the midway point, a cheer erupted.

Scott "Scooter" LaVancher, a sales associate at the dealership, was among those pitching in.

"This is awesome," said LaVancher, who kept busy lugging 50-pound bags of soy powder from table to table, replenishing bins that were being quickly emptied by the volunteer meal-packers.

"I put this up on my Facebook page," he said, which spurred several of his friends to come out and help.

Extension looks to dispel myths about local wildlife

By Kyle LoJacono
klojacono@cnewspubs.com

Pasco County Cooperative Extension director BJ Jarvis has heard almost every myth when it comes to snakes, spiders and other native species, so she created a camp to teach kids the truth about Florida's wildlife.

She helped start the summer Kids Kamp program six years ago, which kicked off this year with a class on snakes and spiders.

"We wanted to give the kids a chance to get their hands in the dirt and spend some time with their environment," Jarvis said. "We want kids to know what to do when they encounter a snake or a spider. Some people are terrified of snakes and they don't have to be. We wanted to dispel some of these myths."

The day started with the kids learning about spiders and finding some of their webs around the Extension office. Then they moved back inside to see reptile specialist Jim Mendenhall's critters.

Mendenhall brought 14 snakes, a gopher tortoise and a Gila monster for the children to see. Most of the animals can be found in Florida, while some come from other places in the country and world. Some, like the tortoise and Gila monster, are endangered.

"I do these classes to show kids there isn't any reason to be afraid of these animals, but they need to respect them," said Mendenhall, who displays his animals each year at the San Antonio Rattlesnake Festival. "I tell them they shouldn't go and pick up any of these animals to be safe, but enjoy them for what they are."

Mendenhall brought all six of Florida's venomous snakes: diamondback rattlesnake, pygmy rattlesnake, timber rattlesnake, water moccasin, copperhead and coral snake.

The kids were allowed to touch some of the nonvenomous animals, something Dade City resident Nathalie Sawczuk was less than eager to do.

"I don't really like snakes," Sawczuk said.

"They just aren't my thing because when I was little there was a baby black racer in my yard that freaked me out. My friend (Gracie Wagner) made me touch it."

The children ranged from ages 8-12 and came from across east Pasco, Lutz and even Polk County.

"I came to one last year," said Lutz resident Kyle Storch-Dolcelli. He then added, Several of the kids at the Pasco Extension camp find out just how long this shed snake skin is.

Gopher tortoise is an endangered species. They provide homes for 360 other animals.

"The snakes are really cool. My favorite was the black racer. We have them in our backyard."

Jarvis said the theme for the camps change each week.

"We have some on a lot of different topics from trees, to sewing, money management. Just everything we teach here at the Extension office," Jarvis said. "We throw a little learning in each day with a lot of fun."

The program runs from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. each Wednesday until July 27 at the Extension office, 6702 SR 52 in Dade City. The cost is $5 per kid, but classes are limited to the first 20 who sign up. For more information on the program, call (352) 518-0532 or visit <http://pasco.ifas.ufl.edu>.

Trio purchases Plantation Palms Golf Club

By Zack Peterson

zpeterson@cnewspubs.com

For years, Plantation Palms Golf Club, a rolling green surrounded by marshy wetlands, stout cypress trees and blossoming reed willows, has been under the control of Plantation Palms Homeowners Association.

Now, Plantation Palms Golf Club is under the ownership of MJS Golf Group, a collective of three Native American business owners looking to give the course a new and highly defined profile.

Mitch Osceola, Jayson Ray and Steve McDonald bought the property from the homeowners association recently after years of searching for a suitable course. The purchase price was not disclosed.

"Our business had been looking for years for a golf course," McDonald said. "But nothing fit until Plantation Palms. When we saw how well maintained everything was, we knew it was the one we wanted to go after."

According to McDonald, the homeowners association put the course on the market because "gold course ownership wasn't their specialty."

The MJS business trio's history travels much further back though.

All were raised within their respective tribes, with Osceola a native Seminole in Florida; Ray part of the Klamath Modoc tribe in the Northwest and McDonald growing up with the Prairie Band Potawatomis in the plains of Kansas. Despite their differences, the men ultimately found golf to be their life's passion.

After years of involvement with the sport, McDonald and Osceola met in 1997, introduced to one another by Osceola's brother, Max, a member of the Seminole Tribal Council.

Later in 2002, McDonald and Osceola met Ray, and the ideas for business collaboration began to brew.

"We kind of all had the same aspirations and dreams of entering into a business together," Ray said. "The tough part was scrapping up the money to be owners."

But before the MJS business trio that came together in 2005, Ray founded the First Nations Golf Association nonprofit organization in 2002.

Described as "a golf association for Native Americans" by McDonald, the foundation of the FNGA provided some of the initial business experience the trio would later need to use with Plantation Palms.

Throughout the years, the trio hosted multiple tournaments, traveling across the entire country to do so.

"We've hosted events in Washington, Arizona, New Mexico, Minnesota, California, Mississippi and Oklahoma," McDonald said. "We've been everywhere."

McDonald explained that across the four corners of the country, there are 463 federally recognized Native American tribes.

"Of those 463 tribes, 220 own casinos, and of those 220 casinos, 60 own golf courses that are associated with casinos known as 'destination resorts,'" McDonald said.

What makes Plantation Palms so special, according to McDonald, is that "Plantation Palms is the first individually owned golf course by three independent business men, not casinos."

But, as members of Native American tribes, MJS intends to use the support of the nearby Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino as a "market advantage" to attract more gamers.

"We've got big ideas for Plantation Palms that will help the HOA (Homeowners Association) grow as well," Ray said.

So far, the MJS business trio has reshaped particular aspects of the course to make it more player-friendly.

"We've changed the fairways by making them narrower, smoothed it out. We're growing the rough up, and we're taking out a couple of bunkers," Ray said.

McDonald explained he, Ray and Osceola go out and make modifications to the course during the workday.

"We're a real hands-on ownership," McDonald said. "What people may not realize is that Mitch, Jayson and I are going out there and helping with the changes to the course."

"We're not afraid to get our hands dirty or our feet in the mud."

For now, the owners look to connect with the community by offering a series of benefit memberships, Golf Associations and quality golf instruction.

But the future is fair game.

"Right now our goal is to offer a fun golf experience that is all about 'family, fun, food and golf' coupled with customer service and superior playing conditions. We couldn't be happier," McDonald said.

"We've only owned Plantation Palms for six weeks, but eventually we'll host celebrity tournaments, Pro-Ams and senior tournaments. Any business that wants to have a great tournament or outing, we're there for you," McDonald said.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Historian sheds light on spots from Blanton to Ehren

By Kyle LoJacono
klojacono@cnewspubs.com

This week's addition will look into how Blanton, Dade City, Darby, Denham, Drexel and Ehren go their names.

(1) BLANTON is located north of Saint Leo and Dade City and includes the area between St. Joe, Lake Lola, Blanton and Ramsey roads. It is named after Jesse Blanton, an early settler from Georgia. He moved to the area with his wife Martha Howell and built a log cabin east of what is now Blanton Lake.

(2) DADE CITY'S name came from Fort Dade, named after Maj. Francis Langhorne Dade, who fought in the U.S. Army and was killed by Seminoles at the start of the Second Seminole War. The fort was located near the center of the city today in east Pasco County along US 301.

(3) DARBY is in the area around Darby Road on both sides of I-75, north of Wesley Chapel and just west of San Antonio. The area is most likely named after an early settler in the area, John W. Darby. He moved to Pasco with his wife, Olinda Bradley. The area is sometimes called St. Thomas and Amelia.

(4) DENHAM is now part of Land O' Lakes and Lutz and includes the area around Denham Oaks Elementary. It is named after a black fireman who worked on the same train line as William P. Lutz, an engineer with the Tampa Northern Railroad whose family later names the town of Lutz.

(5) DREXEL, located in the area around where Drexel and Tower roads cross west of US 41 in Land O' Lakes, was named by Edward Stotesbury to honor Anthony Joseph Drexel, a financier and philanthropist who lived in the area from 1826-93.

(6) EHREN includes the communities around Ehren Cutoff in Land O' Lakes east of US 41. At one time the area included what is now Connerton. The area was named by Frederick and Louis Müller, who owned a local sawmill. The German immigrants named the area after the word in their native language that means place of honor.

For additional information on these areas and how they got their names, visit www.fivay.org.

Musical instruments to help students in Havana

The Florida Orchestra, as part of its cultural exchange with Cuba, has initiated a donation drive to collect musical instruments and accessories for the 300-plus students enrolled in the Amadeo Roldan Conservatory in Havana. Orchestra musicians will be giving master classes at the conservatory during the last week of September and will be taking the donations with them.

The orchestra is accepting donations of well-maintained student instruments or professional instruments in good working order, as well as a variety of needed string and wind instrument accessories for the conservatory. The local Sam Ash Music Store has joined as a partner and donated instruments can be dropped off at 13133 N. Dale Mabry Highway in Tampa. Donations can also be made to the orchestra's administrative offices in downtown St. Petersburg.

For information about the cultural exchange, visit www.floridaorchestracubatur.com.

Physical Therapy In Sports

GOLF HIGHLIGHT FROM YOUR PHYSICAL THERAPIST

According to the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA), awareness of proper posture and the importance of fitness and flexibility are just as important for weekend golfers as they are for professional athletes. Most athletes, including golfers spend thousands of dollars each year on new and improved equipment, but the most important piece of equipment is the human body.

Golf Conditioning By Your Physical Therapist
 There has been a significant increase in injuries among professional golfers, primarily because of the increased physical stress and intense training associated with the sport. Strength, flexibility, and endurance are just as important as exceptional driving distance and keen putting skills.

It is now the norm, not the exception, for professional and non-professional men and women golfers to work with physical therapists to improve these factors. For golfers to improve their swing, it is vital that these programs be tailored to their individual skills. There are certain types of training that may actually hinder - not help - athletes. What works for someone else may not work for you!

Keeping Injuries Away
 Professional golfers make it look easy, but the golf swing is actually one of the most difficult and complicated movements in all of sports, requiring stability in some joints and flexibility in others. The ability to coordinate motion, strength, and function throughout the swing play a large role in preventing injuries. A better swing means a more accurate ball strike, greater distance, and less stress on the muscles and joints.

Our physical therapists work with individuals in all sports. We have observed that recreational golfers often complaining of spine-related injuries, including upper and lower back, shoulder and neck pain. Leisure golfers attempt to swing with the speed and force of professional athletes, but did you know that with each swing 7 to 8 times a golfer's weight is directed into the spine?

With this kind of force, it's easy to damage discs and strain muscles. Multiple core stabilization exercises are critical for golfers. Call us today and see how you can improve your game (and your swing)!

Vocational/technical offerings to change

By B.C. Manion
bcmanion@cnewspubs.com

Students will have more choices for technical and vocational training at Wiregrass Ranch and Land O' Lakes high schools and fewer at Wesley Chapel and Pasco high schools in the coming year.

The district has cut the business and Diversified Cooperative Training programs at Wesley Chapel High and the cosmetology program at Pasco High, according to Rob Aguis, director of community, career and technical education for Pasco County Schools.

The business and Diversified Cooperative Training programs were cut because of a lack of student interest in the programs, said Carin Nettles, principal at Wesley Chapel High. The school's television production and automotive classes are much more popular, she said.

While Wesley Chapel and Pasco high schools have lost programs, the district will be starting the Academy of Culinary Arts at Land O' Lakes High and creating an Academy of Medical Professions at Wiregrass Ranch High.

Officials at Land O' Lakes and Wiregrass Ranch high schools are enthused about the expanded opportunities for students.

At Land O' Lakes High, construction crews are working to complete the Academy of Culinary Arts which will operate in a new 18,000-square-foot building.

The program will feature specialized kitchens, including a climate-controlled bakery/pastry kitchen.

In culinary, we offer Culinary 1, 2, 3, 4 and will integrate National ProStar and ServeSafe curriculum and industry certifications," Aguis notes in his e-mail.

At Wiregrass Ranch High, the Academy of Medical Professions will include the Certified Nursing Assisting Program and the Emergency Medical Responder program.

"Wiregrass Ranch has had a very successful health program here for the past few years," said Robyn White, an assistant principal at the school.

White noted that the planned Pasco-Hernando Community College campus next to Wiregrass High, coupled with the new Florida Hospital Wesley Chapel, will open the door to many new possibilities for students.

"I really look forward to building those relationships," said Lisa Jones, a registered nurse who oversees the medical programs at Wiregrass Ranch High.

The medical academy will have Health Science 1, Health Science 2 courses for all of the students in that program. It also will have Nursing Assisting 3 and Emergency Medical Responder 3 for students in the different specialty areas.

The program also will have Medical Skills and Anatomy and Physiology classes, Aguis said in an e-mail.

The EMR program helps to prepare emergency responders, such as paramedics, police officers and firefighters, White said.

"I think we're going to be able to reach more students," Jones said.

Rich Batchelor, assistant principal at Land O' Lakes High, said the school decided to do a "soft opening this year" because construction is still being completed.

Since the program will be housed in a new building, officials didn't want to take any chances with unforeseen construction delays, he said.

While the program will be starting slow, Batchelor said he expects it to be the first "really big academy" in the county school district. Ultimately, he said, it will have about 400 students.

"A lot of schools with academies, they draw from the kids within their boundaries," Batchelor said. This one will be drawing students from around the district.

During its first year, Batchelor expects the program to have about 100 students, with roughly one-third of them coming from outside of the school's boundaries.

The positions lost at Pasco and Wesley Chapel high schools were caused by district budget cuts, Aguis said.

Wiregrass Ranch football camps

Wiregrass Ranch football coach Jeremy Shobe will lead a camp at the high school, 2909 Mansfield Blvd. in Wesley Chapel, for those in sixth through 12th grades July 25-29 from 8 a.m.-12 p.m. for $60, which includes snacks and a T-shirt. There will also be a camp for kids in kindergarten through sixth grade Aug. 1-4 from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. for $50.

"The camps provide young athletes the opportunity to develop their fundamental football skills and techniques in a fun and exciting environment," Shobe said. "Players will develop important traits of good sportsmanship, leadership, respect for each other and the game of football. This camp is designed to improve each player's performance with emphasis on individual skills and fundamental team play."

Daily activities include time in the classroom, teaching individual skills and responsibilities for each play's position and terminology. Players will be grouped by position. They will also be tested in the 40-yard dash and pro-agility drills and flag football competitions. Tackling will only be performed on tackling dummies.

Those interested should bring tennis shoes, cleats, a towel, extra clothes, a water bottle and a gym bag. The camp is open to the first 60 players who sign up. The deadline to register for the first camp is July 22, and July 29 for the second. To reserve a spot, call Shobe at (813) 571-7271 or email him jshobe@pasco.k12.fl.us.

Football camps in Land O' Lakes

Pasco Health and Fitness presents Speed, Agility and Strength Training Saturday football sessions July 9 and 16 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Land O' Lakes Recreation Complex on Collier Parkway.

The sessions focus on core strength development, increased dynamic movement ability, proper footwork and how to prevent injuries.

The cost is $45 with portions of the money going to the South Pasco Predators youth football and cheerleading program. Those interested should call (813) 949-4120.

Flag football training camp

The Land O' Lakes Recreation Complex on Collier Park will have flag football training camps each Sunday morning until July 31 from 9-10 a.m. The program is for boys and girls ages 5-17. Those interested should RSVP by calling (813) 508-1807 or email info@pascoyouthsports.com.

WCAA travel baseball tryouts

The Wesley Chapel Athletic Association's baseball program will have player tryouts for all AAU teams in mid-July. The tryouts are to find the top players to fill the 8U, 9U, 10U, 11U, 12U and 13U age group teams. All interested players who would like to try out for a position should email baseball@wcaafa.org.

Wesley Chapel Cowboys football

The Wesley Chapel Cowboys youth tackle football program, which plays at Wesley Chapel District Park, is currently registering players for its upcoming fall season, its 10th anniversary. Players, ages 12-14, interested in signing up should visit wcaa.countmein.com. Players must not weigh more than 165 pounds. The season is 10 games long with playoffs at the end. All equipment and uniforms will be provided.

The Cowboys will, for the first time, host the 2011 Gulf Coast Youth Football Conference Super Bowl, either at Wiregrass Ranch or Wesley Chapel high school in November. The program has won four championships during the last six years. For additional information on the Cowboys, visit www.leaguelineup.com/wcaacowboys.

Athlete of the Week

Ethan Petry's power lifts squad to title

Ethan Petry, 6, had a power surge that helped the Wesley Chapel Athletic Association's Division A Marlins win the regular season District 6 championship. He had six home runs hit over the fence during the season, including five in the final two contests. The Marlins went 13-3 en route to the title this year. Petry, who attends Veterans Elementary in Wesley Chapel, was selected to the National League all-star team that will compete in the state championship in Freeport starting July 2. ### POOL, from page 1 percent of its budget during the last three years, a total of $1.8 million slashed.

"If we don't close the pools this year, it will take away from the entire parks system," Buckman said. "We can't justify putting the money in to fix the pools and then maintain them at the cost of closing several other facilities."

Pasco County Administrator John Gallagher agreed with Buckman at a recent board meeting.

"Back when we had this great idea to build all these pools, (other options) really weren't there," Gallagher said. "It was a good public service."

Gallagher explained the large number of people with pools or access to ones run by neighborhoods and groups like the YMCA has reduced the demand for county-run facilities.

"People are more affluent now," Gallagher said. "Back when we had the great idea to build these pools, you didn't have that."

Families may have more ways to beat the summer heat, but high school swimming and diving teams have limited options. Both Sunlake and Land O' Lakes use the Land O' Lakes pool, while Hudson and River Ridge use the Veterans site.

Pasco County athletic director Phil Bell said it, "Would be disappointing if it happens. We would have to scramble fast to find places for those teams to compete. I'm not sure if there is a backup plan right now."

Zephyrhills' teams had used Hercules Aquatic, but have already worked out a deal to use the pool at the East Pasco Family YMCA in the city, according to Bulldogs athletic director Bruce Cimorelli.

There is less certainty in central Pasco. "(We have) no plan at this time," said Land O' Lakes athletic director Karen Coss. "It is my understanding that if the pool closes, it will be in October. The good news is we don't have any home meets in October. The bad news is, we still won't have a place to practice. Hopefully something will be available, but it will certainly put us in a tight spot."

Sunlake athletic director Russ Schenk said the situation is similar with the Seahawks.

If approved, the pools would close in October. The commission could find a non-profit group, such as the YMCA, interested in operating them.

Tampa Metropolitan YMCA officials have said they are not interested in managing Hercules Aquatic, but would consider allowing public access to its pool at the YMCA in Zephyrhills. There is no YMCA facility in Land O' Lakes or Lutz, but there are ones in Trinity and Northdale.

One of those was 8-year-old Lauren Kelly of Spring Hill, who accompanied her mom to the event. The girl did her part by scooping soy powder from a 50-pound bag into a plastic bin on a table.

Charlene Heckenbach and her husband, Roland, of Wesley Chapel, said they bought a car at the dealership in April and wanted to do their part.

Leo and Karen Thaler of Chancey Road Christian Church in Zephyrhills said they read a notice about the event in the newspaper and were motivated to come out and help.

Alicia Molan, who works at the dealership, said she was inspired to get involved by her faith. "I wanted to help bless others," she said.

Chris Tanner, one of the organizers of the event for Change This World, said the turnout was impressive.

"We have more than we need for volunteers," Tanner said. "That's always a good thing. The people here are awesome," he added. "Very enthusiastic."

Tanner also noted that it is unusual for a business to take the leadership role in arranging a meal-packing event. Typically, a church or school is the primary sponsor, he said.

Kalee Taylor, another organizer from Change This World, commented on the obvious can-do attitude and team spirit among volunteers.

"Everybody wants to take part. Everybody just kind of picked out their own job and stuck to it," Taylor said.

Among the volunteers was a group of more than two dozen administrators and staff members from Wesley Chapel High.

Marcy Maxwell and Principal Carin Nettles were at the end of that table's assembly line - busily packing the meal packets into boxes.

"We're in partnership with Wesley Chapel Toyota," Maxwell said. "We thought it would be a great way to help the community."

manager, sponsored the high school's table, Johnson said, noting the dealership had to raise $10,000 to put on the event. It did that by seeking sponsorships from dealership vendors, local businesses and others.

Even before Sunday's event had concluded, Johnson was already thinking about having another meal-packing event.

Next time, he wants to pack 80,000 meals.

"For the next one, I'm going to look for schools and churches to partner up with us," he said.

And, Johnson doesn't plan to stop there. "My vision, my goal, is that I'm going to do a container event. It's going to take the whole weekend, but we would do 200,000 meals.

"We fill a container with boxes, and then ultimately travel overseas with it and deliver it to the people — actually go to Africa," Johnson said.

'Singing Policeman' performs Fourth of July weekend

By B.C. Manion
bcmansion@cnewspubs.com

Jennifer Cleary was with some colleagues at the Starbucks near Collier Parkway discussing plans for a Fourth of July celebration at Willow Bend Community Church when a man sitting nearby overheard the conversation.

When he heard them mention music, the man introduced himself and offered to help.

It turns out that this chance encounter at Starbucks involved Daniel Rodriguez, a former New York City police officer who gained national attention for his rendition of "God Bless America," after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

Rodriguez, known to many as "The Singing Police Officer," is the same man who has performed at the opening ceremonies of the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City, at such events as the Indianapolis 500 and the World Series and on virtually every national talk show including The Tonight Show, The Today Show, Late Show with David Letterman and Oprah.

He performs on stages throughout the world and has trained with Placido Domingo.

Rodriguez has an apartment in New York, but frequently visits Land O' Lakes because his mother lives here.

The tenor said he generally performs at a couple of community events every year because he enjoys sharing his blessings.

Cleary said Willow Bend Community Church is delighted that Rodriguez will be presenting a 5:30 p.m. mini-concert during its first 4th of July Family Fun Fest.

The public is welcome to the fun fest at 2541 Henley Road in Lutz.

Festivities, which will be from 2-8 p.m., will feature carnival-like games for kids, a bounce house, and entertainment. Refreshments also will be available for a nominal charge, said Cleary, director of the Children's Church at Willow Bend Community Church.

The idea is to give families a chance to enjoy the Fourth of July and to conclude the event in plenty of time for families to go watch fireworks elsewhere, she said.

In addition to that performance, Rodriguez also will be appearing during the 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. services on July 3 at Exciting Idlewild Baptist Church, 18371 N. Dale Mabry Highway.

The public is welcome to the services, which will have a "highly patriotic flair," said Nikki Somerville, an assistant to Ron Upton, minister of music and worship at Idlewild.

The service also will feature remarks from Capt. Scotty Smiley, the Army's first active-duty blind officer and its first blind company commander.

Free type II diabetes clinic

In 2010, 1.9 million adults older than 20 learned they have diabetes, and another 79 million people are pre-diabetic; showing the warning signs they will soon also have the disease. Diabetes is a silent killer causing complications such as heart disease, stroke, blindness and much more.

Dr. Peter Szakacs and the Foundation for Wellness Professionals will lead a clinic to help people prevent getting type II diabetes at The Seven Oak's Club House, 2910 Sports Core Circle in Wesley Chapel, on Wednesday, July 13 from 11 a.m.-1 p.m.

Space is limited and reservations are required. To sign up, call (813) 973-4747.

The Foundation for Wellness Professions is a nonprofit organization that promotes wellness and disease prevention through free community programs. Quantum Vitality Centres, a Foundation member, is dedicated to providing wellness care using natural methods without drugs
