Small pets need socialization too

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — Pets lead happier, healthier lives with tender loving care and attention from their humans, whether they are traditional domestics like dogs and cats, or other small pets, such as birds, hamsters or rabbits.

Most people understand dogs need regular socialization, exercise and walks, and most cats love to be petted and often play with toys, but so do other small domestics, said Janet Winikoff, education director at the Humane Society of Vero Beach and Indian River County.

Visitors to the local animal shelter lobby will be treated to the sight of fuzzy rabbits hopping about in “playpens,” getting a little bit of exercise and human interaction while they await adoption.

“Uncle Fester” likes to get frisky, moving about quickly around the legs of the volunteer playing with him inside the pen, stopping occasionally to nudge some small toy balls to a different part of the play area.

Flossie and Blossom are a little more subdued, peering inquisitively at volunteers who entice them with small carrot treats in hand.

There are currently seven rabbits at the animal shelter available for adoption, Ms. Winikoff said.

Usually a few months after the Easter holiday, quite a few rabbits are surrendered to the shelter, most of them having been purchased at pet stores on

Fishing heritage remains, methods, focus change

SEBASTIAN — The city of Sebastian has a rich history of locals fishing for their supper and their livelihood in both the Indian River Lagoon and the Atlantic Ocean, but times are changing, and the fishing industry is too.

A walk or drive along Indian River Drive in Sebastian gives visitors a glimpse of the fishing heritage of the city:

long docks with boats tied up, the smell of fish being prepared, but the amount of full time commercial fishermen has declined over the past 20 years.

With the help of the working waterfront grant, the city of Sebastian is trying to build a place for local fisherman to be able to thrive, but no one truly knows what shape the fishing industry will take in the future of Sebastian.

Indian River County Commissioner Wesley Davis said he believes there will always be fishing in Sebastian, but it may take on a different form.

“I think fishing has shaped the history and culture of Sebastian and the whole northern part of the county,” Commissioner Davis said.

“When you go down Indian River Drive, you can feel it and see it, even if you've never been there before. It's different than any other place on the eastern coast of Florida,” he said.

Fishing in the Indian River Lagoon may have slowed down, but Sebastian's easy access to the Atlantic Ocean through the inlet is another reason fishing will always be a part of the town.

“I think fishing is just as important today as it will be 25 years from now,” Commissioner Davis said.

Fishing has been the business of quite a few families in Sebastian, and four families in particular had long-standing businesses on Indian River Drive; the Semblers, the Mays, the Smiths and the Judahs, said Linda Colvin, daughter of the recently deceased James Coolidge Judah.

Mr. Judah, along with his father and brothers, opened Judah and Sons Fish Market in 1949, and it is the only business of the “founding four” that still exists as it did in the mid-1900s, on the same property and under the same family name, Ms.

After more than 50-years of fishing the Indian River, James ‘Coolidge’ Judah was still providing fresh fish to the public in spite of a constitutional amendment banning large net fishing in 1995. Mr. Judah, right, and his son James Robert Judah were taking orders in January 2004 for blues, mullet, sea spots, pompano and an occasional order for shrimp and scallops.

Colvin said.

Keeping the business open in the past 20 years has been difficult with changes having to be made to fit fishing regulations, and with her father’s passing, Ms. Colvin isn’t certain how much longer they will stay in business.

“We are the last one left on the water,” Ms. Colvin said.

“But the fact is we have bills to pay.

As long as we can keep paying our bills, we will keep the business open, I think, but we live in a different world now. I would just hate to see a bunch of condos go up,” she said.

Her son, Chad Colvin, shares his grandfather’s love of fishing in the Indian River Lagoon, said people’s mentality of consuming fish has

Law enforcement confiscates drugs, shuts down a meth lab

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

INDIAN RIVER COUNTY — The Indian River County Sheriff's Office Multi-Agency Criminal Enforcement Unit have been busy cracking down on criminal drug activity.

Within two days last week, search warrants executed by the MACE Unit led to the closing of an active methamphetamine laboratory in Vero Beach, the seizure of more than 300 Xanax pills, other drugs and drug paraphernalia and the arrest of four people.

As of press time, the three men and one woman arrested were incarcerated at the Indian River County Jail.

Sheriff Deryl Loar said agents from the Drug Enforcement Administration helped the MACE Unit clear out the methamphetamine lab, which was located on 444 Seventh Street in Vero Beach.

"Anytime we encounter methamphetamine labs, we are always worried about the safety of our men and women. Fortunately, with the help of the DEA, we were able to safely rid our community of this hazardous setup," Sheriff Loar said in a press release.

During the search of the home, Jerry Joseph Shelley, 32, 444 Seventh Place, Vero Beach, was charged with manufacturing and possession of methamphetamine. His bond amount is set at $40,000.

In addition, Stefani Buzzell, 35, Mr. Shelley's live-in girlfriend, was charged with manufacturing methamphetamine as was Mark Bohannon Jr., 39, who was listed as homeless. Ms.

Buzzell's bond amount is $50,000.

Mr. Bohannon was also charged with misdemeanor charges of possession of drug paraphernalia and an outstanding warrant added a charge of first-degree petit theft. His bond amount totals $33,500.

Detectives seized an undetermined amount of methamphetamine oil, along with methamphetamine lab equipment including muriatic acid, Drano, acetone, household lye, pseudoephedrine caplet, fuel, measuring cups, said Sgt. Eric Flowers, spokesman for the Indian River County Sheriff's Office.

On April 16, the MACE Unit executed a search warrant on 3456 Third Street in Vero Beach that yielded more than three hundred alprazolam pills, a half-pound of marijuana, three grams of fake LSD, and other miscellaneous drug paraphernalia.

Samuel Ellsworth Underwood, 20, 801 Vocelle Ave., Sebastian, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of a controlled substance, Xanax, and a misdemeanor charge of possession of drug paraphernalia. Mr. Underwood's bond amount is $23,000.

Sheriff Deryl Loar said the busts and subsequent arrests "are great examples of how our MACE Unit is working towards eradicating drugs in our community. We will not tolerate this type of activity in Indian River County."

"People in my generation, compared to when I look at my dad and my grandfather's generation, have such busy lives," Mr. Colvin said.

"Families don't gather as much as they used to. Used to be when you'd have a family reunion, you'd have a fish fry, or when you had a church social, you'd have a fish fry. People don't have the time now to go out and catch their own fish and cook it for supper. If they want fish, they go to a restaurant now," he said.

He sees the trend of charter and sport fishing growing and becoming much larger than full-time commercial fishing in the future.

Ms. Colvin remembers going out on the boat to fish with her father when she was younger and all the preparations that had to be done to the nets before heading out and after coming back with the day's catch.

"The main fish we caught was mullet," she said.

In the mid-1990s, the state imposed a ban on the style of net fishing Mr. Judah used and ever since it was enacted, Ms. Colvin said her father never went back out on the Indian River Lagoon, not even for pleasure.

"It was his life that is what he did and he loved it and it was gone," Ms. Colvin said.

Mr. Judah was originally from Holmes County, but came to Sebastian with his family at the suggestion of family friend, Archie Smith, one of the other fishing village founders in Sebastian.

In the plans of the city's working waterfront project on Indian River Drive is a small fishing museum inside the Fisherman's Landing building. While the world changes and the commercial fishing industry evolves with it, there should be a place to pay tribute to the ones who made their home and livelihood on the banks of the lagoon.

The importance of knowing how files are connected

This week, I thought we would talk about how everything in the computer is connected. By connected I don't mean by wires and other mechanical means, but internally, through the computer's filing system.

Often I hear people say that a particular file (picture or text) "is in my word processor" or "it's in my email program." That implies that the file in question can be accessed only with that particular program. Not so.

Let me explain; most programs on your computer are capable of opening different types of files. For instance, word processors such as Microsoft Word or Works Word Processor are for working with text files, while photo editors, such as Paint Shop Pro and Photo Shop are just the thing for working with pictures.

The files themselves are not stored within the program, they are stored somewhere on the hard drive available to any program capable of working with them. That means you can share files often times with many other programs. All you really need to know is where on your hard drive the files really live.

For example, "c:\users\owner\documents\filename.doc" is an example of a typical file name complete with its path on the hard drive. The path tells how to get to a files location on the hard drive.

Let's take a closer look: The c:\ indicates what disk drive the file is stored on. Each disk drive on the computer, your floppy drive (typically the "a." remember them?), your hard drive (c:), and your CD-Rom (typically d:), has a letter assigned to it. This is how to tell the computer what drive you are working with.

The next part of our path, "users\", is the first folder or directory.

Just like the manila folders you use in a file cabinet keep files organized, directories on your computer organize your computer files. Each directory is separated by a back slash (\) and you can have directories within directories.

In our example, the "documents" folder is in the "owner" folder, which is in the "users" folder, which is on the "c:" drive.

The last part of our path is the actual file name.

COMPUTE THIS
SEAN MCCARTHY

A typical file name comes in two parts, the name, separated by a dot and the extension. The name is what we call the file when we saved it (a fairly important thing to note when saving). And the extension tells the computer what kind of file it is so it knows what kind of program can open it.

Once you know the path to a particular file, you can access it from most of your favorite programs.

For instance, say you got a picture emailed to you and you want to use that picture in a letter you are writing with your word processor.

The first step in getting the picture into your letter happens when you save the picture from email. Make a note of the full path and file name when you save it and you can access it any time.

When you are ready to import your picture, use the insert menu (typical on most word processors) to load your picture. When the dialogue box comes up asking what file you want to insert, you can type in the file's full path and filename or just navigate to the file by double clicking. Start in the my computer window and double click the drive letter and end with the file name, if typing, separate your directories with back slashes and don't forget the three-letter extension after the dot. Then click OK. You should have your picture inserted into your letter.

As you can see, the path and file name is enormously important. So often I hear, "it's on my hard drive, but I don't know where" or "that file is in my word processor."

If you pay attention to what name and folder the file is saved under when you save it, you'll never misplace another file.

Rants & Raves

Got something to say?

Call the Hometown Rants & Raves line at

or e-mail newsfp@hometownnewsol.com.

Callers are asked to refrain from making slanderous statements.
Statements of fact will be checked for accuracy.

A rant and a rave

First a rave: The snowbird season is coming to an end and we will finally get out town back. What a pleasant thought.

Now, a rant: This past week while shopping in our local supermarket, I noticed the parking lot filled with out of state tags. In the checkout, snowbirds with carts overflowing, hoarding and taking their stuff back up north. The local pharmacy was overrun with birds changing their prescriptions to the northern pharmacies. It took two hours to get through on the phone to renew my monthly prescription. We all realize that the snowbirds help pay some bills here and keep people employed, but if they would only lose the abrasive attitudes maybe our attitudes would improve. A friendly wave goodbye to all the cars heading north with their rear bumpers dragging on the road.

For the writer of 'Save Money'

"Save Money" wrote, "I want to say that one trash day a week would be sufficient. It would save the county a lot of money. But there should be a separate day for recyclables too."

Somebody explain to "Save Money" the difference between garbage trucks and recycling trucks. Don't we already have a separate day for recyclables?

Questions about the rail road

I have been reading in the local papers all about the possible merger of two local fire departments. I do not have enough information to form an opinion, although it appears on the surface to offer a savings to the taxpayers. Today I saw a fire truck blowing its siren, flashing its lights crossing U.S. 1 heading east toward RR tracks. I could not help but wonder what will happen with the advent of the passenger trains hurtling through the Treasure Coast? Will there have to be a double set of plans to arrive at a fire, accident, etc. taking in the possibility of a train passing through? Even though one fire station is closer, it may be across the tracks. Will the trains have timely schedules which will be shared with rescue workers?

Will there be a mechanism to stop the train in case of a serious explosion (as NYC just experienced)? What will happen if there were to be an 'event' at the nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island? I believe these questions and more need to be inserted into the merger discussions.

An opinion on poverty

Wow, I just saw people on a Saturday protesting corporate welfare. Now I'm against both kinds of welfare, but when it comes to social welfare and the government allows young women with barely an education to have kids so they can get the child earned income credit... that's a bunch of garbage. They are just producing a new life and mouth to feed courtesy of the tax payer. On the corporate side, they're not good either, but let's face it, at least they provide jobs. Now with the so-called disability... most companies won't hire with former drug addicts, so they get a social security lawyer and then get disability income. They get that all mighty check and then they go sit at a bar. They can work. Cut off all welfare... especially the social part then we wouldn't have that much poverty in the cities. Move soup kitchens out of the city too and watch businesses move in.

Appalled at rants

Each time I read the "Rants and Raves" in the Hometown News I am appalled at the ones that reflect the utter disregard and compassion for various groups of people, (including those in need, youngsters, and certain ethnic groups). The April 4 issue contained possibly the most selfish one I have read to date.

The author of the rant to which I refer advocated keeping parks and libraries open by eliminating the budgetary support for the Women, Infant and Children program, low-income housing, Medicaid and schools. It is very difficult to believe that anyone could seriously advance such a mean-spirited idea.

A disgrace?

Well for those who voted for Mr. Obama, thanks a lot, he's killed the job market. He has brought on many cover ups and we are a disgrace to other countries. The working class can't find full time work. There's nothing free in this world. Freedom is paid by lives lost in war, all this brought on by people who want stuff for free but that stuff is from others who work. If you're only looking for handouts please don't vote, or at least educate yourself on who your voting for. Our country is in deep trouble. Socialism doesn't work. Oh, by the way, our government just loaned another foreign country a billion dollars. Wow when we here in the U.S. can't afford to feed our own people. Then you have the Latinos living in a house with multiple families and you'll see them driving vehicles that the average American can't afford. Oh, and

Recognizing entrepreneurial spirit close to home

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

TREASURE COAST — Last month, a local man with ties to citrus operations received an entrepreneurial award from the Indian River State College Foundation.

Ron Edwards was named winner of the Dan K. Richardson Entrepreneurship Program's 2014 Entrepreneur of the Year during a dinner held at Indian River State College's Richard Center at the Mueller Campus in Vero Beach on March 20.

The Dan K. Richardson Entrepreneurship Program was established by the nonprofit Indian River State College Foundation to promote awareness and appreciation of the free enterprise system, a press release said.

"Throughout his career, Ron Edwards has demonstrated exceptional vision and the ability to launch new companies at just the right moment."

Hospital announces new chief executive officer

For Hometown News
NewsFP@hometownnewsol.com

SEBASTIAN — Sebastian River Medical Center announced that Kelly Enriquez has been appointed as the new Chief Executive Officer of the hospital. Before accepting this role, Ms. Enriquez served as Chief Operation Officer, responsible for managing all aspects of hospital operations, employing financial and clinical performance responsibilities.

Prior to the Chief Operation Officer role, Ms. Enriquez served as Assistant Administrator and Director of Physician Outreach at Sebastian River Medical Center. Ms. Enriquez was graduated from the University of Central Florida in 2000, receiving a Bachelor of Science in Health and Public Affairs. She later continued her academic career at Nova University graduating with a Master of Science degree. Ms. Enriquez presents herself with over ten years of healthcare and management experience.

"We look forward to continue working with Kelly," said Frank Sherako, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Sebastian River Medical Center. "Since initially joining the hospital, she has demonstrated her commitment and continued service to the Sebastian community."

"Sebastian River Medical Center is fortunate to have such a talented individual as Kelly develop and fare well within our own facility," said Dr. Michael Venazio, Chief of Staff, Sebastian River Medical Center. "She will be a strong leader who supports our clinicians and all employees in our work to provide patients with quality, compassionate care."

"Over the last several years I have enjoyed growing our hospital capabilities, adding services in response to our community's needs. It was tremendously satisfying in a span of a little over a year to celebrate the opening of our interventional cardiac catheterization lab as well as leading the process to attain designation as a bariatric surgery center of excellence," said Kelly Enriquez. "My goal is to confidently navigate our hospital through the current challenges facing healthcare providers but to consistently keep the focus on what is most important: our patients."

Fully accredited by the Joint Commission, Sebastian River Medical Center is part of Community Health Systems and offers surgical services including orthopedic, sports medicine, thoracic oncology and endovascular procedures, with over 100 affiliated physicians.

company with citrus groves in the three major growing regions, Indian River, Sunridge and Gulf districts. Some of the land is also used for cattle grazing. The company owns more than 41,000 acres of land in eight counties including Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, Charlotte, Pasco, Hernando and Hillsborough counties.

The Entrepreneur of the Year award recognizes an individual with an outstanding entrepreneurial spirit as well as business and community achievement.

Entrepreneurship is an integral part of developing communities and allowing economic prosperity to flourish, said Edwin R. Massey, president of Indian River State College.

“Throughout his career, Ron Edwards has demonstrated exceptional vision and the ability to launch new companies at just the right moment,” Mr. Massey said in a press release.

“In addition to highly-successful entrepreneurial ventures, he has grown the Evans’ Properties agricultural and land management business for more than 27 years, always attuned to the citrus industry and issues impacting his native Florida,” he said.

Mr. Edwards has also directed several highly successfully business ventures. He launched the South Beach Beverage Corporation (SOBE brand) and Blue Buffalo, LLC, a super-premium nationally distributed pet food company, as both a founding and managing member of each company.

Mr. Edwards serves on the board of directors of accounts receivable financing companies LSQ Holds and Viewpost, and was named chairman and CEO of AquaFiber Technologies Corporation, which developed a patented process that cost-effectively removes nutrients, bacteria, metals and toxicity from surface waters and industrial wastewater, a press release said.

On a local level, Mr. Edwards is the chairman of the board for St. Edward’s School in Vero Beach.

impulse, but these rabbits were brought in prior to the holiday, she said.

“We don’t want people coming in and just getting the animals just because they’re cute. The cuteness and the novelty of it wears off quickly, but we still want to find homes for them,” Ms. Winikoff said.

Rabbits can live to be 10-years old and bringing an animal home is a very important decision and not one to be taken lightly, said Danielle Martinez, one of the shelter’s rabbit experts.

Their care includes nail trimming, hair grooming, social activities and exercising, she said.

“They need to be talked to, cuddled and played with, just like any other pet,” Ms. Martinez said.

Rabbits can even be trained to stay in a cat harness and can go for little walks like dogs, Ms. Winikoff said.

Unfortunately what happens to some rabbits is after they grow a little and reach sexual maturity, they become a little more aggressive and their owners don’t handle them as much, leaving them in the cages for hours on end, which isn’t healthy, said Sue Kelly, another rabbit expert on staff.

Rabbits are also more sensitive to heat than cold, so keeping them outdoors in Florida isn’t a good idea, Ms. Kelly said.

The animal shelter can help with information caring for many types of animals, and at any given time, the shelter can be housing many types of domestic and exotic animals, all looking for forever homes, Ms. Winikoff said.

“Even though they are smaller pets, you can have a wonderful, loving bonded relationship with a rabbit, same as you would with a cat or dog,” she said.

The Humane Society of Vero Beach and Indian River County is located at 6230 77th St., Vero Beach. For more information about adopting an animal, volunteering or education classes at the shelter, call (772) 388-3331 or visit www.hsvb.org or www.facebook.com/hsvbirc.

let’s not forget seeing the ones on welfare who go and get personal beauty stuff done on them.... Hmm, but yet they have no good vocabulary except “street language.” So, for those who are just looking for that handout and want to be lazy, stay out of the polling booth. Heck if you can’t take care of yourself, then why would you cast a vote?

Who’s to blame?

I agree with the letter writer that gas prices are way too high. But I think he is barking up the wrong tree. Most of what we pay at the gas pump is for taxes. Our government does not allow new drilling on public land or at sea, thus creating a shortage and higher prices. EPA regulations add to drillers’ and refineries’ costs. Other oil producing countries are hostile to us and charge more than a fair price.

Music is way too loud

I totally agree that the music in stores is way too loud and sometimes trashy. This is a sign of rudeness on the store owner’s part. I think they play loud music so one cannot focus on the better prices or the best deals. Perhaps this is why some store workers are so unhappy listening to that noise all day or evening.

Fantastic flight demonstrations on the way

Blue Angels to headline Vero Beach Air Show

By Jessica Creagan
jcreagan@hometownnewsol.com

VERO BEACH — Vero Beach is often called “paradise,” and next month the aircraft flying in the heavens above the city will be a bit more “angelic.”

The elite U.S. Navy flight demonstration squadron, the Blue Angels, have been confirmed as the headliners for the recently revived Vero Beach Air Show, scheduled for May 10-11 at the Vero Beach Municipal Airport, organizers said.

Federal budget cuts kept the team on the ground for much of 2013, and finances for this year also look tight, but Vero Beach managed to snag one of 35 scheduled Blue Angel appearances in 2014, said Jan Binney, event spokeswoman.

“The Blue Angels are flying again,” Ms. Binney said with excitement.

The squadron will be flying their signature brightly painted blue and gold Boeing F/A-18 Hornets aircraft, zipping through the sky at speeds up to 700-miles per hour and appearing in formations where jets fly as close as 18-inches from one another.

The pilots and full maintenance and support crew will participate in community outreach, sign autographs, visit schools and special needs children during their stay in Vero Beach, Ms. Binney said.

Advance tickets for the Vero Beach Air Show are available online or at select locations, including C. J.

Horoscopes

ARIES - March 21/April 20

No matter how challenging it may be, slow down and give yourself time to reflect, Aries. You're always on the go, but it's important to slow down every now and then.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Taurus, steer clear of added responsibilities this week, as you already have enough on your plate. Some alone time might be worth its weight in gold.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

You're not easily overwhelmed by intense people or things, Gemini. Use this resilience to sail through a particularly challenging task that gets sent your way this week.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

There is no need to figure out all of the answers in the next few days, Cancer. If something is on your mind, then take your time to weigh all of your options.

LEO - July 23/Aug. 23

It could be challenging to be playful and lighthearted this week, Leo. Take every situation seriously and give ample thought to each and every decision you must make.

VIRGO - Aug. 24/Sept. 22

Make the best of a delicate situation at work, Virgo. Although you may not be ready for more responsibility, your reaction will be noticed by your bosses.

Space Coast to host super boat grand prix

By Amanda Hatfield Anderson
Ahatfield@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD — Get ready to hear the roar of several dozen super boats, as they race one another along one of Florida's most famous beaches.

On Wednesday, May 14 through Sunday, May 18, "Thunder on Cocoa Beach," the Space Coast's Super Grand Prix, will storm the beaches of Port Canaveral to world famous Cocoa Beach, with a forecast of heavy excitement and high energy.

"Super Boat International's John Carbonel brought a race here in 1991," said Kerry Bartlett, race director. "After learning of that race, we set out to find out why they never came back."

Mr. Bartlett said he and his team were shocked to find out that no one asked the organization to return for another race; however, Mr. Bartlett was determined to bring a bite of the Super Boat Grand Prix back to Florida's Space Coast.

"So, we had our first race in August 2010," he said. "We had 16 boats, and the racers absolutely loved our venue."

This year will mark the fifth race Space Coast Super Boat will host, with the hope of bringing many more in the future.

Beginning on Wednesday, May 14,

The P3-11 makes the turn around the marker during last year's event.

tens of thousands of onlookers will flock to Brevard's beaches for an extended weekend of fun and excitement. There will also be several opportunities for both VIPs and regular admission attendees to meet the different race teams participating in this year's "Thunder on Cocoa Beach."

"This is a great opportunity to see the boats up close," Mr. Bartlett said. "People can take some pictures, meet the race teams and get their autographs. There will also be live music, vendors and a bikini contest on Saturday."

Boats will enter the water on Sunday, May 18, at noon for the first race of the day, with the second race following at 2 p.m.

The race begins and ends at Shepard Park in Cocoa Beach, with turn No. 1 taking place at Lori Wilson Park and turn No. 2 at the Cocoa Beach Pier.

"We usually have more than 30 boats, but we are expecting more this year," Mr. Bartlett said.

But, knowing how unpredictable Florida's weather can be — especially this time of year — Mr. Bartlett and the rest of the Space Coast Super Boat team are confident that the weather will hold up just fine.

"As long as we can fly a helicopter, there will be a race," Mr. Bartlett said. "We are fortunate that, in May, if it rains, it only does for 15 minutes or so."

With tons of action and fun in the sun, "Thunder on Cocoa Beach" promises to be a great time for people of all ages.

"This event has had a great economic impact on Brevard County," Mr. Bartlett said. "It fills the hotels with a lot of people, who are new to the area, and they get to see our great people and beaches."

"Thunder on Cocoa Beach" will take place on Wednesday, May 14 through Sunday, May 18 in Cocoa Beach.

VIP passes may be purchased for the event. Premium VIP passes are $74.97; Super Saver VIP passes are $59.97; Sunday VIP passes are $24.97; and Kids VIP passes are $19.97.

General admission on race day is free.

Cannon's Restaurant and the Victory Center at the Indian River Mall. If purchased in advance, general one-day admission tickets are $20 for adults, $10 for children ages 12-15 or $8 for children ages 5-11.

Special discounted tickets for active and retired members of the military are available at the Victory Center until May 7. Tickets for reserved seating and access to the Barnstormer Chalet are also available online.

"The Blue Angels, they're just spectacular, and we're very excited, but we have a lot of other great acts coming too," Ms. Binney said.

The SHOCKWAVE Jet Truck, which holds the Guinness world record for the fastest jet truck in the world at 376-miles per hour, will be demonstrated by the father-son team of Neal and Chris Darnell.

The SHOCKWAVE features three afterburning J34-38 engines totaling 36,000 horsepower and is an impressive sight to behold roaring down a runway.

The lineup also includes solo acrobatic pilots such as Skip Stewart, Patty Wagstaff, Rob Holland and Julie Clark. Wing walker Teresa Stokes and air show champion pilot Gene Soucy will also thrill audiences with their aerial stunts.

Scott "Scooter" Yoak will fly a reconstructed P-51D Mustang dubbed "Quicksilver: The Resurrected Veteran." The aircraft was built from more than 200 Mustang parts and products. The remanufactured parts are all handmade by Mr. Yoak's father, Bill Yoak, a master craftsman who died in 2013.

While the elder Mr. Yoak never served in the military, the aircraft he carefully assembled is his tribute to all veterans. The paint job on the P-51 sparkles with countless small stars representing veterans who fought for America's freedom, a press release on the aircraft's website said.

Another restored aircraft, a F4U-5N Corsair, will also take flight during the Vero Beach Air Show with pilot Dave Folk

The Corsair is one of the most famed fighters of World War II and was the first U.S. fighter aircraft to fly at 400 miles per hour in level flight. The aircraft was called "Whistling Death" for the distinctive sound its engines made in a dive.

Not only will planes and jet take to the airspace above the city airport, but so will a skydiving team, the "Lucas Oil Skydivers." The show features the American flag, MAV TV and Lucas Oil parachutes in a series of breathtaking jumps, a press release said.

There will also be static displays, a carnival-style ground atmosphere for families with a mobile rock climbing wall, a free fall ride, zip line, bounces houses and more, Ms. Binney said.

Helicopter rides will be available at varying times during the day.

"The gates open each day at 8 a.m., so get there early to enjoy the fun," Ms. Binney said.

The Vero Beach Air Show nonprofit is focused on honoring all who have served in armed forces, encouraging military recruiting, promoting Vero Beach and offering aviation education about military and civilian flight and aircraft. The proceeds from the air show will benefit the Veterans Council of Indian River County and the Exchange Clubs of Indian River, Treasure Coast and Vero Beach. The Exchange Clubs will use their portion toward the prevention of child abuse, a press release said.

Advance tickets are also available at the Piper Pilot Shop, Center State Bank, Marine Bank and Trust, Schlitt Services and Suncoast Bank. For online tickets or more information about the Vero Beach Air Show, visit www.veroairshow.com.

Highest score wins!

Every other January, the United States Golf Association revises The Rules of Golf. I would like to add my own set of rules for our game.

According to recent statistics from the National Golf Foundation, our game is not growing as we had hoped. In fact, we are seeing more golfers leaving the game than coming to it. With my new rules I hope to stop this downward spiral and make our game more appealing to the masses.

Golf is the only major sport where the highest score does not win. I believe that to be competitive with our other favorite sports we need to adjust our scoring methods. We need higher scores, not lower. We Americans seem to despise low scores. For instance, take a look at how popular soccer is here. I rest my case.

GOLF

JAMES STAMMER

My new rules for golf will get rid of our traditional system of counting the number of times we hit the ball and adding strokes to that when we do something wrong. With my rules, the highest score wins! You'll still need to count strokes, but only points awarded for playing the hole will be counted.

If you arrive at the course at least 30 minutes before your scheduled tee time, give yourself a point. If you hit a few balls or practice a putt or two before heading to the first tee, you get a bonus point. Arrive at the first tee with more than 5 minutes to spare before you're scheduled to tee off and you've earned another point.

You haven't even hit your first tee shot and you have the potential to be three points ahead of your lazy partners. Nothing beats a reward for being punctual.

When it's your turn to take the tee, if you already have your club selected, and a ball and tee in hand, give yourself another point. I love ready golf!

If you do not tee your ball up in front of the tee markers, you're entitled to a point. Take fewer than two practice swings and you'll be rewarded yet another.

If your drive lands in the fairway, you get a point. Longest drive in the fairway in your group gets you a bonus point. If you hit the green in regulation, that's another two points. Miss, but get on in few enough strokes to have a putt for par, and you've earned a point.

Of course, there have to be penalties for those bad shots. With my rules, instead of adding strokes, you simply subtract points. Hit a ball out-of-bounds- and you simply place the ball where it went out, and subtract a point. You may even get that point back with a great recovery and a putt for par.

A ball hit into a water hazard earns no point penalty. Why? Because you just lost that expensive ball. That is penalty enough!

We've all had those times when our best drive landed in a divot that some idiot ahead of us didn't bother to sand or repair. Not an easy shot and pretty crummy luck. With my rules, if you advance the ball to within 20 yards of the green from that lie, you get a bonus point. Hit the green with the shot, and you get another!

Now to make sure that no one else gets those bonus points, golfers will be happy to fill in their divots. The same goes on the green when putting over ball marks. If you have a ball mark in your way and your ball hits it and still goes in, you've earned a bonus point. Again, you'll be likely to fix more than one of those nasty scars just to keep anyone else from picking up that same bonus.

We all hate bunker shots. How many times have you taken two or three to get the ball out of one of them? With my new rules, you get a bonus point for every sand save. This should encourage you to practice those shots and work on that short game a little. Anyone seen leaving the bunker and NOT raking it, will lose a point from his or her score. Those things are tough enough already.

At the end of the day, you'll find yourself adding points and winding up with a score that resembles a triple-overtime NBA All Star game score. That should make everyone happy.

Now go apply my new rules, or even make a few up yourself and see if we can better enjoy our great game and bring a few more new golfers along for the ride. Just remember to put fresh batteries in your calculator.
