Changes to county’s recycling program promises dividends

Changes to the Monroe County recycling program that made local newspaper headlines last week will bring positive changes to Naval Air Station Key West’s recycling program.

According to the air station’s Solid Waste Manager, Helen Stanley, the changes are great news.

“We’ve preached a lot about separating recyclable materials,” she said. “However, the big change is recyclable materials no longer have to be separated.”

Waste Management Director Greg Sullivan, Monroe County and the air station’s waste removal contractor, says recyclable material will be manually sorted at a processing site in Broward County, Fla.

“We’ve been part of a pilot program for six months where the county’s recyclable materials were combined and trucked to a processing plant in Pembroke Pines,” said Sullivan. “There, a crew of about 150 people separate paper, plastic and glass. We didn’t want to make any announcement until we were sure this change was going to work.”

Waste Management coordinated with the air station over the past several months to investigate what impact

MyCAa spouse financial aid available at FKCC

There’s an old saying, “it’s not a matter of what you know but who you know” that gets you ahead in the world.

Sometimes a little bit of both can make a difference for an entire community.

This week Florida Keys Community College (FKCC) was approved as an educational site for the Department of Defense’s Military Spouse Career Advancement Accounts (MyCAA) program, which provides up to $6,000 a year of financial assistance to military spouses to pay for their education.

But local military spouses and FKCC might not have been able to celebrate this event if it wasn’t for a magazine article and a diving class shared with the college president.

JulieAnn Sabon, whose husband Justin works at NAS Key West’s Security Department, applied for financial assistance through the MyCAA Web site https://aiportal.acc.af.mil/mycaa and received notice that she was awarded $6,000 a year, for the next two years, to attain her

Fleet and Family Service Program, Commander, Navy Installations Command

The Fleet and Family Support Program marked 30 years of service to Sailors and their families July 9. On July 9, 1979, the first Family Service Center (FSC) opened its doors in Norfolk, Va. FSC San Diego opened its doors shortly thereafter.

In 1978 the Navy acknowledged that it was losing some of its very best people because of family issues. Then Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Thomas Hayward wrote that his No. 1 priority was to improve retention by improving family awareness and implementing a family support program.

Shortly afterward, the first Navy Family Awareness Conference was held in Norfolk. The conference was originally going to be called the Family Support Conference but organizers changed the name to spotlight their goal to develop resilient and self-reliant families, not dependent families.

The conference concluded the Navy was insufficiently attending to family needs and the programs and policies designed to support families were inadequate and fragmented.

“Back then, the chaplains and the commanding officer’s wife took care of everything,” said Kathy Stokoe. Stokoe joined the newly-opened Norfolk FCS as a volunteer. She was eventually hired and stayed on to make a career with the program, retiring in 2008 as Family Readiness Program manager in Washington. “The chaplains told us that they knew the problems Sailors were having, but they were only intervening,” Stokoe said. “They said educational programs, counseling for Sailors and their spouses would help them over the rough spots, and there would be fewer problems.”

Dr. Ann O’Keefe was the Navy’s first FSC director and attended the conference.

“One of the big misconceptions the early staff had to confront was that the FSC would work to retain people who didn’t belong in the Navy,” O’Keefe said. “In fact, we worked to keep good Sailors by acknowledging their strength. We set out from the beginning to provide proactive and educational programs that keep Sailors and families healthy and strong.”

Today, the Fleet and Family Support Program continues to deliver its core mission with a growing number of programs and services focusing on deployment support, crisis response, career support and counseling for individuals, families and commands. The Fleet and Family Support Program’s Facebook page is found at www.facebook.com/pages/Washington-DC-Fleet-and-Family-Support-Program/10586457742?ref=mf. The Twitter address is http://twitter.com/Fleet_Family.

“We have to be sure our customers are, and they are on social media sites,” said Kathy Korth, Commander, Navy Installation’s Family Readiness Program manager. “We need to join in the conversation that single Sailors and Navy families are having, so they are aware of how much the Navy values them and is prepared to empower them.”

Thirty years after its inception, O’Keefe recalls another difficulty in standing up the program.

“People thought it would be just another flash in the pan,” she said. “They said, why should I get involved? It will just go away.”

But, it did not go away.

“I hope that this has shown the Navy cares,” she said. “Yes, it’s part of retention, but it’s the right thing to do.”

O’Keefe describes her involvement with launching the first Family Service Center as the biggest, most wonderful part of her life.

British stomp the Conch Republic

America and Great Britain went to war again. This time, though, there were no guns and instead of meeting on the battlefield they met on the rugby pitch. The Key West Rugby Club took on British naval ship HMS Iron Duke’s rugby team at Bernstein Park in a friendly rugby match July 3.

Roughly 75 percent of the players on the Key West team were active duty military but nearly as many had little-to-no rugby experience.

Before the game both teams seemed to be in good spirits, shaking hands and getting to know their opponents. The stands were filled with more than 100 spectators, all of them cheering and chanting. No traces of bad feelings or ill will were evident as both sides knew that this was no more than a friendly match.

Once the starting whistle blew the smiles and laughter went away and both teams prepared for the 80-minute battle that would ensue. For the majority of the first half, both teams seemed to be able to keep the other in check. Anytime a team appeared to be in position to score the other team would find a way to stop them.

It wasn’t until there were only three minutes left in the half that Key West got their first break. A penalty by the British team near the try-line gave Key West an opportunity to get three points on a penalty kick. The kick was made by Sunset Lounge General Manager Steve Lynch and Key West went into the half with a 3-0 lead.

Things didn’t go as well for Key West in the second half and the team’s inexperience started to show. A penalty allowed the Brits to tie the game at 3-3 early in the second half. Soon after they scored a try and converted on the conversion goal and took a 10-3 lead. That try would prove to be the winning score. Key West would come within five meters of possibly tying the game with only two minutes left but a knock on stopped them in their tracks.

After the game, in a show of good sportsmanship, both teams cheered for the opposition and shook hands, ending a very even and hard-fought game.

Suicide Awareness
Tuesday, 10 - 11 a.m.
A 60-minute class designed to provide different methods to increase awareness of this prevalent issue. The class will also explore how participants can help those close to them by providing awareness and resources.

...goal of a nursing degree. The excitement of the news was short-lived, however.

"I asked about FKCC and was told it wasn't an approved facility," said Sabon.

Undaunted, Sabon picked up the phone and called someone she had recently become friends with through a diving class. That person was FKCC President Dr. Jill Landesburg-Boyle.

"I called her and said, 'I just received a $12,000 scholarship but FKCC isn't approved for the program!' She said she wasn't familiar with the program and took down all the information about MyCAA and said she would get back to me about it. I got the good news this week," said Sabon.

Boyle was happy FKCC could provide another educational service for the community.

"I always tell people if they want something at the college or need something, just ask me," said Boyle. "JulieAnn called me and asked why FKCC wasn't an approved site for the program and I asked my staff to look into it. They researched it and came back with an answer. It required JulieAnn to request FKCC as an approved school. She did all the work!"

According to Sabon, spouses who apply for the program will need to provide information about their military other-half. While Sabon received $6,000 a year for two years - the maximum amount of the educational benefit, some military spouses could receive less if the service member hasn't served in the military very long.

"MyCAA is a new program and spouses should apply as soon as possible because there's no guarantee that it will be around for long or if funding remains available," said Sabon.

A little knowledge combined with knowing someone willing to help turned into a life-changing event.

"A nursing degree here would've cost me $11,000 and that's without books," said Sabon. "What MyCAA means to me is that I'll be able to graduate from FKCC with my nursing degree by the time my husband transfers from NAS Key West in two and a half years."

According to Stanley, the air station's recycling program encompasses 70 recycling bins. Those bins were distributed around the various annexes to best collect recyclable materials in their respective bins.

"Since we don't have to separate recyclable materials anymore, we're going to redistribute the bins to other parts of the annexes where we should be able to increase our reach," said Stanley. "We won't need three individual bins behind a building for glass, plastic and paper. Now, we may only need one or two."

Areas of NAS Key West slated to receive recycling bins are the Navy Exchange on Sigsbee Park, the single Sailor barracks on Truman Annex, and the hangars and Seabee compound on Boca Chica.

"This change is really going to increase our recycling rates," said Stanley. "Waste Management will empty the bins wherever we want to put them."

NASKeyWest's recycling rates are on par with local recycling rates. According to NAS Key West Environmental Director Ed Barham, in 2008 the air station recycled 147 tons of waste from 1,649 tons collected.

"The amount recycled in 2008 set our baseline from which all future efforts will be measured," said Stanley.

"Knowing that baseline is an important part of NAS Key West's Environmental Management System (EMS). One of the primary objectives of our EMS is to reduce solid waste generation through increased recycling."

The one-container-recycles all change will make it easier and more convenient to recycle. Sullivan says there's more each person on the air station can do.

"Don't put recyclables in plastic bags," he said. "That slows up the sorting process. Also, try to buy your groceries in recyclable packaging and containers. For instance, the plastic orange juice containers are recyclable but waxed cardboard cartons aren't."

Food drive

The summer is heating up and so is the “Feds Feed Families” food drive campaign for children and families. The food drive will be held through August. Last year’s campaign “Fed by Feds” gathered 2,200 pounds of food for food banks, said Monroe County Coordinator AW1 (AW/NAC) James Davis. This year’s campaign goal has doubled, he added, because the campaign will go on for a month longer than last year. Collection areas will be at various locations around the bases and Davis said he is looking for volunteers to collect donations.

The campaign is asking for non-perishable food items, especially baby food, and hygiene products such as shampoo, soap and toothpaste to be given to local food banks.

Navy Lodges now offer guests ‘Breakfast to Go’

BY KRISTINE M. STURKIE
NEXCOM PAO

Navy Lodges guests can now get a light breakfast in the morning thanks to the Navy Lodge Program’s new “Breakfast to Go” Program.

“The ‘Breakfast to Go’ program has been rolled out to all Navy Lodges in the United States with outstanding response from our guests,” said Michael Bockelman, Vice President, Navy Exchange Service Command (NEXCOM) and Director of Navy Lodge Program. “By offering our guests a light breakfast in the morning, we’re giving them an even better value for their money.”

Guests staying in a Navy Lodge in the United States, such as San Diego, Calif., and Norfolk, Va., will offer guests a full continental breakfast each day. “Navy Lodge San Diego has already opened its expanded ‘Breakfast to Go’ room,” said Bockelman. “By offering our guests a continental breakfast in the morning, we estimate a family of four will save about $150 for a six-night, five-day stay.”

Beginning this fall, overseas Navy Lodges plan to give each guest a Welcome Bag. The Welcome Bag will consist of snacks, breakfast items, bottled water as well as information on the area all in a reusable cloth bag. Security (10-1) defeated CG Sector (9-1) in the Captain’s Cup Softball League Championship game June 30 at Sigsbee Park. CG Sector held a 16-7 lead going into the bottom of the seventh and final inning. With only three outs left in the ballgame, high winds terrorized CG Sector’s pitcher. The wind proved to be a major factor and CG Sector could not seal the victory. With Security hardly swinging at a pitch, CG Sector walked in nine consecutive runs. With two outs, bases loaded and the score tied 16-16, Security connected on a line drive single, past the third baseman, to score the final, game-winning run, ending the game at 17-16.

MWR would like to thank all the teams; FRC, USCG, OMD, VFA106, VFC-111, CBMU202, ATC, and JIATFS, for participating and displaying good sportsmanship throughout the entire season. We look forward to seeing you next season.

Security on top after championship game

CG Sector held a 16-7 lead going into the bottom of the seventh and final inning. With only three outs left in the ballgame, Mother Nature kicked in and high winds terrorized CG Sector’s pitcher. The wind proved to be a major factor and CG Sector could not seal the victory. With Security hardly swinging at a pitch, CG Sector walked in nine consecutive runs. E-Z summer-time moves

BY HENRY BAILEY
Director, Navy Household Goods, Southeast Region

In the world of moving household goods, the summer months are the busiest, especially the months of July through September. The new and recently implemented Defense Personal Property System (DPS) now allows all eligible shippers to set up their move online at www.move.mil. DPS replaces the former Web-based system SmartWebMove (SWM).

DPS allows you the opportunity to set up your move from the comfort of your home or anywhere you have access to the internet. DPS is available 24/7 and it eliminates the need to make an appointment with the local Personal Property Shipping Office (PPSO). Another advantage to using DPS is the quick and direct claims settlement by the moving company, or transportation service provider (TSP). Read all about your entitlements and responsibilities online at www.move.mil.

The key to any successful move is early planning and flexibility. If you are planning a move here are some tips on how to lessen the stress of moving:

For Outbound Moves

Immediately upon receiving orders to PCS, retire, or separate:
• Set up your DPS account online at www.move.mil and follow the on-screen instructions. Once your account is established online you can always come back and complete the application process.

U.S. 1 ramp resurfacing at Boca Chica

FROM NAS KEY WEST PUBLIC AFFAIRS

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) is working a new road project at the U.S. 1 ramps to and from Boca Chica Field. The purpose of the project is primarily to resurface the roadway and also includes widening the left and right shoulders of the ramps by five feet, and adding new sod along the length of the project. FDOT estimates the project will take four months and cost an estimated $561,000.

Drive Patterns for U.S. 1 Ramp

With Boca Chica Field at the bottom of each drawing, these maps indicate drive patterns while the Florida Department of Transportation performs work on the ramps to and from the air station.

DRIVE PATTERNS FOR U.S. 1 RAMP

Give yourself a little extra time to reach your destination. Follow all signs posted within the construction zone. Obey flagmen and law enforcement officials. Never drive or walk into a construction area.

"Based upon our discussions with FDOT, the impact to accessing and departing the installation will be minimal," said NAS Key West Security Officer Lt. Steven James. "We do not anticipate opening additional gates during this project at this time."

E-Z moves

- If you are not able to use DPS call your nearest PPSO for assistance.
- Get rid of unwanted items which could cause your shipment to be overweight.
- Plan early and submit your application at least three weeks prior to your desired pack out date.
- Be flexible with your pack out dates and be prepared to accept other dates if your first choice is not available.
- Consider the first week and the middle of the month for packing.

- Do not schedule anything else on your moving dates. You must be available between 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. on your packing dates and you should not have any other appointments.
- Failure to be available on your pack out dates could result in you paying for attempted pickup charges!
- Have permanent contact numbers and an e-mail address available. In case of a shipping emergency the TSP and the PPSO need to know how to contact you or a family member, before and after you have moved.
- Know the estimated weight of your shipment. A rule of thumb for estimating your household goods weight is 1,000 pounds per full room. For example, all the moveable items in a typical living room, kitchen, or bedroom may weigh 1,000 pounds for each room. Add 500 pounds for washers and dryers. Don’t forget to estimate any large items you may have in the garage, shed, or backyard.
- Have a list of high-value items, such as expensive oil paintings, collections and antiques. Give this list to the TSP and the PPSO for your file. Small high-value items such as cash, watches, important papers and jewelry should be hand-carried with you.
- If you are moving to or from base quarters you must advise the base security police to notify you when the moving truck arrives at the gate and you might be required to escort the movers to your residence.

If a problem occurs during your pack-out call the PPSO immediately for a resolution. If you have problems after normal duty hours, call the local command duty officer (CDO).

If a TSP representative says anything that conflicts with your online counseling or with the PPSO information call the PPSO for verification or clarification.

Sometimes the TSP may need to work beyond 5 p.m. and you are encouraged to remain flexible and allow the work to continue. If, however, your job is not finished by 9 p.m. you may ask the TSP to come back the next day to finish the job.

For shipments within the United States it is recommended that you exchange cell phone numbers or other contact numbers with the van driver. By staying in touch with the driver you will have current updates on the status of your shipment and better control over the actual delivery date.

When your shipment arrives at destination it will go into storage if the TSP or local PPSO cannot contact you within two hours for your delivery or storage instructions. To avoid unnecessary storage please contact the local PPSO as soon as you arrive at your destination.

For Inbound Moves

If you are expecting an inbound shipment:
- Contact the destination PPSO immediately upon your arrival and advise them of your current status. You must provide that PPSO with a telephone number for contacting you. If the TSP or PPSO cannot

Bash at the Beach

Good food, good music and fun for all ages

A father and son watch the rock climbing wall during MWR’s Fourth of July Bash at the Beach at Truman Annex. The event featured live music, food, games and give-aways.

Children slide down a waterslide in the water park area during the Bash at the Beach.

Army Sgt. Camilo Gonzales helps his son Christian start up the climbing wall.

Ashlee McCarten tries to toss a ring around a bottle in one of the many carnival-style games.
Brittany Howard is handed a bunny in the petting zoo which featured a three-toed sloth, ferrets and much more.

NAS Key West Commanding Officer Capt. Steve Holmes sits in the dunk tank and watches as a ball comes close to making him go for a swim.

Jim Maturr cooks the food.

Children jump around in one of the two bounce houses.

A young lady participates in the Cheeto toss. Whoever got the most Cheetos stuck on their head won a prize.
reach you within two hours of the shipment’s arrival, your shipment will be placed in temporary storage-in-transit (SIT).

If you want, or expect, a direct delivery you must ensure your TSP has your delivery address. You should also call the destination PSP to give your delivery information before the van driver arrives. Failure to do this could result in your property being placed in storage against your wishes.

Temporary storage entitlement expires after 90 days. If you need additional storage you must submit your request in writing to the PSP prior to the expiration of the 90-day period. Extension forms are available at the PSP. If you do not obtain written authorization for additional storage you will be billed for all excess storage related costs. Please note that being deployed does not give you a blanket authority for additional storage, you must obtain written approval from the PSP for each 90-day period of storage.

Remember, plan early and be flexible. No matter where in the world you may be, DPS and your local personal property shipping office will assist you in any way possible to help you have a smooth and successful move.

The Navy encourages active-duty Sailors to participate in a sexual assault study to assess the effectiveness of the Navy's Sexual Assault Victim Intervention (SAVI) program.

The Office of the Naval Inspector General (IG) is conducting the survey, which is available at www.ig.navy.mil/sastudy.htm. The survey was designed for active-duty personnel, is confidential, anonymous, and will be available for participation through Sept. 30.

Naval IG teams are also visiting installations around the fleet through the end of September. As part of the visits, they are facilitating focus group discussions to gain more insight from a fleet perspective, about the occurrences and command support during incidences of sexual assault. Each focus group will be composed of a cross-section of personnel and consist of approximately 20 people from various rank categories.

The Navy's SAVI Program is managed by Commander, Navy Installations Command's Fleet and Family Support Program. The Fleet and Family Support Program manages a wide variety of programs, including SAVI. These programs enhance Sailor readiness and family preparedness, directly contributing to mission readiness.

The Navy is the first of the armed services to have a dedicated program for sexual assault awareness, prevention, and intervention. Established in 1994, the program has recently shifted more focus toward prevention and is incorporating new initiatives based on civilian best practices and recent research.

“Sexual assault is a crime and will not be tolerated,” said Paul Finch, SAVI’s program manager. “It is a criminal act, incompatible with the Navy’s core values; it dramatically affects morale and operational readiness. Senior leadership is committed to an effective and responsive SAVI program in order to ensure prevention, quality victim care and response and to holding offenders accountable.”

In working toward this commitment, the Navy is sustaining a robust sexual assault prevention and response policy, identifying and eliminating barriers to reporting, ensuring that care is available and accessible to victims of sexual assault, and providing continuous, relevant, and effective training and education to all service members. All Navy commands have a 24/7 sexual assault response capability focused on victim support. Commanders ensure that female and male sexual assault victims (or survivors) have access to the assistance and resources to meet their needs and to provide a safe and professional work environment.
