PAN AM OFFERS TO FLY MERCY GOODS TO HAITI

U.S. relief agencies have been offered space for more than 24,000 pounds of emergency supplies for hurricane-stricken Haiti, it was announced in Miami today, Tuesday, October 8, by Pan American Airways.

With an estimated 4,000 dead, many thousands injured and several whole villages wiped out by Hurricane Flora, relief organizations here have been gathering needed medical supplies, food and other materials to aid the storm victims.

A complete Pan Am all-cargo Clipper will be available without charge, the airline announced, as soon as the relief agencies have sufficient materials to fill it. All donations of supplies and money for mercy shipments must be made to recognized agencies, Pan Am officials said.
