UNFAITHFUL HUSBAND CAUGHT "RED-HANDED" - MISTAKES WIFE FOR GHOST

Recently a woman at St. James, Marigot caught her husband "red-handed" making "love" with her sister.

According to reports a woman living at St. James, Marigot was told that her husband was carrying on a "love" affair with her sister who was living in the same house with them. The wife could not believe this and at first paid no attention to this talk.

After a while however she became suspicious and decided to do a little checking - Two Saturday nights ago the unfaithful husband went to a dance. When he returned home after the dance, he went into the bedroom where his wife was; after undressing, he called his wife, but she pretended to be in a deep sleep and did not answer - Feeling sure that his wife was sleeping, "lover-boy" left his wife's bedroom on his toes, and went into the room with his sister-in-law.

The wife gave him a little time to settle away, and then wrapped herself in a white sheet and went to the room where her sister was sleeping - And, there they were... The wife did not say anything but made a strange noise. When "lover-boy" looked up and saw the white object, he mistook it for a ghost and jumped through a window screaming at the top of his voice ... In his fright he jumped into a tank of water, but he was no sooner in, than he was out.

The wife then took off the sheet and according to reports started dropping blows left and right.
