Remembering HaLeigh

Mike Jones

Saturday, February 15, 2009.

On February 10, 2009, HaLeigh went missing from a day care center in Palatka. The search for HaLeigh lasted for more than 30 days, and the community came together to support her family and friends. HaLeigh's family has since become activists for child safety, and they continue to work to ensure that no other family has to experience the pain of losing a child.

Newspaper Celebrates Platinum Anniversary

Putnam County Courier Journal

February 12, 2014 • Volume 69, No. 39

The newspaper has been serving the Putnam County community for 20 years, and it continues to be a locally owned and operated newspaper. The newspaper covers local news, events, and businesses, and it is proud to be a part of the Putnam County community.

When the Courier Journal was purchased in early 1994 by Lake Street Publishing Company, the first big change to occur was the masthead. The new masthead included a drawing by local artist, John W. Jones, and it remained in place until 2008.

That Valentine’s Day Dance Invitation

Darris Howard

The Valentine’s Day dance was one of the biggest events of the year at our school. It was a girl’s choice prom and, in our era, girls seldom asked boys out. It was the one big chance of the year for a girl to appropriately take the initiative and not only play the passive role of the date. A dance date should be planned, but to also show a boy that she liked him. Most girls were very excited about this and went out of their way to make the invitation unique and memorable.

But there was one girl that didn’t seem to care about the Valentine’s Day dance. In fact, she didn’t even show any interest in asking a boy to the dance. She was a bright young lady in my chemistry class and she informed all of us that dating and everything to do with it was childish and far beneath her dignity. In fact she felt it was beneath the dignity of anyone who would date a female gaucheer. Every time she saw a girl fouling up, crying, like decorate a boy’s locker, or embarrasses someone over the Internet, she would scowl with contempt. “Boys,” she said, “are disgusting creatures who why a girl would want her time and energy on one is incompre-

It might be easy to think that Darcie’s attitude was due to the fact that no boy ever asked her out. But I had spent a lot of time working with her in chemistry, and I knew she truly believed what she said. I realized she had never been on a date because she never chose to make herself desirable to a boy.

I suppose Darcie could actually be a pleasantly looking girl, but she never fixed herself up nor did she care. To truly believed that girls were superior to every boy and she was not about to lower herself to have any more association with them than she had to. More than once I felt she was just putting up with me when our assignments forced us to work with each other.

But then the cosmos turned upside down. Both Darcie and I were members of our scholastic team. We had a competition coming up against our biggest rival and we practiced hard. The day finally arrived and we bused to the radio studio from which the meet would be broadcast. Both teams arrived a half hour early as usual, so she could get acquainted with each other. When Darcie was introduced to Alex, the other team’s captain, something unexpected happened. Alex must have unloaked his whole quiver on her because suddenly she couldn’t even speak. She babubled in ineloquent nothinness as if her brain had turned to mush.

The meet started and Darcie was less than worthful to us. She kept her eyes on Alex the whole time. She only answered a couple of questions, and both of those she got wrong, losing us points. Her answers were so off that沸ur, another team member, began to ask questions before, “Earth to Darcie, Earth to Darcie. Come in please.” But her ship was deep in space, far from our galaxy, and nowhere near docking. She didn’t even wait until after the competition was over to ask him to the preference dance, but did at intermission - right in front of everyone. A person doesn’t ask the competition team captain to preference, and especially not at intermission in front of everyone. But he said yes.

From then on our team was really down to three members instead of four. She didn’t even try to answer a question in the second half. But she still cost us some points when she dreamily leaned against the wall and from then on our team was really down to three members instead of four. Successful Market Place

Welcome Linda Horne, chairwoman of the South Putnam United Methodist Church Fellowship, to make sleeping bags for the homeless. (February 6 and February 20.)

A large, and a bit unexpected, crowd showed up for the Market Place at the Pomona Park Community Center the first Saturday of this month, and shopped off their work at the Market Place.

New Elders for First Presbyterian Church

The first market in January was not so well attended, so the crowd caught them by surprise. They apologized and asked if you did not get served. This is going to be a great thing for our community.

The following article appeared in the pages of the Crescent City Journal on February 13, 1959.

Florida On The Boom

Stapp Tells Laws That Agriculture is Spot of Creation

Florida is on the boom. Albert Stapp, who is known as the Will Rogers of the South, because of his easy, folksy manner of speaking, said that the cruet stronghold is on the boom Monday at a meeting of the Crescent City Chamber of Commerce.

He said that last year, for the first time, industrial output was greater than that of agriculture in his home state of Alabama.

Stapp said that sales in Florida by $15,000,000, and that military, agricultural, and tourist boom was up sky high in the land of opportunity.

"This is the garden spot of creation," Stapp retorted. "I know for a fact the state of Florida is the most productive state in the Union."

Stapp said that he was a man who had been hunting, fishing, and skiing.

Laws Community moved to Crescent City about a year ago."

"I learned to love the town and its people," he said.

"We had a big dog blazing in the night," the old Alabama product."

Stapp related that the Southeast was growing faster than any other section of the nation.

"Well I can remember," he went on. "when the saw mill and the cotton were the only industry in Alabama."

Stapp indicated that the weather was one reason for industrial expansion. The mean temperature in the winter is between 62 and 63 degrees and in the summer it is between 90 and 90."

"The Tall Tailor" was Joe Adythy.
The family over the years. He particularly loved the Trinity Union Bethel A.M.E. Church, where he served as a member and was a part of the congregation. He was an extended illness.

Daniel Carter Johns was born on March 25, 1928, and passed away Tuesday, January 21, 2014, at 7 p.m., at First Assembly of God Church, with Pastor Ted Martin officiating. John was preceded by his parents, James Richard and Iva Udella (Wilson) Johns; his sister, Laura Elizabeth Johns; and his brother, James Lee Johns. Surviving are his brother, Claud "Danl" and Sunnie Johns, of Fruitland, Georgia; two sisters and their husbands, Patricia A. Morris, nee Yerian, of Sacramento, CA 95825, and Jean Yerian, of Interlachen, Florida; his great-grandchildren, and seven great-great-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews.

John was a 1946 graduate of Palatka High School. He served in both the U.S. Coast Guard and the Merchant Marine. He was a wonderful, sweet, and kind man who lived a life to her husband and family.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be sent to Haven Hospice Roberts Care Center, 6400 St. Johns Ave., Palatka 32177. Arrangements were handled by the Masters Funeral Home of Palatka.

Pennies for Patients Update
Students are scrapping up change around the city to help with the Pennies for Patients fundraiser.
At the end of our first fundraiser, we raised $423.18. Mrs. Pickens’ classroom has taken the lead, but we will not disclose how much her class is leading by, so stand by.

Give yourselves a pat on the back and keep on collecting with our weekend challenge! This weekend, think of the year that you were born and try to find coins made in that year! Bring them back to your classroom to show your teacher and let the receptionist know that you’re bringing the change for the Pennies for Patients fundraiser.

All donations will have an impact on our very own student’s life.

Team Darius
Shirts are quickly being sold to directly benefit our very own student, Darius Edwards. If you would like to purchase one for a cost of $14, please see any member of Student Council or Mr. Malloy (Student Council Advisor).

Also, popcorn is sold during any lunch period in the cafeteria. This is a fundraiser for Darius in his fight to overcome cancer because cancer cannot be cured.

Will You Be My Valentine?

The one who makes our eyes and heart sing with joy. Wearing away the tears, better to have the chance to cry again in love. The one who comforts our soul.

You are being thanked for taking time to look through, to bring us to a place of grace where neither has been before, to focus on human relationships.

Valentine is passion, love, and friendship.

If you truly love someone, you will not settle for anything less than your heart's desire.

The Florida School of the Arts will present the ceramics exhibit, "Fires & Emotions," on the campus of SJR State College from February 13 through the end of the month. The show includes 30 works by 15 artists from the various areas of study within the arts.

In closing I want to say this to the men. In my many years, I have found that once in a lifetime a woman has no regret about what she has done. If you have another one, then please write me at your next convenience.
