The government in turn proposed two persons as mediators. It had also specified why they had not been acceptable. The foreign minister's comments were made by a speech to a dinner with Mrs. Carter in San Jose.

New treaty for Panama

PANAMA CANAL (UPI)--Informal sources say U.S. and Panamanian negotiators have drafted initial portions of a new Panama Canal treaty and have prepared a second treaty designed to guarantee the canal's neutrality. Sources in Panama say that's been agreement on the duration of a new treaty, withdrawal of American military forces and ending U.S. jurisdiction over the canal. The second treaty would call for Panama to declare the canal a neutral, international waterway. The neutrality of neutrality has been a major stumbling block in the negotiations. Representatives of Panama and the United States reached an agreement yesterday in Washington and sources said the two sides are closer to an agreement than they have been in a long time. Administration sources say negotiators hope to wrap up the treaty agreement during the next round of talks to open in Panama in a couple of months.

Amin accused the British government of "setting a dangerous precedent" for the future of the Commonwealth. Britain, in fact, has announced a United Nations delegation would be welcomed to the Conference, if not strongly hinted Amin himself should not appear in London.

Amin respomed in recent months by repeatedly stressing he would probably lead a Vietnamese delegation and should be accommodated at Hurrex if no other suitable place was found. In his telegram, broadcast by Radio Vietnam, Amin charged his nation was banned from attending because of its "faulty policy" in its colonial mistakes.

By mixing up bilateral relations and misunderstandings with affairs concerning the entire Commonwealth family, Britain is committing another grave mistake," Amin said.

Disagreement on middlemen

ASSEN, The Netherlands (UPI)---The Dutch government has accepted a mediation request by Moroccan gun- men holding 80 hostages aboard a hijacked train and in a school for the 10th day, a spokesman said. But he said there was still disagreement over who the middleman, or man, would be.

He said the estimated 15,000 gun men had proposed two persons as mediators in the talks, one of whom had been rejected by the government.

The gun men, who were supporting an anti-middleman movement, had proposed two persons yesterday, but the gun men rejected them, the spokesman said.

The spokesman did not identify any of the proposed mediators, or specify why they had not been acceptable.

Meanwhile, signalling what officials called deteriorating health conditions at the siege site, a man fainted yesterday on the hijacked train while under the hospitalization for the victims of the fire last February at the Beverly Hills Supper Club in Southgate, Ky.

He was ordered flagged throughout Kentucky to be flown at half mast. In all, 158 died in the Saturday night fire which spread through the popular and packed supper club.

City, county and state officials say that they are planning an interdenominational memorial service this Sunday on the grounds of the burned-out club.

Authorities are still studying the fire, and say that it probably will be sometime next week before they have a firm idea of how the fire started.

Yesterday evening politicians were saying that a "five mile wide" radius was triggered the blast.

The electricity companies joined other investi- gators in trying to determine the starting club.

Would you like a boat hobby shop?

Water sports and boating is particular are popular forms of recreation in the U.S. for obvious reasons. It has been suggested by base residents and SUPERS Welfare and Recreation that the community would support and utilize a Boat Hobby Shop in concept to the Army Boat Shop. In other words, where a place, equipment, and materials would be available at nominal fees to repair and work on boats.

The type of equipment and tools available would be for example welding equipment, sandblaster, spray gun and compressor, and small tools such as running lights, anchors, lines, and harrows would be on sale.

To determine if this is a viable project, it is necessary to poll the public so please answer the following questions, cut out and forward to Special Services. If you have additional comments or recommendations please call Special Services, HMC-Thompson or NH Holland at 9544 or 95160.

1. Do you own a boat? Yes No
2. Are you contemplating buying or building a boat? Yes No
3. If you own a boat, how many days a year do you work on it? (approx.)
4. Would you use the facilities of a boat hobby shop? Yes No
5. If you would use facilities of a boat hobby shop, what type of boat would you use?

Los Angeles (UPI) — A nearly 30-hour standoff in a Los Angeles hotel suite by a licensee and a Virginia fugitive holding a screaming woman hostage ended yesterday when police flew a ramming shot and hurled a tear gas can into a bathroom where he was holed up.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reatha Manning rolled a four and a headway yesterday. Mrs. Manning gave birth to quadruplets on Tuesday. All five of the newborns are in good condition. The mother, a secretary at the Washington Technical Institute, was reportedly quite tired.

Quints born in Washington

The woman was unhurt, although she appeared bruised and battered.

Police, who had waited outside the bathroom door of the fourth-floor hotel room since shortly Tuesday, finally rained through the door at 11:30 a.m. and fired three canisters of tear gas inside.

The gun was 37-year-old Howard McMillan of Plant. Officers said that his father, the Reverend James McMillan of Pittsburgh, was nearby when the end came. The earlier had appealed to his son to surrender after flying to Los Angeles when the siege began.

Throughout the ordeal, McMillan had replied to police calls for his surrender by yelling insults.

SST issue still up in the air

(AP) -- A U.S. Court of Appeals is still pondering the question, and the ban has translated to the Concorde supersonic jettliner continuing at New York's JFK airport. The three judges and one justice were the question in considering whether New Yankee Airways has the authority to ban SST flights. Either way the ruling goes, the case probably will be pushed on to the Supreme Court.

A spokesman for SST International Administration will fly to Europe and back aboard a Concord next month to evaluate the performance of the supersonic jet. Langhorne Borough, Pa., pays the regular $2,624 fare for the flight, since he'll later rule on the airworthiness of the SST and doesn't want to be involved in the airplane for a free flight.

To hell with them

Campbell opposes hockey merger

NEW YORK (UPI) - National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell makes it clear he still opposes a merger with the World Hockey Association.

Campbell said in an interview that he would prefer to let the NHL and WHA take care of their own clubs.

There have been reports that at least four top NHL clubs have shown some interest in joining the WHA if they meet the financial requirements.

Campbell maintains that if NHL teams were switched over to the WHA, it was "Theirs, and it was our job to get them." Says Campbell: "They're our rivalry. They were people that did their best to destroy us. Why would we salvage them now?"

And he added: "To hell with them."

Campbell has been on the verge of retiring as NHL president for years, and reportedly stepped down if a successor can be found at next week's league meeting.

Campbell says the views against taking in WHA clubs are his own. He says he hasn't the right to speak for the Board of Governors, who will make the decision and reportedly step down if a successor is decided on at next week's league meeting.

"It is clear he still strongly opposes a merger with the World Hockey Association," President Bill Hughes, who in turn hired Jake Milford, who recently quit of the Vancouver Canucks. General Manager Phil Maloney was fired and reportedly step down if a successor is decided on at next week's league meeting.
