

Lin, T.P., T.Casper, C.R.Sommerville, and J.Preiss, 1988b, A starch-deficient mutant of Arabidopsis thaliana with low ADPglucose pyrophosphorylase activity lacks one of the two subunits of the enzyme, Plant Physiol. 88;1175-1181

McCarty, D., 1986, A simple method for extraction of RNA from maize tissue, Maize Genetics Coop. Newsletter, 60;61

McClintock, B., 1984, The significance of responses of the genome to challenge, Science, 226;792-801

Mazur, B.J., and C.Chui, 1985, Sequence of a genomic DNA clone for the small subunit of ribulose bis-phosphate carboxylase-oxygenase from tobacco, Nucleic Acids Research, 13;2373-2386

Morell, M.K., M.Bloom, V.Knowles, and J.Preiss, 1987b, Subunit structure of spinach leaf ADPglucose pyrophosphorylase, Plant Physiol. 85;182-187

Morell, M., M.Bloom, and J.Preiss, 1988, Affinity labeling of the allosteric activity site(s) of spinach leaf ADPglucose pyrophosphorylase, J.Biol.Chem. 263;633-637

Muller-Rober, B.T., J.Ko mann, L.C.Hannah, L.Willmitzer, and U.Sonnewald, 1990, One of two different ADPglucose pyrophosphorylase genes from potato responds strongly to elevated levels of sucrose, Mol.Gen.Genet. 224;136-146