

education; by the requirements of teacher certification. Foremost in approaching an ideal is the willingness of the public to provide financial support for teachers necessary to attract able students to education as a career.