

Christ Jesus: not only believing that He is God's own Son—for the Bible says the devil believes that, and trembles—but believing that He can and will save us, if we ask Him, and pray to Him, and trust Him. I found Mr. Davis could say a great deal about the text, though I was vain and silly enough to think he should have chosen some other.

I wonder what all the people in church would have thought, if they could have known that a little girl of ten years old who was sitting there fancied that she had more sense, and knew better than the clergyman who preaches to hundreds and hundreds every Sunday.

I wish, dear Mamma, I could cure myself of this terrible fault; I am always thinking
