the stories that your mother told? By the way what was your mother's name?
J: Mary.
D: Mary, and who was she before she married Mr. Patrick?
J: Callahan.
D: Mary Callahan, I see. She was a white lady I suppose.
J: Supposed to be.
D: I see, now what did she think, what stories did she tell? Certainly she heard Mr. Patrick tell some things. What did she seem to think that happened?
J: Well, I, I don't know, only she said they come along by home there with him carrying him off to bury him and that Patrick said he won't see the last of him until he told them, no, to drive on.
D: No, of course they didn't open him up, they didn't open the box up did they?
J: No, they didn't open him up. He didn't, said he didn't want to see him.
D: As a matter of fact they were really not sure that anyone was in this box.
J: No.
D: This could have been a fake. Some seem to think that this was a fake in order to have people thinking he was dead so they would stop looking for him and maybe he went on away.
J: Yes, that was about like it I guess.
D: Some seem to think that he was killed while cleaning his gun. Do you recall ever hearing this story?
J: Yes, I heard that, too. Said he was, the outlaws was a counting the
