

P: How long did it take to get to Jasper?

R: Well, it't take, it was about twenty miles, seems to me like a hundred miles when I wasn't but about close to fifteen, twenty mile the way we'd have to go, just an old wagon route. See, we had to go around every farm, you know. P: Uh huh.

R: Every old _____ you had to go way around here, but we'd buy the, a barrel of flour, he'd buy a bolt of _____, bolt of calico or something, gingham for skirts, a bolt of or two of blue denim, so mama could make overalls for the boys.

P: Ya'll would have a great adventure _____

R: That's right. Have a shirt, dress, _____ both of the the shirt and the dress just alike, they out of the same ~~stuff~~,

P: (laughter)

R: You know we couldn't afford to buy a big, two or three bolts of cloth and....

N: _____

P: Yeah. But everyone....

N: _____

P: Yeah. Did they ever make their own cloth out of the cotton?

N: They did a long time ago, but _____

R: _____

N: _____

R: In other words, we made what we eat and eat what we made.

P: Uh huh.

R: And if you got a hold of a dollar, the government didn't have much to say about it.

P: Yeah.

R: We just happened to divide it _____

P: Yeah.

R: Now, if you get a hold of a dollar the government's got half or seventy-five cents out of it.

P: Yeah.

R: It leaves us about a quarter for all our expenses and everything.
