

---

me have them for a long time to take care of me. And bless my dear little——'

'No, darling, not now.'

And I felt the heavy tears falling like rain-drops on my clasped hands. So, then, it was over. Our little Callie had gone home to God. She would never come back to us any more—never any more at all.