

or, if you cannot apprehend it now, dare to look forward to the aching head and weary heart of noonday toil. Heavy may be your burden, rough your road ; but for you, too, flow the living waters fresh from the throne of God.

