

"Perhaps so," said Herbie, quietly. "Arthur, there's that horrid bell, and you must go down to tea."

"Yes ; but I'll come up early."

And when he had left the room little Herbie knelt down and thanked God for bringing his brother back to him.

