Body appears to be missing mom

Just after noon on Thursday, two Osceola County Sheriff’s Office deputies found a female body matching the description of Nicole Fields, the mother of two missing for a week.

The body was found in a thick wooded area under a tree and covered with brush behind 6420 Lakeshore Drive off Falcon Point Road on the Polk side of Poinciana. The home appeared to be abandoned. Sheriff’s Office spokeswoman Kristie Runyan said “This is not the outcome of Poinciana. The home

Her husband, Herle, served three years in the Navy and fought in World War II.

Nicole Fields’ ex-boyfriend, Steven Louis, is the last known person to have seen her Nov. 3 when the body was found, Runyan said. “He has wanted to help find her,” she said. “He has been very cooperative.”

The body was discovered about six miles south/southeast of Louis’ home at 931 Gateshead Court in Poinciana. The connection between Louis, seen Body, page A-5 was positively identified a week after she vanished following a child support hearing involving the estranged couple’s 2-year-old daughter.

Louis accompanied detectives to the neighborhood early Thursday but was not present when the body was found, Runyan said.

“She has wanted to help find her,” she said. “He has been very cooperative.”

Vivian Jydstrup, whose late husband, Herle, served in the Navy, presented his folded American flag to retired U.S. Air Force Chief Master Sgt. Cole Panning, a volunteer for the Cornerstone SALUTES! event at Good Samaritan Village.

Rows of rolled commemorative announcements for armed services veterans and their spouses were given out Tuesday morning in recognition to veterans at Good Samaritan Village during the Cornerstone SALUTES! event.

Names, military branches and years of service were all road map during the program with vets and their spouses raising their hands in recognition. Vet and spouses were thanked personally at their respective tables by veteran and Cornerstone resident Vivian Jydstrup, whose late husband, Herle, served in the Navy.

All I could do is put it [flag] in a drawer and I didn’t think that was the proper thing to do,” Jydstrup said. “I let it be known there was use for it here.”

Her husband, Herle, served three years in the Navy and fought in World War II.

Cancer Creek Road and Kaiser Avenue, and built a ball field.

“It’s been hard to find places to practice, especially in the high season,” he said. “We have to go all the way to St. Cloud Little League on Cloudfield Drive.”

Bryant, a 28-year resident of St. Cloud, and his local businessmen have baseball in his blood; he says that Little League, high school and industrial league baseball “something he had recently that he hasn’t done during the recent building boom has been time.

In the 1989 movie “Field of Dreams,” Iowa farmer Ray Kinsella “heard the voice.” “If you build it, he will come,” and then built a baseball field and by the end of the movie, he was placing cards with young, ball-playing versions of his father.

St. Cloud’s Barry Bryant did not want to hear a voice. He just wanted to give the youth baseball team that he coached a place to play.

So, he got a plot of land donated near

So, he started coaching. His son Gabe, 11, is a member of the Osceola Omen, 11 year olds coached by Bryant.

And, with more time, after building a roster, he started building with his hands.

“I had the time and the interest, I enjoy building, and I enjoy working with the kids,” he said.

“The game of baseball taught me to deal with perseverance, and this is a way for me to teach the game and share some life lessons along the way.”

Bryant said he’s poured about $5,000 into “Omen Field” to get the land leveled and graded and a clay infield in place. There’s still improvements to be made, which will probably run another $3,000, he said.

Bryant’s contribution isn’t just to his son, or the Omen teams. He’s an investment in the community — a community where lesser boys with athletic ability are choosing to play baseball, instead taking up football, basketball or soccer.

“They are at an age when they’re groomed to play high school baseball, if the desire’s there,” Bryant said. “This way, the opportunity is available.”

And, in a show of the precedent nature of baseball, Bryant worked with his own father to build the field — a field he’ll be able to pass on to Gabe.

“We started in August. It’s been quite a bit of man-hours,” Barry said.

While there’s something to see on the field — the clay is in place — the field is still a work in progress, thanks to the near 10 inches of rain the county received Oct. 14-16. The infield’s done, but bases aren’t in, and there’s no backstop.

“Bryant reiterated that “it’s just a practice facility” for now. “It’s not even cut since two weeks later,” he said. We hadn’t been able to do much with it for a while.”

Whatever the next step is, Bryant won’t need to hear a ghostly voice to do it.

America has the worst health in the industrialized world

I am currently recovering from a double mastectomy with immediate reconstruction. During this ordeal, I learned a great deal about breast cancer, but even more about America’s health care system — most of it beyond belief.

We have some terrific, caring doctors, but the system of accessing appropriate care and paying for it is broken beyond belief.

According to the Commonwealth Fund, a private foundation devoted to promoting high quality health care, the U.S. lags far behind 16 industrialized countries on virtually every measurable indicator of health, yet we spend more than any other industrialized nation on health care.

Where’s all our money gone?

Think administration, billing, fragmentation and red tape. Seventy percent of health spending in the U.S. is wasted on inefficiencies and profit-making schemes.

Let’s honor our vets

While honoring military personnel and their families today, we should consider the thousands of other Americans who are fighting or being a witness in a court case — it is something we also have to consider past and through the years. Going to a parade is easy, fighting should take the time to do, given the sacrifices made or being a witness in a court case — it is something we also have to consider past and through the years.

High water rates

What I found was that the new base rate for water, currently $11.50 per month, will be $22.23, an increase of 77 percent.

Increasing the base rate of water, with a minimum charge of 2,000 gallons of water and 2,000 gallons of sewer, that is 4,000 gallons, for a total of $24.87, if you use less than 2,000 gallons of water, you will receive a minimum charge of $10.23, an increase of 77 percent.

Also notice that the irrigation rate is rising to $2.60 per 1,000 gallons, less than the first 5,000 gallons. These rates are out of line.

Floridians: a time to support 100 percent for the health of the patient and the overall system error-prone.

Next year, the new law also will usher in “Accountable Care Organizations,” which will be networks of multi-specialty doctors and hospitals. The idea is to pay more money to health providers cooperate, communicate and coordinate among themselves to further the health of the patient. The current medical model, where everything is expensive care, with each doctor focused on a single problem, has no evidence whatsoever to back it.

Medical innovator, Dr. Stephen Klasko, dean of the College of Medicine at the University of South Florida, thinks the government regulations associated with ACOs are “100 percent where we should be moving.” He also sees the “bundled payments” aspect of the new law, which pays a flat rate for the treatment of an entire disease or injury, as “100 percent where we should be moving.”

Cancer is an ugly thing to go through. But the real monster is America’s grotesque medical system, with its private insurance ceiling. So many other advanced countries have figured out, delivering high-quality, universal, coordinated health care for far less money. When fully implemented, “Obamacare” will get us part of the way, but 2015 is just a long way away. And the entire Republican Party is amused at what America’s only current hope for more national, compassionate, affordable health care.

Paterno’s most talented athletes signed letters of intent,” said Paterno, who later signed 11 other players, including some who studied accounting and business.

Paterno’s support.

Paterno, who has been the head coach at Penn State for 46 years, has been a constant presence in the Nittany Lions’ football program. He is known for his leadership and dedication to the team, and has guided them to many successful seasons. However, his legacy is now being questioned in the wake of the Sandusky scandal.

The Nittany Lions’ success under Paterno is undeniable. They have won numerous conference titles and even a national championship. But the question remains: was Paterno able to stop Sandusky, or were he and other university officials complicit in covering up the abuse?

In the aftermath of the scandal, many Penn State alumni and fans have called for Paterno’s resignation, while others have defended him and his legacy. The university has faced criticism for its handling of the situation, and the NCAA has launched an investigation.

The controversy has raised questions about the role of university leadership in preventing sexual abuse on campus. It has also highlighted the importance of holding individuals accountable for their actions.

As the trial of Joe Paterno begins, the Nittany Lions’ fans and alumni will be watching closely to see how this story unfolds.

Hoover through every step in his career. And is the apparent reason for all of his self-doubts and considered sexuality. J. Edgar could have worked as and, unlabeled love story, but this is Hoover, and the man had so much more going on in his life.
The early scenes are some of the strongest, as we watch Hoover take responsibility for clothes that are too small. His companion. (Hoover pretty dead body of his longtime companion. (Hoover pretty much left all of his worldly possessions to Tolson). Eastwood has made a powerful film, check full of period details. But through-out all of this, Eastwood doesn’t seem to be making any kind of judgments, with the possible exception of Hoover’s mother’s unfortunate, powerful influence. The deck is definitely stacked against the man, and Eastwood is a guiding force, but he stops short of condemning the American icon, preferring to let the viewer come to any final verdict.

The newest addition at Busch Gardens in Tampa is a baby Grevy’s zebra born earlier this month. The foal was born on the theme park’s 65-acre Serengeti Plain. The newborn was nursing and moving along with the rest of the zebra herd only about a hour after birth. Busch Gardens recently announced two other additions, a male Cape buffaloes, and female Sable antelope. Busch Gardens’ guests can view all of the new babies from Rhino Rally, the Skyride, or Serengeti Express train ride. For an even closer look, the Serengeti Safari offers guests an open-bed truck tour of Serengeti Plain, with opportunities to get up-close to antelope and rhinos and hand-feed giraffes.

Seaworld Orlando will be hosting a training class with the announcement of three new attractions coming to the theme park and Discovery Cove.

Seaworld designers just announced new experiences to open for the 2013 season: Discovery Cove and Discovery Island, and released a few details of a massive expansion set to debut at SeaWorld in 2013.

Discovery Cove is a warm- water lagoon located across the street from SeaWorld in Orlando.

The new attractions represent the biggest attraction expansions in the history of SeaWorld Parks & Entertainment, the parent company.

Tuesday, Pfeiffer, president of the company’s Orlando SeaWorld, SeaWorld Cove and Aquatica, said, “With Turtle Trek at SeaWorld Orlando and Freshwater Oasis at Discovery Cove, travelers will have all new reasons to visit Orlando. What we’re creating will take you places you’ve never been before, places only SeaWorld can take you.”

To learn more about all the new attractions, visit SeaWorld Orlando.com.

While creating Turtle Trek (opening at SeaWorld Orlando in spring 2012), designers stayed true to SeaWorld’s unique blend of nose-to-tail animal encounters and state-of-the-art entertainment.

Guests first visit two massive ocean-themed habitats filled with hundreds of freshwater fish and cetaceans, the other home to more than 1,500 saltwater fish and sea turtles. Meanwhile, SeaWorld Orlando’s rescue programs began, the team has cared for and returned to the wild nearly 240 manatees and more than 1,200 sea turtles. Moving on from the habitat, guests enter a themed theater, and what happens next has never been before seen and is a first at any theme park in the world.

Coming to life is a first-of-its-kind 3-D/360 degree dome theater film that is completely immersive. The dome allows a hyper realistic 3-D movie to be shown all around guests, not just in front of them or on one screen. It’s this unique and immersive way of showcasing a sea turtle’s epic and astounding journey that is the heart of Turtle Trek. And for the first time, SeaWorld guests will get a turtle’s eye view of the ocean’s wonders.

The movie itself is inspirational as it is astounding. SeaWorld officials said there’s a call-to-action at the end of the experience. SeaWorld calls on guests to take a step to conserving the world’s sea life.

“Do a little a lot, but join us and do something to help the world and its sea life,” said Brian Morrow, the attraction’s chief designer.

Turtle Trek is about the everyday heroes who can make a difference in nature.

Freshwater Oasis

At Discovery Cove, SeaWorld’s limited-admission, all-inclusive tropical resort Freshwater Oasis will open in late spring 2012. The new attraction features swimming and wading and face-to-face encounters with playful otters and marmosets.

When guests participate with nature at Discovery Cove, they unlock electronics that enable them to track and narrate their experiences in engaging, explorable virtual turf. SeaWorld said it all will be designed with a rainforest canopy above and sparkling clear screens below. Freshwater Oasis is a natural wetland environment. Guests can relax and explore the tree-shaded comfort zone, eat and float in the water-filled tanks to swim with playful otters and marmosets Avalon Everglades. No matter where they turn, they’ll find endless discoveries.

Freshwater Oasis is included with admission to Discovery Cove.

Antarctica - Empire of the Penguin

Also announced was SeaWorld Orlando’s biggest ever attraction expansion, Antarctica: Empire of the Penguin. The new attraction’s chief designer, Brian Morrow, the attraction’s chief designer.

NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND INTENT TO FORECLOSE

Westgate Town Center, 10160 Dandy Cat Way, D392, Kissimmee, FL 34747. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to a Final Judgment of Foreclosure, filed in Case No. 06-2288-CA-01, of the Ninth Judicial Circuit in and for Osceola County, Florida, REGIONS BANK, D/B/A REGIONS MORTGAGE, as holder of the Note and Mortgage, is authorized to foreclose on the above described property, to recover possession of which and/or to obtain sale thereof. The property is subject to the right of redemption as provided in Section 721.855, Florida Statutes. Please be advised that in the event that your obligation is not brought current (including the payment of any fees incurred under the terms of the Note and Mortgage), you are hereby notified that the undersigned Trustee shall: (1) Provide you with written notice of the sale, including the date, time and location thereof; (2) File with the Clerk of the Public Records a copy of the Notice of Sale, and a copy of the Final Judgment of Foreclosure, which shall be recorded in the Public Records of Osceola County, Florida; and (3) Sell the property at public sale, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, at 2 pm, Saturday, November 12, 2011, in the lobby of the Osceola County Courthouse, 3341 E. Donnelly Street, Kissimmee, Florida. If you object to the use of the trustee foreclosure procedure, you will not be subject to a deficiency judgment even if the proceeds from the sale are insufficient to pay all indebtedness secured by the mortgage.
