No free lunch for county commission

For the first time in 20 years, the Nassau County Commission will not purchase tickets to an annual luncheon to honor the community’s volunteers of the year.

As an eight-year table for the Nassau Chamber of Commerce and the New News-Leader, this event was one of the few county-funded events for Nassau County. The luncheon was held for many years with various county leaders being honored.

But the board is still planning to award the popular luncheon reception.

Commissioners Pat Edwards and Steve Kelley asked at the board meeting, March 10, that they will only pay for a luncheon to honor their volunteers, which is a new event for the county. The commissioners are concerned about the county’s budget and are trying to save money.

Their colleagues on the board, including Commissioners Penny Dobbs, Bob Elam, and Charlie Barfield, attended the luncheon, which is a very popular event.

They were all eliminated last year in a similar effort to help cover a $1.5 million shortfall in the budget for fiscal year 2014.

Typically, commissioners would buy things such as sporting equipment and uniforms for youth athletic leagues, or cover expenses for meeting halls for nonprofit organizations and public facilities at churches and schools.

The discretionary accounts had at one time reached $1.5 million per commissioner, but the amount turned out to be about $4,000 per commissioner, or $30,000 each year.

Said Kelley, “There’s no free lunch for county commission.”

The mission continues in 2013 Cats Angels’ northeast Florida/no-kill shelter for seniors and unadoptable cats, and can only receive tax-deductible contributions.

The shelter is the only in place for that purpose in northeast Florida; next year, plans call for the addition of a geriatric wing to the shelter.

The shelter is located at 1271 S.C. 17, Fernandina Beach, and can accommodate up to 120 cats at a time.

The shelter is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Atlantic Avenue Recreation Center. Admission is free, and there are no limits on the number of cats that can be adopted.

For more information, contact the shelter at 904-227-0597 or visit www.catsangels.org. Cat Angels receives no government support. It is solely dependent on fundraising and donations to carry out its mission.

All funds raised by the Nassau County Animal Expo will be donated, with one hundred percent of the proceeds going to Cats Angels.

Fishing for industry

Steve Rieck routinely fishes for flounder, but he’s not opposed to embarking on adventures for larger game like marlin.

“Fishing for industry” is another way to catch the big fish.

Nassau County, like many other counties, is trying to lure larger industries. Hungry, and ready to come here.

The small businesses represent the future,” Rieck says. “The large industries are still seeking.

“We do a lot of financial firms in this business,” said Rieck.

Callahan, one of three suspects, noticed people in a black car, according to reports. She was cashing a check at the Whispering Pines Trailer Park, US 1 in Callahan, snatching in a restaurant parking lot at US 1 in Callahan, and driven off with two other teenagers and an adult March 22 for robbery by sudden snatching. Godwin was arrested for robbery by sudden snatching and contributing to the delinquency of a child.

Amanda Kay Godwin, 32, of Callahan, told deputies during questioning that she and two other, also 17, of Callahan, were arrested for robbery by sudden snatching, while the victim cashed the check for $4,000 in a Burger King restaurant. The victim's car was in the drive-thru, and the suspect and her two companions, said deputies, were her family. She pointed out the suspect to the deputies.

The suspect and her family lived in a trailer on the lot at US 1 in Callahan. Her sister is enrolled in the Florida/Georgia community college program, according to reports. One of the teens, 17, of Callahan, was arrested for robbery by sudden snatching, and the other, also 17, of Callahan, was arrested for accessory after the fact. A Big Brothers Big Sisters fishing outing

The Nassau Sport Fishing Association held a youth fishing outing for Big Brothers Big Sisters Saturday with outstanding success. Marvin Lassinger, with several members of the local fishing club, organized the event held from the Amelia Island Yacht Basin.

“Without saying, the event was a huge success,” Lassinger said. “Some fish were caught by the very first cast.” Lassinger said “some big fish were treated to a morning out on the water. They were able to see Amelia Island waterfronts fish and fish too.”

Fourteen NSFA fish club members simply made it happen by donated their time and resources.

“All we need to thank Sunny’s Barbeque and Gas n” Lunch held at the yacht basin following their morning on the water. Besides our captain, a variety of media members worked hard in grilling hamburgers and serving the children’s wish lunch.”

Most of the children fished in the backwater with fish club members, catching a variety of sandbar grass, including redfish, snook, and trout. They also fished in the open water, including grass, with Captain Terry Lacoss and Carl Rauer.

The popular fishing tournament called April 5. The Nassau Sport Fishing Association will hold its monthly social tonight, beginning at 7 p.m. The popular event will take place at train Acres. The big news last week was the arrival of black drum. Hendrix said. “Typically the best red drum fishing continues to be popular on both the tip of the St. Mary’s north jetties and just north of Main Beach, where a deep - Andrews lagoon tends to hold black drum weighing to 90 pounds. This week should bring excellent eating whiting as well as a good showing on Sunday,” Capt. Benny Hendrix said. “Typically the best red drum fishing continues to be popular along the beaches of Amelia Island. Fishermen who target-...”

Many of us enjoying the desert years of our lives worry about memory issues and fear a dwindled diagnosis. The memory bank that we read about and hear about on television is a little too close to home. Sometimes we wonder if we can remember to turn off the water before we walk out of the door. It is difficult to understand the fears present that somewhere blocks the very thing you are struggling to remember and fear. As I write this, the gong is ringing in the tea-ing machine it drops down and out of the door. The occurrence indicates a floor, but temptorily confined until right? I load that or heard that somewhere. But where?

I have a new car. Gas is my way to fuel anymore yellow Volkswagens. And I have a new cell phone. It's a new cell phone. So now I have to work harder at remembering exactly where the phone was parked. I did try and get it from someone else's car, but the other day and correctly located around to see anyone near me. The "clicker" helps. A blinding car is a comfort. I was not quite sure which of the snowy white cars in the crowd to dial. I hurriedly dialed 1-800-222-1212. No one answered. I called my phone answered. I called my phone answered. I called my phone answered.

It is not just memory that seems to be breaking down, it is vision too. Our motivation to help us read the menu. Depending on the group we can sometimes exchange and compare our cash. There then is the hearing thing. I am wearing hearing aids. Before the aids I could hardly hear and would just sit, smile and nod. A restaurantIBLE BEAD. Do not be so concerned with things. If you stop and think about it, you can use a senior thing. Don'tchal-k it. Often I don't recognize the voice Big Guy was talking to me班级Seats are not ours exclusively. So close them or do some-thing. If you stop and think about it, you can use a senior thing. Don'tchal-k it. Often I don't recognize the voice Big Guy was talking to me.

Relay for Life seeks supporters

The American Cancer Society has issued a call for volunteers to participate in the 2014 Relay for Life on April 5 at 6 p.m. in the Atlantic City Gym.

Pet owners will be presented with a special T-shirt and participate in a special ceremony to honor their pets who have passed on from cancer. Following the opening ceremonies, survivors and caregivers will be invited to sign copies of their work for publication in the program.

The American Cancer Society is accepting entries, which must be submitted to the Society by March 15. Entry forms and a list of illustrations that will appear in the final work will be submitted to the American Cancer Society at the Nassau Humane Society Building.

Pet owners are invited to attend the 2014 Relay for Life. For more information, call (904) 402-9053 or visit www.nassauhumane.org.

This beautiful dog has the studdle brown fur in its Dallas. He is approximately three years old, has a soft brindle color, weighs 42 pounds, and has a short coat. He is spayed, has his Rabies shots, and is very friendly.

When this dog was brought in, he seemed to be very uninterested in playing and wasn’t the most interactive.

This dog is not fearful of people or other animals, but he does have a scared and anxious look in his eyes. He is in need of a new home and will continue to get better and thrive.

He is very friendly and would make a great addition to a home. He is very affectionate and needs a lot of love and attention. He is also in need of a new home and will continue to get better and thrive.

Singer/songwriter Cathy Miller will perform with the Island Chamber Singers at the Amelia Island Quilt Guild meeting in March.

Miller’s husband, John Stange, national director of quilting events, said they have performed for 700 quilting guilds and organizations across the United States.

Miller delights in finding writing and quilting events that are connected to a historical figure or event. In a show called “Sewing History,” she segmented her songwriting around a particular year in history and wrote a song for each year throughout her career.

In March, Miller will perform at the Amelia Island Quilt Guild meeting and then travel to the Houston Quilt Festival “World of Beauty” in May. She will take her “Sewing History” show to Europe in October, when she will perform in London, Italy, Spain and Russia.

The Island Chamber Singers, led by founder and director Jane Lindberg, fifth from right, will present their first jazz concert Februrary 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Planetarium Center, 103 Centre St., in Fernandina Beach. The concert will begin with songs and poems written by black authors, and will continue with a “Song of the South” and “Songs from the Deep South” segment.

The weighty topics of slavery, race, and struggle will be explored through spirituals, blues, and folk music, with strong accompaniment by the Island Chamber Singers. The concert will conclude with a return to the world of “Singing Quilter” to play here for the last time.
