Local photographer Michael Leary captured this image in a local tide pool where three reddish egrets are the most rare of all. The shot was taken at low tide with the egrets standing on a rock in the water. The image highlights the beauty of nature and the importance of preserving such environments for future generations.

Skydivers land on city beach

Parachutists will be landing on the city beach as a new skydiving operation is approved by the Airport Advisory Board.

Robert Latham, representing the firm Skydivers of Fernandina Beach, presented his plan for a tandem skydiving business at Tuesday’s city commission meeting. The business would land parachutes on the beach near Miller’s Seafood Restaurant at Soundside Park.

The business would issue an office near the beach and take tourists, from evening jumps to early-morning jumps, to the Beach Airport Municipal. Customers would then be flown to 3,000 feet and dropped over the city beach in tandem with an expert skydiver. Edwards said.

A safety crew would be on call at an open drop spot on the beach, and in case of contact with vehicles or expert skydivers, he said. The amount of (the business) to offer something people have gotten used to offer,” Edwards said.

Egrets are a common sight along the coast, often seen wading in shallow waters or feeding on small fish. It is important to protect these areas to ensure the continued presence of such pristine environments.

mral Scott Harrold Sr., M.D.

The youngest of five siblings, all of whom were successful in various endeavors, Brian was the youngest. After his death in 2014, the family and friends gathered to celebrate his life. He was 88 years old.

Brian was born on May 2, 1926, in Miami, Florida, and grew up in Atlantic Beach, Florida, where he attended school and then moved to Massachusetts, where he pursued his education at Tufts University and Harvard Medical School. After completing his medical education, he returned to Florida and practiced medicine in the region for many years.

Throughout his life, Brian was deeply committed to his family and his patients. He was known for his kindness, compassion, and dedication to his work. He was a respected pathologist, tirelessly diagnosing diseases and determining diagnoses. He was also a devoted husband and father, leaving behind a loving wife and daughter.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions can be made to the Endowment Fund at the First Presbyterian Church of Atlantic Beach, Inc., 150 15th St., Atlantic Beach, FL 32233.

Funeral services will be at 11:00 am on Monday, September 22, 2014, at the First Presbyterian Church of Atlantic Beach, with burial following at the Atlantic Beach Cemetery. The family will receive guests beginning at 10:00 am in the church. An interment service will follow at 3:00 pm on Tuesday, September 23, 2014, in his hometown of Ben Hill County, GA.

The family wishes to give special thanks to the staff of Baptist Health - Jacksonville for their loving care and support during the last year of his illness.

NEWSPAPER

In my opinion, we should not allow this to happen. The more I read, the more I see the possibility of a repeat of the situation that occurred in 2013 and 2014. I believe that we should do everything in our power to prevent this from happening.

I would like to see the following changes:

- More oversight of the situation
- Increased funding for the situation
- Improved communication with the affected area

I do not believe that we should be complacent about this issue.

Walkin’ Nassau

Walker Nassau’s annual “WALKIN’ NASSAU” event will take place on Sunday, October 19th. Starting at Bankhead Park and ending at the airport, the annual 5K run is a great way to get active and have fun while supporting a worthy cause.

The event features two separate races: a 5K run and a 1-mile fun walk. Participants will enjoy live music, food, and refreshments along the route. Registration is $25 for adults and $15 for children under 12. Registration can be done online at walkinnassau.com or on-site on the day of the event.

In addition to the race, there will be a raffle with great prizes for all participants. Be sure to check out the sponsors’ tables for some amazing deals and discounts.

There will be plenty of food and drinks available throughout the course, and plenty of restrooms are provided.

The Nassau County Volunteer Firefighter’s Association is the main sponsor of this event. The proceeds will benefit the Nassau County Volunteer Firefighters Association, which serves the community by providing emergency services and supporting important local initiatives.

The Nassau County Volunteer Firefighter’s Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing emergency services to the community. They rely on donations and community support to operate.

Commissioner Pat Gass was the only commissioner who expressed concerns about the parachute operation. “I start thinking about Saturday and Sunday, when the plane will be flying over the beach,” Gass said. “Not all people on the beach are locals.” She added that some visitors rent couches on the beach, “Not all people on the beach have to back up for you to see it,” Gass said.

City Manager Joe Gentry suggested bringing in a consultant to present his business proposal to the Airport Advisory Commission to see if it could be modified to fit the recommendation to the City Commission at a future date. Commissioners approved a skydiving operation at the city airport in 2010 called Skydive Amelia, but the business sold leases to parachute at a specific area at the city airport.

HORSES

Continued from 1A horse droppings while riding, and that the ride takes it all out to sea anyway.

“As a resident it’s not just me,” Gass said. “We will stress the commission on sea cleaning (of the ordinance).”

Home owner Sue Potter said the city should have the right to see that paraclettes land on the beach for transport of horse manure.

“Under the public trust doctrine, the public has the right to see that beach,” Latham said. “You can’t even go out to sea anyway.”

But resident Jim Caine, who opposes having the city enforce it. “If it’s such a great idea, why don’t we expand it to all city beaches?”

Schools prepare for unexpected disasters

KATHERINE COLGROVE
Community Newspapers

Nassau County Schools recently updated Community Crisis Management Guide to incorporate new information on school safety, including procedures for active shooter situations.

The guide, published in August, according to Wood, was revised and the existing Nassau County Schools Crisis Management Plan updated in 2008 and again in 2011. The guide’s purpose is to help administrators and emergency managers to address unexpected events.

“We continue to have increased awareness of potential threats and how to respond to them positively and negatively,” she wrote.

的学生s can text to parents if cell phone use during crises impacts communication. We also have social media outlets that are sometimes used for rumor control are discussed in the guide and basically means that schools can use for rumor control and how to respond to them as accurately as possible, the assistant superintendent wrote.

Social media outlets have been added or improved due to social media being used for rumor control. Wood said the guide’s purpose is to help school personnel think about the unthinkable in advance and preparation.

Schools do practice their procedures for security purposes, she said.

The attempts of the Obama, State of the Union (SUI) has been a balm for many politicians and media portals. This prediction that the latest iterations of plagues in Syria and Iraq presents a real and present danger to the American homeland led a few to support the ideas of going back to war in the Middle East. The promise of President Obama to "do something" now" pushed him to declare war on ISIL.

The voices against this proposed conflict have been loud and shrill and the apathy (Obama is about to make the same mistake that Bush made) into the tribal conflict that has roiled the Arab world for more than two millennia. The Ottoman Empire, after the Prophet Muhammad died in the 7th century, two factions emerged to bring about different outcomes (jihad, Mehmet's). If he was a jerk reaction to "bomb them back to 600 A.D." the Atrocities of the Middle East have been pushed to "do something" now" pushed him to declare war on ISIL.

Bryce Cubbal’s math teacher growing up, two influences who stood out were his math and grade teacher and my mother.

As the math teacher made really made a difference. He was the first math teacher and my mother. He inspired the potential to go on to study.

There was a mutual respect here.

Cubbal says he wanted to get into the profession because he knew that it can have the greatest impact on student achievement.

Despite the challenges, he has seen students grow.

"I couldn’t be happier to be able to serve as the assistant principal at Emma Love Elementary," says Bryce Cubbal.

Cubbal shares his Yulee story with the second practice is at 1651 Southside Dunn Avenue or 2255 Dunn Avenue.

"I think of this as a new chapter, particularly the new car sale price. A lot of inventory is available, with most new cars in stock for about four weeks. Our average dealer sold 38 new and used car in the last six months. People were excited to be able to buy. The market for new car buyers, such as cars and trucks, has been strong in this market. The average car is 11 years old, repairs are very expensive up front, so it is a gradual trend. There is very little doubt that paperless is the way everything is going, including money. Cellphone use is now more popular with some imports, but it is also having to be able to compete. For the pure used car buyer, such as some of the new cars, and trucks, used car buyers are doing well to achieve an used cars. The offers are now cars and trucks with the used car prices lower, so much better than historic rates of 7 percent plus. Leasing is popular with some providers and achieve products..."

20 Group outlooks

Most every new car dealer in America belongs to a 20 Group. It is, in some circles, a group of approximately 20 dealers who get together and compare what they are doing. It is a purely formal and usually lasts two days. Electronic books are put together comparing every detail of a dealership operation. There is a firm in Kansas City, Kan., that has specialized in this for 50 years and a moderator represents..."
Special Olympic surfers rally at state

Seven Nassau County Special Olympics athletes competed in the 2014 Special Olympics National Surfing Championship at Cocoa Beach over the weekend. Surfing is a year’s event that was to end in July. Contestants were Phoenix Bridges, Aliisa DiDomenico, Jake Martin, Betzy Harris, Kristopher Mitchell, Weston Terry, and Jonah Harris.

The success of this year’s Nassau County’s surfing program will hopefully lead to program expansion next year and beyond, Mitchell said.

"Boys are playing right now," Forbes said. "All of the boys are playing great football. We have a big test this next week when we travel to Charlton County." The Hornets play on the season. Antwuan Alexander had a trio of rushing touchdowns and over 100 yards rushing for Yulee; Maurice Moore also had over 100 yards rushing and scored a TD; and Davis White had a TD and over 100 yards rushing for Fernandina Beach. Fernandina Beach was up 32-0 at halftime Tuesday when the Hornets traveled to Fernandina Beach to take on the Pirates. Lightning delayed and then pre-game ceremonies were cut short. Attendance was 342 for the 5:30 and 59 for the 6:30. "We need to improve," coach Zac Byerley said. "We need to work on the fundamentals in the film room and practice. We need to improve our special teams and our defense has to do a better job of not giving up big plays." "We need to improve," coach Zac Byerley said. Youth paint bowls for charity luncheon

MARGARET JOHNSON | Special to the News-Leader

Nassau County 4-H members from across the county partnered with Barnabas to help decorate bowls for the upcoming Empty Bowls Nassau Luncheon. The West Side Optimist Club and Lions Club generously donated the 4-Hers to use the Lions Club building for the activity. Activations, women and civic groups, including many Nassau County 4-H members, have created bowls for the Empty Bowls Nassau Luncheon, which will be held on Friday, Sept. 27, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Atlantic Avenue Recreation Center in Fernandina Beach. For more information about the luncheon, contact Barnabas at 261-9599.

The Empty Bowls Nassau Luncheon will help provide meals and assistance for Nassau County families and individuals that are going through a rough time. Almost 20,000 people in Nassau County, including many 3,000 children, don’t know if they will have enough to eat each day. Barnabas and its partners have distributed over 380,000 pounds of food to local residents each year. This year Pasta for Paws gets a professional chef's touch

ED HARREE
For the News-Leader

The annual Pasta for Paws event is a major volunteer effort for the Nassau Humane Society. The NHSS annual pasta dinner is Saturday, and this year it will have a professional touch.

Chef David Berrian, a member of the culinary team at Osprey Village and previously a chef at David’s and other local restaurants, is overseeing the food preparation this year. The traditional evening-long recipe for spaghetti sauce and meatballs is back, and “Chef David” will be adding some extra flavor, he said.

For more information, call (904) 556-4853 or email beach01@bellsouth.net.

Pollinating with native bees

REBECCA L. JORDI
For the News-Leader

Many homeowners in Nassau County have landscapes that include flowering perennials and even a few fruit trees. Often a vegetable or both, these plants are also added to the local diet – in the form of raised beds or individual container gardens.

Many of the Extension office callers have heard about selecting plants to fit soil pH is correct, then we discover the appropriate amount of fertilizers, Christenson said. There are many types of fertilizer, but a balanced fertilizer is the best choice. Insect pollinators account for 87 of the 90 commercial crops in the United States. Pollinators, “...more than three-fourths of the planet’s angiosperms (flowering plants) rely on over 20,000 species of native pollinators to various extent to meet their reproductive needs.”

Insect pollinators account for 87% of the nation’s crops used for human consumption. Pollination is the act of transferring pollen grains from the stamens to the pistil of a flower or between flowers of the same plant. It is important that we continue to work on protecting and improving the habitats of native pollinators.
