Walmart in Milton?

Business giant can start construction at any moment

The public can finally breathe a sigh of relief. Walmart can start construction at any moment’s notice, but they cannot verify when or if they will.

Jorgenson said Walmart can decide to build within a moment’s notice, but he cannot verify when or if they will. Jorgenson said Walmart verified, to my knowledge, permits (sewer, FDOT) were in place four months ago.

They have been known to turn on a project overnight.

Independence Day 2012 will provide a break to many and a change of pace to those who always dread Wednesdays.

Milton and Jay both will get an early start to the celebration with events.

Jay will kick off festivities at 8 a.m. with the Riverfest jump-starts festivities.

Other activities include the Treasure Island Children’s Activity Area at the north gazebo of the Riverwalk, while the south gazebo will feature entertainment and a host of vendors available throughout the day.

Funeral Home at the cor ner of Berryhill and Willing Streets.

What does the community need that you cannot provide?

What was your most embarrassing moment you now laugh about?

We hadn’t been to a particular restaurant in a while; I mistakenly went, not once but twice, to the women’s restroom and had to have some fellow diners point out my mistake.

Name three things you will always have in your household.

I am never really worried about being prepared since I keep enough water and ice as well as food on hand for any emergency.

I am ready. We try to stay prepared for stuff like that. When you live on the Gulf Coast you better stay prepared.

WORD ON THE STREET

After the threat of Tropical Storm Debby, are you prepared for the hurricane season?

Honestly I never prepare. I have a generator I have owned since Ivan and I should have enough canned goods to last four or five days.

Some of my thoughts about SRC. We must guard Whiting field against any mission reductions. It is a $900M/yr economic engine. We must get our economic development arm in order and rework public trust. We need to make sure we have no impediments as possible for small business to overcome to be successful. Small business is the life blood of our county as well as the State and nation.

We must guard and pursue BP fine money. We need to have a plan on how it will be spent. This should have a positive impact on generations to come if handled correctly. We must maintain open communication and transparency throughout the county. We are one county and we must work together and treat each other if we are to be ultimately successful.

I am committed to serving the people of SRC. I have many years of experience working on community issues, building consensus and small business ownership. Considering this I believe that I am well prepared to be the next district 3 county commissioner and I would appreciate your consideration and vote on Aug 14. Please visit my website edcarson2012.com and “like” my campaign on Facebook.

I am married, have three children and am a native Floridian. I received my degree from the University of Florida and have been a general contractor my entire adult life. I have been a public servant for over 20 years participating in a number of civic boards, charity boards, professional boards and community organizations. I have received a number of awards for my service both locally and nationally. These include a distinguished leadership award from the YMCA of the USA, a Presidential Merit achievement award for volunteerism, a combined Rotary’s of Pensacola ethics in business award and a Children’s Champion award. I was the capital campaign chair for the new $5,000,000 Ronald McDonald House and built it as a volunteer. I have also been a small business owner in commercial construction for the past 25 years. I have had to make plenty of those tough decisions that all business owners are constantly faced with as well as live within project budgets. I was appointed to the State Building Commission by Gov Bush within project budgets. I have been involved also with the community in improving Taball in the Pace area and reinvigorating basketball while working with your children for over 20 years. I am currently the treasurer of the Pace Water System, which has an annual budget of over $7.5 million and assets of over $100 million. I can take this experience and use it to benefit the District 4 seat.

Please keep me in mind if you belong to a club, civic group/organization or even a homeowners association. I would love to come and speak to the group or just use it as an opportunity to meet people and let them know I am running for office.

I also have yard signs available and if you would like one please let me know and I will get one to you as soon as possible.

I believe that based on the time spent here in Santa Rosa County and being involved in the school system with myself as well as my children and my community involvement, I am a qualified candidate for the Santa Rosa County School Board District 4 seat. I plan to spend the time needed to do what needs to be done for your children in our school system.

Therefore, I would appreciate your consideration on Aug 14, 2012. In you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at 554-2489.
Friends and neighbors, I am Wendell Hall, Sheriff of Santa Rosa County. For the past 11 and one-half years I have had the honor and privilege of serving as your sheriff. I am seeking your consideration in allowing me to continue to serve you for my final four years as Sheriff of Santa Rosa County. My mission for the next four years is to continue proven, professional law enforcement service to all of our citizens of Santa Rosa County. VILLANE SEeks Elections Supervisor Post

I am Tappie Villane, a Republican candidate for the supervisor of elections office. I currently work for the office as the assistant to the supervisor of elections. I have over 11 years of elections experience and have worked in 22 elections all here in Santa Rosa County. I have had the privilege to work for our current supervisor, Ann Bodenstein, who will be retiring at the end of her term and also for the previous supervisor, Drug Wilkes. Prior to coming to the office full time, I also worked for ARC Gateway for 16 years, where I managed one of the adult programs. I was responsible for 18 staff members, over 100 people with disabilities who were trained and employed in the community and also continue to plan for the future of the Santa Rosa County Elections. I have dedicated my Crews will continue to monitor hot spots for the next four days from the fire that burned over 260 acres in the Avalon area on Tuesday.

Although there were few effects from the fire, some northwest Florida residents might have noticed a change in their morning routine.

WEBY’s (1330 AM) transmission cables to their three radio antennas, located between Indian Bayou and Trout Bayou, were melted by the intense heat and fire and they were knocked off the air about 3:48 p.m. Tuesday.

Since then, the station has returned to the air, but with less power so its signal is covering a much smaller area.

WEBY owner and general manager Mike Bates surveys the damage done to the station’s transmitter site off of Avalon Boulevard Tuesday afternoon. Below, an Avalon Fire and Rescue unit was stationed at Avalon RV Park on the fire approached Indian Bayou. The fire would later jump Indian Bayou and later Trout Bayou.

According to station owner and general manager Mike Bates, the station will be on reduced power from its transmitter off of Ward Basin Road for the next seven to 10 days. Bates said he hopes to have some repairs made to the transmitter cables to increase the station’s output, but it could be a significant time before the station returns to full power.

“I do not know how long it will take,” Bates said Tuesday night after he finally got to assess the damage. “It could be two to three months or longer.”

At this time we do not even know how the cables are which are buried under the ground near the three towers.”

Bates, who reportedly had trouble getting to the site because Avalon Boulevard was closed, got to survey the damage between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

“Upon entering the site the towers were standing, and the building looked OK from my initial vantage point,” Bates said. “But once I got closer I saw that there was significant damage to other mission-critical structures.

“It was a fast-moving fire that burned the entire site. But fortunately the flames did not ignite the building. It could have been much worse.”

WEBY’s transmitter site has cables buried about 6 inches underground and Bates could not tell at the time if the cables had been affected by the fire.

The brush fire, which forced the closure of Avalon Boulevard, originated due to a mechanical issue just north of Interstate 10 around 1 p.m.

Due to the smoke and threat of the wildfire seven residences on Shady Bayou Lane were evacuated as well as 10 recreational trailers which voluntarily pulled out of the Avalon RV Park.

Avalon Boulevard was closed about 2 p.m. and remained closed south of Interstate 10 to Mary Kitchens Road until about 7:30 p.m.

Units from Bagdad, Pace, Avalon, Midway, Harold, Skyline, and the Florida Forestry Service battled the blaze as it spread from south of Interstate 10.

The blaze crossed Indian Bayou, Trout Bayou, and Avalon Boulevard as it made its way west to Escambia Bay.

A true traffic dilemma

By Walter E. Williams

In President Barack Obama’s testimony before the National Association of University Admissions, he said, “higher education can’t be a high-risk, high-reward economic imperative that every family in America should be able to afford.”

This is a call for policy points, but the purpose is quite clear: that a college education is an economic imperative.

A good part of our higher education problem, explaining its spiraling costs, is a large percentage of students currently attending college are ill-equipped and incapable of doing real college work because they are not ready for this kind of family and learning.

The bottom line: a vehicle can be pretty unforgiving and can cause a lot of harm to those who ride it without a helmet.

That is the point of our area law enforcement: to make all Americans “homeless,” it’s now demanding that we ride our bike hats.

Richard Vedder – professor of economics at Ohio University, and a former director of The Center for Study of Affordability & Productivity, or CCAP – in his article “Bitch the College-for-All” on The Chronicle of Higher Education’s Innovations” (7/6/2012), points out that the “U.S. Labor Department’s statistics now show that the majority of the population by the year 2016 the next decade do not need a college degree.”

We have a six-digit number of educated junkies in the U.S. Another good article by Vedder and his colleagues “From Wall Street to Wal-Mart,” “There are “one-third of a million workers and waitresses with college degrees,” Emma Gann and Buckle Choo report that about 70 percent of currently working workers do not have the job skills that do not require a degree, such as flight attendants, taxi drivers and salesclerks.

Wax college attendance out the window and all the student’s time and the resources of their parents and taxpayers, as noted in a recent study published by the Raleigh News & Observer, Professor Teepee called “Pill, Garlands and the Money Go Round,”Authors Matthew Bishop and Duke Forrest show that about 10 percent of college graduates work in the country are Petro-Gran funding and they also report that very few of them actually work in the programs, instead they graduate from college with a number capable of making a living.

Pell grants are the Federal government’s main tool for providing access to college. Based on the number of students who did not graduate from college, the number of students who did not complete college, the number of students who completed college and the number of students who did not complete college, the number of students who did not complete college, the number of students who did not complete college, the number of students who did not complete college.

That is why you have the right to vote?

Managers negotiate their pay and benefits, then hire you and don’t have the right to fire me.

And we will tell America the low wage in the country is too big to fail.

Corporate executives have abused employees for a long time.

These executives think they’re making schools better for the help of the consumer, who do anything. They sent serial police on trains in the 1980s, to murder people that are trying to get to work in the cities of America.

Great Depression.

According to Leslie Statler, Planner 1 with the county planning office, Walmart has not yet expressed interest in placing a store in the area proposed earlier this year by Paul Green.

"They/Walmart/issued/development/notice/in/2007/their/proposed/revival/has/not/been/abandoned/yet," Statler said.

Currently open businesses like Burger King, Arby's and Nago Sato Peri on Eola Street, just to name a few, are all showing the old base of patron on their road that has been under construction for months.

Jorgenson said the business owners on Eola Street are discouraged with the construction, but said they will be happy and pleased once it’s done.

"It’s really a significant improvement," Jorgenson said. "It’s not just a new street, it’s drainage, street, sewer, curb, gutter...it was all reinstalled.

Eola Street was milled and repaved months before the city found out they had acquired a $300,000 grant to work on the street project.

"People looked at the miling and paving and thought that was an improvement," Jorgenson said.

Jorgenson said over all businesses are working amicably for the end of the construction, which he said is weeks away.

"Any time you limit traffic from one section of businesses, an business stays stagnant is usually negative. But when the project is com- pleated, the businesses say Thank you very much.

And so new businesses like Food Outlet start to put up their hand signs, etc.

On July 1, officers and staff from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and their Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS) will be combined with the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) as a more directed move by the Florida Legislature and approved by Gov. Rick Scott.

The 145 new officers will staff 118 uniformed and 29 non-uniformed positions, resulting in more efficient service to Floridians and state and national visitors.

We will have more field level officers available to respond to concerns and violations at all times.

The Santa Rosa County extension office helped children at the Santa Rosa Community School learn about the birds and the bees. Just for a little more fun they added in snakes and chickens. About 400 children from the north end of the county came to the extension office as part of one of their numerous field trips they take during the summer months through the SRCS camps.

While at the extension office, the children were introduced to people such as Mike Donahoe, the county extension director, who showed children a number of insects. They also were introduced to John Atkins, an agricultural extension agent and his Ball Python, Casper. Atkins talked about the different poisonous snakes in Santa Rosa County. The field trip was one of many the community school was participating in throughout the summer. This one being one of the most educational field trips according to a lot of the students.

"We learned about water and worms and insects," said Chris Jordan, a student in the community school. "We also learned about how a chicken comes out of an egg."

Students were escorted to several different stations throughout the program including a chicken station, bird station, plant station and even an insect station.

At the chicken station, children were able to pet Bobby the show chicken and Key Lime, another chicken showed off by Prudence Caskey, the local 4-H program assistant. Joseph Lockwood was one of many students that got to pet the chicken as Caskey held it out for them. But there was only one way to pet a chicken, and that was gently with two fingers. "I learned you can only pet a chicken with two fingers and that they are very fragile," Lockwood said.

Lockwood said he also learned about the water cycle and how he shouldn’t waste water. Students participated in different craft activities and were able to see a Ball Python named Casper who was owned by Atkins. "My main goal is to get them to comfortably identify the six poisonous snakes we have here in our county," Atkins said.

Those six different snakes were shown to children in photographs. Only at the end of the presentation did Atkins bring out Casper, a non-poisonous snake that is only indigenous to South America.
Bembos celebrate 50th anniversary

Wilbert Lee Bembo and Barbara Lewis Bembo celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Friday.

Wilbert is the son of the late Otto Robinson and Johndelene Cooper. Barbara is the daughter of the late Deacon Andrew Lewis, Sr. and Little Gooden Lewis.

They were married on June 29 in Milton, and to this union they have two children, Deacon Michael (Priovos) Bembo Sr. and Teresa Lyn Hoose.

Volunteer advocates needed

Florida’s Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program needs volunteers to join its corps of dedicated advocates who protect the rights of seniors who live in nursing homes, assisted living facilities and adult family care homes.

The program’s local coordinators are seeking additional volunteers to identify, recruit and involve residents’ advocates.

Special training and certification is provided. Anyone interested in protecting the health, safety, welfare and rights of long-term care facility residents—who often have no one else to advocate for them—can call toll free 888-831-8444 or visit http://ombudsman.myflorida.com.

Deputy catches burglar in the act in Milton

Special to the Press Gazette

A 19-year-old man is in custody after a deputy caught him break- ing into a vehicle on Galt City Road on Milton Monday morning.

Cody Hayden of Milton was arrested and charged with burglary and petit theft. Hayden is currently lodged in the Santa Rosa County Jail with his bond set at $10,500.

Deputy Danny Miller was patrolling in the area of Galt City Road when he noticed a vehicle parked on the side of the road. The vehicle was located direct- ly in front of 4532 Galt City Road in Milton. Miller noticed that an adult female was sitting in the passenger seat with a small child. No one was sitting in the driver’s seat.

Miller exited his vehicle and spoke with the female. The female stated that her friend (Hayden) was driving the vehicle and stopped to look at a vehicle that was for sale in the front yard of the residence.

Miller observed that car inside a fenced in front yard. The gate to the fencing was open, and no one was around the vehicle.

As Miller checked another vehicle on the prop- erty, he saw Hayden stand- ing on the driver’s side of the vehicle’s door open. Hayden shut the door and attempted to crunch down and hide from Miller.

Hayden was detained by Miller and other deputies that were sent to assist. Hayden was searched, and at which time Miller locat- ed cash, CDs, headphones, electronic cords and a re- mote control.

The owner of the ve- hicle identified the items as being taken inside the vehicle.

The Sheriff’s Office wants to remind everyone to lock their car doors and secure their valuables and at all times.

Arrests made during theft of Milton residence

Special to the Press Gazette

Tuesday night Santa Rosa County Sheriff’s Office deputies were dis- patched to a home on Johnson Road in Milton due to suspicious activity. James Poore, 42, of Mil- ton and Samuel Newton, 28, of Pace were arrested. Both Poore and Newton remain lodged in the San- ta Rosa County Jail with- out bond.

Poore was charged with burglary and theft while Newton was charged with burglary possession of burglary tools and theft.

Sgt. Scott Baines, pub- lic information officer, said a citizen had contacted the sheriff’s office in refer- ence to two adults with flashlight standing in the driveway of a burned out house.

Deputies located Poore and Newton, who told dep- uties that they had “tried to break down” and needed assistance in getting their vehicle started.

The disabled vehicle was parked down the driveway near the burned out house. Poore and Newton, told deputies that they had per- mission from the owner of the property to remove lumber, dirt and other mis- cellaneous items from the residence.

Both suspects told dep- uties that this was their seventh trip to the house to take items. Both suspects changed their stories numerous times.

Deputies also located multiple copper bars to plain view inside the suspect vehicle. Poore gave deputies consent to search his ve- hicle, where they located copper wire, lumber, a silver serving platter and utensils, flashlights, spare metal, a piece of furni- ture, a shoe, a pitchfork, fishing poles, a medicine cabinet and other miscel- laneous items taken from inside the residence.

Deputies were able to contact the owner of the property.

The owner stated that he didn’t give anyone per- mission to be on the prop- erty, and he wanted to pur- sue charges.

Newton also told depu- ties that Poore “likes to piller and collect” and he didn’t want her going to the residence on her own.
