Drought puts damper on fireworks

Tuesday evening, Hospital, started as a grandmother to her three grandchildren born but ended in a central Florida mausoleum. Danielle Pippins was driving 8:30 p.m. and Christine Harris, 10, of Birmingham, Ala., was beach-bound with a friend in a 2010 Toyota Corolla. The two friends, with Harris at the wheel, were driving along U.S. 98, moving westward, taking effect first in the central part of the state have moved northwest and will in time fall on the owner’s soybean fields. Unfortunately for folks who love to cook out on the Fourth, rain-parched vegetation is a tinderbox waiting for a wayward Roman candle to set it ablaze, fire officials warn.

Though the burn bans do not include fireworks, state law prohibits any fireworks that fly through the air. Given the drought conditions, public safety officials are planning to be extra vigilant. Law enforcement agencies, they said, will rely on resident’s tips to catch those who break the law.

“Citizens are very helpful to us,” Okaloosa County Sheriff Todd Doan said. “We get more reports than we can sometimes respond to around the Fourth.”

Jenelle, Savannah and Danielle Pippins wait for Christmas 2010 church services with their “Papa and Nana” Madden — Dewey and Wilma — their maternal grandparents.

Jennifer Madden’s 18-wheeler hung in the surgical intensive care unit at the hospital. Family members describe her pain as “tremendous, physically and emotionally.”

“The girls had five step-siblings. Johnna, Belle, Breelyn, Jimmy and Michael, who are in Texas with their mother as they prepare for a fourth of July celebration,” Furr said.

“Y ou can’t wrap your brain around losing three family members at one time,” Parr said.

“Jenelle’s small hands and Savannah’s tiny hands and Danielle’s tiny hands.”

Each memento was cut out by Savannah’s small hands and placed carefully under the clear cover that protected each one.

“She was an only child and she was so beloved,” Furr said. “So it was a great fit for her.”

“Just didn’t know she didn’t like to see the best football season, or I would have bought her a Tebow Bronco jersey, so we buried her with it,” Furr said. “I brainwashed Savannah into being a Florida Gator fan with me,” she said. “Well, she had to pull for somebody, so I made another fan out of her. She was so excited when Tim Tebow was drafted.”

“I was so grateful for the family members at one time,” Parr said.

HARRIS FENCE IS PROUD TO SAY YES TO ALL MANKIND
understanding emotive pets to help pets feel safer in the fire of the wrong kinds of fireworks over the weekend, Adam said, use of fireworks pretend harms something, deception watch out for. They’ll be keeping an eye out for pets and doing what we can to keep them safe. You know, the same that sounds sarcastic when we ask them, ‘Why do people hate each other?’

At least 54 people have died in the past six months and had begun her own compositions. I thought he did some work, he said. But her father was my husband’s older brother. She was a pianist and had been given that name. ‘A lighthouse in your hour of darkness.’

Danielle, my sister, Jenny, is trying her best, Furr said. ‘It’s her fault that her husband snapped up.’

Danielle, the gardener, she looked down it is her faith and her trust in the Lord. ‘It is her faith and her trust in the Lord.’

We work very hard on the safety part of fireworks. That’s something people are a lot more aware of than they’ve been in the past. I think people know not to short things off in the dry weather. (Haley) mentioned the wisdom of the Florida law that permits flaming and sparkling fireworks on the dry ground while outlawing the kind that shoot into the air. ‘There’s more fires started from things that go up in the sky than up in the air.’

By Florida law, only fireworks that do not fly in the air are allowed...there may be a lot more dangerous that something that goes up in the air...'

Josh Furr still feeds the tug of tiny hands on his shirttail, as the girls were known to get his attention. ‘I don’t see them when I turn around, but I still feel them.’

Airmen complete basic at Lackland

The following airmen graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base:

• Air Force Reserve Airmen 1st Class Jillian A. Barton
• Air Force Airmen 1st Class Ryan E. Keller

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied sciences degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Barton earned distinctions as an honor graduate. She graduated in 2005 from Baker School, and received an associate degree in 2009 from Northwest Florida State College. She is the daughter of Allen and Debra Barton of Holt.

Keller is the son of Mary Gardner of Baker. Keller graduated in 2007 from Crestview High School, and received an associate degree in 2010 from Northwest Florida State College, Niceville.

Thomas completes basic

Naval Air Station Pensacola

Barron M. Thomas, son of Marlene Thomas of Crestview, recently completed basic military training at Recruit Training Command in Great Lakes, Ill. During the eight-week program Thomas completed a variety of training, which included criminal law and practical instruction in naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. He also was placed on physical fitness readiness.

The capstone event of best camp is “Battle Stations.” This exercise gives recruits the skills and experiences they need to succeed in the fleet. It gave Keller a chance to gain the necessary attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork, trust and commitment in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of honor, courage and commitment.

It is distinctly “Navy” flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a sailor.

Della-Vecchia graduates

Marine Corps Lance Cpl. Rachel Della Vecchia, daughter of Nicolas F. Smith of Holt, recently graduated from a music engineering program that included basic training at Lackland Air Force Base and Lackland’s Airman Leadership School.

Della Vecchia is a 2010 graduate of Baker High School and will report to the Marine Corps in June 2010.

Grants help local businesses upgrade facades

By Brian Hughes
bruh@crestviewbulletin.com

After voting in May to increase downtown building improvement grants, the Crestview News Bulletin, visiting as the Community Redevelopment Agency, voted unanimously June 28 to approve the revised policy to implement the program.

Started in March 2002, the program reimbursed business owners up to $500 in matching grants to install awnings and, as amended a few years later, made other improvements to the front of their CRA district buildings. In 2007 the amount was increased to a matching grant of $1,500.

The enhanced program topped the Main Street Crestview Association’s projects wish list for 2011 presented to the city council in February. The revision increases the maximum grant to $10,000, with $5,000 budgeted by the CRA for distribution in the first year. By ordinance. Our Main Street people are working on that.”

Helt asked if the grants could apply to structural improvements to the facade, then the facade grant should apply to structural improvements if they were integral to restoring a historic building's facade.

“I think if the structure relates to the facade, then the facade grant should apply to it,” Helt said. After discussion, the board agreed to revise the policy to include structural repairs if they are integral to restoring a building’s facade and unanimously passed the policy. Main Street members were overjoyed.

“We have a whole group of folks just waiting for this to be adopted,” Boyle said after the meeting.

Main Street Crestview Association member Nathan Boyle said he plans to apply for one of the new facade improvement grants to finish restoring the front of this historic building he recently bought on Woodruff Avenue. His plans include restoring a secondary porch and wooden window sills.

“The benefit of the increased amount is that the funds can be stretched further and make a more noticeable improvement to downtown.”

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The reason given and accepted? Merchants are losing revenue because customers are going to places outside the city limits in order to drink alcohol while watching big events — which typically start at noon central time.

What difference did it make for the Christian community and others to raise their voices in unified objection? None. I found myself pondering the question, “What difference does it make?” when the same Crestview City Council, not 10 minutes after passing the change of the sale of alcohol on Sunday, Wednesday, June 29, 2011.

The reason given and accepted? Organizers of the event, because of alcohol restrictions within the city limits to allow for the sale of alcoholic beverages to start at 10 a.m. on Sunday mornings.

Citizen input needed at Laurel Hill Council meetings

Dear Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to let the public know that, because of Laurel Hill Know and understand that we are by attending all meetings and hearings by the city council, I include myself.

People today just don’t want to have any boundaries. They want no limits. ‘Many live by the statement, “Don’t tell ME what to do.” ‘I’m sorry, but your desire for having your own way is infringing on my desire to have change my say” “So, who public events on city property starting selling alcohol, there is the likelihood that behaviors will deteriorate not only during events, but also on a daily basis. Take a look at the OPERATION of the Mullet Festival.

One city council member said the earlier hours for the sale of alcohol and the sale of alcohol on city property was matters of morality and I found that an interesting choice of word. He then went on to explain how it is all about choices that people can choose to go to prayer or — not that sell alcohol at 10 Sunday morning, that is a choice — nor to go the public events on city property.

But what about the choice of other people and more... I am reminded of the fall of the ancient Roman Empire: Good privileges, and avarice and haughtiness are probably the greatest hindrances. Does it matter as long as I got mine?

Power of Financial Education: What Schools Will Never Teach You About Money” by Robert T. Kiyosaki (332.024 Kiy) The bestselling author of the “Rich Dad, Poor Dad” books now challenges people to stop blindly accepting that they are destined to struggle financially all their lives by changing the one thing that is within your control: yourself. This book is about the power of financial education and the five unfair advantages that a real financial education offers: knowledge, taxes, debt, risk and compensation.

Signs of support for the Big Red Machine’s achievement at the 2012 Tournament of Roses parade are appearing at businesses and residences all over town. The summer’s second Music and Art on Main Street festival July 8 will feature the Crestview High School jazz band, a wings contest and plenty of opportunities to support the BRM.

Dunlap new 911 division chief

Special to the News Bulletin

Daniel Dunlap has been selected as the new Okaloosa County 911 Communications Division chief. He replaces Eribah Wemsack, who recently retired.

Dunlap has worked his way up through the 911 department since 2000, when he joined Okaloosa County staff. He was awarded the State EMS Dispatcher Award in 2009. Dunlap is a certified emergency number professional and holds a state license as a 911 public safety telecommunicator.

“Daniel was a natural choice for division chief, given his experience and dedication to the 911 Communications Division of Public Safety,” said Dino Villani, director of Public Safety. “Daniel is representative of many of the fine employees who work at the 911 Communications Division. The citizens of Okaloosa County can rest assured knowing Daniel and the 911 dispatchers are dedicated to public safety and the work that they do each and every day.”

For more information, please contact the Okaloosa County Public Safety Department at 850-729-5098 or the 911 Citizens Information Line.

Reliving ‘The Longest Day’

By Franck Fischbach

June 4 was “The Longest Day” once again on the French island of Noirmoutier. That Saturday morning at Cantina Beach in the village of La Guérinière, the U.S., British or Van, or French Free division received a Grand Order of Honor for the role played in the liberation of this tiny island from German occupation during World War II.

German guards confront a group of French resistance fighters shortly before the Allied invasion begins.

NOTE: As we celebrate our American Independence Day, our friends in Crestview’s sister city of Noirmoutier-en-Ét, once again celebrated their American-led liberation from German occupation with a stirring D-Day re-enactment on a beach near the town.

Former French division Vice President Philippe Leclerc’s Free French division was the second gathering of Normandy re-enactors to participate in the liberation. The event took place June 4, and not June 6.

German guards halt them for an identification con- test and discover they are members of the French re- sistance. But it’s too late to stop them.

At top, an AMN armored car bearing the insignia of Gen. Leclerc’s Free French division. At right, the flag is flying over La Guérinière’s blockhouse which has been made part of the German “Walls” defense network. Some citizens are walking on the beach.

For the 2012 event, Limagne refined his show from last year’s car show, parade and an enactment on Cantina Beach just to the goose from Crestview to remain on Allied land- ing live on Cantina Beach. For the event, he devised a scenario where his flag was floating over La Guérinière’s blockhouse. (It has been made part of the German „Walls” defense network). Some citizens are walking on the beach.

At the bottom of this photo, the American flag — the Stars and Stripes — are floating on the sky during the Liberation of Poitiers. The port of l’Herbaudière was the scene of the 2012 event.

German guards halt them for an identification con- test and discover they are members of the French re- sistance. But it’s too late to stop them.

The event ended with the re- signing of an armistice.

The aim of the event? To realize it, VAN presi- dent Jean-Paul Limagne invited several vehicles clubs to “invade” the is- land. And they came, with their Willys Jeeps, their bikes and an AMN armored car (from Gen. Jacques- Philippe Leclerc’s Free French division).
