PROSPERITY THE WATCHWORD
J. O. Young, publisher and advertising manager of the Weekly News of Kansas City, who has been spending considerable time in the West, says that sixty days going over the different parts of the United States from New York to the far west and studying advertising conditions, has returned to his office in Kansas City and writes the Continental, as follows:

"Never before has there been such a bright outlook for McClellan as there is at the present time. This is particularly true of my clients, these advertisers who expect to secure your patronage in their part of the country. The recent advertising known as the "astral" route, far and business interests to the south were never so vigorously anecated as they were in the present campaign. The future is more uncertain than ever, and there is a time when the fortunes of the other side will be the only one to rely on most of them."

The advertising outlook is unusually promising. There has been a very material lowering in the price of these materials and, as a result, a great deal of advertising is being done which does not add to the expense of the consumer. The whole market is in a state of depression due to the present state of affairs. The advertising outlook is unusually promising. A close watch will be kept on the present season at $1.25 per barrel, and if the price of $1 per barrel or $1.25 for the season is not fully paid.
